ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887 — PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1904. — TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

ANOTHER EFFORT TO RAISE LIQUOR LICENSE FEE TO $1,000 IN THIS CITY

Reported That William S. Tyler Will Introduce Ordinance at Common Council Meeting Monday Night.

MOVEMENT TO ESTABLISH SALOON LIMITS

Former Mayor Randolph, It is Said, Will Ask the City Fathers to Take Action in the "Spite-House" Matter—May Order the Removal of Hyde's Dam.

Unless changes are made in the proposed programme, the October meeting of the Common Council on Monday night will be one of the most important in recent years. At that time several matters are to be introduced which are sure to be met with strong opposition. Among the measures to be introduced will be a proposed ordinance to raise the liquor license fee in Plainfield to $1,000 and to define the limits within which saloons can be conducted. This ordinance will be introduced by Councilman W. S. Tyler from the Third ward. It is said, that according to his plan, the boundaries will be between Watchung and Madison avenues, Greenbrook and the railroad.

The idea, it is said, in presenting this ordinance is to make it impossible for a saloon to be located outside of the prescribed circle, and to especially keep saloons out of the Third ward. It is also said that Mr. Tyler believes he has enough votes to carry this ordinance. That it will be strongly opposed is not to be doubted, but Mr. Tyler will make a vigorous fight for the ordinance and will present many arguments in support of it.

It will be remembered that Mr. Tyler made an effort early in the year to have the license fee raised to $1,000 and there were almost enough votes to pass the ordinance. It is said that he has continued to advocate the change and that he may this time get enough votes to put the ordinance through, although it would not be operative this year.

Another matter of importance will be the adoption of measures to compel the removal of the dam at Hyde's pond. It is claimed that this dam is responsible for the high waters throughout the Richmond street section of the city and that steps will be taken to have it taken down, inasmuch as it is of no special benefit to anyone and has been proven a detriment. Efforts have been made before to have the dam removed, but they have been unsuccessful. It is said that the Common Council will instruct Corporation Counsel Marsh, if necessary, to take the proper action.

In regard to the petitions received asking that the Public Service Corporation be allowed to lay double tracks, it is said that the Common Council will vote to deny them, believing that the best interests of the city will not be served in a concurrence. The members believe that if the Public Service Corporation want double tracks on Watchung avenue and East Front street, they should be at least willing to pave the streets the entire width. The company's announcement that it would not do this had led the members to take a firm and decided stand for the interest of the city.

Still another very important matter that is likely to come before the Common Council, is that in reference to the erection of spite houses in the city. It is understood that Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, who recently has had troubles along this line, will have something to present to the Council that will serve to correct the work of the so-called "neighborhood-wreckers." There will be other matters of a routine nature, but those mentioned are on the programme and should make the meeting of extraordinary interest.

SEBRING'S BUILDING ON HAND'S PROPERTY

ONE-STORY STRUCTURE MAY BE TORN DOWN AS RESULT.

Failure on the part of Charles P. Sebring to have his property on Watchung avenue adjoining the trolley terminus properly surveyed when he erected a one-story brick building on it a short time ago, may result in his having to tear the structure down. It adjoins the driveway belonging to and leading to the rear of the corner lot recently bought by Charles H. Hand and J. P. Homan, on which they propose to erect a flat building. In order to get its proper dimensions they had a surveyor map it out a few days since and it disclosed the fact that Sebring's building is two feet over their line.

He has been notified of the encroachment and unless some agreement can be reached, it is possible that the Sebring building will have to be set back and this will necessitate its partial demolition. The mistake is attributed to the fact that Sebring used the old fence line running down the driveway as a boundary, but it had evidently been shifted over. The building is occupied by Jesse Hetfield and T. A. Gathwaite as a fruit and lunch store.

REPUBLICANS TO HOLD FOUR MASS-MEETINGS

CONGRESSMAN FOWLER AND LEE FAIRCHILD TO BE AMONG SPEAKERS.

Arrangements have been made for Republican mass meetings to be held in this city on October 13, 20, 27 and November 3. At the meeting on October 27, Congressman Charles N. Fowler and Lee Fairchild, of California, who made so favorable an impression here eight years ago, will be among the speakers.

It has been found impossible for Mr. Fowler to speak here at an earlier date on account of his decision to take the stump in Morris and Warren counties first and reserve his own county for the last. Congressman Barlow, of Connecticut, who is a brilliant orator, will also speak at one of the meetings, but until a conference has been held with the State Committee it is impossible to say on what date he will be here. The City Committee has arranged for the formation of a double quartette which will render campaign music at the various mass meetings and at headquarters.

The Republican Headquarters are now open to the public from 11 a. m. until 10 p. m., and a committee appointed for the purpose will obtain a piano shortly and arrange for the holding of musical entertainments. Freeholder William A. Westphal is now in charge of headquarters and will be glad to receive Republican voters. Campaign literature is being busily distributed and lithographs and buttons can also be had on application.

Spinsters' Dance.

The event of interest next week will be the spinsters' dance, Friday evening at the Hotel Netherwood, to be given by young women of Netherwood, Fanwood, Westfield, Cranford and this city. It is to be a leap year dance, the women taking charge of everything. The patronesses will be Mrs. Josephine Minor, Mrs. Samuel Godwin, Mrs. M. G. Ostermoor, of Netherwood; Mrs. Frederick N. Watts, of Newark; Mrs. Charles Franz and Mrs. Hollingsworth, of Cranford.

PHYSICIAN'S DISCOVERY

Dr. Buchanan Finds a Startling Condition and School Board May Act.

Alarmed by the condition of many pupils examined by him in his routine as school physician, Dr. J. H. Buchanan has recommended to the Borough Board of Education that something be done to prevent the children from eating cheap candy, which they now do practically in a wholesale way. Out of 200 pupils taken from various classes a short time ago, he found more than half of them with their tongues coated with the indelible analine dyes, which in some instances are used largely to color confectionery intended for sale in penny lots. Many of them told him it had been there for some time and its presence explained to him why they complained of various stomach ailments. Its continued consumption is apt to lead to serious complications and it is a matter of record that candy dyes have proven fatal.

The school board is powerless to prevent the sale of the candy or take any aggressive step in the matter but it is possible that the parents of pupils would be asked to co-operate in getting the children to stop eating it. In speaking of the matter, Superintendent Wightman said the practice is prevalent in both of the borough schools and frequently pupils have had coated tongues for a week at a time. While none of them have been made seriously ill, cases where children have been troubled with indisposition can be directly traced to candy eating. On the city side of the brook, the same trouble exists, only it is not quite so prevalent as in the borough.

MR. STYLES COACHING LEAL'S FOOTBALL SQUAD

PRIVATE SCHOOL ELEVEN HAS ARRANGED ITS SCHEDULE.

The prospects for Leal's football team this season are very favorable. More candidates have been out for the team and better material than ever before. Mr. Styles, of Williams College, the new instructor, is coaching the team. He has successfully coached other school teams and is capable of turning out an eleven that will equal the record of last year's team which was never scored against.

Wilcox, the captain and quarterback, is one of the best all around players in any of the schools in this part of the State. Last year in the first game with Pingry School, he distinguished himself by making a sensational touch-down after a thrilling run of thirty-five yards without interference.

The following candidates have turned out for practice: Suffern, Glenney, Reese, Laurence, Valiant, Lyman, Endicott, Strong, Curtis, Waring, Underhill, Howard, Wilcox, Daniel, Dallas, Manning.

Manager Suffern has secured Alis Oval on Park avenue, for the home games. He has completed his schedule and has booked the team for seven games.

This morning a practice game with a Westfield eleven was played. Coach Styles gave every candidate a show to prove his ability.

The first game with the Plainfield High School is on October 7.

Music at Local Store.

Levy Brothers have engaged Professor Carlos Antesieries with his band of Neopolitan Troubadours, of New York, to play during this afternoon and evening, when the fall opening of the store takes place. Songs and instrumental pieces will be rendered and Italian music will figure largely on the programme. The store will be decorated throughout with palms and flowers.

New Infantry Drill.

The State Military Board, at a session Wednesday, adopted the new infantry drill regulations of the United States Army for the use of the National Guard of this State. The Board set the seal of its approval on the new tactics, so that the officers and men of the Guard may be drilled in them next week according to the revised book.

INSPECTOR IS AROUSED

Andrew McCardell Resents Story in an Elizabeth Paper.

TO MAKE INVESTIGATION

Newark News Asks Whether Inspectors Tip Off Manufacturers Before Visits.

Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell, of this city, is incensed over a story in The Elizabeth Evening Times which declared that the factory inspectors were expected to pay a visit to the Singer plant and for that reason eighteen boys employed at the place had been discharged. The utterances of the Elizabeth paper justified the Newark Evening News in asking whether the inspectors notify the concerns whose plants they are about to inspect.

The Newark News said yesterday editorially:

"The Elizabeth Times is authority for the statement that 'in anticipation of the annual tour of the factory inspector through Singer's factory, about eighteen boys, ranging in age from eleven to fourteen years, were dismissed from work in the needle-room and screw department Monday at noon by the assistant superintendent. Most of the lads discharged expressed surprise over their sudden ejectment. The fall of every year witnesses the tour of the child labor inspector and the discharge of numbers of boys just entering their teens, and who really ought to be attending school.'

"This action on the part of the assistant superintendent was given added significance by a statement in The Times that 'the labor inspectors are expected at the Singer shops today.' If that newspaper made the above statements advisedly, it is pertinent to inquire as to how the new child labor law is being enforced in Union County. Do the inspectors notify manufacturers or heads of departments in factories and mills when official visits of inspection will be made? Do these employes of the State take it upon themselves to warn persons whom they suspect of violating the law that it would not be best for them to be caught 'with the goods on them?' But perhaps The Times was mistaken. If it was, the inspector of that district owes it to himself to set the newspaper right. It might be a good thing, too, for the head of the department to ask The Times where it secured its information. This isn't a good time of year for anybody concerned to let the impression go out that the new child labor law is considered a farce."

When seen today Inspector McCardell declared emphatically that no notice had ever been given by him or from him to any manufacturing plant regarding the time he would make an inspection. He declared that the labor law is rigidly enforced and proposes to find out where the Elizabeth paper got its information. Superintendent of Labor Poole, of Morris county, was seen by a reporter for The Daily Press this morning and said with much emphasis that there was no truth in The Times article so far as a visit to the plant was concerned and further that it is the invariable rule of the inspectors to visit the plant unaware to the owners or officials. Mr. Poole started for Elizabeth at noon to investigate the source of The Times' story.

Building Permits.

A building permit has been issued to Robert Slorah, of 1115 West Front street, who intends to put up a dwelling house of two and a half stories, and measuring 24 feet front, 24 feet rear, and 28 feet deep. The architect is W. H. Clum, the masons, Leland & Thompson, and the carpenter Louis Beck, all of this city. A frame building is also to be erected by John H. Kenney, at 358 East Second street. It will be two and a half stories high and will measure 26x26x32 feet. Walter Wykoff and Michael D. Keeffe, of this city, are mason and carpenter, respectively.

F. H. Jacobs Coming.

F. H. Jacobs will give an account of his recent trip to Palestine and will also sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Jacobs is well known in Plainfield, especially because of his prominent connection with the twentieth century Gospel campaign that was held in this city some years ago. Little Eva Wells, of Westfield, will sing, accompanied on the mandolin and guitar by her young friends, the Misses Elsie and Edith Carson, of Westfield.

Mrs. A. Swalm, of Duer street, returned home last evening after a delightful stay at Avon, Monmouth County.

NEW DEMOCRATIC CLUB

Party United in North Plainfield for Vigorous Campaign.

D. J. CARNEY, PRESIDENT

Club Rooms at No. 79 Somerset Street—Already Has 75 Members.

The North Plainfield Democratic Club was organized last night at its room at 79 Somerset street. A large number of enthusiastic Democrats were present and over seventy-five members were enrolled. The meeting was called to order by David J. Carney. Levi Kline was elected temporary chairman and Bert Bodine, secretary.

Nominations for president of the club were called for. David J. Carney and W. J. Conroy were proposed. The ballot resulted in 49 votes for Mr. Carney and 23 votes for Mr. Conroy. The other officers elected were as follows: Vice presidents, John H. VanWinkle, Jr., A. E. Kenney and C. W. Harding; secretary, L. B. Bodine; treasurer, E. M. French.

The president took the chair amid cheers and made a speech, thanking the club for the honor of election, and stated that the rooms would be open during the campaign and he wanted every Democrat to make use of them.

The club room is beautifully decorated and the room presented a very attractive appearance. Parker and Davis lithographs and portraits of Congressional candidate Robert L. Stevens adorn the walls. A piano will be installed today. A telephone is to be installed so the club will be right up to date.

A. E. Kenney made a stirring address while others spoke a few words of encouragement and all present seemed enthusiastic. The meeting adjourned to meet next Wednesday night.

SEEK RELIEF FROM FLOODS IN EAST END

PROPERTY OWNERS TO PETITION THE COMMON COUNCIL.

Five petitions, representing a large majority of the residents and property-owners in the East End of the city, will be presented to the Common Council Monday night, asking that steps be taken to remove the cause for the flooding of that section in heavy rains. The chief cause cited are the dams in Greenbrook in the eastern end of the city, the principal one being at Hyde's pond.

The petitioners mention the fact that these dams back up the water and cause it to overflow the entire section in that vicinity, extending as far as Richmond street, Putnam and Carlton avenues, and besides being a detriment to the property, is a menace to the health of the city. This action is a result of a recent meeting held at the home of B. O. Bowers, of Franklin place, when the petitions were drafted and placed in the hands of interested citizens. Accompanying the petitions are photographs, taken by Willard M. Miner, showing the condition of that section of the city, during heavy rains in 1903 and the last on this year. It would give one the idea that a good sized river covered that part of the city.

The petitioners ask the Council to take action for the removal of the dams. It is said that Corporation Counsel Marsh does not believe that there is any law which would compel the removal of the dam, as water-mill rights are in question. However, this will be investigated and efforts made to learn the exact status of the matter.

MAY NAME ATTERBURY

Probable Choice of Democrats for the Mayoralty.

CONVENTION, OCT. 19

Not Likely That Anyone Will be Nominated for City Judge by the Minority Party.

Chairman J. V. F. Dilts has issued a call for the Democratic city convention to be held Wednesday night, Oct. 19. The meeting will take place at the Democratic Club's room in Central Hall, North avenue.

Already several names have been mentioned in connection with the mayoralty nomination. Among them are A. H. Atterbury, Fred W. Yates and former Councilman Vincent L. Frasee. It is reported that Mr. Yates declines to run for the nomination. Mr. Frasee has some good backing, and he is out to win according to statements made by his friends. For a long time he was the sole representative of the Democrats in the Common Council and became known as "the lone star member."

Chairman J. V. F. Dilts.

To a reporter for The Daily Press Mr. Atterbury said today that he had been approached regarding the nomination for the office, but declined to state whether he would accept the honor. He said that he was inclined to believe it his duty to accept should such a nomination be offered him, but had nothing definite to say at this time. It is generally believed that Mr. Atterbury would make the most formidable candidate the Democrats could nominate, his standing in the community being such as to warrant strong support for him at the polls.

It is not expected that any nominations will be made for the city judgeship.

AN HONORABLE RECORD

Capt. William Hand is Truly a Civil War Veteran.

IN MANY BATTLES

Has Frequently Been Selected to Carry the Flag at the Head of New Jersey Troops on Parade.

From among the many hundreds of veterans from this State who attended the National Encampment of the G. A. R. at Boston last month, an honor was accorded Captain William Hand, of East Second street, which is eagerly sought after by all of the "boys" who wore the blue during the Rebellion. He was selected to carry the colors at the head of the New Jersey division, not because of any partiality from the commanding officers but for his honorable record as a soldier and his military bearing. The picture published in today's Daily Press shows him in company with another veteran just as they were waiting for their horses before entering the parade.

It was not Captain Hand's first experience as a color bearer as three times previously he had been selected for the position in parade, all of them at Washington, D. C. The first was when the Union troops were reviewed by General Grant after the close of the war, the second during Grant's first inauguration and the third at the National Encampment at Washington twelve years ago. On each occasion he was on horseback, making it more difficult to properly uphold the heavy flag, but at the end of each march, no matter how long, he has been highly complimented.

As a veteran the genial captain has a record that is equalled by few Union soldiers and as yet he has met with no one in this State who can any way approach it. He enlisted in Co. B, Third Regiment, N. G. N. J., at Elizabeth on August 11, 1862, which was commanded by General Drake. In February, 1863, he was promoted from private to sergeant for gallantry in action and in July of the same year was made First Sergeant. Further promotion came on October 13 when he was advanced to Second Lieutenant of Company I. He was acting regimental quartermaster from February 1, 1865, until June of that year when he was promoted to First Lieutenant of Company E. His regiment took part in nearly everyone of the big battles and he was present for duty at every engagement. Only once was he wounded despite the fact that he was exposed to danger almost constantly. At Gettysburg where three-fifths of his regiment went down never to rise, a bullet buried itself in his right foot. He was ordered to the hospital tent but the piece of lead had no sooner been extracted than he was back again and remained with the survivors of the gallant Third. Some of the battles through which he passed unscathed were Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, the Wilderness, Spotsylvania Court House, Cold Harbor, before Petersburg, Mine Run and Farmville. At Gettysburg, where he was wounded, his daring attracted the attention of many of the officers and he was warmly complimented for bravery and reported officially for promotion.

He was one of the thousands of men who witnessed Lee's surrender and when the Union troops were disbanded, he at once returned to Plainfield. He is a member of the local G. A. R. Post and in all of the Decoration Day parades he is one of its most conspicuous figures, at the present time possessing more energy than many men half his age. He personally superintends the large trucking business which he and his son, Fred Hand, conduct, and is one of the most active Civil War veterans to be found in the Eastern states.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

A stranger visiting Plainfield recently in quest of Mercer avenue, who was directed to Mercer street and found herself in an unfamiliar locality very far from her desired destination, has suggested that it would be well if some plan could be devised to prevent the duplication of the names of the thoroughfares in the city and borough. Washington street in the city and Washington avenue in the borough may not confound old residents but they are sure to confuse new comers, as are Sycamore street a mile away from Sycamore avenue, Orchard street, which has no connection with Orchard place, Park avenue which bears no resemblance to Park place, and Prospect street and Prospect avenue at the extreme ends of city and borough.

The fellow employes of Harry D. Salkeld in the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company offices at Jersey City, successfully planned to have some fun with him after his marriage recently to Miss Daisy Snyder, of this city. The wedding took place at Greenville, and it was known that the couple had arranged to go to Buffalo and Niagara Falls over the Lehigh. Mr. and Salkeld were passengers on the Black Diamond Express, but in advance of them and in fact on their very train, were distributed circulars containing this announcement: "They are on this train. Watch out for them. She has dark hair and brown eyes; is of medium height and has rosy complexion. She has a smile 'that won't come off.' He is short, of fair complexion, but bronzed from the many trips on his famous yacht 'Oom Paul.' Although scarcely more than a boy—in appearance only—he ranks as 'Commodore.' He wears a happy expression and is a jolly good fellow. They have never traveled before and any assistance you may render them will be appreciated by their friends and relatives. They are going to the Fair. He has been instructed to be free with his money. She section 8, St. Louis car." Copies of the above circular were sent ahead and distributed about the railroad station at Buffalo and everyone travelling on the Lehigh at the time in question were on the lookout for the bridal couple. They are now enjoying the Exposition at St. Louis.

Lakewood's Opening.

The season at Lakewood, beginning gradually after October 1, is in full swing a month later and extends to the first of June. Situated in the pine belt of New Jersey, Lakewood is noted for the warm and healthful atmosphere tinctured with the aromatic odor of the woods which renders its autumn and winter climate so delightful. Although nine miles from the ocean the climatic influence of the gulf stream is readily discernable, and a uniform stratum of beach sand which underlies the soil affords a perfect drain for the surface water so that dampness is never to be encountered. The character of the soil also makes the roads well adapted for horse-back riding which is one of the most popular of the many out-door recreations. The principal driveway girds the banks of Lake Carasaljo. A line of beautiful villas commands one side of the lake while on the other the forest is supreme, and throughout the entire drive one catches glimpses of enchanting stretches of water between the pines. The famous Cathedral Drive is a narrow path through the silence of the "druid wood." The excellent railroad service brings Lakewood within easy reach of New York so that the distance of sixty miles from the Metropolis is no more than a requisite insulation against the Wall Street atmosphere. An interesting booklet on Lakewood recently published by the Central Railroad of New Jersey may be had free of charge by applying to C. M. Burt, G. P. A., New Jersey Central, 143 Liberty street, New York city.

Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

There is no more popular resort for a Sunday than Mauch Chunk, and to reach it entails a delightful rail journey, and at Mauch Chunk there is a diversity of amusements, the chief of which is a ride over the Switchback. This journey occupies more than one hour, and leads over and around the mountains with widely changing scenes at every turn. The Switchback is a gravity road, and the speed attained is close to a mile per minute. Another feature is Flagstaff, the summit of which is reached by trolley, and from its pinnacle point there is a view extending over miles and miles of beautiful country. An interesting spot close at hand is Glen Onoko, a short distance above Mauch Chunk, and as it name implies, is a beautiful glen, with falls, cataracts, mountain paths leading to cool and delightful peaces. On October 2, 1904, the New Jersey Central is to run a popular excursion to Mauch Chunk from Plainfield by special train leaving at 9:20 a. m. Returning train will leave Mauch Chunk at 5:40 p. m., and the round trip will cost but $1.50. Frequent train service will be in effect between Mauch Chunk and Glen Onoke, and trains on the Switchback run every few minutes. 9 22 9 o

GRAND CIRCUIT RACING.

Major Delmar Equaled the World's Record at Oakley Park.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 1.—The feature of the grand circuit racing at Oakley park was the Delmar's attempt to break the world's trotting record of 2:02¼, without wind shields or pace makers in front or side, held by Cresceus and Major Delmar. Major Delmar has a record of 1:59¾, trotted with the wind shields and pace makers in the front and side, but this is not recognized as a world's record by the trotting association. Both Cresceus and Major Delmar made the 2:02¼ record paced by a running horse only.

Although the weather conditions were not very favorable for a trial of this kind, the celebrated horse equaled the world's record. Major Delmar was driven by A. P. McDonald and was paced by a running horse driven by Scott Hudson.

The three other events on the card were hotly contested. In the 2:14 class pace Funston was made a hot favorite in the first heat. After a hard fight through the stretch Funston succeeded in winning from Edwin C. at the post. Edwin C. took the second heat. Sunny Slope won the third heat and Edwin C. the fourth by a head from Sunny Slope. The fifth went to Sunny Slope Funston finishing a close second. The race of the three heat winners in the sixth heat was hotly contested, Sunny Slope getting the decision by a head, with Funston second and Edwin C. third.

Sweet Marie won the 2:06 class trot after finishing a close second to Ozenam in the first heat. Sweet Marie easily won the second and third heats.

The superior driving of Scott Hudson resulted in a victory for Nancy H. in the 2:17 class pace.

COLORADO FLOODS

City of Trinidad Swept by Purgetoire River.

FOUR LIVES LOST, EIGHTEEN MISSING

All Bridges Gone Down—Three Railways Blocked—Lighting Plants Destroyed, Leaving Place In Darkness.

DENVER, Oct. 1.—Extensive damage is reported to have been done at Trinidad, Colo., by a flood in the Purgatoire river. It is reported that four persons have been drowned, and eighteen are missing. The flood swept five city blocks in Trinidad, and the loss is estimated at $300,000.

All wires in the vicinity are down, and communication with the city is entirely cut off. All bridges in and about the city are said to have been washed away, and no trains can get in or out on the Santa Fe, the Denver and Rio Grande and the Colorado Southern railways.

Trinidad is the county seat of Las Animas county and the center of an extensive coal mining region. Its population is 5,000.

At the Colorado Southern train dispatcher's office in Denver it was said that the last news received from Trinidad was that the city reservoir had been swept away. Railroad men said it had been raining very heavily in the vicinity of Trinidad since Wednesday night.

The following report was received at the office of the Denver and Rio Grande from the general agent of the company in Trinidad:

"The Santa Fe passenger station has been washed away, and the track between Commercial street and Animas street is out. One coach and one sleeper and several box cars went down the river. The Colorado and Southern bridge has gone out. The company has also lost 2,000 feet of track east of the station. The ground beneath the track has been washed away to a depth of from thirty to forty feet."

At the Santa Fe offices here it was positively stated that the cars which were washed away were unoccupied. General Superintendent Coughlin of the Denver and Rio Grande said he had received information that trains could not be run on schedule time for four days, as hundreds of feet of track, to say nothing of the big bridges near Trinidad, had been washed out. The mud on the tracks, one message said, was from one to four feet deep. Another telegram stated that the Santa Fe yards were covered by several feet of mud.

"The Trinidad reservoir, which is reported to have washed out," said Chief Engineer Cowan of the Colorado and Southern railroad, "is nine miles above Trinidad. It was built two years ago and covers forty acres of ground. Between the reservoir and Trinidad the country is taken up mostly with farms and railroads, and there are not a great many people residing there."

Every bridge in the city of Trinidad is out, the Santa Fe station is demolished, all of the railroads are tied up and the telephone and telegraphic service completely suspended. More than thirty city blocks in the residence and business portions were from two to four feet under water along the river.

The flood was caused by the heavy rain which has been falling for three days. The storm assumed cloudburst proportions, and the Las Animas river went over its banks. It is impossible to get within a block of the river at any point, and Commercial street is flooded for three blocks in the heart of the business district.

The electric light and gas plants have been flooded, and the city is in complete darkness.

PARKER ATTENDS A WEDDING.

Windstorm Nearly Wrecked Democratic Banner at Esopus.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Judge Parker arrived at Rosemount last night. He will return to New York on Monday, where he will remain until Thursday.

The judge attended the wedding of Miss Katherine Martin to Robert Livingston today. Judge Parker is the bride's guardian and gave her away at the ceremony, which took place at the little Episcopal church at Westpark.

The only Parker and Davis banner in Esopus came near being wrecked here by a terrific windstorm. Half the population turned out to save the banner, which was accomplished by the Rev. Charles Mercer Hall, the judge's son-in-law, after W. C. Pullman had fallen from a building and broken a leg and County Supervisor Long had fallen from a tree into a pickerel pond.

Victim of an Old Quarrel.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Oct. 1.—James Dalton was assassinated yesterday near Fairdale, Harrison county, while passing the house of Samuel Jones. It is charged that the shot came from the second story of the Jones house. ADVANCE ON MUKDEN

Japanese, After Concentration, Again Press Forward.

OYAMA TROOPS HOLD SIAOBEYHO.

Sacharoff Reports the Enemy at Yentai Branch of Manchurian Railway and on Taitse River, Near Bensihu.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Field Marshal Oyama has begun the long expected advance upon the Russian army at Mukden, and a coincident movement against Sinmintin is indicated by the fact that the Japanese have occupied Siaobeyho, west of the Liao river. There is a concentration of Japanese forces in the vicinity of the Yentai mines, and the advance lines are being gradually pushed eastward. General Sacharoff in the dispatches to the war office at St. Petersburg reports successes in several engagements of a minor character.

A Shanghai report says that the Japanese have been victorious in a general engagement at Mukden.

An undated dispatch from General Kuroki's headquarters reports the present Japanese military organization to be as efficient as it has been at any time since the war began. There is no definite news from Port Arthur. Changes in the Russian ministry of marine and in naval commands are announced on high authority. The new head of the admiralty, it is said, will be Vice Admiral Doubasoff, an officer of wide experience in war and the present head of the technical bureau of the ministry of marine.

Late official advices from St. Petersburg this morning say that the war office has received a telegram from General Sacharoff describing a successful onslaught upon a Japanese advance guard near Yentai. The Japanese began the fight by attacking a position held by the Russians at Oulitaidze, twenty miles south of the Hun river. The Russians withdrew and then countermarched and occupied the enemy's position at Toumytsa, north of Yentai, and drove the Japanese as far as Yentai station, losing only four men wounded, whereas the Japanese lost twenty killed or wounded.

General Sacharoff further reports that a reconnoissance showed that the Japanese force is concentrating in increasing numbers along the Yentai branch of the railroad and that there is also considerable concentration of the Japanese along the Taitse river near Bensihu.

General Sacharoff's telegram as given to the press contains no mention of developments on the eastern flank. This silence probably is due to the fact that details of operations telegraphed to the emperor at Odessa had not reached the general staff.

A Harbin report says Russian scouts have ascertained that fresh Japanese forces are concentrating at the Yentai mines and gradually moving eastward.

A company of Chinese bandits attempted to wreck the railroad near the station of Fantziatun, 150 miles south of Harbin. They killed a sentinel and caused slight damage. A detachment of guards was sent in pursuit of the bandits. The railway track was repaired by morning.

The report that Nemirovich Danchenko, the famous Russian war correspondent, had been expelled from the Russian lines is untrue.

It is admitted that the Japanese advance has already begun along the whole line, assuming its most active form in the east, whither Field Marshal Oyama continues to draft large forces. Operations are also progressing west of the railroad.

A Harbin dispatch contains the important announcement that the Japanese have occupied Siaobeyho, west of the Liao river, from which point they are evidently threatening Sinmintin.

The likelihood of the appointment of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch as commander in chief is increasing. The grand duke has informed the officers of the regiment of dragoons of which he is the honorary colonel of the probability of his going to the far east, adding that he would take the regiment with him as his bodyguard.

The return of Viceroy Alexeieff is practically certain.

Volunteer Ships at Algiers.

He says every means should be taken by nurserymen and others interested to stamp out this pest.

Cashier Butler Not Guilty.

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 1.—After being in continuous session for nearly twelve hours the jury in the trial of A. H. Butler, former cashier of the defunct Exchange bank at Lockport, brought in a verdict finding the defendant not guilty. Butler was tried on a charge of receiving deposits after the bank became insolvent.

ALL BOSTON MOURNS

Senator Hoar's Death Subject of Profound Regret.

DIED IN MASSACHUSETTS' SERVICE

"A Great Statesman Has Gone From Us," Proclaims Governor Bates. "He Won Respect of the Nation as a Sincere Man."

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—News of the passing of Senator George F. Hoar, although long expected, was received with great regret by all classes of citizens. In politics he had no enemies in this state, and Democrats were not behind the members of his own party in paying tribute to his worth.

Soon after daylight the flags on the statehouse were half masted, and later similar tokens of mourning were displayed on the city hall and other buildings throughout the city.

Upon learning of the death of Senator Hoar, Governor John L. Bates at once issued the following proclamation to the citizens of the commonwealth of Massachusetts:

"It becomes my solemn duty to announce the death of our senior United States senator, George Frisbie Hoar, who died at 1:25 a. m. on this day at his home in the city of Worcester.

"A great man has gone from us. He lived and died in the service of Massachusetts. Five times he was commissioned by this commonwealth to represent her in the highest council chamber in the nation, and under those commissions he served longer than any other man who has represented this state. The character of that service may be measured by the highest standards, and it will not be found wanting. It made him a national figure for a generation. By great abilities and unswerving rectitude he won the respect of the nation and established himself in the hearts of his fellow men. They gladly honored him because they believed in him. He was a scholar of deep learning, an orator of impassioned power, but, above all, a sincere man, wholly devoted to conscience, hewing close to the line, scorning the arts of the demagogue, not anxious to please, but to serve them, not seeking to be popular, but determined to be right. Intensely conscious of the loss our state has suffered, we find even in the hour of extreme sorrow a great cause for gratification in that the record of his noble life will ever remain to us as a precious legacy.

"In recognition of his eminent services it seems fitting that the state departments be closed on the day of his funeral, that the flags throughout the commonwealth be placed at half staff and that our citizens by such other appropriate methods as may suggest themselves express their respect for his memory."

Frye Names Senatorial Committee.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The president pro tempore of the senate designated the following senators as the committee on the part of the senate to attend the funeral of Senator Hoar: Lodge, Platt (Conn.), Hale, Depew, McComas, Spooner, Foraker, Beveridge, Elkins, Dryden, Stewart, Cockrell, Bacon, Blackburn, Gorman and Morgan.

RIHL JEWELS RECOVERED.

Philadelphia Lady Robbed In Central Park, New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Handcuffed between two detectives, Charles C. Castleman, who robbed Mrs. A. M. Rihl of Philadelphia of $900 worth of jewelry in Central park, went to his room on the second floor of the house at 312 West Twenty-third street and took three pawn tickets from under one corner of the carpet. Two of these were for diamond rings, which had been pledged for $65 and $80 respectively, while the third represented two brooches and three rings, on which $400 had been advanced.

Castleman then produced Mrs. Rihl's pocketbook containing her wedding ring and her watch, and after the detectives had regained the pawned property all three returned to the Yorkville prison. Castleman will be arraigned again in the Yorkville court this morning.

All the stolen jewelry has now been recovered.

When Mrs. Rihl arrived in New York she went to the arsenal in Central park, where she met Detectives Tompkins and Clark. Mrs. Rihl was accompanied by her husband. The four then went to the Yorkville prison to see the prisoner.

When they were led to the door of the cell Castleman said:

"Hello, Mrs. Rihl!"

"How dare you talk to me, you scoundrel!" she replied.

"Oh, forgive me! Forgive me!" pleaded the prisoner, falling to his knees. "Forgive me for the sake of my wife and child!"

The detectives asked Castleman what he had done with the property still missing. Castleman replied that he had hidden it and that he would be glad to take them to the place and give it up.

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 1, 1904

The nomination of James F. Buckle by the Republicans for the office of mayor meets with the approval of the public generally. For some years past, Mr. Buckle has taken a deep interest in the welfare of the municipality and has always striven to do anything that would tend to make it a better and finer city. His record in the Common Council and his reputation as a business man recommend him for the mayoralty. The renomination of William N. Runyon for city judge is a deserving honor conferred upon that talented young man. It is needless to say anything regarding the renomination of Captain Hubbard for freeholder. He has been intimately associated here for many years and his record speaks for itself. The renomination of W. A. Westphal as a candidate for freeholder and of Dr. J. B. Probasco as school commissioner are likewise commendable to the party.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLERS TO ORGANIZE A CLUB

SERIES OF GAMES GAMES TO BE ARRANGED BY THE TEAM.

C. B Koons, manager of last year's bowling team of the local Y. M. C. A., has called a meeting of the members of that organization for next Wednesday evening at the association rooms to confer on the bowling campaign for the coming season. All others interested in the game are cordially invited to come also in order to swell the list of candidates for the team.

While the men do not favor a complicated system of organization, they expect to elect a president, secretary and a manager. Several offers of games which have been submitted by teams in this vicinity to Manager Koons will be acted on also and the season promises to be a very successful one in every respect.

It has been promised that the association alleys will be put in first-class shape immediately and the bowlers also hope to arrange with the physical work committee for a little latitude in regard to closing time for the benefit of visiting teams who may find themselves unable to quite finish their games before 10 o'clock, the usual time for "lights out" at the Y. M. C. A.

UNREST IN CHINA.

Revolutionary Movement Growing In Chili, Shantung and Hunan.

PEKING, Oct. 1.—Foreigners are disturbed by the growing unrest in the southern part of Chili province and in Shangtung and Hunan provinces. They were informed at the offices of the foreign board that the agitation is largely revolutionary and antidynastic, differing from the Boxer movement of 1900, which was chiefly antiforeign. Ministers of the powers here have approached the foreign board with the view of inducing the officials to take effective measures. The board replied that strict orders had been given to Yuan Shi Kai, viceroy of Chili and commander in chief of the Chinese forces, to do his utmost to suppress the revolutionary movement and added that no serious trouble was anticipated. The foreign board naturally minimizes the symptoms, which certainly are widespread, but there seems ground to believe that the character of the movement is different from that of the Boxers of 1900.

The native papers of Peking and elsewhere are utilizing the cooly question as a means of agitation. Pamphlets and handbills are also distributed, complaining of the alleged cruelties which the coolies in the Transvaal are subjected to. The Chinese government apparently has not attempted to counteract or check these mischievous statements. It is difficult to ascertain the precise object of the agitation, but the foreigners regard the situation as being distinctly disquieting.

Honan Missionaries In Danger.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Twenty-six Canadian missionaries are at present in Honan, China, where a general massacre of foreigners is said to have been decided upon by a Chinese society to occur on Oct. 17. Two others, Rev. J. Mowat and Mrs. Mowat, are on their way out.

CONDITION IS CRITICAL.

Postmaster General Payne Very Ill, but May Recover.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Postmaster General Payne's physicians determined to summon Dr. Osler of Baltimore, the expert diagnostician of Johns Hopkins university. When the latter arrived here a consultation of physicians immediately followed.

Drs. Magruder, Rixey, Grayson and Osler after consultation have issued the following bulletin regarding the postmaster general's condition:

"The fact of responding to remedies and being able to retain all nourishment gives much encouragement. The heart action is still very feeble and is the cause of grave alarm. His condition still continues to be serious. He has had several sinking spells, but each time he has responded to treatment."

Before Dr. Osler returned to Baltimore he said that the postmaster general's condition was critical, but that he had hopes that Mr. Payne might yet pull through.

Mrs. Roosevelt has called twice at the hotel to inquire about Mr. Payne's condition. She spent some time with Mrs. Payne and called again late in the day. Secretary Hitchcock called several times, and Acting Secretary of State Loomis made personal inquiries. A host of messages from friends making anxious inquiries have arrived.

Everywhere in official circles the deepest concern and solicitude were manifested in the outcome. The president is being kept constantly advised of the patient's condition. Mrs. W. S. Cameron of Jamestown, N. Y., the only sister of the postmaster general, has arrived here.

HERRICK FOR GOVERNOR.

Democratic Candidates Notified of Nominations at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The ceremonies incidental to the notification of the Democratic state nominees here were again changed at the last moment, and Odd Fellows' hall was selected in place of the common council chamber, owing to the large number of people expected.

The Tammany Hall delegation was met at the Union station shortly before noon and conducted to the city hall, where they were met by Judge Herrick, the nominee for governor, and the other candidates, with former Senator Hill, Chairman Cord Meyer of the Democratic state committee, Chairman W. G. Rice of the Albany county Democratic committee and State Committeeman P. E. McCabe. Thence they marched to Odd Fellows' hall.

Duncan Campbell Lee of Ithaca, permanent chairman of the state convention, delivered the notification speech, and the responses were made by Judge Herrick, Congressman Francis Burton Harrison, the nominee for lieutenant governor, and Attorney General Cunneen, who ran on the for the balance of the ticket. After the speeches an informal reception was held at the Kenmore hotel.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Right Hon. and Mrs. James Bryce of Great Britain are guests of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House. They may remain for a day or two.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Report Reviewing Week's Business.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The last quarter of 1904 opens with much brighter prospects than prevailed a year ago. There are no alarming features, strikes are few and unimportant, while the indications of growing confidence are numerous. Business does not show the hesitation customary during the closing weeks of a presidential campaign, and the prospect of profitable agricultural results stimulates trade, especially among retailers at the west and south. Building operations are expanding, providing a better demand for lumber and materials. Clothing and kindred lines are stimulated by colder weather, and clearance sales are well attended.

Manufacturing plants are decreasing the proportion of idle machinery, the chief complaint coming from cotton mills, which suffer from the disparity between prices of raw material and finished product. Movement of wheat is heavy, but retarded by inadequate traffic facilities at some points, and railway earnings for September exceeded last year's by 6.5 per cent. Security markets have risen $14 above the corresponding date last year, and money is easy and abundant.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for September amounted to $10,369,448, of which $3,600,598 were in manufacturing, $5,220,435 in trading and $1,548,415 in other commercial lines. Failures for the week numbered 223 in the United States against 226 last year and 18 in Canada compared with 10 a year ago.

OSBORN MURDERER TO HANG.

Judge Omitted Usual Plea For God's Mercy on Prisoner.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 1.—Joseph Watson, the negro lad who out of spite shot and killed his former employer, Henry Osborn, ex-police commissioner of Hartford, early in August, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by the jury in the superior court which for two days has listened to the evidence.

Judge Roraback at once called the prisoner to the bar and asked him if he had anything to say to court before sentence was imposed. Watson, who has been indifferent from the outset, exhibited no particular interest. Standing before the court, he replied to the question with a shake of his head and then, assuming a somewhat brazen attitude, said: "What have I got to say? You fellows have got all the power. It is no use for me to say anything."

Judge Roraback then pronounced the sentence, which was that Watson should be hanged at the state prison at Wethersfield on Thursday, Nov. 17. In pronouncing the sentence it was noticed that Judge Roraback omitted the words "and may God have mercy on your soul," which almost invariably are given at the close of the death sentence.

Girls Who Do Things

And Girls Who Would Like to Do Things

THERE is more harm accomplished by leaving things undone than by doing things, and if this bit of philosophy were more appreciated by those who are always afraid to step out it would be well for the progress of the world.

There are two kinds of people in this world—the people who do things and the people who spend their time thinking about them. I have no patience with the girl or woman who says, "I have such a small income I wish some one would tell me how to make some money," or "I'd like to have some of my writing accepted by a newspaper if I only knew how to get at the editor."

The girl who will say that sort of thing is never the girl who does things. Indeed, she will spend her life speculating and thinking about them.

People can help you some, but they can't actually do the thing for you, and it's my experience that the actual help counts for very little. It is your part which means everything. There isn't a girl, if she really is in earnest about wanting to earn money, who can't find some means of doing it if she tries, and if a young woman writes acceptable stuff she won't have any difficulty in getting a hearing with any editor. She won't need any private copyrighted ways of getting "at" or "around" him.

I have in mind a girl who came to New York to study and better her condition. She had a voice of fair promise. She spent a winter having it cultivated, and then in the spring she was forced to go home because her parents declined to furnish any more money for lessons. She wept piteously. "My whole life is ruined!" she sobbed. "In another year I could have done something with my voice!"

"Do you mean to say you are actually going back to the country to live there all the rest of your days because you haven't the gumption to raise a few dollars?" a practical friend asked her.

"Why, what can I do?" murmured the weeping one.

"Do? Why, anything honest that would bring you the money and give you time for your lessons! You could even get a position in some musical comedy company as a chorus girl. Those comedies run a long time in town, and when it was about to go on the road you could try for another. It isn't hard for a good looking girl to get a position, and that means $15 per week—enough to pay for your lessons at professional rates. Or you could enter an office and study in the evening. I would even go out as a servant girl and use the wages and the $10 your people allow you for board in taking evening lessons, and I certainly wouldn't give up until I had gone to every church in town and found out whether or not a voice as good as mine, even though uncultivated, was not needed in its choir."

But the future Patti simply went home. She could do things if the money and the letter of introduction were placed at her elbow; otherwise it was too hard.

"How do you have the courage to move around so on the stage? I stay just in the spot where the stage manager puts me. You might as well spare yourself the trouble; no one in the audience notices us, and he may speak to you for doing something you ought not to," said one "extra lady" to the other.

"If I do something I shouldn't, I want him to tell me," retorted the ambitious one. "And I can stand that a great deal better than being planted in one spot, like a tree or a potato, in a scene that calls for action."

The result was that the girl who tried to do things was noticed and given a line to speak, while she who remained planted in one spot for fear of doing anything else is still in just about that same spot, as far as her profession is concerned.

And so it is in everything. It's the girl who takes the initiative, the girl who does things, who gets there.

MAUD ROBINSON.

SHE LOVES MANKIND

THE BEAUTIFUL LIFE STORY OF MISS EVA BOOTH.

New Commander of Salvation Army in United States Is Lovingly Known in London as "Angel of the Slums."

New York Special.

From a barefaced lass who, with her sweet voice and tambourine, led street meetings in the slums of London to the leadership of the Salvation Army in this country is the story which a few weeks will see completed in the career of Eva Booth. It is expected that Miss Booth will soon come to New York from Canada, where she is commander of the Canadian division, to take the leadership of the American division.

Her brother-in-law, Commander Booth-Tucker, who is now the head of the army in this country, has been depressed since the death of his wife in a railroad accident a short time ago that the work of leading the Salvationists has proved a load which he is unable to bear to his own satisfaction.

Eva Booth began to do her share of the work in spreading the creed of salvation to all mankind when she was a mere child. In 1884, when the advances of the army in England were being received with hostility by the worst element and with decided indifference by the better classes, she made her first appearance in the street meetings. Down in the district of Whitechapel, London, in the midst of the slums, the army had begun its street meetings and had met with all kinds of opposition, even to open threats and show of force. The Whitechapel hoodlum, afraid that his sway in the district was threatened by the activity of the "sky soldiers," turned out and tried by hooting, hissing and the throwing of decayed vegetables to drive the Salvationists from the streets.

The authorities turned an indifferent ear to the appeals of Gen. Booth, and things looked dark for the work of the army in that part of London which needed its efforts most. One night there arose on the little platform in the street a 12-year-old girl in the uniform of the army. The hoodlums stopped in their efforts to drown the voices of the Salvationists and stared at the child before them. Then, before they could renew their efforts, she began to sing. The voice, clear and eager, ringing out amid the dirt and squalor and sin of Whitechapel, silenced the crowds where the efforts of the older workers had been objects of ridicule. To the end the girl went on with her song, and when she ceased women who had not known what tears were for years were crying and men were standing silent and abashed.

MISS EVA BOOTH.
(New Commander of the Salvation Army in the United States.)

So the Salvation Army first won its hold in the London slums, and so was Eva Booth introduced to the people among whom she was to spend years of work.

For two years she accompanied her father in his tours and sang her way into the hearts of her listeners. Then, because the people of the slums could not forget the little girl who had touched their hearts, she stopped traveling with the general and settled down to the work of saving souls among the submerged classes. Her sweet face and manners won the love of those among whom she labored. Gifted with a fine voice and grace of bearing, she captivated the district and was soon known as the "angel of the slums."

When she was near her twentieth year she won the love of a young student of sociology who was pursuing his studies in the London slums. The young man saw the girl whose voice and presence swayed the crowds that gathered and promptly lost his heart to her. He attended the meetings of the army, joined in the choruses of the songs, and finally avowed his love and asked Miss Booth to become his wife. But the bar of the army's regulations was between them. The young man was unwilling to take up the task of soul saving, and Eva Booth was so devoted to her work that she would not become the wife of any man who could not engage with her in her labors.

Eva Booth continued in her efforts in her chosen field, and the sociologist sadly went his way. Miss Booth is now the only one of Gen. Booth's daughters in the army who has not married.

With her advent as commander in Canada she threw herself into her work with the zeal that marked her efforts in London. Her administration has been characterized by good judgment and success. In her duties as commander she has displayed the possession of rare executive ability. She has a fancy for big enterprises. When she comes to assume charge of the American division she will have opportunity to use her ability in this regard.

EASTERN TENT COLONIES.

Many People on Atlantic Coast Spend the Entire Summer Under Canvas.

Spending the summer vacation in a tent is a custom that is yearly growing in popularity in almost every part of this broad land. On the Atlantic coast, especially on the south side of Long Island and along the New Jersey shore, and on the Pacific the tent colonies are increasing in numbers and growing in size, reports the New York Sun.

Rochester, Buffalo and other cities on the great lakes have thriving summer tent suburbs, where the city dwellers can get close to nature and enjoy lake breezes. The various Chautauqua assemblies, scattered across the continent from the great parent camp at Chautauqua, N. Y., all through the middle western state, welcome the camper and provide nearly as much room for tents as for the more permanent cottages.

Hundreds of little inland lakes, all destitute of any such institution as the summer assembly, present inviting sites for summer camps, be they of solitary tents or groups for several families, and town folks, and villagers, too, in increasing numbers are realizing this and pitching tents there for a week or a month or longer.

To the city family of moderate means a tent camp affords the opportunity of getting away to fresh fields and pastures new, which otherwise might not be possible. In a group of New York matrons who were discussing vacation plans the other day, one mother of four was enthusiastic about the benefits of tent life to her growing youngsters.

"Yes," she said, "we are going to spend our summer in a tent again. We've done that for three years, and the whole family has voted it such a success that now we do not even think of any other plan as a possibility.

"Just as soon as the children are out of school we start for camp. I don't know of anything that does my children so much good. You see, they live practically out of doors the whole summer.

"They're seldom in the tent except when asleep and when it's too rainy to stay out—and that is seldom. They store up a big found of good health that lasts them all through the school year in town.

"But one of the greatest benefits from this sort of summering is that it makes them less particular about their food. At home the children sometimes get finicky about the kind of cereal they'll eat for breakfast and become too fastidious about the cooking, but they get so hungry when we're camping that they are ready to eat whatever is put before them. They learn to help to cook the food, too, and anything tastes good when they've had the fun of preparing it over an outdoors fire.

"The boys—I have three of them, you know—learn other useful things, too. They have to help wash the dishes and make their own beds, and keep the camp tidy. And there is plenty of time for all these things and for play, too.

"No, I don't take any servants. Ours is a genuine camp. We take care of ourselves, and each member of the family has his own special chores to do.

"This gives each of us just enough responsibility to prevent laziness, and enough work to whet our appetities for a good time and for good, plain, wholesome food. I am sure my children have been in better health and better temper since we have been camping out than they ever were before.

"Another advantage, and one not to be ignored or despised is the opportunity tent life affords for nature study. Such opportunity is more intimate and more immediate than any other method of country life offers than I know of.

"My youngsters are all interested in flowers and birds and squirrels and insects, and Benjamin Franklin, Jr., always home a large collection of rocks and fossils. Never a day passes at Canvaswalls without some new discovery in these fascinating studies, and there is never a dull day all summer long."

"Well, well! Almost thou persuadest me to become a camper," laughed matron No. 2, while a third added: "I'm going to try it this very summer;" and she and the experienced mother-of-four forthwith launched into a discussion of plans and details of suitable places and necessary outfit.

Decreasing Price of Cut Glass.

"American cut glass has become the best article in the market," said W. L. Rice, of Corning, N. Y., recently. "The day is coming, and is almost here now, when we can all have cut glass on our tables, and it will no longer be confined to the wealthy classes as a luxury. The price is decreasing all the time, and it is only the handsomest and most intricate designs of cutting that demand fancy prices in these days. Imported glass used to be the thing, but American industry has made rapid strides in the last few years, and now the coloring and the style of domestic production surpasses that which is brought in from foreign countries."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Japanese Garden Lanterns.

The noted Japanese gardens, famous for their beauty, owe much of their charm to the quaint lanterns which are used in great profusion. The best of their garden lanterns are made of bronze after quaint native designs. Some of them are richly carved and are of great antiquity, and the best examples are seen at Nikko, famous for its exquisite bronzes.—N. Y. Herald.

One Man's Luck.

Brown—I say, Green, did you buy that block of mining stock you were speaking about?

Green—No. I had a fortunate escape.

"How was that?"

"A burglar broke into my office, cracked the safe and stole the money I was going to invest in it."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

APACHE VS. APACHE

ACCOUNT OF A BATTLE BETWEEN INDIANS IN SOUTHWEST.

Government Troops Had to Settle the Difficulties Between Two Jealous Chiefs—The Result of Too Much Tiswin.

Soon after the defeat of the Mescalero Apache Indians by the American troops, late in the '70s, a portion of the tribe fled over the border into Mexico, and the remainder, submitting to American control, were assembled on a newly created reservation of public land extending along the banks of a little, headlong mountain stream in southern New Mexico, known as the Tulerosa.

The settlement of the Indians on these lands was promptly followed by the cantonment of a company of infantry near by, to prevent, if possible, the departure of Apache raiding parties that might be organized to operate against Mexican ranches and American settlements.

The task proved a difficult one for the troops, owing to the restlessness of the Indians, who now for the first time in their history experienced restraints beyond those imposed by their personal necessities, and would have been almost impossible but for the existence of two rival factions in the tribe, headed respectively by Long Tail Bull and Little Eagle. These chiefs were intensely jealous of each other and through their faithful followers kept the troops in some measure informed of what was going on within the ranks of their opponents. These expositions led quickly to much bitterness of feeling between the factions and resulted at last, one fine May day, in a prolonged battle with fire-arms and bows and arrows, precipitated by an over indulgence in an intoxicating beverage of native brewing, known as tiswin.

A portion of the corn issued to the Indians, it was subsequently discovered, was saved by them from each issue for the manufacture of tiswin. When a sufficient quantity of grain had been obtained for this purpose it was moistened in water and buried in the earth, where it was kept until germination had begun. It was then disinterred and after being thoroughly dried in the sun was crushed and ground into powder between flat stones. The meal thus made, together with some saccharine matter obtained from the roasted leaves of the maguey plant, was then placed in a great earthen vessel filled with water and permitted to ferment. Within a few days an intoxicating beverage resulted that was fully capable, when imbibed in sufficient quantities, of rendering the poor Apache drinker a living reality of Dante's imaginary "Inferno," and a worthy representative of a long time resident of sheol.

It happened that the rival factions under Long Tail Bull and Little Eagle, thoughtless it may be of possible consequences, joined in the tiswin making and united in drinking the decoction when it was ready for consumption. The Bull and the Eagle no sooner felt the quickening tingle of the tiswin stimulate their veins than they hastened to meet in deadly combat and but for the interference of a government official who happened upon the scene would have proceeded to butcher each other in true Apache style with their hunting knives. Foiled in this savage pastime they quickly drew apart, followed by their respective factions, and, seeking the cover of standing timber and the trunks of fallen trees near their encampments, at once opened fire upon each other with their bows and arrows and rifles.

Every now and then a warrior of one of the opposing factions emerged with a defiant yell from his cover and appeared momentarily in the open, exposed to the fire of his enemies. During the time of his exposure he indulged constantly in wild shouts of defiance, the meanwhile gesticulating ceaselessly with his hands and arms as he sprang about incessantly with the agility of a jumping-jack. Each of these displays of senseless bravado was the signal for a shower of barbed arrows and rifle balls from the opposite side, but fortunately the aim of the firers was greatly impaired by the intoxicating beverage in which they had indulged and but few casualties occurred.

The troops finally came hurrying upon the scene, and intervening between the combatants, quickly put an end to the contest. To prevent its possible renewal a guard was established near the encampments and the unconsumed tiswin unceremoniously turned out on the ground.

Profiting by this experience the issue of corn by the officials in charge was thereafter confined to broken grains, and tiswin ceased, for the time being at least, to be a possibility

Albert E. Willard, manager of the Plainfield Amateur Dramatic Club, goes to New York on Tuesday next to arrange for a band of professionals to give an entertainment during the early part of next month under the auspices of the Royal Arcanum, Greenbrook Council, No. 1725. The club met last night and transacted some routine business. BOROUGH LAD HURT.

Russell Hann Badly Injured by a Fall.

While climbing up the porch at a neighbor's home in Somerset place, yesterday afternoon, Russell Hann, aged twelve years, slipped and fell astride a large hammock hook, lacerating the scrotum about an inch. The lad's cries attracted the attention of his mother, who was in the house at the time.

Hastening to the scene of the accident, Mrs. Hann found the boy lying on the ground suffering intense agony and bleeding profusely. She carried him into the house and Dr. D. O. Adams, the family physician, was summoned at once. The physician believes that the lad will recover in a short time, if inflammation does not set in.

Girls' Basket Ball Team.

A meeting of the Girls' Athletic Association of the Plainfield High School was held in the interest of basket ball yesterday. It was decided to organize a team, and to play on the Casino grounds. It was decided at the meeting to defer the election of officers till next week. They will probably be held on Monday.

Veteran Voters.

As both have always voted in their election district, it is doubtful whether the record can be beaten.

LEAL'S BOYS WIN THEIR OPENING CONTEST

WESTFIELD HIGH SCHOOL VANQUISHED BY SCORE OF 26 TO 0.

Leal's School football team opened its season this morning by defeating the Westfield High School team in a fast and well played game. The score was 26 to 0, and was largely due to the excellent work of Edwin Daniel, the right half back of the Plainfield aggregation. His runs were long, and how as counted on at any time to tear off from five to twenty yards. At three critical stages in the game, he made touchdowns from the forty yard line.

Generally speaking the game was won by strong defense on the part of the local aggregation, Westfield being unable to gain her distance. The ball was in the home team's territory the greater part of the game. A feature of the game was a goal from the thirty yard line made by Dallas in the second half. The following was the line-up of the Leal's School team: Glenney, left end; Reiss, left tackle; Lawrence, left guard; Valiant and Manning, center; Strong and Endicott, right guard; Curtis and Waring, right tackle; Suffern and Underhill, right end; Wilcox, quarter back; Daniel, right half-back; Dallas, full back.

Touchdowns—Daniel, 3; Dallas. Goal from field—Dallas. Goals from touchdowns—Wilcox, 2. Umpire—Stiles.

Whittier Basket Ball Prospects.

The prospects for a good basket ball team at the Whittier School are very bright. The candidates are taking hold of the game well, and Captain Martin has been able to pick out the regular team, which will probably represent the school in the juvenile league. The team was out for practice yesterday afternoon, and enough players turned out to play a scrub game. The boys have arranged a practice game with the Hope chapel players for some evening next week. The line-up of the team in that game will be as follows: Alpaugh, center; Briggs and Woodhull, guards; Loughlin and Fountain, forwards.

POLICE GET "PROF. LYTTON"

Noted Swindler Landed in Chicago Through a "Tip" From Chief Kiely.

HE IS WANTED HERE

Indictments Against Him All Over the Country, But Plainfield Is to Get Him First — His Career.

Wanted by the police in cities all over the United States, John Hazel, alias Harry H. Waite, alias Dr. Hamilton, alias Professor Lytton and a dozen others, is in custody and is to be turned over to Chief Kiely, of the local department. One of the smoothest and slickest swindlers in the country he has defrauded women out of hundreds of thousands of dollars by posing as a clairvoyant and medium. He got away with $500 from Mrs. Abbie Drake, of Orchard place, and his capture has been the result of her complaint. On information furnished the Chicago police by Chief Kiely he was arrested in that city Saturday afternoon, and is being held until requisition papers can be made out and an officer sent for him.

His method has been to open an office in some city and by inserting display advertisements in newspapers extolling his powers, attract patronage. As a rule women flocked to his place and after selecting his victim, would give one or two sittings without making any headway beyond learning whether she had any money. If so, he would declare that in order to have a successful seance it would be necessary for her to secure a certain amount and allow him to cast a "spell" over it and then for her to place it in her bosom. He always gave instructions that it was not to be taken out for a certain time, always long enough to allow him to get out of the city, as during the "spelling" process he would remove the money from whatever it was in and insert newspaper clippings. The victim's attention would be distracted by peculiar incantations and shouts of "hocus pocus, abracadabra" or words to that effect.

He came to this city in December, 1900, and opened an office on West Second street and advertised himself as Professor Lytton. Among those who sought his services was Mrs. Drake who sought to learn something about a missing relative. He told her he could give valuable information but it would be necessary for her to have $500 and place it about her person. She had that amount in the bank and under his instruction drew it out and placed it in an envelope. At the same time he was working the same game on a sister to Mrs. Drake, only she brought but $50. The "spell" was cast and when Mrs. Drake opened the envelope at home her money was gone and so was Professor Lytton when she hurried back, also her sister's $50.

The matter was placed in Chief Kiely's hands and an indictment was secured against Lytton. For a while nothing was heard of him and then he turned up in Denver, Col. He was arrested there but gave bail and fled. Then word came that he had been arrested in Scranton, Pa., after a desperate struggle in which he shot the chief of police. He was released on $2,500 bail but failed to return for trial. Next the Memphis, Tenn., police caught him and as they had a weak case against him, they turned him over to the authorities at Portland, Me. There he gave $6,000 cash bail and as usual left it go by default. That was the last Chief Kiely heard of him until a few days ago when a tip came that he had opened an office in Chicago. He wired Chief O'Neil a full description of the swindler with his exact address and his arrest followed. O'Neil telegraphed to Plainfield Saturday night that he was in custody and would be held awaiting instructions. It is possible that he will fight hard against extradition but the local papers have been in readiness ever since the indictment and the chief anticipates no difficulty in proving his case.

The police have every reason to believe that Hazel is the swindler's real name and his record shows him to be of a family of swindlers. His father has been working the same game and a brother has helped him at various times. He is now wanted by the authorities in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg and scores of smaller cities in the East and West.

DROPS DEAD ON TRAIN

Conductor L. C. Hurtt Stricken With Heart Disease.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN

While in Charge of a Central Railroad Train, Man is Carried Off.

Louis C. Hurtt, for nearly thirty years an employe of the New Jersey Central, died suddenly between Elizabethport and Newark this morning while in charge of his passenger train as conductor. Heart disease was the cause of death. He lived on West Front street, near Clinton avenue, having moved there several months ago, from Summit avenue.

Mr. Hurtt had been troubled more or less with his heart for some time, but when he left the house this morning to go to Dunellen, from which point he always took his train, he was in his accustomed health.

Mr. Hurtt was born near Trenton, but for many years lived at Manasquan. He served in the Civil War with a New Jersey regiment and was a member of the Grand Army. Owing to the poor health of his daughter, Miss Grace Hurtt, the family moved to this city a few years ago. He was a faithful employe of the New Jersey Central and held one of the best of records.

He leaves a wife, daughter of Mrs. Ann Brown, of Washington avenue; and three children, Lewis and Charles Hurtt and Miss Grace Hurtt.

HILLSIDE TENNIS PLAYERS HAVE AN EXCITING SET

BEERS AND GODDARD TURN TABLES ON EACH OTHER.

Though the finals in the men's tennis tournament for the championship of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club were to have been played off Saturday, but one match took place. This was the finishing match in the semi-finals, and leaves the contest between T. M. Day, Jr., and Fred W. Goddard. The deciding match will take place next Saturday.

At the courts Saturday one of the most interesting sets which has ever been played at Hillside took place. It was between F. W. Goddard and A. D. Beers, and resulted as follows: Goddard defeated Beers, 6-2; Beers defeated Goddard, 8-6, and Goddard defeated Beers, 8-6. As the sets took a long time to be played, the finals were not begun. Beers was a little flighty in the first set, and it went to his opponent with comparative ease. The next two sets were as good exhibitions of tennis as one could wish to see, each point being won after a hard rally, sometimes lasting for several minutes. Beers steadied up remarkably in the second set, and though hard pressed, by Goddard came out ahead after fourteen games had been played. In the last contest, the tables were turned, and Goddard proved the stronger by the same score.

In the final match, the winner will be determined by the best three out of five sets, and a most interesting struggle for the cup is anticipated. Mr. Day has won the cup in former years, and is playing his usual game this year, while Goddard has won his way to the finals in fine style, putting up a strong game.

New Dancing Academy.

The upper floor of the Schepflin building on West Front street, has been leased for a dancing academy and among the improvements to be made will be a new hard-wood floor, and men and women's dressing room, smoking room, and the hall will be attractively decorated. Dances will be held every Saturday night with a full orchestra. A dancing class will be formed under the direction of Frank Burk and a number of up-to-date novelties will be introduced during the season. The hall will be completed about October 15, and it can be rented for receptions and amusements by corresponding with the chairman, B. A. Paroubek.

Fair Estate Robbed.

A suit filed by William Rogers, an oldtime miner and prospector, discloses the fact that the Morgan mine at Angels camp, California, owned by the Fair estate, has been robbed of not less than $100,000 worth of gold. The thefts are said to have been the work of four or five men employed in the mine.

Herbert Steile Brokaw, of this city, has entered the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, of Troy, N. Y., to take a four years' course in engineering.

STARS HAVE A WALKOVER

Elizabeth Team Defeats Plainfield A. C. by 12 to 1 Score.

SORRY EXHIBITION

Garvin Very Much Out of Form and is Touched Up for a Total of Sixteen Hits.

It was a sorry exhibition of baseball that the Plainfield A. C. put up with the Elizabeth Stars on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, when the visitors were victorious by a score of twelve to one. The lone run made by the home team was on an error. Cusick got a free pass, reached second on MacLaughlin's wild throw and reached home after a sacrifice by Oregan and a fly to the outfield by Farmer. "Warry" MacLaughlin, on the slab for the visitors, was almost invincible, allowing but three hits and holding his opponents down at all stages of the contest.

On the other hand Garvin was easy to find. He was touched very hard for a total of sixteen hits, including four three-baggers and a home run and in only two innings, the sixth and ninth, did he prevent scoring. Under such terrific hitting, it was almost impossible for the home team to stop the bombardment. The Stars were able to make runs whenever they wanted to and they were very successful in bunting the ball. Foster made two three baggers, and Middleton and Soffel did likewise, while Finn made the circuit on a long hard drive to left field. There was little interest in the game for the local fans and before the contest was half over, the visitors gave up cheering. The masterly work of MacLaughlin in the box was a source of satisfaction to his many friends here who are interested in his success.

HANDSOME PARISH HOUSE

Description of Addition to Grace Episcopal Church.

IT WILL COST $20,000

To Replace Old Wooden Chapel—Structure to be Modern in Style.

Plans filed with Building Inspector Doane show in detail the new parish house to be erected for Grace Episcopal church at Sixth and Sycamore streets and reveal by description what a handsome structure it will be when completed. The building will cost $20,000. It is to be two stories in height and the exterior appearance will resemble the parent church building to some extent, being faced with gray stone. Its equipment will be extensive and altogether it will make a cosy place for the members of the parish in which to gather for occasions outside of the regular church services.

Rev. E. V. Stevenson.
Rector of Grace Church.

According to the plans the basement will be finished off as one floor which practically makes three in all. In it will be a morning chapel 35 2 by 21 feet in dimensions, living rooms, a demonstration room, kitchen and chancel. On the first floor there is to be a Bible class room and two guild rooms, the rector's office, infants' class room, pantry and lockers for the safe-keeping of vestments. Wide stairways will lead to the second floor where the auditorium is to be located. It will have a seating capacity of 271 and a platform, 20 by 11.6 feet. In addition it will contain five class-rooms which can be used for various purposes.

It will have numerous closets and store-rooms throughout and fireproof material will be used to a large extent. Most of the hallways will be tiled and the trusses will be of iron, while the heating and sanitary arrangements will be of the most improved pattern.

The new structure will replace the old wooden chapel which was formerly the only building the parish owned and which was its first church. Workmen have commenced tearing this down and when the ground is cleared, Contractor Charles M. Wilson will rush the foundation. The plans were prepared by Architect Robert W. Gibson, of New York.

Baptist Anniversary.

The New Jersey Baptist anniversaries will be held at the Central Baptist church, Trenton, October 24, 25 and 26. The programme includes the ministers' conference, meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union on Monday, the convention and Woman's Baptist Home Mission conference on Tuesday and the meeting of the education society and social union on Wednesday. A large number of prominent ministers and workers from all parts of the State and the United States will be present and Plainfield will have a big representation.

F. H. Jacobs Spoke.

A special meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon which proved to be one of the most interesting the association has conducted in some time. The speaker was F. H. Jacobs, the well known evangelist, who has appeared as various meetings in this city. A large audience was present and enjoyed his description of a trip through Palestine. A choir of mixed voices led the singing, while the soloist was Miss Eva Wells. She was accompanied by the Misses Elsie and Edith Carson on the mandolin and guitar.

Women's Club Meeting.

The Monday Afternoon Club inaugurated its seventeenth season of intellectual debate, readings, lectures, etc., at the Casino this afternoon.

RALLY DAY CELEBRATIONS

Hope Chapel Sunday-School's Elaborate Exercises.

BAPTIST OBSERVANCE

Congregationalists, Presbyterians and Methodists Hold Special Services.

Threatening skies seemingly had no effect on the attendance at Hope chapel yesterday and a total of 403 pupils assembled for the rally day exercises. In addition there were many visitors making the gathering one of the largest that has been held, though not exceeding last year's record.

The programme was in charge of Superintendent Henry C. Squires and was unusually interesting. Addresses were made by Rev. Dr. John S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church; Assistant Superintendent Travell and Rev. L. B. Howard. Solos were contributed by Rhys Thomas, of the Crescent Avenue church choir and several songs were rendered by the primary department, led by Mrs. N. C. King. The singing in the main school was in charge of City Judge William N. Runyon and was one of the features.

By way of comparison, Superintendent Squires told of the first Sunday-school session held in Hope chapel sixteen years ago, when three teachers and twenty pupils assembled for Bible study. He read the names of these "pioneers" and then traced the growth of the department up to the present time.

The regular afternoon services of the First Presbyterian Sunday-school were resumed yesterday afternoon, when the annual rallying day service took place. The occasion was marked by special music. The regular lesson was taught by the individual teachers, following which Rev. Charles E. Herring, the pastor, made an address. Rev. Mr. Herring followed out the thought presented by the teachers, speaking on the regular lesson.

The church quartette rendered several selections. There were also three solos, by Miss Rayberi, soprano; Mrs. Tugwell, contralto, and Mr. Derby, bass. In addition, Miss Raybert and Mrs. Tugwell sang a duet. A recitation by Miss Hammond, one of the teachers, was much enjoyed.

Simple rally day services were held at the First Baptist church Sunday-school yesterday, marking the change from the morning to the afternoon session. Superintendent G. H. Batchelor was in charge. There were appropriate songs by the school and a violin solo by Miss Florence Wolfert. As a recognition of the return of Pastor Chambliss, the primary department sang the welcome song in an effective manner.

Three persons were received to membership at the First Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss. Augustus J. Runyon was received by letter from the Park Avenue Baptist church, and Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of Watchung avenue, were received by letters from the Montclair Baptist church.

At the communion service of the Warren chapel yesterday afternoon, two new members were received into the congregation. They were Mrs. Jacabena Meinson, of East Second street, who joined on confession of faith, and Clarence G. Herrison, of New Market, who brought his letter from the First Presbyterian church of this city.

The annual meeting of the Congregational Sunday-school was held yesterday at the conclusion of the regular service. The reports of the missionary, home department, and cent-a-day committees were ready and found satisfactory. The secretary's report ready by Stacy Reynolds, showed an increase in the attendance, while the report of the treasurer, George Kenyon, demonstrated the financial condition to be excellent.

After the reading of the reports, the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year: Superintendent, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich; assistant superintendent, Sydney Dunning; secretary, Stacy Reynolds; treasurer, C. A. Rice; librarian, Charles Steiner.

The rally day exercises at Grace M. E. church were in charge of a committee consisting of A. E. Wilson, Miss Delia Veehl, Miss Mary Steiner and Roy Brokaw. Addresses were made by Rev. W. C. Snodgrass and Rev. Mr. Diffendorfer, the temporary pastor. Miss Bessie Taynor recited, the Misses Alice and Jennie DeMott gave duetts, Whitney Frazee contributed cornet solos and Miss Florence Bennett sang. The attendance was very large.

STOLE MOTHER'S SAVINGS

John Keene, of Dewey Park; Decamps With Her $150.

LOCAL POLICE GET HIM

But Mamma Weakens When He Snivels and They Go Back to Drakeville Together.

The usual ante court quietude prevailed at police headquarters at 8 o'clock this morning, when the officers in charge were startled half out of their senses by the entrance of a dishevelled looking woman in the last degree of hysterics. With her voice pitched in a shrill key she began telling excitedly some trouble that had occurred but it was several minutes before she could be calmed down sufficiently to talk coherently. She then gave her name as Mrs. Keene, of Dewey Park, and said that her son, John Keene, had robbed her of $150, which represented the savings of years. She was sure he hadn't gone far away and after getting his description several policemen hurried out.

The unfaithful John was soon located, in a Front street clothing store, laying in a complete wardrobe from silk underwear to fall overcoats. He was virtually "caught with the goods on" and collapsed when the officer invited him over to headquarters. There the sobbing and hysterical Mrs. Keene weakened and after the greater part of the $130 had been restored to her she fell on John's shoulder and wept—and all was forgiven. John wriveled a little, promised to behave himself and the last the bluecoats saw of mother and son was when they boarded a Dunellen car and started back for the hamlet where Silas Dewey Drake's word is accepted as Gospel truth.

MIANTONOMO TRIBE TO HAVE BIG CELEBRATION

WILL OBSERVE FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY IN FITTING WAY.

The Miantonomo Tribe, No. 113, I. O. R., is arranging for a big celebration of their fifteenth anniversary on Friday evening, October 14. At a meeting Saturday night the anniversary committee reported that an entertainment would be held at which instrumental and vocal selections would be rendered and short talks given by the members of the Board of Great Chiefs who have accepted an invitation to be present. Dancing is to follow and refreshments served. Visiting tribes will come from Plainfield, Bound Brook, Somerville, Westfield, Cranford, New Brunswick, Rahway and Elizabeth. The celebration will not be open to the public, but members will be permitted to bring their wives, daughters and friends.

William Newcorn delivered a short address, describing his recent visit to St. Louis, where he attended a session of the Great Council of the United States. Brief talks were also made by Charles Holstein, David C. Allen, Robert A. Slorah, John T. Green and others.

WESTFIELD DEFEATS ALL-PLAINFIELD TEAM

DENMAN'S AGGREGATION WINS BY A SCORE OF 9 TO 6.

The team of Plainfield baseball players which went to Westfield Saturday and crossed bats with Manager Denman's aggregation met defeat by a score of 9 to 6. Despite the great odds against them, the locals put up a good game and verified the belief that the city can put a strong nine of strictly amateur plays in the field.

"Jimmy" Montross was in the box for Plainfield and pitched in good form. He was touched up for eleven hits, while six were made off Waller. Westfield's came in bunches and that was what enabled them to get around the bases. Plainfield made six errors and the other side three.

The line-up was as follows:

Plainfield—Allen, c; Montross, p; Egan, 1b; Martin, 2b; Enright, ss; Cooney, 3b; Dalley, Overton, rf; Flannery, cf; Taylor, lf.

Westfield—Friedburg, c; Waller, p; Rochford, 1b; Burch, 2b; Smithson, Patience, ss; Barry, 3b; Seward, rf; Mallen, cf; McManus, lf.

Westfield	4 0 5 0 0 0 0—9

LIQUOR MEN CLAIM VICTORY

State Organizer Tells How High License Was Defeated Here.

IN CITY AND BOROUGH

"Thanks to Organization and Influence of Friends of the Industry"—Their Tribute to Judge Schenck.

The report of State Organizer Buckridge at the recent convention of the New Jersey Liquor Dealers' Protective League as far as it concerns Plainfield and North Plainfield is worthy of note at this time. The report is published in full in "Justice," the liquor men's paper, and the following is an extract from it:

"The first attempt at higher license originated in Plainfield. In his annual message, the mayor of that municipality recommended an increase from $700 to $1,000. There was no desire for a less number of licenses, or any complaint concerning the repute of those who held them or the management of the places conducted by the licensees. The city simply wanted more money and the easiest way to get it was to raise the fee. Called in consultation in the matter, I suggested that the Association, which had been permitted to drop out of existence, be revived, or a new one organized. Meeting the approval of all the dealers, after some earnest effort and individual interviewing, a new organization was effected. Steps were immediately taken to defeat the proposed measure, which had reached its third reading and final passage in the Council.

"Without entering into details, suffice it to say that the fee in the City of Plainfield today is $700, thanks to organization and the influence and assistance of friends to the industry, which in any emergency can produce what money will not purchase, and accomplish results not to be attained only through the time-honored adage, 'In Union There is Strength.' Thus were the dealers of Plainfield benefitted individually to the extent of $300 annually, and the concerted movement of our enemies to start the high license ball a rolling all over the State frustrated.

"Another similar and notable victory in this line was the defeat of the proposed increase of the license fee in North Plainfield from $350 to $600, as recommended by Mayor Smalley to the Hon. Judge Schenck of the County Court of Somerset County. Through the efforts of the Somerset County Association, to which all of the North Plainfield dealers belonged, and with the aid of a just and fair-minded jurist, the proposed increase was defeated, thus saving the dealers of that municipality $250 a year each, and adding another and very notable victory over our adversaries. In this contest, as well as in an indefatigable and expensive effort to abate the illicit traffic nuisance in Somerset County, I desire, in the most emphatic manner, to praise the loyal work done by the Somerset County Association, and to recommend favorable notice of His Honor Judge Schenck for his upright and unprejudicated consideration and decision in all matters that have come before him for judicial hearing and adjudication regarding our industry in that county."

George Finger's Purchase.

George Finger, of East Second street, has purchased the business property on Somerset street occupied by John H. Worth, the harness maker and H. Solomon, the tailor, and he expects to improve the property a little later with a view to occupying it himself. It is said that the purchase price was $5,000.

GIRLS' TENNIS CONTEST.

High School Pupils May Arrange Another Match.

There is every probability that the girls of the city High School will run off a tennis tournament at the close of the boys' play. There are a number of good players among the girls and an interesting affair will result if the tournament is carried through. Last year, the event was won by Miss May Cogan. The runner-up in the contest was Miss Jessie Burt. Miss Burt graduated last year, but Miss Cogan is still in the school. In addition there are several other excellent players among the girls of the school, and the competition for the girls' cup will be an interesting one.

As yet the Girls' Athletic Association of the school has not organized though it is thought that steps will be taken in the near future toward the election of the board of directors. The girls will also conduct a series of inter-class basket ball games, and will organize a team to represent the school.

DOMINIE CLEAVER SHOUTS FOR JIM MARTINE

SPEECH AT DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION OF A FORMER REPUBLICAN.

Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, who is well known here, surprised the Democratic Congressional convention at Elizabeth the other day by his remarks. "Jim Martine is all right," said Mr. Cleaver. "Jim Martine is a dandy. On election day he'll be handy." "I have never voted for Jim," continued Cleaver, "because I have always been a Republican. I voted for Abraham and every Republican candidate since, and have stumped the State of New Jersey many times for the candidates of that party. But puppy dogs get their eyes open some day. I believe 'Honest Abe' was a Democrat.

"The Democratic party was organized as a protest against the federalism of Alexander Hamilton. But the federalism of Hamilton was not 'deuce high' with the federalism of Theodore Roosevelt. They say that the name of Theodore Roosevelt will go down in history with that of Washington. It will—with that of Booker T. Washington.

"You have the issues this time. Carry the war into Africa and get after the independent vote—that's me. This equal taxation business is going to fetch 'em. And if you Warren boys get out the vote—get it out with a crowbar if you have to—Jimmy Martine will win. Get your neighbor's vote, go to the polls and vote strong, and vote again, if necessary."

JERSEY DAY AT THE FAIR.

Exercises at State Building Thursday and a Reception to Mr. Murphy.

The exercises in the State building on the grounds of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis on New Jersey day, next Thursday, will be simple. Speeches will be delivered by Governor Murphy, former Governor Foster M Voorhees, chief commissioner from New Jersey; David R. Francis, president of the exposition, and perhaps one or two others.

The New Jersey commissioners, of whom James T. MacMurray, of this city, is one, have issued invitations for a reception to be given to Governor Murphy at the New Jersey building Thursday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock.

LITERARY.

"The last shall be first" in the October Atlantic, which vindicates its historic leadership in political affairs by two important articles for which it reserves its closing pages: "The Democratic Appeal" written by Edward M. Shepard, and "The Republican Point of View," stated by Representative S. W. McCall, in which the writers explain and defend the principles of their respective parties.

The October-December number of The Forum contains six reviews of the quarter's progress and four special articles. H. Litchfield West's survey of "American Politics" is of unusual importance this quarter, as it discusses the issues and prospects of the Presidential campaign. The war in the East naturally absorbs the greater part of A. Maurice Low's account of "Foreign Affairs." In his papers on "Finance," Alexander D. Noyes deals with the effect of the same conflict upon the money market as well as with the harvest outlook, and the course of the Stock Exchange. "Applied Science" is in the hands of Henry Harrison Suplee, who considers mainly recent advances in engineering, but takes note also of the commercial value of chemical and other discoveries.

The illustrated magazine number of The Outlook for October is a woman's number, and presents a long list of articles relating to woman's interests, to the varied occupations of women, and to striking and interesting personalities among women. Among the articles will be found: "Some Women Writers," by Miss Jeannette L. Gilder, of the "Critic;" "Women Illustrators of Child Life," by Elizabeth Lore North; "Settlement Workers and Their Work," by Mary B. Sayles; "Queen Alexandra and Her Gardens," by Mrs. M. Douglas Shields; "The Social Ideals of American Women," by Elizabeth McCracken; "One Woman on a School Board," by Anna C. Woodruff, and "The Maid and the Mistress," a discussion on domestic problems, by Mrs. Florence M. Kingsley (author of "The Singular Miss Smith"), and many others.

The actual cash receipts of The Metropolitan Magazine, during the last month, showed an increase (over the same month last year) of: 1st, cash increase in subscriptions, 266 per cent.; 2d, cash increase in advertising, 187 per cent.; 3d, cash increase in news-stand sale, 24 per cent. It Begins To-Day

It is no overpraise to say that in literary quality, sustained dramatic interest, and that in its pathos and humor it is far beyond all—save perhaps two or three—books that have been published within the last half dozen years.—The Boston Transcript.

Here is one of the truly great romances in our English tongue. It has dramatic force and poetic quality. It stirs the emotions and satisfies the intellect. In "The Mississippi Bubble" the 18th century men and women seem genuinely flesh and blood. The book is truth and art combined.—The Boston Journal.

By EMERSON HOUGH

"The Mississippi Bubble," by Emerson Hough, recalls from an exciting period of French history the young Scotchman John Law. A genius in finance, he has been handed down by tradition as a swindler who wrecked the French treasury and thousands of private fortunes. Mr. Hough does him justice by telling the true story of the great enterprise which gave the novel its title, but Law's career was so adventurous and so full of romantic and startling incidents that the story is an exciting and well-sustained novel.—The New Era Magazine.

A NEW CRIME.

Four Arrested at Camden For Making False Life Belts.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A conspiracy which has been discovered by officials of the department of commerce and labor and of the department of justice has resulted in the arrest at Camden, N. J., of J. H. Stone, H. C. Quintard, Charles W. Russ and James Russ, officers of the Nonpareil Cork works.

They were arraigned, it is said, under an indictment charging them with conspiring to defraud the government and prejudice the administration of the steamboat inspection laws by putting upon the market compressed cork blocks for use in making life preservers, each of which blocks contained in its center a piece of bar iron about six inches long and weighing eight ounces. The iron bar was inserted and concealed in the block for the purpose of increasing the weight to the legal requirement of six pounds of good cork for each life preserver.

LITTLE HOPE HELD OUT.

Postmaster General Payne In a Critical Condition.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The condition of Postmaster General Payne holds out little hope that he will recover from his present illness. His family have been informed by his physicians that his condition is extremely serious.

Although the patient has taken and retained nourishment and there have been other slightly encouraging symptoms, his spells of unconsciousness are considered very alarming.

Last night Postmaster General Payne's condition was extremely critical. His family and the assistant rector of St. John's church were summoned to the bedside.

President Roosevelt called and had a talk with the attending physicians, gaining from them an accurate knowledge of Mr. Payne's condition.

Both Got a Game.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Both Chicago and New York Americans put up a hard fight here and each succeeded in winning a game. Errors and bunched hits in the first, sixth and seventh innings gave Chicago the first game. White, after winning the first game, tried to pitch the second one, but was forced to quit in the fifth inning after four runs and eight hits had been registered against him. Puttmann was the hero of the second game, pulling out of two tight holes successfully and having a perfect batting record. Scores: First game—Chicago, 7; New York, 1. Second game—Chicago, 3; New York, 6.

DISASTER AT ADAMS

Church Floor Collapsed With Two Hundred Persons.

BISHOP AND CLERGYMEN INJURED.

During Assembly of Seven Thousand People at Laying of Cornerstone of St. Stanislaus Church Floor Beam Gave Way.

ADAMS, Mass., Oct. 3.—While Right Rev. Thomas D. Beaven, Roman Catholic bishop of Springfield, was laying the cornerstone of St. Stanislaus Polish church here yesterday afternoon a floor collapsed, precipitating 150 persons into the basement. A dozen persons were injured, several seriously. Bishop Beaven and several of the priests assisting him were hurt.

The most seriously injured are: Grodek Mischloski, aged sixteen, nearly suffocated and legs injured, condition critical; Miss Belle Turner, both legs fractured; Rev. L. O. Trigane, injuries to head and face; Rev. L. T. Rodier, contusions; Rev. M. F. Kopytkiewicz, legs injured, contusions of forehead; Mrs. Michael McAndrew, leg fractured; Right Rev. Thomas D. Beaven, bruised slightly about hands and body; Alexander Lestock, injuries about the head.

Some 7,000 persons attended the ceremony, and about 200 were seated or standing on the floor, which covered the newly made basement. Bishop Beaven was attended by Rev. A. T. McLaughlin of St. Thomas church, Adams, and Rev. L. O. Trigane, pastor of Notre Dame church, Adams, as deacons. Rev. James W. Dolan of St. Thomas parish, Rev. L. T. Rodier of Notre Dame church, Rev. M. F. Kopytkiewicz, pastor of St. Stanislaus church, and others were near the bishop.

Just as the latter was about to lay the stone a section of the flooring about forty feet square collapsed, dropping twelve feet and carrying with it the bishop, the clergy and about 140 others.

In the confusion that followed many were unavoidably trampled upon and half suffocated.

Bishop Beaven was caught in the crush, but was able to save himself from serious injury. He was bruised about the body and had his hands scratched.

Father Trigane had his nose crushed, sustained cuts on the cheeks and forehead and was injured in an eye. Fathers McLaughlin and Dolan were beside the bishop, but escaped injury. The pastor of the church was quite severely bruised and cut.

A number of police officers and a score of doctors were present, and within twenty minutes all the injured had been extricated and cared for.

The most serious case appeared to be that of Grodek Mischloski, a Polish boy, who was caught under many others. He was unconscious when extricated, having been nearly suffocated. Both of his legs were injured, and there was evidence of internal injuries.

One of the clergy administered the last rites to him, but later he was able to be removed to his home.

The accident was caused by the breaking of a heavy wooden girder which had been spliced. A quantity of stone to be used in the building work was resting on the floor, and this additional weight contributed to the accident. The ceremony of laying the cornerstone has been indefinitely postponed.

Half of Watrous Destroyed.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Oct. 3.—Half of Watrous has been destroyed by a flood, and at least twelve persons have been drowned, including three children of J. H. Stevens, Felix Villareal, his wife, two sisters and a couple of children and O. F. Porter. J. H. Stevens and his wife escaped. They are in a critical condition. Many persons were rescued from trees and housetops. The greatest damage was around the junction of Mora and Sapelloire creeks. A rock crusher, an iron bridge and much track at Watrous were washed away.

Rowley, the pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, presided.

THE CZAR'S GOODBY

Baltic Fleet Ready to Sail For Far East.

RUSSIA TO TRY FOR COMMAND OF SEA

Manchurian Army to Be Doubled and War Pressed With Vigor—Severe Fighting Near Port Arthur.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Advices from St. Petersburg say that Emperor Nicholas will visit Reval tomorrow to bid farewell to the Baltic squadron. After months of preparation and several false starts, the squadron is at last on the eve of its departure upon its long journey to the far east. A division in the admiralty has existed throughout the period of preparation regarding the advisability of sending out the squadron, but with the decision to double the size of the Manchurian army and press the war with vigor the logic of those who for months have insisted that every available ship should be dispatched to the far east has finally prevailed. The argument that no complete victory over the Japanese is possible unless the command of the sea is wrested from them could not be overcome, and, though much valuable time has been lost and the moment seems inauspicious, it is officially intimated that an irrevocable decision has been taken to dispatch the Baltic fleet even if the Port Arthur squadron should be annihilated before its arrival there.

A Chefu report says that severe fighting, the Russians being the aggressors, has occurred on the west shore of Liaoti promontory near Pigeon bay. The Russians already apparently are attempting to capture the heavy guns which the Japanese have mounted in that vicinity. The Russians were in considerable force, and they made several sorties, dragging field artillery with them. They were unsuccessful, however.

Three junks with 160 coolies have arrived at Chefu. They left Port Arthur because they were forced to carry the wounded and bury the dead. They also were afraid that eventually they would have no food, although rice is plentiful now, according to their stories. They further say that the Russians lost heavily during the attacks of Sept. 19 and 23, but the Japanese loss was much heavier.

One of the coolies who had been a water carrier showed a wounded hand that he sustained when a shell burst and killed three of his companions and wounded a fourth.

The Russians ships were silent during the last battle, and the hitherto unused merchant ships have been turned into hospitals.

Several of the Chinese who were employed in carrying dead say that the dead were so numerous that they were unable to form anything like an estimate of the number who fell in attacking and defending the supplementary forts near Itz mountain. Since the battle both sides continue to shell at intervals daily. The Russians make many small sorties against the Japanese trenches.

Small positions frequently change hands. The Chinese say they were compelled to bury the dead by stealth at night for the reason that the Japanese would fire on them.

A Tokyo dispatch says that the Russians are desperately endeavoring to retake their lost positions, including Fort Kuropatkin, in the hope of restoring the water supply of Port Arthur. They have repeatedly assaulted the Japanese after shelling from neighboring forts and batteries. The Japanese continue to hold the positions. Both sides are said to have suffered severely.

Advices from Manchuria are to the effect that the Japanese and Russian outposts and scouts continue in close contact, and it is believed that the general engagement will take place near Tai pass. General Kuropatkin is holding Mukden and positions along the Hun river merely to check the Japanese advance temporarily.

Snow has fallen in the mountains east of Mukden, and there has been frost in the valleys.

VIEWS OF H. G. DAVIS

Democratic Candidate's Letter of Acceptance Out.

DISCUSSES IMPORTANT ISSUES.

Judge Parker Praised—Imperialism, the Tariff, Trusts and the Race Question Form Part of Senator's Political Reviews.

ELKINS, W. Va., Oct. 3.—The candidate of the Democratic party for the office of vice president of the United States, Henry G. Davis, has issued his letter of acceptance of the nomination. The letter is in part as follows:

"The times are propitious for the reinstatement of the Democratic party in control of the government. The public mind is being disillusioned of the pretension of the Republican party, so long and so arrogantly made, that the material prosperity of the country depends upon its own ascendency. Thoughtful and patriotic people are becoming more and more distrustful of the heady and personal element of the present administration and are more than willing to see it replaced by one that better recognizes constitutional and other lawful restraints. They demand that present wasteful extravagance in the expenditure of the money, drawn by taxation from the industry of the people, shall cease and that economy and honesty in the public service shall be again regarded as virtues in the high places of the government.

"The expenditures per capita of the government are increasing at an alarming rate. When the present administration went into power there was a large surplus, but, notwithstanding the enormous taxation, the revenues therefrom are not now adequate to meet the demands made by reckless appropriations. The cost of government during the fiscal year was $7.14 per capita, which means that the average tax paid in some form or another by every family of five persons toward the support of the national administration of public affairs was over $25, which, in the case of wage earners, is a considerable percentage of their entire earnings for the year.

"We all hail as the harbinger of the new era in the commerce of the world the inception of the great work of building the canal that is to join the two great oceans, but we deprecate the action of the present administration, which inflicted a wound upon our national honor by its disregard of the rights of a weaker nation in order to gain a doubtful credit for energy in forwarding that great enterprise. Territory of a neighboring republic, with which we are at peace, was seized by a band of revolutionists, protected by the guns of the United States navy, and erected into a state overnight, which the president promptly recognized as an independent nation—a gross offense against a friendly republic which was helpless to resent.

"These and many other unwarranted things that belong more to an empire than a republic have occurred under the present administration and brought deep concern and alarm to thoughtful and patriotic minds. They must be regarded as the first fruits of imperialism and show how fast we are drifting toward absolutism and centralized power. The effect of the imperialistic tendency of the Republican party upon our foreign affairs is in opposition to the teachings of the founders of the republic.

"That many of the existing tariff rates are excessive and enable powerful combinations to extort unjust and oppressive tribute from the people cannot be controverted. The tariff is undoubtedly too high upon such articles as enables the manufacturer to sell his products abroad cheaper than at home. The average selling price of a hundred articles, taken principally from the iron and steel list, is found to be about 20 per cent higher in this country than abroad. Relief from these conditions will only come through the success of the Democratic party, which stands for a wise, conservative and gradual change in the tariff laws.

"It is estimated there are in the United States between two and three hundred combinations of capital and corporate interests, known as trusts, which have grown up in the last few years under Republican rule. Some of them are so conducted as to be pernicious and harmful to the general interest.

"All lovers of their country must deprecate the rehabilitation by the Republican party of a disappearing race issue at a time when every effort should be made to promote rather than retard the progress which was being made in the states where slavery had existed toward kindlier relations between the two races.

"Peculation and fraud in the public service under the present administration, especially in the postoffice and land departments, reached such proportions that knowledge of the evils practiced became public property. Prosecutions naturally followed, but a thorough and impartial investigation by congress, proposed and urged by the Democratic minority, was refused by the Republicans at the mandate, it is believed, of the administration.

"The late Democratic convention and its candidate for president, Judge Parker, have given signal exhibition of a mutual respect and confidence almost unprecedented in our political history, and our party has received new inspiration and hope in its appeal to the people, who always appreciate and admire courage, character and discretion."

Dunellen, 2, Perth Amboy, 2.

Saturday's game between Dunellen and the Nationals, of Perth Amboy, was a poor specimen of a baseball game. The game was called in the ninth inning on account of darkness, the score being two to two. The Nationals had an excellent team but fooled most of the time, while the locals were crippled by not having Smith in the box. Scott and O'Loughlin were the battery and did good work. This was not the last game as has been announced, for a game will be played on Crescent Oval between the locals and Clinton Avenue, after which a chicken supper will be given by the management of the teams at Pedeflous' Hotel on the mountain.

Hillside Enthusiasts Post Scores in Regular Events.

PARKS AT RAHWAY

Defeat Colonia Club Team in Central Jersey Tournament by One Point.

There was little doing on the local golf courses Saturday afternoon, except at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, where the regular events were the attraction. The Park Golf Club team had a match with the Colonia Golf Club team at Rahway, and in consequence no scores were posted for the President's and Park Golf Club trophies, although a number of members made the rounds of the course.

At Hillside there was the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup. C. B. Morgan won first honors with a net score of 77, while D. H. Barrows, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges and Julius E. Erickson with net scores of 81, were tie for the remaining points.

These scores were posted for the Golf Committee cup:

C. B. Morgan, 84, 7—77; Dudley H. Barrows, 85, 4—81; Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, 89, 8—81; Julius E. Erickson, 91, 10—81; S. D. Lounsbery, 90, 8—82; J. Whitney Baker, 84, plus 1—85; Willard Wadsworth, 88, 0—88; D. H. Rowland, 100, 12—88; J. A. Tompkins, 101, 11—90.

In the play for the Gaston cup, W. F. Merrill won first honors, and G. F. Earl and J. M. Uhler were tie for second place. These scores were posted:

W. F. Merrill, 101, 0—101; G. F. Earl, 103, 1—102; J. M. Uhler, 103, 1—102.

In the play for the Holiday cup on Labor Day, there was a tie between Henry L. Hall and A. E. Barclay and on Saturday this was played off. Mr. Barclay won with a score of 103, 20—83.

It will be noticed that most of the scores were high. This is accounted for by the strong wind that swept across the course almost the entire afternoon, making good scores a practical impossibility.

The Park Golf Club team in its match with Colonia in the Central Jersey Golf League tournament, was victorious by one point, defeating their opponents by a score of seven to six, Nassau system. The best work was done by Gus. W. Faber and Rev. J. O. McKelvey, each scoring three. The summary:

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The signal bridge near the old trolley terminus was raised yesterday morning, with the aid of two derricks, by a large gang of railroad carpenters and iron workers. This bridge is similar to the one which was raised near the Washington avenue crossing two weeks ago and will be used for the same purpose. A crowd of interested spectators watched the work.

Saturday afternoon about forty members of the Junior Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church gathered at the home of Rev. W. W. Casselbery, and played games for about two hours, after which they all sat down in a circle and quickly devoured eight large watermelons.

The football game between the locals and the Somerville football team, which was played at Somerville on Saturday, ended in a tie, the score being 0 to 0 at the end of the game. Both teams played fast, snappy ball and the game was very exciting from start to finish.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The playing of the P. A. C. team Saturday against the Stars, of Elizabethport, was hardly up to championship form and was a disappointment to the local cranks. The All-Plainfield team with Montrose and Allen as battery were defeated Saturday 9 to 6 by Manager Denman's team.

Another quiet marriage was held at the home of Judge Clark on Friday night, the contracting parties being from Palinfield. As the happy couple desired to keep their marriage a secret for a time, the Judge was enjoined to secrecy and for a time will not divulge the names.

Galvin's Park has closed completely. The season on the midway closed Labor Day, but Thursday and Saturday nights the park has been opened for dancing. But as this did not pay the management they decided last week to close the park until next summer.

The No Name bowling team, of Plainfield, and the local bowlers bowl a match game tomorrow night on the West Side House alleys. The local team defeated the No Names Tuesday night of last week, two out of three games by close scores.

The open season for woodcock started Saturday and the local gunners were out in force, but as the birds are scarce a number returned without even having the pleasure of seeing a bird.

LYNCHING OF MORRISON.

Slayer of W. T. Floyd Hanged by a Mob at Kingstree, S. C.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 3.—Further details of the lynching of John Morrison, the white man who killed Will T. Floyd, on Saturday at Kershaw, have just been received.

A special from Kingstree says that immediately after the killing of Floyd and the arrest of Morrison feeling became intense. There was little said but it soon became known that the sheriff of Lancaster was on his way to assist in protecting the prisoner. An electric light had been placed before the guardhouse, and a policeman was on guard.

At about 8 o'clock the light went out and a crowd poured into the alley, overpowered the policeman, took the keys and brought Morrison out. He was taken just outside the town limits and hanged to a tree with a pair of buggy lines. Two shots were fired into Morrison's back as he swung.

Sheriff Hunter of Lancaster with deputies arrived at Kershaw on a special train a few minutes after the guardhouse was forced, and he heard the pistol shots. He began searching for the lynching party and found the body about midnight. Troops from Camden arrived later. An inquest was held and the usual verdict rendered. No arrests have been made.

Body Will Lie In State and Be Interred at Concord.

CONCORD, Mass., Oct. 3.—Arrangements for the services to be held over the body of the late United States Senator George Frisbie Hoar in this place tomorrow afternoon have been concluded.

The body will be brought here from Worcester in a special car attached to the Boston and Maine train due at 1:10 o'clock. It will be at once removed to the First Paris (Unitarian) church, where services will be held.

The body will lie in state for an hour, after which it will be borne to Sleepy Hollow cemetery for interment in the family lot. At the grave the Unitarian burial service will be read.

Guam Needs Money.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The navy department has received a report from the naval station at Guam, from which document it appears that the revenue from insular sources is very limited, not nearly enough to meet the demands upon the government for road and other improvements. The report says that the authorities are seriously hampered in carrying out the plans which were adopted for the betterment of the local conditions, and it is quite evident that the money required to do the work must come from the United States treasury.

United Christians Issue a Call.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Oct. 3.—William Rudolph Benkert, chairman of the national executive committee of the United Christian party, has issued a call requesting all Christians and patriots to meet in every city and village every Sunday afternoon for the purpose of economic discussion in the name and spirit of Jesus. The principles upon which the United Christian party is based are the disarmament of nations, the referendum and the adoption of the golden rule as the foundation of all government.

Edward's Sorrow For Harcourt.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The remains of the late Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, who died on Saturday, will be buried at Nuneham on Thursday. King Edward has telegraphed as follows from Balmoral to the widow of the statesman: "Allow me to express my deepest sympathy in the sad loss you have sustained. I have lost an old and valued friend in your dear husband." Melville W. Fuller, chief justice of the United States supreme court, sent the following from Washington: "Deep sorrow and sympathy."

ALL ATTEMPTS FOILED.

Battleship Connecticut Object of Miscreant's Attacks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—It has become known that the United States battleship Connecticut, lately launched at the New York navy yard, has been the object of treachery from unknown miscreants.

Three times within a half year has treachery been foiled in attempts to wreck the battleship. Only on Saturday was the last drop of water pumped from a compartment which filled from a hole bored through the half inch steel plates of the ship's bottom.

The 3,000 workmen at the New York yard have been informed of these attempts to seriously injure and perhaps permanently damage the powerful fighting craft. It is expected that their loyalty will assist the care of the authorities in frustrating further attempts and that their indignation may possibly lead to the detection of the perpetrators of the previous outrages.

The guard on the Connecticut has been strengthened, and the sentinels understand that if they kill a man in the act of trying to injure the ship they will receive the thanks of the navy department.

The story also says that six months ago it was found that holes had been bored through the center of rivets in the hull, allowing a leakage. This act was discovered and new rivets inserted.

The second attempt was made when the ways were obstructed with a bolt an inch and a half in diameter before the launching. This was frustrated through watchfulness. The third effort to disable the ship was discovered soon after the vessel touched water.

In one of the compartments water was discovered, which entered through a hole bored straight through the keel plate instead of the rivets. The compartment quickly filled, and immediately steps were taken to pump it out. So far as is known the battleship is intact.

There is no clew to the identity of the perpetrators of these outrages. That they may be discovered is considered almost hopeless if they do not again renew their attacks on the ship.

Held Lynch Crowd at Bay.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 3.—Carl Getchel, a young white man, was shot and killed yesterday at Bellaire, O., opposite this city, by Jack Terry, a well known negro. Immediately following the killing a great crowd gathered and joined in the chase of the negro, who was captured within half an hour on the outskirts of the city. There were cries of "Kill, kill!" from hundreds of throats, but Officer Goods and Marshal Mahone, who soon came to the assistance of the arresting officers, drew their revolvers and held the crowd at bay until other officers arrived, when a cordon was formed, and amid jeers and threats the murderer was taken to the city jail, where he is now confined.

Arrested Sunday Milk Sellers.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 3.—Lexington yesterday experienced its first Sunday with closed business houses, and the restrictions were probably greater than they will be again. Late in the afternoon the city solicitor discovered that milk wagons and ice wagons are a "necessity" and exempt by law. Only a few milk wagons attempted to run, and their drivers were promptly arrested. They were released on the decision of the city solicitor. About thirty persons were arrested for violating the Sunday closing law. The only places open were hotels, livery stables and newspaper offices, these having secured injunctions to prevent interference.

The Iroquois Fire Prosecution.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Following Judge Kersten's decision to permit the defense in the Iroquois theater case to pursue a motion for a change of venue to another county, Assistant State Attorney Barnes has tentatively decided to abandon temporarily the prosecution of Business Manager Noonan and Stage Carpenter Cummings and to place Will J. Davis on trial alone. Mr. Barnes will take no definite steps to this end, however, until after he has conferred with State Attorney Deneen and with other county officials.

Mexican Shot at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—Charles Fraga of the City of Mexico and Mrs. Julia Miller were found shot here. The woman was shot through the head and died. Fraga was shot through the breast and may die. The police advance the theory that Fraga was shot by the woman after a quarrel and that he seized the weapon and killed her. A revolver was found on the floor.

"Little Town Elections."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 3.—Throughout Connecticut today will be held the "little town elections," in which also will join for their annual elections the cities of New London and South Norwalk and Norwalk, the last two being in the town of Norwalk. In this, the presidential year, the interest in the outcome is greater than usual.

AT THE PHOTOGRAPHER'S.

Valuable Hints For the Person Who Wishes a Good Picture.

Almost miraculous in their startling effects are the proofs you so fondly waited for, and, alas, instead of being a beauty, as you dreamed, you are oftener than not a sight.

It is a funny thing, but often Madam Venus comes out as homely as sin, while Miss Ugly Face displays charms of countenance you never suspected.

Part of this is due to the fact that Miss Ugly Face knows the bitter truth about herself and watches out, while Madam Venus plants herself any old way before the camera.

Then, too, there is the question of features. Have you ever realized how much you can help the photographer by improving them? Lack of eyebrows is the most usual blemish in an otherwise good looking photograph. The strong light in which the sitter is placed tends to make a natural growth appear too scanty, and the most experienced women always darken their eyebrows with a grease pencil or even an ordinary one. If your lashes are too light you can darken them, too, and this is done by a bit of theatrical makeup. Take a small tin dish, hold it over a spirit lamp and melt in it one-fourth of a stick of eyelash cosmetic; then dip a camel's hair brush in this and pass it lightly over your eyelashes while it is still hot and liquid. It is a great improvement also for those whose lashes are too thin.

If you have thick lips wonders can be accomplished with a stick of grease paint No. 1, flesh color. Using this, you can mark out considerably more than a line of the objectionable red of the lip, and the remainder can be given distinctness with a touch of pink salve. With this same means moles will disappear in the photograph and scars become beautifully less.

Of course if you have a thin neck that need not prevent you from being taken decollete, for the photographer will "remove the bones." A low necked gown is one of the best for a photograph because it does not present idiosyncrasies of fashion which are apt to go out of style.

And don't look pleasant unless you feel like it. Be natural.

A NOVEL LIBRARY.

An Artistic Effect In an Up to Date Home.

The picture shows an unusually attractive library which was designed by a house owner of taste. The balcony with its arched effect lends grace to what is usually a rather stiff and formal room. Notice the arched effect repeated in the fireplace of white stone.

with white pillars supporting the balcony on either side. The general tone of the room is green and oak, and this is heightened by the graceful palms in green jardinieres. The round table and chairs are admirably chosen. The couch is of green velvet. Deer heads are placed at intervals along the railing of the balcony.

CHAPTER I.

THE RETURNED TRAVELER.

"Gentlemen, this is America!"

The speaker cast upon the cloth-covered table a singular object, whose like none of those present had ever seen. They gathered about and bent over it curiously.

"This is that America," the speaker repeated. "Here you have it, barbaric, wonderful, abounding!"

With sudden gesture he swept his hand among the gold coin that lay on the gaming table. He thrust into the mouth of the object before him a handful of louis d'or and English sovereigns. "There is your America," said he. "It runs over with gold. No man may tell its richness. Its beauty you cannot imagine."

"Faith," said Sir Arthur Pembroke, bending over the table with glass in eye, "if the ladies of that land have feet for this sort of shoon, methinks we might well emigrate. Take you the money of it. For me, I would see the dame could wear such shoe as this."

"Bah! Pembroke," said Castleton, pushing up the shade above his eyes till it rested on his forehead, "'tis a child's shoe."

"Not so," said the first speaker. "I give you my word 'tis the moccasin of my sweetheart, a princess in her own right, who waits my coming on the Ottawa. And so far from the shoe being too small, I say as a gentleman that she not only wore it so, but in addition used somewhat of grass therein in place of hose."

The earnestness of his speech in no wise prevented the peal of laughter that followed.

"There you have it, Pembroke," cried Castleton. "Would you move to a land where princesses use hay for hosiery?"

"'Tis curious done," said Pembroke, musingly, "none the less."

"And done by her own hand," said the owner of the shoe, with a certain proprietary pride.

Again the laughter broke out. "Do your princesses engage in shoemaking?" asked a third gamester as he pushed into the ring. "Sure it must be a rare land. Prithee, what doth the king in handicraft? Doth he take to saddlery, or, perhaps, smithing?"

"Have done thy jests, Wilson," cried Pembroke. "Mayhap there is somewhat to be learned here of this new world and of our dear cousins, the French. Go on, tell us, Monsieur du Mesne—as I think you call yourself, sir?—tell us more of your new country of ice and snow, of princesses and little shoes."

"Tell ye more—and if I did, would ye believe it? What if I tell ye of great rivers far to the west of the Ottawa; of races as strange to my princess' people as we are to them; of streams whose sands run in gold, where diamonds and sapphires are to be picked up as ye like? If I told ye, would ye believe?"

The martial hearts and adventurous souls of the circle about him began to show in the heightened color and closer crowding of the young men to the table. Silence fell upon the group.

"Ye know nothing, in this old rotten world, of what there is yet to be found in America," cried Du Mesne. "For myself, I have been no farther than the great falls of the Ontoneagrea—a mere trifle of a cataract, gentlemen, into which ye might pitch your tallest English cathedral and sink it beyond its pinnacle with ease. Yet I have spoke with the holy fathers who have journeyed far to the westward, even to the vast Messasebe, which is well known to run into the China sea upon some far-off coast not yet well charted. I have also read the story of Sagean, who was far to the west of that mighty river. Did not the latter see and pursue and kill in fair fight the giant unicorn, fabled of Scripture? Is not that animal known to be a creature of the east, and may we not, therefore, be advised that this new country takes hold upon the storied lands of the east? Why, this holy friar with whom I spoke, fresh back from his voyaging to the cold upper ways of the northern tribes, who live beyond the far-off channel at Michilimackinac—did he not tell of a river of the name of the Blue Earth, and did he not himself see turquoises and diamonds and emeralds taken in handfuls from this same blue earth? Ah, bah! gentlemen, Europe for you if ye like, but for me, back I go, so soon as I may get proper passage and a connection which will warrant me the voyage. Back I go to Canada, to America, to the woods and streams. I would see again my ancient Du L'hut, and my comrade Pierre Noir, and Tete Gris, the trapper from the Mistasing—free traders all. Life is there for the living, my comrades. This old world, small and outworn, no more of it for me."

"None of ye know the west," went on the coureur. "Your Virginia, we know well of it—a collection of beggars, prostitutes and thieves. Your New England—a lot of cod-fishing, starving snivelers, who are most concerned how to keep life in their bodies from year to year. New France herself, sitting ever on the edge of an icy death, with naught but bickerings at Quebec and naught but reluctant compliance from Paris—what hath she to hope? I tell ye, gentlemen, 'tis beyond, in the land of the Messasebe, where I shall for my part seek out my home; and no man shall set iron on my soul again."

He spoke bitterly. The group about him, half amused, half cynical and all ignorant, as were their kind at this time of the reign of William, were none the less impressed and thoughtful.

CHAPTER II.

AT SADLER'S WELLS.

Sadler's Wells, on this mild and cheery spring morning, was a scene of fashion and of folly. Hither came the elite of London, after the custom of the day, to seek remedy in the reputed qualities of the springs for the weariness and lassitude resultant upon the long season of polite dissipations which society demanded of her votaries. Bewigged dandies, their long coats of colors well displayed as they strutted about in the open, paid court there, as they did within the city gates, to the powdered and painted beauties who sat in their coaches waiting for their servants to bring out to them the draft of which they craved healing for crow's-feet and hollow eyes. Here and there traveling merchants called their wares, jugglers spread their carpets, bear dancers gave their little spectacles, and jockeys conferred as to the merits of horse or hound. Hawk-nosed Jews passed among the vehicles, cursed or kicked by the young gallants who stood about, hat in hand, at the steps of their idols' carriages.

Back of Sadler's little court the country came creeping close up to the town. There were fields not so far away on these long highways. Wandering and rambling roads ran off to the westward and to the north, leading toward the straight old Roman road which once upon a time ran down to London town.

It was on one of these less crowded highways that there was this morning enacted a curious little drama. The sun was still young and not too strong for comfort, and as it rose back of the square of Sadler's it cast a shadow from a hedge which ran angling toward the southeast. Its rays, therefore, did not disturb the slumbers of two young men who were lying beneath the shelter of the hedge. Strange enough must have been the conclusions of the sun could it have looked over the barrier and peered into the faces of these youths. Evidently they were of good breeding and some station, albeit their garb was not of the latest fashion. The gray hose and the clumsy shoes plainly bespoke some northern residence. The wig of each lacked the latest turn, perhaps the collar of the coat was not all it should have been. There was but one coat visible, for the other, rolled up as a pillow, served to support the heads of both. The elder of the two was the one who had sacrificed his covering. The other was more restless in his attitude, and though thus the warmer for a coat, was more in need of comfort. A white bandage covered his wrist, and the linen was stained red. Yet the two slept on, well into the morn, well into the rout of Sadler's Wells. Evidently they were weary.

Far down the roadway there rose a cloud of dust, which came steadily nearer, following the only vehicle in sight, probably the only one which had passed that morning. As this little dust-cloud came slowly nearer it might have been seen to rise from the wheels of a richly-built and well-appointed coach. Four dark horses obeyed the reins handled by a solemn-visaged lackey on the box, and there was a goodly footman at the back. Within the coach were two passengers such as might have set Sadler's Wells by the ears. They set on the same seat, as equals, and their heads lay close together, as confidantes. The tongues of both ran fast and free. Tall and well-rounded, vigorous and young, not yet 20, adored by many suitors, the Lady Catharine Knollys had rarely looked better than she did this morning as she drove out to Sadler's, for Providence alone I new what fault of a superb vital energy. Her eyes sparkled as she spoke, and every gesture betokened rather the grand young creature that she was than the valetudinarian going forth for healing. Her cheek, turned now and again, showed a clear-cut and untouched soundness that meant naught but health. It showed also the one blemish upon a beauty which was toasted in the court as faultless. Upon the left cheek there was a mouche, excessive in its size. Strangers might have commented on it. Really it covered a deep-stained birth-mark, the one blur upon a peerless beauty. Yet even this might be forgotten, as it was now.

The companion of the Lady Catharine in her coach was a young woman, scarce so tall and more slender. Dark, where her companion was fair, and with the glossy texture of her own somber locks showing in the individual roll which ran back into the absurd fontange of false hair and falser powder, Mary Connynge made good foil for her bosom friend; though honesty must admit that neither had yet much concern for foils, since both had their full meed of gallants. Much seen together, they were commonly known as the Morning and Eve, sometimes as Aurora and Eve. Never did daughter of the original Eve have deeper feminine guile than Mary Connynge. Soft of speech—as her friend, the Lady Catharine, was impulsive—slow, suave, amber-eyed and innocent of visage, this young English woman, with no dower save that of beauty and of wit, had not failed of a sensation at the capital whither she had come as guest of the Lady Catharine.

"O Gemini!" called out Mary Connynge, as the coachman for a moment slackened his pace. "Look! We shall be robbed!"

The driver irresolutely pulled up his horses. From under the shade of the hedge there arose two men, of whom the taller now stood erect and came toward the carriage.

"'Tis no robber," said Lady Catharine Knollys, her eyes fastened on the tall figure which came forward.

"Save us," said Mary Connynge, "what a pretty man!"

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

For the second time the national amateur golf championship has been captured by a Chicago golfer, born and bred. In the ten years that the national event has been competed Chicago has divided the championship evenly with representatives of the east, but in the first three years that Chicago won its representatives were not "native sons," but were young men who had learned their earlier golfing lessons on the other side of the Atlantic. In 1902, however, Louis N. James, of the Glen View club, brought to that city the first championship gained by a local American born player, and now H. Chandler Egan has repeated the trick by defeating Frederick Herreshoff, the young Vermont champion, in the recent national tournament over the links of the Baltusrol club, at Short Hills, N. J. Chandler Egan's career in golf has been one of the most brilliant of any player in the west. He was 21 years old the day after he won the western championship. In 1901 he played in his first schoolboy match at Exmoor and won it, later taking part in eight different matches and winning six of them. In June of that year he won the preparatory school championship from his cousin, Walter, and later won the president's cup at the club. His second year of golf in 1902 was his busiest and, for a young player, one marked with some surprising successes. Out of 43 matches played he won 37, lost four and halved two. The young Exmoor player first made his appearance in a national tournament in July of 1902 and was defeated by Eben Byers. In 1903 Chandler defeated Byers in one of the 37 matches in which he took part. Out of the 37 he won 28, losing seven and halving two. Among his victories was the championship of Harvard, won May 15. He met with a number of defeats, however, but was not in the least discouraged. Golfers who have followed the young player declare that the secret of his success lies in his coolness in taking defeat. August 17 he was beaten at Wheaton by Norman F. Hunter, who made the phenomenal score of 71. Egan a few days later played a return match at Glen View and defeated Hunter. He again played in the national tournament at Nassau and for the second time was put out. This time Williams, of Philadelphia, defeated him. This year the champion has taken part in 30 matches, winning 24. April 21 he won the cup from Findlay Douglas at Lakewood, N. J. July 6 the young star broke the record for the Midlothian course by making the double round in 158 in play against bogey, 13 better than the colonel. July 22 he beat the record for the Onwentsia course in 156. On July 25 he reduced the same record to 153 and won the qualifying round, taking the Ravinoaks and Onwentsia cups at the close of the tournament. Then he won the western championship from his cousin Walter with a record of 70 for 18 holes and 144 for the 36, and next captured the national championship.

H. Chandler Egan.

It is generally admitted that Frank Selee, manager of the Chicago National league team, and formerly with the Boston club, is one of the shrewdest traders in the baseball business. The best trade he ever made was when he got rid of "Billy" Nash to the Philadelphia club, getting "Billy" Hamilton instead. The Boston club was badly in need of a good batsman to lead off and an outfielder. Hamilton was the man wanted. How to get him was the thing. Selee made a point of giving Capt. Nash credit for the good work of the Boston champions. "You must have a great leader to win the championship and have him on the field," Selee would say, until the Quaker papers were continually quoting Selee on this subject, and giving Nash a heap of credit. The Quakers had a fine string of players, but no leader. Selee had discovered that "Jimmie" Collins could play third base and decided to play him there the next season, so a hint was dropped that the Quakers might make a deal for the great captain. This was what Selee was playing for, and it didn't take long for him to consider a trade, and finally make a deal, Nash for Hamilton. This was the finest piece of work on Selee's part I ever

Three Games on the Gridiron Saturday Drew Crowds.

HIGH SCHOOL'S VICTORY

P. H. S., 41, Madison, 0; O. F. C., 16, Somerset A. C., 0; Dunellen, 0, Somerville, 0.

Though heavier and more formidable in appearance, the Madison A. C. team which lined up against the High School football eleven Saturday afternoon on Hope Common was entirely outclassed. The score was 41 to 0. The High School boys demonstrated their superiority after five minutes play by literally pushing their opponents back over their own goal line, scoring two touchbacks. Jack Douglass made the first touchdown and the goal was kicked by W. Douglass, making the score 10 to 0. Jack Douglass scored again on a second long run, before the first half ended.

In the second half, the P. H. S. team had their own way with the Madisons, and apparently scored at will. Twenty-one points were added to the High School's score during the last part of the game, J. Douglass crossing the line twice, and Freeman and Williams each landing five points on long runs. W. Dougass kicked one goal.

Time of halves, 15 minutes. Umpire, Glenney. Timer, Thompson.

The Orange Field Club football team was victorious over the Somerset A. C. team on Orange Oval Saturday afternoon by the score of 16 to 0. The game was the first in the season for both teams and considering this fact was well played. Tobin made the first touchdown and kicked the goal, making the score 6 to 0. Smith scored on a similar run in the same half. Tobin scored the only touchdown in the second half.

The line-up of the two teams was as follows: Orange Field Club—Tobin, full back; Sherwin, right half; Smith, left half; McVoy, quarter back; Hellyer, center; Emmons, right end; Todd, left end; W. McCullough, left tackle; Shephard, right tackle; Banks, left guard; J. McCullough, right guard. Somerset A. C.—W. Smalley, full back; Hamilton, right half; Hoffman, left half; Bird, quarter back; O. Smalley, center; Carney, left end; Webster, right end; Ruttledge, left tackle; Hand, right tackle; Jones, left guard; Staats, right guard. Time of halves, 15 minutes.

The Dunellen and Somerville teams battled for thirty minutes on the latter's gridiron Saturday afternoon, neither side being able to score. The game was exciting throughout, the two teams being evenly matched in weight, and of about the same speed.

In the first half, neither goal was in danger. In the second half, Austin, of the Somerville team, crossed the line. The touchdown was not allowed however, as the right half back used his hand in interfering for the runner.

The following was the line-up of the two teams: Dunellen—Lake, left end; Robertson, left tackle; Apgar, left guard; Brandon, center; Reinhart, right guard; Titsworth, right tackle; Peters, right end; Churchill, quarter back; Carey, right half; Maltbie, left half; Comberson, full back. Somerville — Thomas, right end; Apgar, right tackle; Wilcox, right guard; Stryker, center; Hayle, left guard; Burke, left tackle; Brokaw, left end; Garrison, quarter back; Austin, left half back; Vosseler, right half back; Case, full back.

Referee, Mack; umpire, Becker; timer, Lewis; linesmen, Slater and Kennedy.

Exchange of Properties.

Benjamin R. Force, of East Front street, has exchanged his residential property on East Front street, formerly occupied by him with Peter Thompsen for the latter's residential property on East Seventh street. Mr. Thompsen will occupy the Front street property.

North Avenue Realty Transfer.

Armstrong Mulford, of Westervelt avenue, on Saturday purchased the brick building on North avenue, the first floor of which is occupied as a real estate office by the Mulford real estate agency. He purchased the property of the Estate of E. C. Mulford.

James Welch, formerly a gang boss at the Manganese Steel Safe Works, now holds a similar position in a pump shop at Cartaret.

SPORTING NEWS.

FOOTBALL.

It has been authoritatively announced that Company K will not have a football team this year. Several of their last year's players are playing on other teams.

The next interscholastic football game in the city will be played Saturday between the Leal's and the High School teams. Both teams are weighted about the same, and the contest will be an interesting one.

The Dunellen football players are going to give the Alls a hard rub for the football championship of this vicinity. There are a number of fast players among their aggregation and they are developing a speed which will be hard to beat by a team of equal weight.

Daniels, who played right half for the Leal's School team against Westfield last week, is by no means a new man at the game. He played in the same position last year, and was one of the strong points of the team. Daniels is preparing for Princeton College, and is likely to be heard from further in the football world before the season is closed.

The first regular practice of the Alls football team will be held tomorrow evening at the clubhouse grounds. All the candidates who have previously registered are requested to be out, and as many new players as possible are asked to meet with the club tomorrow. The captain is anxious to get out all the material he can, and every one will be given a chance.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The handsome new home of the Middlebrook Country Club will be opened on Tuesday night, October 11.

POLICE BLOTTER'S TALES RELATED BRIEFLY

OFFENDERS BROUGHT WITHIN THE NOTICE OF LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

Ella Hurford, of 404 Central avenue, reported at headquarters this morning, that a woman boarder in a house that she had been stopping at on West Third street, had robbed her of a velvet coat and fled to New York. She knew all about the thief and her history with the exception of her name and the police are waiting for her to find out what it is.

James J. Shannon, of 459 West Third street, was brought to the station yesterday morning, by the crew of the 1 o'clock trolley car from Westfield. They said he had been in a fight at that place and Sergeant Frederickson believed them implicitly after he had looked at Shannon's face. A friend promised to see that he was taken home and he was placed in his keeping.

The yardmaster at the Lehigh Valley yards in South Plainfield telephoned headquarters this morning that he had found a stray black horse wandering about the place. He had placed it in Hamilton's blacksmith shop at South Plainfield and it is the belief that it belongs to someone from this city.

Employes of W. W. Wilson, the West End grocer, left a barrel of hams in front of the store when closing up Saturday night. The neighboring colored population had not awoke to the fact when Patrolman McGinley discovered them and had them put safely away.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Clifford Randolph, of Grant avenue, has taken a position in Pond's machine department.

Ray Pugh, of West Fourth street, has taken a position in the Pond office as stenographer, commencing today.

An Italian workman in the chipping room of the Pond shop was badly hurt, Saturday, by a flying piece of steel. It inflicted a two-inch gash in his head and the force of the blow rendered him partially unconscious. He was attended to by Robert Gough and then sent home.

The pattern deprtment at the Pond Tool Works is at present undergoing a healthy "rush" that indicates a general picking up. The employes worked all day Saturday and many of them continued yesterday. The men believe the slackness which has existed will soon be a thing of the past.

Adam Dunham and John Slorah, of the West End, have resigned their positions in a shop at Tottenville, S. I., and have returned home. According to reports they worked steadily but pay day came only when the firm had a bill settled up and as that happened only once every three or four weeks, things became a trifle monotonous.

ORDINANCE RAISING LIQUOR LICENSE FEE TO $1,000 PASSES TO THIRD READING

Mr. Tyler Presents Measure Which Meets With the Approval of the Majority of the Members.

BUCKRIDGE'S REPORT IS A BOOMERANG

When the Roll is Called Bullock, Daniel, Garrigues, Murphy, Tyler, Tolles and Wilson Line Up in Support of Higher License—Gloak, Higham, Lee and Randolph are Opposed to the Ordinance.

Despite reports made to the contrary an hour prior to the convening of the October meeting of the Common Council, last night, that matters had been fixed and that Mr. Tyler, chairman of the license committee, would not introduce his proposed amendment to the ordinance to license inns and taverns, which provided for an increase in the retail license fee from $700 to $1,000 and the wholesale fee from $500 to $800, as stated in The Daily Press of Saturday, Mr. Tyler presented the amendment and it was adopted on first and second readings and ordered engrossed and advertised.

Those who voted for the amendment were Councilmen William S. Bullock, Leslie M. Daniel, William A. Garrigues, Clarence Murphy, William S. Tyler, Theodore D. Wilson and Ralph L. Tolles.

Those voting against the amendment were William L. Gloak, J. Stephen Higham, Robert L. Lee and Frank DeW. Randolph.

The Daily Press account of the recent convention of the New Jersey Retail Liquors' Dealers Association convention, in which State Organizer Buckridge reported the great work of the local association in defeating the original effort to raise the license fee to $1,000, had been read by the members and a majority were deeply incensed at the intimation therein. It was the chief topic of conversion before and after the meeting and the general opinion expressed among the lobbyists was that the State organizer had acted most injudiciously.

Mayor O. L. Jenkins was the originator of the idea to raise the fee to $1,000 and he found a worthy champion in Councilman Tyler, as well as other members. Although defeated at first, Mr. Tyler was persistent and in fact he did not drop the matter at any time.

When Mr. Tyler introduced the ordinance last night and moved its adoption on the first reading, Mr. Lee arose and stated that he was not ready to vote on the ordinance as there had been no meeting of the license committee and he had not had time to consider the matter.

Mr. Tyler in reply stated that he had attempted to hold a meeting of the committee on four different occasions and that Mr. Lee informed him that it was useless to hold a meeting.

Mr. Lee took exception to this statement and explained that he had informed Mr. Tyler that he could not attend a meeting either on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday night of last week, owing to other engagements, whereupon Mr. Tyler said that the real reason why a meeting was not held was that his fellow-committeemen had explained that there was no use for holding one.

Mr. Randolph stated in explaining his position that he had received a telephone call from Mr. Tyler asking him to meet, but that it was impossible for him to do so at the time.

Mr. Tyler continued by saying that he asked the members to meet him a half-hour prior to the regular meeting, but they had failed to do so and that by the words of both Mr. Lee and Mr. Randolph they had admitted that they knew something of the matter.

There was a slight ripple of laughter through the lobby, when Mr. Lee began to explain his reasons for not attending a committee meeting, it being occasioned by Mr. Tyler's remarks, asking Mr. Lee to be careful in making his explanation. Mr. Lee concluded by saying that he did not care to have any argument concerning the matter.

Prior to taking the first vote on the ordinance, some doubt was expressed as to whether Mr. Tyler could get enough votes to put the ordinance through, but after the first roll call there was no question on this point. The seven members stood solidly for the amendment, while the other four were just as firm in their belief. At the next meeting the ordinance will be called up on a third and final passage and there is no doubt that it will successfully pass by the same seven votes.

School Board's Brief Session.

Last evening's meeting of the Board of Education was one of the briefest in years. A few minutes sufficed to transact the ordinary matters and in addition a committee composed of Messrs. Abbott, Lovell and Cave was appointed to examine the school report for the year ending June 30 last. Dennis Gallagher submitted a bid of $410 for the laying of drains at the new High School which was referred to the building committee.

Human Cushion Broke Fall.

An Italian laborer working in a trench on West Fourth street near Plainfield avenue, yesterday morning, was nearly frighened out of his senses by a small boy suddenly turning over the excavated dirt and dropping on his back. The boy was John McCarthy, of Lee place, who had been running to catch a ride on a milk wagon and failed to notice the trench until he went into it. He escaped with a slight cut on the head, thanks to the human cushion.

COUNCIL'S ROUTINE WORK

Mr. Gloak Exposes a Trolley Company Scheme.

PETITIONS AND REPORTS

Electric Lights Wanted—Distribution of Taxes to the Various Funds—Call Men Appointed.

In the future it is quite likely that the members of the Common Council will be more prompt in meeting at the appointed hour of 8 o'clock. At the October meeting held last night, President R. I. Tolles lost his patience in waiting for the members to get together, it being 8:30 before they all reached the room. At 8:25, Mr. Tolles instructed the page, Jacob Dunham, to go out and bring the members in, adding that if they were not present within five minutes he would call the meeting to order and then adjourn it.

He had hardly reached the hallway, when he returned and informed the president that the members were coming. While they were entering the chamber, City Clerk MacMurray called the roll and eight members answered to their names. Just as Mr. Daniel walked into the room he moved that the clerk call the roll, having heard that eight members were present, and knowing that eleven, the full membership, were in the room.

Mr. Tolles then explained his action and stated that if the members could not assemble at 8 o'clock, the time appointed, he would call the meeting and adjourn it.

In the general order of business William R. Cook, of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, asked the Common Council to place two electric lights on the Randolph road side of the hospital. The matter was referred to the light and trees committee.

Mr. Gloak offered a resolution fixing October 20, as the time when the Common Council will receive bids for materials to be used in macadamizing streets, and official notices were ordered placed in the newspapers of the city. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Gloak reported on the petitions received from property-owners asking that the Public Service Corporation be allowed to lay double tracks in East Front street and Watchung avenue, and made the surprising statement that instead of the property-owners being behind the petitions, he had learned that the trolley company were the prime movers in the matter. He cited the fact that the city's demands were laid before Col. Hine at a meeting of the street committee, that is, that the trolley company pave the streets from curb to curb with vitrified brick. This was refused by the company through Col. Hine. Mr. Gloak said that the street committee had decided that for so valuable franchise the request was a modest one, and in view of the fact that it was denied, he moved that the petitions be denied. This motion was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Daniel offered a resolution that the city treasurer make the usual proportionate distribution of 1904 taxes to the various funds as the money is received. He also offered a resolution providing for the borrowing of $5,000 for the fire department and $1,000 for the poor department, the same to be secured by notes signed by the Mayor and city treasurer. These resolutions were adopted.

Residents of the First ward in the vicinity of Berckman and East Second street, petitioned for a fire alarm box at that corner and the matter was referred to the fire and building committee. The Public Service Corporation reported that twelve electric lights, as ordered, have been placed in position.

Residents of the first district of the Fourth ward asked to have a privy vault removed from the north corner of New and West Second streets, claiming it to be a nuisance. The matter was referred to the Board of Health and then to Corporation Counsel Marsh on motion of Councilman Tyler.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that during the past month he granted sixteen permits.

Mayor O. L. Jenkins appointed J. Kline a call man, in place of William Jaegar, who was recently appointed a regular man in the fire department, and W. S. Harrison, a call man, in place of Charles Smith, a call man, resigned. The appointments were confirmed.

Mr. Murphy reported on a bill rendered by the Public Service Corporation for electric lighting, stating that there appeared to be some differences in the bill. He asked to have the bill

Somerset County Republicans Select Candidates for Shrievalty and Assemblymanship.

MEET AT SOMERVILLE

Charles P. Sebring Withdraws From Contest—Congressional Candidate Speaks—J. F. Reger is Chairman of Convention.

The Republicans of Somerset county nominated Irving Hoagland, of Branchburg township, for Assembly, and Edward Cooper, of Warren township, for sheriff, at the county convention held in Somerset Hall, Somerville, this afternoon. Chairman Joseph Frelinghuysen, of the county committee, called the convention to order this morning on the court house steps, the court room being used at the time for trial of cases. Adjournment was taken at once to the hall.

Louis Mack nominated J. F. Reger, of Bridgewater, for temporary chairman. Dr. J. H. Cooley, of North Plainfield, was made temporary secretary. When Mr. Reger was speaking, Ira W. Wood, of Trenton, the Republican Congressional candidate of the Fourth District, entered the hall and responded to an invitation to speak.

These committees were announced: Resolutions, Robert Kay, A. G. Anderson, L. E. Opie, John Hulsizer; rules, David Voorhees, Dr. Cooley, Henry Snabel, W. M. Lewis, Carl Fleischman; permanent organization, L. P. Sonenck, Frank Remsen, Charles McNabb, A. B. Gibb, David Gabriel; credentials, David Buist, Charles Stryker, W. Howard Toms, Manning Wyckoff, John Voorhees, Stephen Beeching, H. W. Ramswig.

Andrew Lutkins, of North Plainfield, loomed up as a dark horse for the shrievalty nomination this morning. Sebring, who also made a fight for the shrievalty, was nominated by Dr. Cooley, of North Plainfield, and then withdrew.

The resolutions endorse the National platform and President Roosevelt, recommends E. W. Stokes as Gubernatorial candidate and approves of Ira W. Wood as the Congressional candidate.

Mayor Smalley, Senator Reed and other members of the North Plainfield administration forces are conspicuous by their absence.

GIANTS VS. PLAINFIELD, CRESCENT OVAL, OCT. 15

MATHEWSON TO BE IN BOX FOR NEW YORK NATIONALS.

Arrangements are completed for the appearance of the New York Nationals on Crescent Oval on Saturday, October 15, with the Plainfield A. C. Jack Dunn, who is managing the New York end of the deal, has promised to bring the regular team to Plainfield and Christy Mathewson and Bowerman will be the battery.

This alone should guarantee a record-breaking crowd. Manager Johnston promises to have a team that will give the National League champions a hustle. He will have Batch, the heavy-hitting third baseman from the Brooklyns, to cover that position for him, and he will quite likely have Charles Malloy, also of the Brooklyns, for one of the positions.

It is possible that several New York American League players may be on the team and if this is true, the battle will be a royal one.

RELIEF FROM FLOODS

Many of the East End Residents Make Petition.

CITY FATHERS ACT

Street Committee Authorized to Investigate Condition Caused by Heavy Rain Storms.

That the heretofore undesirable condition of the east end of the city during heavy rains which causes the flooding of a great many streets, cellars and sidewalks, will soon be remedied, there seems to be no doubt for at the regular meeting of the Common Council last night, several petitions were received from property-owners and residents in that end of the city, accompanied by photographs, showing the condition after heavy rains, were presented, and the members of the Common Council were much impressed with the justice of the claims presented.

After Clerk MacMurray read the petitions signed by some 180 persons, Mr. Garrigues offered a resolution providing that the street and sewer committee be authorized to investigate the conditions in the east end of the city and report back to the Common Council. This was adopted, as was also a resolution offered by Mr. Gloak providing that $100 be appropriated for the work of making a survey and doing other preliminary work in connection with the proposed plan for improvement.

The petitioners cited at some length the damage resulting from the overflow of water in the east end of the city during and after a heavy rain storm, as already described in The Daily Press and they ask that steps be taken to cause the removal of dams in Greenbrook, which they claim is responsible for the overflow of water.

Another grievance cited is Cedar brook, which the petitioners claim is in a wretched condition by reason of stagnant pools during the dry season. They allege that the course of the brook has been changed and they ask the Common Council to take steps toward having the brook dredged, cleaned and walled up on either side of the bank.

The petition states that in addition to causing such serious and substantial damage to the residents and property-owners, the floods are a source of expense to the city by reason of the damage that is done to the roads and streets in question.

During the last overflow, which occurred in the early part of September, the water spread in large volume from West Front street as far south as Watchung avenue, covering a large area of land, on several of the public streets the water being over four feet deep at the centre of the road.

The petitioners also cite the damage resulting to R. H. Keenan, the East Fifth street grocer, who has suffered a loss in trade. Condition about the public schools and the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works is also mentioned, and the signers suggest that the matter so far as it relates to Greenbrook may be a subject for consideration on the part of the freeholders in Somerset and Union counties. That the dams in Greenbrook are largely responsible for the backing up of the water and its overflow seems to be the general opinion.

Mr. Gloak assured those present that the street and sewer committee would make a very careful investigation of the matter, looking toward speedy relief.

His death so affected the friends that the bake was given up.

COMMON COUNCIL THOROUGHLY AROUSED OVER EAST FRONT STREET "SPITE" HOUSE

Former Mayor Randolph Lays Bare Story of Alleged Attempt to Extort Money.

PETITIONER ATTACKS BUILDING INSPECTOR

Pierre Mali Joins in Mr. Randolph's Complaint and City Fathers Order That Corporation Counsel Marsh and Building Committee Take Action in the Matter.

The lengthy communication presented to the Common Council at its regular meeting last night by Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, was one that called for earnest and serious consideration on the part of the members. The matter referred to Mr. Randolph's recent troubles in his own neighborhood with the "neighborhood wreckers," and he presented a complete and exhaustive report of the subject, of the alleged wrong that had been done him by the Italians and others who have sought to exact an exorbitant price from him for property in the vicinity of his own.

Mr. Randolph reviewed the matter from its inception three years ago when he purchased property opposite his residence and improved the same. He spoke of the plan to extort money from neighboring property-owners and failing in this so-called "spite-houses" were erected as a nuisance and menace to adjoining property-owners.

The petitioner in detail gave the real estate transactions in regard to the Magie property, formerly held by the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company under mortgage and how the same was offered to Robert Carson for $2,000. It was afterward occupied by Italians, Antonio Mara and family. He said that he had received communications from and had been approached by lawyers, real estate agents and Italians seeking to dispose of this property to him at various figures.

Mr. Randolph says that he paid no attention to these persons and when they learned of his determination, they sought to annoy him by the erection of the "spite-house" and the occupation of the property by a large number of Italians.

He then mentioned the fact that on October 23, 1903, the property was transferred to Charles Bock and after that Italians called on him and sought to have him purchase it. Again they failed. Then other nuisances were introduced such as dogs and at the time between thirty and forty Italians were living on the place.

Mr. Randolph says that he called the attention of Mayor Jenkins to the matter, but no relief was afforded. He then reported it to the Board of Health and this body had Antonio Mara arrested for violation of health ordinances. He then went on to give a brief account of the recent city court proceedings at which time Mara was found guilty on four different counts.

Mr. Randolph then devotes considerable space to criticism of Building Inspector T. O. Doane, whom he charges with having granted a permit for the erection of the "spite-house" when he must have known that the plans and application did not conform to the building ordinance. He alleges that Chief Doane not only gave one permit, but a double one which allows the erection of another building of similar proportions and that the Italians have threatened to erect the second building. He states that the present building is three feet from the property line, which he claims is a violation of the ordinance, and he also mentions the fact that the Italians are permitted to build fires outdoors for cooking purposes and that the stench therefrom is a great nuisance. He asks that the building inspector be called to account for issuing such permits, especially when he knew the circumstances, and he asks relief from the conditions with all possible haste.

City Clerk J. T. MacMurray, after reading the communication, which required about thirty minutes, suggested to the Common Council that the matter receive their earliest attention.

The matter was referred to the fire and building committee with instructions to confer with Corporation Counsel Marsh with a view to early relief. Mr. Garrigues suggested that the assistance of Mr. Marsh be obtained at once, while Mr. Daniel moved that the fire and building committee take such action as is necessary and proper in the premises and that the corporation counsel be authorized to do likewise from a legal standpoint. The motion was adopted, it being the sense of the members that speedy relief is necessary.

Another communication on the same subject was received from Pierre Malli, in which he personally protested against the invasion on East Front street. This was referred to the street and sewer committee.

TWO RECORDS BROKEN.

Sandria and Ostrich Lower Racing Marks at Morris Park.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—H. B. Duryea's Sandria, with 104 pounds up, won the fillies half of the sixth Matron stakes of $13,275, at Morris park. In doing so she made a new world's record for six furlongs straightaway by going the distance in 1:08⅗. The best previous time, 1:08¾, was made by John Boden's Firearm, a four-year-old, carrying 125 pounds in 1899, and by Endurance by Right, a two-year-old, 112 pounds in 1901. Rose of Dawn, Sandria's stablemate, was second and Belle Strome third.

Five good fillies faced the starter for this race. Belle Strome was favorite at 6 to 5 with the Duryea stable next at 13 to 10. Belle Strome and Sandria ran close together to the end, where Sandria drew away and won easily by a neck from Rose of Dawn, who was four lengths in front of Belle Strome.

Bedouin, an added starter and quoted at 20 to 1, won the colts half of the sixth Matron stakes of $12,725. Bedouin took the lead in the first quarter and won driving by a neck from the favorite, Glorifier. Dandelion was third. Bedouin ran the six furlongs in the fast time of 1:09.

Ostrich, carrying ninety-three pounds in the Jerome handicap, broke the world's record for one and five-sixteenth miles over the hill by running the distance in 2:13. The old mark of 2:14⅕ was made by Sir John in 1891.

Ostrich took the lead at the lifting of the barrier and making the pace won driving by three-quarters of a length.

Consecrate Won at Worth.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Consecrate, who was brought here by her Canadian owners last week, was made the medium of a successful coup in the third race at Worth. The filly met the best field of ladies she has faced this year and on that account 8 to 1 was offered on her chances. At this figure her owners and their friends backed her heavily, pounding the odds down to 5 to 1, and then had the pleasure of seeing her finish four lengths in the lead. Fossil, the favorite, was second and Waihamoinen third.

Steeplechase Won by Creolin.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 4.—A steeplechase handicap, the first race over the new steeplechase course at Elm Ridge, was the feature of the racing. Creolin, a strong favorite, went to the front early in the journey and won as he pleased from Springwater. Evander was a poor third. Van Ness, Taxer and Bombardier were the other winning favorites.

PLOT TO KILL FOLK

Full Revelation In St. Louis Franchise Frauds.

FORMER SPEAKER TELLS HIS STORY

Given Fifteen Thousand to Leave City—Had Fixed Schedule of Prices For Legislating Bills Through.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 4.—Charles F. Kelly, former speaker of the house of delegates, who is under conviction for perjury in connection with "boodle" cases, and whose trial for connection with the Suburban franchise bribery will be called this week, has made public a full confession.

In this confession he asserts that on the day the indictment against him and the other "combine" members was made public "the boss," Edward Butler, gave him $15,000 to absent himself. He says that he went to Hannibal, thence to St. Paul, then to Sault St. Marie and across into Canada. From there he took passage to Liverpool under the name of "James Hogan."

The confession, it is said, tells of plans for the assassination of Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk by the "combine" members, in case Folk could not be made to cease his war on the "boodlers."

"We had a fixed schedule of prices for various bills," said Kelly, "according to the value of the franchises or privileges given. We hardly ever received less than $1,000 for the combined vote. We considered it beneath our dignity to take less than that. On one or two occasions, though, we got as low as $50 each for our votes and some of the boys took $5 each, but were ashamed of it because the price was so small.

"Our combine was not along party lines. Both Democrats and Republicans belonged to it. My experience has been that boodlers line up according to their own interests and not under party standards. Democrats and Republicans in St. Louis usually nominate men to go to the house of delegates for the money they can make out of it. Each party man votes for his own fellow and either one that gets in serves those who rob the city of franchises. I believe this has been tolerated in St. Louis because so many of the large corporations of the city are mixed up in boodling one way or another. The heads of these corporations used to think it less trouble to buy what they wanted than to elect honest men to the house of delegates.

"There are many other things I can and will tell later on, but this will do now. This, in brief, is my story and the confession of my infamy. I believe, though, that if the people of St. Louis allow this man (a prominent politician is named) to go on and control both political parties and put his men in office the public will be just as guilty as I am today. Such is his hold on the community, though, it seems helpless. If I knew anything I could do that I have not done to arouse the people of this city and the people of this state to the necessity of putting a stop to corruption I would gladly do it.

"I am now suffering the penalty for my crimes, am degraded and disgraced. I don't want to preach, but I do want to sound the alarm to the public as one would to a friend whose house is on fire. A few weeks ago this man told us we could either get a continuance until a new circuit attorney was elected; that his man would be put in and our case would be dismissed, or we could plead guilty and stay in jail until next January, and he would then see that we were pardoned. I have determined not to be under his dominion any longer. I shall endeavor for the rest of my life to atone for the wrongs I have done. I shall have more to say later on."

Two Killed by Explosion.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—By an explosion in the corning mill of the Dupont-De Nemours Powder company's plant, near Peckville, two men met instant death. They were Richard Hughey of Jessup and Walter Allsworth of Olyphant. The report of the explosion was plainly heard in Olyphant and Peckville. The roofs and sides of the building were blown away, and the mill took fire. The bodies of the unfortunate men were found among the ruins in a horribly mangled and burned condition. This is the fifth time these mills have blown up.

Cuba to Assist Immigration.

HAVANA, Oct. 4.—The senate has adopted a bill appropriating $800,000 for the purpose of assisting the immigration of laborers from the Spanish Balearic and Canary islands by subsidizing steamship lines and otherwise. The details of the plan are left largely to President Palma's discretion.

PEACE CONFERENCE.

Secretary Hay's Warm Greeting to Delegates.

RELIGION IS THE REMEDY FOR WAR

Promised Congress Support of United States Administration—Sir Thomas Barclay Hopes For Arbitration Treaty.

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Secretary of State John Hay, representing the United States of America, spoke words of welcome to the delegates to the international peace congress, who assembled in the Tremont temple here for the first formal meeting of the thirteenth annual convention. President George R. Jones of the Massachusetts senate extended the greeting of the commonwealth of Massachusetts and Mayor Patrick A. Collins that of Boston.

Mayor Collins said that no word of his was necessary to welcome peace delegates to Boston, for Boston was the home of peace. He said if he were to paraphrase a Bible text to suit the occasion it would be this:

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall see God; — be the warmakers, for they shall see the devil."

Secretary Hay traced briefly the war history of this country and pointed out that the country's greatest men had been warm advocates of peace. He agreed with Tolstoi that religion is the remedy for war. He promised the administration's support so far as practicable of the principle of the arbitration of such questions as may not be settled through diplomatic negotiations and expressed confidence that at no distant day the attention of the nations might be brought to a project looking toward the return of peace in the far east.

Speaking for the governor, President Jones said that it was a strange and fitting coincidence that at the very moment the final eulogy was being pronounced over the mortal remains of Senator Hoar the congress should be opening, because as a servant of Massachusetts and of the nation as well his voice was ever for peace and honor. He also expressed the wish "that the influence of the action of this congress may be universal and world-wide."

Sir Thomas Barclay has sent the following message to the peace congress: "I am very sorry I am unable to attend the Boston conference. I attach immense importance to that conference, because such a number of distinguished, practical men have taken an interest in it. The next greatest step taken in the history of international relations will, I expect, be a treaty of arbitration between Great Britain and America."

Sir Thomas, who has been prominently identified with the movement for establishing amity between nations, has stated that the German government had under consideration the calling of another conference to extend the scope of The Hague convention prior to President Roosevelt's recent announcement of his desire to take action in that direction. "There is thus little difficulty," Sir Thomas said, "about the adoption of the proposal of President Roosevelt. You will remember that Count von Bulow stated in the reichstag a couple of years ago that it was the intention of Germany to call a conference, and recent correspondence we have had with the German authorities shows the matter is being considered. There is therefore a possibility of either the American and German governments calling a conference jointly or that one will give way to the other. If all the nations will accept the proposal it will be one of the greatest things America has done."

Slayer of Whiting Killed Himself.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—William Foster, the murderer of Blaine Whiting, colored, committed suicide in the attic of his home at Green Castle. Foster was located at his home by Joseph Conrad. The latter gave the alarm, and a posse surrounded the house. Before they could enter the dwelling, the murderer placed a revolver to his head and blew out his brains. A reward of $400 had been offered for Foster's arrest.

A Bullet In Each Skull.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 4.—Much excitement has been created in the village of Sparta, sixteen miles north, by the discovery of eight skeletons. The discovery was made by three young men who were hunting. A bullet was found in each skull. The region in which the bodies were found was formerly a wild one, and it is thought that the bodies may be those of early settlers, killed by highwaymen.

Young Man Burned to Death.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 4.—By the burning of the boarding house of Mrs. M. E. Johnson here yesterday Oliver Johnson, aged sixteen years, was burned to death and several others were seriously injured. The occupants were all asleep when the fire was discovered, and all made their escape by jumping from a second story window except young Johnson.

Killed at Binghamton, N. Y.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Albert C. Babcock, a middle aged man of this city, while standing on the track at Endicott waiting for a freight train to pass was struck by the engine of a passenger train and instantly killed.

Schoolteacher a Suicide.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Miss Jeane Rogers Sherman, fifty years old, assistant drawing teacher in the Syracuse High school, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. She was found dead in her room.

WHERE IS KUROKI?

Russian War Office Alarmed at Mukden News.

JAPS NOT AT SIANSCHAN OR SIAODYR

Kuropatkin's Troops Advanced on Da Mountain Passes to Find That the Enemy Had Vanished Almost Entirely.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The war commission at St. Petersburg adjourned this morning without issuing further news from the front. Dispatches from Mukden, dated at 10:30 o'clock last night, state that all is quiet there. There is intense interest there in the developments at Mukden.

The principal cause of alarm at the war office is occasioned by the lack of definite information regarding the exact whereabouts of Field Marshal Oyama's right. The Russian scouts have lost touch with General Kuroki's main army, which may give increasing importance to the flanking movement west under General Oku, which hitherto has been regarded as a feint for the real turning movement to strike at General Kuropatkin's line of communications from the east.

It also may contain the potentialities of a big surprise. Ten days ago Kuropatkin and the war office were convinced that the Japanese were concentrating at Sianschan and that an immediate advance was imminent in force.

Accordingly the Russians fell back from the passes of the Da mountain range without offering resistance. But after several days they sudden discovered that the Japanese were not pressing forward and thereupon the Russian scouts pushed out to ascertain the cause. They penetrated so far as Sianschan and Siaodyr, bringing back the startling intelligence that not more than a brigade of Japanese troops was there. This forthwith was followed up by important movements of Russian cavalry and the reoccupation of the Da range passes. But Kuroki's main body has not been located.

A Nagasaki report says: "Terrible artillery conflicts are adding to the horrors of the situation at Port Arthur. The Russians have made several sorties against positions held by the Kanngawa regiment, and desperate fighting followed. The Japanese force was practically annihilated, only one noncommissioned officer and eleven men remaining alive out of the 4,000 who went into the engagement."

A Shanghai report says the Russian armored cruiser Bayan, which escaped the Japanese after leaving Port Arthur with the fleet, has anchored off Gutzlaff island, in Hangchau bay, near here. Two tugs have proceeded thither to bring her to Shanghai.

A Nagasaki report says a Japanese tunnel into Port Arthur was completed on Sept. 24 and was immediately used. The result is unknown. The Japanese blockade of Port Arthur is so effective that General Stoessel has been unable to inform the war office at St. Petersburg of the situation there.

Nijni Novgorod Homeward Bound.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—The Russian volunteer fleet steamer Nijni Novgorod has passed the Bosphorus homeward bound.

Fairbanks Party In California.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Oct. 4.—Charles W. Fairbanks and Senator Fulton of Oregon began a campaign of California at Redding before breakfast. The train drew into Redding during the night, and the senators awoke to the music of a brass band. A stand had been erected near the station, and when the vice presidential candidate and his associates were escorted to it they found a crowd awaiting them. Senator Fairbanks said that he had last been in Redding when President McKinley was a candidate for president. When McKinley's name was cheered he told his hearers that, while they did well to applaud that name, they should bear in mind that they have in President Roosevelt a candidate who is inspired by the same lofty purposes as his predecessor.

John Quincy Adams For Governor.

Assembly of Mothers at Sandy Hill.

SANDY HILL, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The eighth annual convention of the New York state assembly of mothers has opened in this village and will continue until Thursday afternoon. The delegates will be given an excursion upon Lake George and to other historic places.

Killed by Whirling Shaft.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 4.—William D. Burgess was killed in the Ulster and Delaware railroad shops here. His clothing caught in the shafting and he was whirled around until unconscious and mangled. He died several hours later.

Wynne Acting For General Payne.

Fellow employes of Charles Dixon at the Pond shop are congratulating him on his successfully passing through the initiation of Plainfield lodge, No 885, B. P. O. E. He rode the goat last Wednesday night.

Reports that the building trade in New York and other large cities is becoming brisk is of importance locally through the Levering & Garrigues' shop at West Dunellen. As it deals almost entirely in structural iron work it will undoubtedly feel the betterment of conditions.

ORGANIZING GLEE CLUB IN LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

S. B. HOWE, JR., WILL BE THE INSTRUCTOR.

The first meeting of the High School Glee Club was held yesterday afternoon at the school and was in charge of S. B. Howe, Jr., who will have charge for the coming year. Mr. Howe was for three years the leader of the glee club at Union College, and was a member of the mandolin club. An attempt will be made to organize a banjo and mandolin club in addition to the vocal club.

The organization of a glee club in the school is valuable for various reasons beside the individual instruction received. The school has been accustomed to give annual musicales for a number of years, and the addition of a body of trained pupils to lead in these concerts will be a valuable attraction. Another feature in the development of a good glee club is the fact that the problem of school entertainments will be made much easier by the existence of an organized musical club.

Seven boys and about thirty girls were out at the meeting yesterday, and a number of voices were tried. It is the intention of Mr. Howe to make a trial of all the candidates for the club, and the result will be that the number of the glee club will be reduced to about twenty members.

BUILDING INSPECTOR REPLIES TO ACCUSATION

MR. DOANE SAYS HE ACTED ACCORDING TO LAW IN GRANTING PERMIT.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane today declared that in granting the permit for the erection of the alleged "spite" house he acted according to the strict letter of the law and that there was no discretion vested in him. "When the petitioner complied with the terms of the building law, it was my duty to grant the permit," said Chief Doane, "but I did not do it until they had filed an architect's plans. Some of Mr. Randolph's statements in his petition to the Common Council are untrue."

Albert Springer made an early raid on the wild duck pond yesterday morning and killed seven. Two others were shot by Plainfield sportsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilroy Voorhees and daughter returned to Asbury Park, last evening, after attending the funeral of Mrs. Voorhees' father.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Calkins, of Brookside avenue, will return to New York after a short time.

SQUIRE HETFIELD IS NOW A NONOGENARIAN

HALE OLD PLAINFIELDER PASSED HIS NINETIETH BIRTHDAY YESTERDAY.

Known throughout the city as one of its halest old men, Squire Hetfield, of Madison avenue, passed his ninetieth birthday, yesterday, and as usual observed it in a quiet way. Relatives and friends gathered about him and congratulations came by letter and telegram all day. His four score years and ten sit easily upon his shoulders and when night came he was in no way fatigued.

Squire Hetfield was born in Westfield but has lived in Plainfield for the past twenty years. He comes of a long-lived family, the Hetfields being one of the first in the State and numbering many members who closely approached the century mark. A brother, Levi Hetfield, died a short time ago at the age of ninety-six. Squier Hetfield followed the carpenter's trade and from boyhood spent the greater part of his time in the open air. He never drank, or used tobacco in any way.

He never married and at the present time has but one sister, Mrs. Mary Lee, of Newark. He also has the following nieces and nephews: Mrs. Harold Serrell, Mrs. Aretta Manning, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., and former Postmaster John H. Hetfield, all of this city. He is an enthusiastic violinist and spends much of his time playing the instrument.

MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL COMPLETES BUSY MONTH

DECIDEDLY INTERESTING REPORT PRESENTED AT MEETING OF BOARD.

According to the superintendent's report submitted at last evening's meeting of the Board of Governors, Muhlenberg Hospital has just completed one of the busiest months in its history. At the last report there were twenty-two patients remaining and since then the institution's work has been as follows: Admitted, 51; discharged cured, 36; improved, 4; unimproved, 1; died 2; remaining, 36; number of hospital days, 864; number of operations, 34.

In the dispensary, fifty-three cases were treated and there were 253 visits. In this department the number of operations was six, the totals showing an increase over other months.

In the regular order of business it was stated that the new nurses' home would in all probability be ready for occupancy early in December. It is proposed to beautify the grounds about the entire place and accordingly arrangements were made to set out a limited number of trees at once. The question of an elevator in the hospital was discussed but as the funds at this time are limited nothing was decided upon. In the absence of President Fisk, Vice President E. H. Ladd, Jr., occupied the chair during the session.

HIGGINS NOTIFIED.

Republican Candidate Received the Deputation at His Home.

OLEAN, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Union street the principal street of the city, was in gay attire with flags and bunting for the ceremony of notifying Lieutenant Governor Higgins and the other candidates of their nomination by the Republican state convention.

The notification exercises were held at the home of Lieutenant Governor Higgins, the Republican candidate for governor. All of Mr. Higgins' associates on the state ticket were present.

State Senator George R. Malby of St. Lawrence county, chairman of the Republican convention, delivered the formal notification speech. Mr. Higgins replied with an address that was said to be an able discussion of state issues. He was well qualified to deliver such a speech, having been one of the leaders in the state senate for the last ten years.

Mr. Higgins displayed a knowledge of state affairs that few men possess. Furthermore, Mr. Higgins placed himself on record as an independent candidate—that is, free from dictation by party managers. If elected governor there will be no guiding hand save his own.

Mr. Higgins entertained the committee and guests at lunch.

Later a mammoth open air mass meeting was held.

Among the speakers were Timothy L. Woodruff, who was Mr. Higgins' rival for the nomination; ex-Governor Black, M. Linn Bruce, Julius M. Mayer, Job E. Hedges, Senator John Raines, Cuthbert W. Pound, James S. Whipple, Abe Gruber, Arthur C. Wade and Congressman Vreeland.

BOY RAN THE AUTO.

Secretary Gurney Not at Fault, but Accepted Responsibility.

LENOX, Mass., Oct. 4.—J. E. Schermerhorn of New York has declared that his son, Amos Schermerhorn, was the driver of British Secretary Hugh Gurney's automobile on Sept. 25 when Mr. Gurney is charged with violating the Stockbridge speed ordinance.

Mr. Schermerhorn has given out this information in recognition, as he said, of the gallantry of Secretary Gurney in accepting the entire responsibility in the matter. His two sons, he said, both of whom are familiar with automobiles, were being entertained by Mr. Gurney, who personally does not care for fast driving, but was permitting the boys to test his machine.

As they were rolling along the highway at good speed about half a mile from Stockbridge an officer stopped them with the information that they were breaking the speed statute. He asked who the owner was, and Mr. Gurney replied that he was. The officer said it would be necessary for them to proceed to Stockbridge, and Mr. Gurney invited him to ride along with them. On the way to the town the officer, who was Deputy Sheriff Noble, pulled out his watch and said that they were again going faster than the law allowed. Mr. Gurney expressed regret if the law had been violated and when informed that the deputy must take names of those responsible presented his card.

Died a Victim to Science.

ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 4.—Clarence M. Daily is dead at his home in East Orange from the effects of a cancerous growth resulting from long continued persistence in experimenting with X ray apparatus in the experimenting department of the Edison laboratory at West Orange. The history of his case shows him to have been a martyr to science in his devotion to the solution of the mysteries of the X rays and fluroscope. The cancerous condition had permeated his whole system. In addition to the intense pain from this cause dropsy set in. Mr. Daily was thirty-nine years old and leaves a widow and two sons.

Balfour at Edinburgh.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Oct. 4.—Premier Balfour opened the autumn campaign here last night as the guest of the Conservative club. He first seconded a motion of condolence with Lady Harcourt and the members of her family. Mr. Balfour said: "Sir William Vernon Harcourt was for thirty years in the forefront of the political battle. He was a hard fighter, but his thrusts were never poisoned. Death has removed one of the most exceptional figures that ever adorned parliamentary life."

Colored Men's Convention on Oct. 17.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The executive committee of the Lincoln Republican National league last night postponed the convention of colored men called to meet at Charlestown, W. Va., on Oct. 10 and 11 under the auspices of the league to Oct. 17. A mass meeting of all Republicans attending will be held that evening to do honor to the memory of John Brown, the abolitionist.

Watson on the Stump.

NEWTON, N. C., Oct. 4.—Hon. Thomas E. Watson, candidate of the People's party for president, spoke here to an audience of a thousand persons. It is the only time that he is expected to address a North Carolina audience during the campaign. He left here last night for New York, where he will attend a labor banquet tomorrow evening.

Railway Wreck in Wales.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Four persons were killed and it is estimated that nearly fifty were injured, some of them fatally, in a railway accident near Llanelly, fifteen miles southeast of Carmarthen, Wales, yesterday. An express train drawn by two engines was derailed, the engines jumping the track and several coaches being overturned.

PAYNE IS SINKING.

Postmaster General Unconscious Most of the Time.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—One of the physicians in attendance upon Mr Payne has made the following statement:

"Postmaster General Payne is rapidly losing ground. He is sustained now only by artificial life. He is distinctly worse than at any time during his illness, and the end is not far off."

Up to 3 o'clock Mr. Payne was doing well, but at that hour he had a sinking spell, and from 3 to 7 he was kept alive only by the application of powerful stimulants. Since then his condition shows practically no change. He is unconscious most of the time.

Postmaster General Payne last night was weaker than at any previous stage of his illness, save during the worst of his sinking spells, and his death, it is said, may occur at any moment.

The family of Postmaster General Payne early this morning were gathered around his bedside. He has had another sinking spell, and the end is believed to be a matter of but a short time.

PRESIDENT LIKES WATSON.

President Becomes an Enthusiastic Admirer of His Rival.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—President Roosevelt has suddenly become an enthusiastic admirer of Tom Watson of Georgia, the Populistic candidate for the presidency.

It is quite evident from recent expressions of the president, relative to the brilliant but hot headed Watson that the latter is not regarded as a dangerous rival in the pending campaign. On the contrary, the president has to some of his personal friends expressed his high appreciation of Watson's friendly utterances in his public speeches.

Not only is the Georgia historian a vigorous writer, but he is of a decisive nature when it comes to politics, all of which combines to appeal forcibly to President Roosevelt. Judging from some of the comments upon Tom Watson at the White House recently, he is threatened with an invitation to dine with the president should he wander this way on his return from New York.

OFFICER'S DAUGHTER KILLED.

Mystery In Death of Child of Commander Vail, United States Navy.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—While at the wharf at Grand Tower, Ill., Commander Holman Vail, U. S. N., and wife of the lighthouse tender Oleander noted the disappearance of their daughter Margaret. Fearing that she had been kidnaped, a search of the town was made by the police without avail.

Later the girl's body was found under the fan wheel of the Oleander. The lower deck of the Oleander is very slippery, and it is possible that the girl missed her footing and fell into the river. It is feared, however, that she was pushed off by some one.

Girl's Slayer Tried Suicide.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Joseph Miller, a negro coachman, who was arrested at Midvale, N. J., charged with having murdered Seline Stewart, a young negress, has attempted twice to kill himself in the jail at Paterson, N. J. First he tried to asphyxiate himself with gas. He was unconscious when found. He then sought to strangle himself with a noose of bed clothing, but the attempt was frustrated. Miller was arraigned last night on a charge of murder.

The New Woman

Featherweight Brains and Tissue Paper Trifles

SOME woman who evidently writes on space and wants something to pad it out has made a list of the things a girl can do to "work" her way through college. This list is as "amoozin" as Artemus Ward's kangaroo. One of the things is to "make tissue paper trifles for college festivities." Heaven save us! Imagine a girl paying her way through a college course with tissue paper trifles! The suggestion is about as sane and sensible as the tissue paper brain that conceived it. Another suggestion for the girl who would work her way through college is to take an agency for visiting cards. No doubt college girls spend most of their time calling and distributing their visiting cards. Again, the girl is told she can make pincushions and lamp and candle shades. Once more imagine going through a college course on pincushions and candle shades! Is this the age of the tissue paper trifle mind among women? A woman at the head of an employment agency for her own sex has recently written concerning the difficulty she has in securing persons willing to do honest, steady, real work. The first requirement of each of the women is that she shall do "nothing menial." They are willing to do the decorative part of the housekeeping, which the woman of the house always does for herself, but solid, wholesome work, the kind that sweetens food and sleep and makes the muscles of the human body strong, skillful and rosy—no! No scrubbing, washing, ironing or window cleaning for these half and half ladies. They will accept the tissue paper trifle part of housework—nothing more. Apparently they put up their own high order of varied and socially ornamental qualities as offset to the wage they demand. The writer of the article is careful to say that the intelligent and well bred woman, the real lady, never makes the stipulation that she shall do "nothing menial." She knows that her ladyhood is in herself and cannot be injured by any work she does, even though she scrubbed stairs for a living. The woman sex will not make much progress until it walks away from the tissue paper trifle idea of work.

Women writers used to adopt masculine pen names to get their work on the market. The aspect appears to have changed. In newspaper offices it is now not uncommon for some young man, over a feminine signature, to compile for the woman page sloppy advice to readers on every subject from removing wrinkles to directions on how to keep or catch a lover. The flapdoodle they would be ashamed to print over a man's signature they slip through over a woman's.

A writer suggests, "Try doing unto others as you would they should do unto you for one whole day." Is there any objection to trying it for one whole life?

In the nineteenth century women talked and wrote. In the twentieth century women do things.

What sight is more pathetic than a little bit of a man staggering along under the weight of two heavy traveling bags while beside him walks his great big strapping wife, twice his size, carrying a little white leather purse?

Would you be happy? Then make yourself happy in your present surroundings. But if these are not satisfactory look continually forward to better ones. The art of happiness is to be learned as we go along and depends not at all on our surroundings. Unless we find happiness in ourselves, above and beyond all people and things, we shall never find it anywhere.

A New York woman who went to Philadelphia recently received a great shock to her nervous system. The contrast between the courtesy and humane conduct of Philadelphia men to women in the streets and public conveyances and the brutality of New York men to the sex, to which she was accustomed, was so great it nearly knocked her over.

Not long ago a woman who is known to three continents—that, too, in a way not flattering to her—landed in New York from a steamer and was obliged to wait with other passengers while her luggage was inspected. She protested vociferously against waiting till those ahead of her had been attended to. "Have I got to stand in that line?" she asked. "Why, they are all second class passengers!" She was a woman entirely reckless as to her own conduct, yet it outraged her sense of gentility to be obliged to stand alongside mere "common" people who work for their living.

A bank cashier lately told me of a woman who for five years did not know enough to cut off the coupons from a bond she possessed. When told that these coupons as they became due were as good as so much money she began to cut them off at the wrong end of the certificate. What a "womanly" creature she was, wasn't she?

CHAPTER III.

JOHN LAW OF LAURISTON.

Unconsciously the coachman obeyed the unvoiced command of this man, who stepped out from the shelter of the hedge. Travel-stained, just awakened from sleep, disheveled, with dress disordered, there was none the less abundant boldness in his mien as he came forward, yet withal the grace and deference of the courtier. It was a good figure he made as he stepped down from the bank and came forward, hat in hand, the sun, now rising to the top of the hedge, lighting up his face and showing his bold profile, his open and straight blue eye.

"Ladies," he said, as he reached the road, "I crave your pardon humbly. This, I think, is the coach of my lord the earl of Banbury. Mayhap this is the Lady Catharine Knollys to whom I speak?"

The lady addressed still gazed at him, though she drew up with dignity.

"You have quite the advantage of us," said she. She glanced uneasily at the coachman, but the order to go forward did not quite leave her lips.

"I am not aware—I do not know—," she began, afraid of her adventure now it had come, after the way of all dreaming maids who prate of men and conquests.

"I should be dull of eye did I not see the Knollys arms," said the stranger, smiling and bowing low. "And I should be ill advised of the families of England did I not know that the daughter of Knollys, the sister of the earl of Banbury, is the Lady Catharine, and most charming also. This I might say, though 'tis true I never was in London or in England until now."

As though it were another person, Lady Catharine heard herself murmur, "And you, sir?"

"I am John Law, of Lauriston, Scotland, madam, and entirely at your service. That is my brother Will, yonder by the bank." He smiled, and the younger man came forward, hesitatingly, and not with the address of his brother, though yet with the breeding of a gentleman.

The eyes of Mary Connynge took in both men with the same look, but her eyes, as did those of the Lady Catharine, became most concerned with the first speaker.

"My brother and I are on our first journey to London," continued he, with a gay laugh which did not consort fully with the plight in which he showed. "We started by coach, as gentlemen; and now we come on foot, like laborers or thieves. 'Twas my own fault. Yesterday I must needs quit the Edinboro' stage. Last night our chaise was stopped, and we were asked to hand our money to a pair of evil fellows who had made prey of us. In short—you see—we fared ill enough. Lost in the dark, we made what shift we could along this road, where we both are strangers. At last, not able to pay for better quarters even had we found them, we lay down to sleep. I have slept far worse. And 'tis a lovely morning, Madam, I thank you for this happy beginning of the day."

The face of Will Law hardly offered complete proof of this assertion. He had slept ill enough, and in the morning light his face showed gaunt and pale. Here, then, was a situation most inopportune; the coach of two ladies, unattended, stopped by two strangers, who certainly could not claim introduction by either friend or reputation.

"I did but wish to ask some advice of the roads hereabout," said the elder brother, turning his eyes full upon those of Lady Catharine. "As you see, we are in ill plight to get forward to the city. If you will be so good as to tell me which way to take, I shall remember it most gracefully. Once in the city, we should do better, for the rascals have not taken certain papers, letters which I bear to gentlemen in the city—Sir Arthur Pembroke I may name as one—a friend of my father's who hath had some dealings with him in the handling of moneys. I have also word for others, and make sure that, once we have got into town, we shall soon mend our fortune."

Lady Catharine looked at Mary Connynge and the latter in turn gazed at her. "There could be no harm," said each to the other with her eyes. "Surely it is our duty to take them in with us."

"William," called the Lady Catharine Knollys, "open the door for Mr. Law, of Lauriston!"

The footman sprang to the ground and held open the door. Therefore, into the coach stepped John Law and his brother, late of Edinboro', some time robbed and afoot, but now to come into London in circumstances which surely might have been far worse.

So in the merry month of May, with the birds singing in the trees, and the scent of the flowers wafted coolly to their senses, they came on apace to the throng at Sadler's Wells. There it was that John Law, finding in a pocket a coin that had been overlooked, reached out to a vender and bought a rose. He offered his flower with a deep inclination of the body to the Lady Catharine.

It was at this moment that Mary Connynge first began to hate her friend, the Lady Catharine Knollys.

CHAPTER IV.

THE POINT OF HONOR.

"Tell me, friend Castleton," said Pembroke, banteringly, "art still adhering to thy country drink of lamb's-wool? Methinks burnt ale and toasted apple might better be replaced in thy case by a beaker of stronger waters. You lose, and still you lose."

"May a plague take it!" cried Castleton. "I've had no luck these four days. 'Tis that cursed lap-dog of the duchess. Ugh! I saw it in my dreams last night."

"Gad! your own fortune in love must be ill enough, Sir Arthur," said Beau Wilson, as he pushed back his chair during this little lull in the play of the evening.

"Ah, then, you admit that there is some such thing as a talisman. I'll not deny that I have had one these last three evenings, but I feared to tell ye all, lest I might be waylaid and robbed of my good-luck charm."

"Tell us, tell us, man, what it is!" cried Castleton. "Sept et le va has not been made in this room before for many a month, yet here thou comest with the run of sept et le va thrice in as many hours."

"Well, then," continued Pembroke, still smiling, "I'll make a small confession. Here is my charm. Salute it!"

He cast on the table the Indian moccasin which had been shown the same party at the Green Lion a few evenings before. Eager hands reached for it.

"Treachery!" cried Castleton. "I bid Du Mesne four pounds for the shoe myself."

"Oh, ho!" said Pembroke, "so you too were after it. Well, the long purse won, as it doth ever. I secretly gave our wandering wood ranger, ex-galley slave of France, the neat sum of £25 for this little shoe. Poor fellow, he liked ill enough to part with it; but he said, very sensibly, that the £25 pounds would take him back to Canada, and once there he could not only get many such shoes, but see the maid who made this one for him, or, rather, made it for herself. As for me, the price was cheap. You could not replace it in all the exchange for any money. Moreover, to show my canniness, I've won back its cost a score of times this very night."

He laughingly extended his hand for the moccasin, which Wilson was examining closely.

"'Tis clever made," said the latter. "And what a tale the owner of it carried. If half he says be true, we do ill to bide here in old England. Let us take ship and follow Monsieur du Mesne."

"'Twould be a long chase, mayhap," said Pembroke, reflectively. Yet each of the men at that little table in the gaming room of the Green Lion coffee-house ceased in his fingering the cards and gazed upon this product of another world.

Pembroke was first to break the silence, and as he heard a footfall at the door, he called out:

"Ho, fellow! Go fetch me another bottle of Spanish, and do not forget this time the brandy and water which I told thee to bring half an hour ago."

The step came nearer, and as it did not retreat, but entered the room, Pembroke called out again: "Make haste, man, and go on!"

The footsteps paused, and Pembroke looked up, as one does when a strange presence comes into the room. He saw, standing near the door, a tall and comely young man, whose carriage betokened him not ill-born. The stranger advanced and bowed gravely. "Pardon me, sir," he said, "but I fear I am awkward in thus intruding. The man showed me up the stair and bade me enter. He said that I should find here Sir Arthur Pembroke, upon whom I bear letters from friends of his in the north."

"Sir," said Pembroke, rising and advancing, "you are very welcome, and I ask pardon for my unwitting speech."

"I come at this hour and at this place," said the newcomer, "for reasons which may seem good a little later. My name is John Law, of Edinboro', sir."

All those present arose.

"Sir," responded Pembroke, "I am delighted to have your name. I know of the acquaintance between your father and my own. These are friends of mine, and I am delighted to name ye to each other. Mr. Charles Castleton; Mr. Edward Wilson. We are all here to kill the ancient enemy, time. 'Tis an hour of night when one gains an appetite for one thing or another, cards or cold joint. I know not why we should not have a bit of both?"

"With your permission, I shall be glad to join ye at either," said John Law. "I have still the appetite of a traveler—in faith, rather a better appetite than most travelers may claim, for I swear I've had no more to eat the last day and night than could be purchased for a pair of shillings."

Pembroke raised his eyebrows, scarce knowing whether to be amused at this speech or nettled by its cool assurance.

"Some ill fortune?"—he began politely.

"There is no such thing as ill fortune," quoth John Law. "We fail always of our own fault. Forsooth I must explore Roman roads by night. England hath builded better, and the footpads have the Roman ways. My brother Will—he waiteth below, if ye please, good friends, and is quite as hungry as myself, besides having a pricked finger to boot—and I lost what little we had about us, and we came through with scarce a good shirt between the two."

A peal of laughter greeted him as he pulled apart the lapels of his coat and showed ruffles torn and disgured. The speaker smiled gravely.

"To-morrow," said he, "I must seek me out a goldsmith and a haberdasher, if you will be so good as to name such to me."

"Sir," said Sir Arthur Pembroke, "in this plight you must allow me." He extended a purse which he drew from his pocket. "I beg you help yourself."

"Thank you, no," replied John Law. "I shall ask you only to show me the goldsmith in the morning, him upon whom I hold certain credits. I make no doubt that then I shall be quite fit again. I have never in my life borrowed a coin. Besides, I should feel that I had offended my good angel did I ask it to help me out of mine own folly. If we have but a bit of this cold joint, and a place for my brother Will to sit in comfort as we play, I shall beg to hope, my friends, that I shall be allowed to stake this trifle against a little of the money that I see here; which, I take it, is subject to the fortunes of war."

He tossed on the board a ring, which carried in its setting a diamond of size and brilliance.

"This fellow hath a cool assurance enough," muttered Beau Wilson to his neighbor as he leaned toward him at the table.

Pembroke, always good-natured, laughed at the effrontery of the newcomer.

"You say very well; it is there for the fortune of war," said he. "It is all yours, if you can win it; but I warn you, beware, for I shall have your jewel and your letters of credit too, if ye keep not sharp watch."

"Yes," said Castleton, "Pembroke hath warrant for such speech. The man who can make sept et le va thrice in one evening is hard company for his friends."

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

ENGLISH FOOTBALL

SOME PHASES OF THE SPORT AMONG BRITISH WORKMEN.

Game Is Largely Professional and the Workman Is Always Ready to Quit His Job to Root for His Favorite Team.

Football is a source of trouble in England as in the United States, but in a different way. In the United States the chief complaint against the game is that it occupies too much of the time of college students, costs too much money, is dangerous to life and limb, and has a generally demoralizing effect on undergraduate athletics.

In England it is not the college students, but the workingmen, who, it is claimed, are injuriously affected by football. An article touching on this subject recently appeared in an English magazine, and the view taken of the question may be of interest to the American public. It appeared in Macmillan's Magazine and is directly to the point.

THE ENGLISH FOOTBALL FIELD.

These extracts will be found interesting:

Large employers of labor in Yorkshire, in Lancashire, in Durham, and in Northumberland, as well as in the Midlands, have been obliged to yield to the rush of the tide and are powerless to command the interests of business against those of football. Momentous events, such as the launching of a ship or the completion of an important order within contract time, have frequently been delayed by the coincidence of a "cup tie." Large establishments are occasionally closed in midweek because the whole body of workmen take it into their heads that their pets on the football grounds require encouragement. If these men were ordinary hewers of wood and drawers of water a remedy might be found, but they are chiefly skilled laborers—earners of good wages—who need never be out of work, and who, if turned off, would be eagerly snapped up by a rival.

Persuasion is useless, for money is no object to men who can make their £3, £4 and £5 ($14.60, $19.47 and $24.33) for a week of five days; resistance is worse than useless; so the tyrannized employers have, in their own interests, actually to encourage what in their hearts they detest. Thus, as I have been told, a large shipbuilding firm in one of our northeastern ports has been forced to find good berths for a couple of first-rate football players during the summer months, merely to retain their services for the local club and to prevent them from being tempted away by a rival. If a man or a half-dozen men are absent from their posts on a Wednesday or a Saturday nobody asks where they are, or if they are ill or dead; it being taken for granted that football somewhere has attracted them away. To ask leave of absence is, of course, an archaic superfluity. Jamie or Georgie wants to be at a certain game; he goes, and there is no more to be said about it.

The objection to football in England, then, is that it interferes with business and not that it occupies the time and uses up the pocket money of college students.

It must be remembered that football in England is largely professional, as baseball is in the United States, and that it is played six or eight months in the year and not confined to two months in the autumn. There are intercollegiate and interschool matches, but the chief interest in the game centers in the matches played by the professional teams. The interest felt in the game can be measured by the attention given it by the newspapers. Every day the announcement of games to come, and the reports of games played the previous day, occupy several columns in the leading newspapers, and the Saturday games demand a page and a half in Monday morning's newspapers.

From this it will be seen that football is

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT OF Y. M. C. A. IS OPENED

AT ENTERTAINMENT LAST NIGHT ANNOUNCEMENT OF COURSE WAS MADE.

The annual opening of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. was held last night at the association rooms. The event marked the formal commencement of the gymnasium work, and was of additional interest from the fact that the plans of the new physical director were announced last evening for the first time. Joseph Lorraine, of Boston, entertained the audience with musical selections and recitations.

The most important of Mr. Henckel's announcements was the fact that a course in "First Aid to the Injured" lectures will be conducted at the association during the coming year for the benefit of the gymnasium members. The lessons will be given by Dr. Norman Probasco, and will take place every week. The course covers a thorough outline of anatomy, the action of the heart and lungs, the circulation of the blood, and the process of digestion.

The gymnasium work will be the same as formerly, with the addition of a number of attractive features in the physical department. The schedule of the classes has been announced in the prospectus.

The Plainfield Medical Society will hold its quarterly meeting and banquet at Pedefious tomorrow night and will make the trip from this city by stage leaving at 8 o'clock. Dr. Pittis will read a paper at the meeting.

EAGLES' PLANS COMPLETE

Institution of Local Aerie Occasion of Big Demonstration.

PARADE AS A FEATURE

Line of March is Announced—Banquet After Ceremonies Next Tuesday.

With 100 of those who signed the charter roll in attendance, the final preliminary meeting of the prospective aerie of Eagles was held in Eagle Hall on West Second street, last evening. Enthusiasm marked the proceedings and indications tend to show that the institution will be one of the largest that has taken place locally in many years. Tuesday, October 11, was designated as the date and the secret work will be in charge of the Elizabeth aerie which will come to Plainfield 250 strong.

The initiating will start at 5 o'clock and it is hoped to have it entirely completed at 8 o'clock in order to have the street parade commence at 8:30. This will be conducted on a large scale and in addition to the musicians, 500 men will be in line. One hundred dollars has been expended in fireworks and the procession will include many unique features, typifying the order.

The line of march will be as follows: Forming on West Second street opposite hall, proceed to Park avenue, to North, to Watchung, to Front, to Grove, to Park place, to Somerset street, to Front, to Park avenue, to Fifth street, to Liberty, to Front, to Central avenue, to Second street, to Watchung avenue, to North, to Park, to Second street and dismiss. The committees wish to make the parade a distinct success and ask that merchants and citizens decorate stores and residences with the Eagle colors, red, white and blue.

The programme will conclude with an entertainment and banquet in Eagle Hall, to which the majority of the city officials and prominent citizens have been invited. The various committees reported that all arrangements have been completed and that the membership at the outset will be at least 125.

NEXT SEASON'S BASEBALL

Manager Johnston Undecided Whether to Continue Work.

AS TO THE OUTLOOK

Westfield May Not be Invited to Play—Talk on the Diamond.

Manager George H. Johnston, of the Plainfield A. C., has not made up his mind whether he will continue the management of the team another season. He says that it takes a lot of his time and it is a source of constant worry and thought. He adds that he receives very little encouragement in certain directions from those whom one would think would be the first to give it.

The Daily Press at the beginning of the season did not favor Mr. Johnston as manager for the team, believing that there were men in this city capable of doing the work. But he has shown that under trying conditions, he is able to give the town fast ball. Lots of things have gone wrong, but this cannot be charged to his management. He thought that in Billy Lauder he would have a crack-a-jack, but Bill sprained his ankle and was not able to do good work. "Kid" Roberts also went wrong, failing to show up as well as he anticipated. These are only a few of the many discouragements, yet withal fast ball has been played and nearly every contest has been a hard-fought one.

In speaking to a reporter for The Daily Press, Mr. Johnston had some ideas to express regarding next season, provided he could decide to continue as manager. He said that he would first get for a battery, Ray Egner, of the Trenton Y. M. C. A. team, and Jack O'Neil, of the Orange A. C. He would keep Peter Oregan, who has played gilt-edge ball in left-field and at the bat, and he has in mind other players who would give a first-class article of ball in the other positions.

As soon as the season closes, the club will hold a meeting and decide on what action to take for next year. The question of continuing a team will be the chief topic. It is generally believed that the club will decide in the affirmative, believing that another season will prove far more successful than this year. There will be a change made probably in certain directions and the club will get together on a more firm foundation. Everyone admits that the team this season has been a good advertisement for the town.

It is doubtful whether the club would decide to play Westfield next season if a team is continued. The majority of the members, as well as many other fans, are in favor of playing teams from Somerville, Elizabeth, Chatham, Madison, Summit and Dover, believing that these teams will bring a bigger crowd with them and that such games will result to the satisfaction of every one. As one member of the club expressed it yesterday, "Plainfield is tired of Westfield, notwithstanding the fact that the latter team won the majority of contests. There is also a question of fairness about these games and this year has proven that it is almost impossible to get a fair deal at Westfield. The time wasted on Westfield might better have been given to Somerville and the other towns mentioned."

Monday Afternoon Club Meets.

HUNT CLUB ORGANIZED

Prominent Men Identified With the New Association.

L. E. WARING, CHAIRMAN

Committee Appointed to Draw Up By-Laws and Constitution.

The Watchung Hunt Club was formed at a meeting held Monday evening at the Casino. The organization was promoted by Dr. Middleton O'Malley Knott last year, but as it was rather late in the season, no steps toward a permanent organization were taken. Several drag hunts were gotten up, all of which were conducted by Dr. Knott, and the public was allowed to participate in the sport at will. Last season was the first time that hunts were held in this city, but as there were so many who were interested in the affair, the idea of forming an organization soon became practicable to those in charge.

The matter was discussed for the first time Monday evening, when a number of prominent men, including George P. Mellick, William Palmer Smith, Charles McCutcheon, Lewis E. Waring, Charels J. Fisk and W. J. Buttfield, met at the Casino to take the initial steps in securing for Plainfield a permanent hunt club.

In addition to the temporary officers, L. E. Waring, chairman, and Dr. Knott, secretary, a committee composed of Mr. Mellick, Mr. Cruikshanck and Dr. Knott was appointed to draw up a code of by-laws by which the association will be governed. They will present their constitution at a meeting next Monday evening at which time the regular officers will be chosen.

Dr. Knott stated last evening that the membership of the club was likely to exceed even the brightest expectations, about thirty having signified their desire to join.

The secretary has already secured several packs of excellent hounds, some from England, and some from the best kennels in this country. The first hunt under the auspices of the new club will be held next Saturday, starting from the Netherwood Hotel. The exact time of starting will be announced later, the officials having not yet decided.

NEW BRUNSWICK BOYS GOT BILL'S CHECK—ALMOST

"MAYOR" SMITH RECONSIDERED HIS DECISION TO MAKE CONTRIBUTION.

The New Brunswick Home News of yesterday relates the following account of a "soliciting" committee's visit to the first citizen of New Market:

"Terrence Murphy, manager of the High School football team, and G. Burton, a committee appointed by the members of the High School Athletic Association, to raise a subscription fund for an athletic field, went to New Market recently for the purpose of having an audience with Mayor 'Bill' Smith.

"The plan formed by the members was to raise a subscription fund for the purpose of buying an athletic field, and it was proposed by some that a committee should go and see Mayor 'Bill' Smith, who, they thought would give it a 'boost.' Messrs. Murphy and G. Burton bravely determined to go.

"They finally arrived at New Market, and after some difficulty found Mr. Smith's residence. On being ushered in, they found 'Bill' Smith in a good-natured humor. After introducing themselves and explaining their business, Mr. Smith readily consented to give them a check, and started to go to his desk. Half way across the room 'Bill's' feet became tangled with a new rug and he fell on a nearby table, smashing things generally. This put the Mayor out of humor with the business at hand.

"After a long, though not uninteresting journey, the committee arrived home. They will probably have another audience with him at a later date—after election."

DIVORCED WIFE'S CLAIM

Legal Move Against A. R. Keller is Blocked by Court.

AFTER PROPERTY

Wanted Receiver's Jurisdiction to Cover Second Wife's Estate.

Augustus R. Keller, a resident of this city, and a book publisher in Philadelphia, from whom his first wife was divorced in April, 1902, is involved in further legal troubles. An application made by Annie L. Keller, Mr. Keller's first wife, to have extended the jurisdiction of a receiver she had appointed for the property of her former husband, Augustus R. Keller, so as to cover certain property owned by Keller's second wife and located in Eleventh avenue near Twenty-first street, New York, was denied yesterday by Justice Barrett in the Supreme Court of New York.

After Mrs. Keller's divorce was granted there followed a number of real estate transactions.

In opposing the application for the extension of the jurisdiction of the receiver Fred House, counsel for Keller, said that in February, 1902, Annie L. Keller sued for an absolute divorce and that while that suit was pending she, in consideration of $6,000 paid to her by her husband, joined him in a deal conveying valuable real estate on Eleventh avenue to Henry Schmidt. The lawyer said that after Mrs. Keller got her divorce, with alimony at the rate of $85 a month, Schmidt reconveyed the property to Keller. A few days after his wife got her divorce Keller married another woman to whom he conveyed the property in question.

Recently the first Mrs. Keller obtained an order in the Supreme Court increasing her alimony from $85 to $125 a month. Subsequently she succeeded in having a receiver appointed for her husband's real estate in New York. Under this order the first Mrs. Keller today sought to have the Court order the receiver to collect the rents of the second Mrs. Keller's property.

Moses H. Grossman, of counsel for Keller, said that legal notice had not been served on Keller previous to the applications for an increase of his first wife's alimony and of the appointment of a receiver of his real estate.

Counsel said that he would apply to have these proceedings vacated. He said that Keller was a member of the firm of Gebbie & Co., book publishers.

CO. K TO RESUME DRILLS ON MONDAY NIGHT

MEDALS TO BE AWARDED TO THOSE WHO ATTEND ALL DRILLS.

The regular weekly drills will be resumed by the members of Co. K on Monday night at the armory in West Front street, at 8:15 o'clock. The members will wear blue uniforms and all men not uniformed will report to the quartermaster-sergeant on the above date.

With a view to increasing the attendance at the regular weekly drills, the regiment will present a medal to each enlisted man at the end of the drill season who shall have attained 100 per cent. in attendance at drills, and in the performance of duty.

Immediately after the drill on Monday night, there will be an election for corporal to fill the vacancy by the removal from the State of Corporal Stephen A. Stover. After the election the regular business meeting of the company will be held. Every member is expected to be present as business of importance pertaining to the work of the company for the winter will be brought up for discussion. While the work of the past has been excellent, it is the intention of the officers, with the help of the members, to make the coming year the banner one in the organization.

Another Resident Pitcher.

Plainfield is rapidly getting a colony of famous baseball pitchers. Already numbering "Christy" Mathewson and Virgil Garvin among its residents, a third was added yesterday when Louis Wiltse, of the Baltimore Eastern League, moved into apartments in the new Stillman flats. He is well known in the baseball world and next year is to wear the uniform of the New York Americans.

ACADEMIC LEAGUE ACTIVE

Jersey School Boys to Hold Track Meet Here,

FOOTBALL PLANS

Newark Academy to Play Leal's School on Oct. 22 on Crescent Oval.

A meeting of the New Jersey Inter-Academic League was held at Newark Academy, Monday afternoon, for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to the league, held over from the spring meeting. The following schools are represented in this league: Leal's School, of this city; Pingry School, of Elizabeth; Newark Academy, Montclair Military Academy, and Carteret School, of Orange. Each school was represented at the meeting by a delegaiton of one instructor and one student. Suffern, the manager of the local school's football team, was present as the delegate from Leal's.

Among the other items of routine business, it was decided that the teams need not necessarily wear any regulation uniform, and that the officials in all games shall be chosen from disinterested college men by the delegation of instructors. It was also decided that each league game shall be played with a new ball, which will become the property of the winning team.

A committee to provide stationary was chosen, consisting of the following members of the delegation: Styles, of Leal's School, chairman; Keeney, of Pingry and Smith, of Montclair. The first league football game will be played between Leal's and Newark Academy on October 22 at Crescent Oval.

After the subject of football was dispensed with, the question of the organization of a basket ball league was considered, and the committee decided to wait the decision of Pingry School, with regard to their representation on the floor this year, before any definite plans are undergone. The Pingry boys have never played basket ball, and in all probability they will not undertake the organization of a team this fall. In that case the other teams will meet, but no official league games will be played.

It has finally been decided to hold the annual fall track meet under the auspices of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association in the last week of October, probably on Friday. It has also been determined to have an inter-class contest as well as a championship event. Last year this was attempted for the first time, and the class banner, offered by The Daily Press, was won by the class of 1905, with 1904 a close second.

The winning class will be the one which captured the greatest number of points in the field meet, any number of entries being allowed. Contrary to the precedent set by last year's meet, a relay race will be run this year, instead of the tug-of-war. The committee in charge of the meet, composed of the following members of the Association: Harry Thompson, chairman; Harold Robert and William Douglass, have secured the use of the Gentlemen's Driving Park for the purpose of holding the meet, and have chosen the list of events the same as those in former years.

The various class teams will begin systematic training as soon as the tennis tournment has been completed, and some good records are anticipated. Harry Thompson has won the medal for two years, and intends to enter the meet this season. All the entries have not yet been received, but it is expected that the number will be larger than formerly as each of the classes have consented to compete for the class championship.

HARRY FULPER DEAD.

Former Well-Known Plainfielder Passes Away at Monroe, N. Y.

Harry Fulper, a former well known resident of this city, died last Friday at his home in Monroe, N. Y., after a long illness with tuberculosis. He was the son of W. G. Fulper, who was the head of the United Tea and Coffee Growers Association which had a store where Dr. Shaw's West Front street pharmacy now is. The young man was twenty-five years old and was very well known throughout the city. He attended the local schools and after the family's removal to Brooklyn, he visited here at frequent intervals.

The funeral services and interment took place at Monroe, Monday afternoon.

Edwin O. Moffett, of Pine Bush, Orange county, N. Y., is visiting his brother, Assemblyman Charles L. Moffett, of East Fifth street.

HARMONY AT CONVENTION

The Republicans of Somerset County Name Ticket.

N. B. SMALLEY ABSENT

W. G. Debele and J. H. Cooley Selected as County Committeemen —Candidates for Coroner.

Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen and former State Senator Lewis A. Thompson were conspicuous figures at the Somerset County Republican convention yesterday which nominated former Assemblyman Edward E. Cooper, of Warren township, for sheriff and Irving Hoagland, of Franklin township for Assembly, as stated in yesterday's issue Mayor Newton

Edward Cooper.

B. Smalley, former State Senator Charles A. Reed, former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Peter Emmons and other North Plainfielders who are usually busy at such gatherings were not on hand and no letters of regret were received from them. Whether they will express sympathy for the nominees on election day is not known.

For coroner, Dr. M. C. Smalley, of Gladstone, Dr. F. L. Field, of Liberty Corner and Dr. C. R. P. Fisher, of Bound Brook, were named. There being two vacancies a vote was taken for two with the following result: Fisher, 39; Field, 37; Smalley, 2. Fisher and Field were accordingly declared the nominees of the convention.

David Hastings, A. W. Gibb and H. W. Reusswig were appointed to escort the nominee and A. G. Anderson, Stephen Beeching and Andrew Lutkins, the Assembly nominee, to the stage, and each made brief addresses.

Vacancies in the Republican County executive committee were filled as follows: Bedminster, Charles Wyckoff; Bridgewater, J. A. Mets, Jr., J. S. Frelinghuysen, Geo. Hope; Franklin, James H. Fisher, George Wolfe, Ditmars VanNostrand; Hillsborough, Walter French, J. F. Amerman; Millstone borough, P. V. D. VanDoren; Rocky Hill borough, Edwin S. Voorhees; North Plainfield borough, William G. Debele, J. H. Cooley.

The friends of Charles P. Sebring, of North Plainfield township, who was "turned-down" as a candidate for the shrievalty nomination, are outspoken today against the treatment they received and declare that they will have revenge on the ones in North Plainfield borough and township who were parties to the scheme. It is generally believed among North Plainfield Republicans that the ticket will suffer on election day as a result. One thing is taken for granted and that is that if the Democrats name a good ticket they will have excellent chances of winning again in Somerset county this fall.

Irving Hoagland, who was nominated for the Assembly at the Somerset County Republican convention held at Somerville, yesterday, is a resident of Franklin township. He is a nephew of the late Assemblyman Henry Hoagland, and is about thirty-five years old. He is a lawyer by profession. Two years ago he run for the Assembly on the Republican ticket and was defeated, together with the other Republican nominees. At present he is considered the strongest candidate the party could name.

Edward E Cooper, who received the nomination for sheriff at the Somerset county Republican convention held at Somerville yesterday, is well-known throughout this section of the State. He was born on the Cooper homestead at South Stirling, Warren township, and has always lived there. He is the son of the late John Cooper. Like his father, Mr. Cooper has been a farmer. He received his education in the public school at South Stirling. In 1900, the Somerset county Republicans selected him to represent them in the lower branch of the Legislature. Two years, 1900 and 1901, he served as an Assemblyman. He was succeeded by S. S. Swackhamer. He is president of the Somerset County Agricultural Society and is identified with other organizations.

BOROUGH'S NEW STATION

Former Engine House Ready for Police Department.

A MODEL STRUCTURE

Splendid Arrangements for Court Proceedings and the Keeping of Prisoners.

Contractors have completed the extensive improvements to the former Warren Engine house, transforming it into headquarters for the borough police department and last evening, for the first it was thrown open to visitors. Many residents availed themselves of the opportunity to inspect it and as soon as it is formally accepted by the Common Council it will be taken possession of by the officials. It is one of the most complete station houses in this section of the State and in addition is the property of the municipality, a distinction not enjoyed on this side of the brook.

The first floor of the building is divided into two rooms, the first of which is to be used exclusively for the court proceedings. A small platform, surrounded by a railing has been placed at one end where the Recorder's desk will be situated and there are numerious tables and chairs nearby for lawyers and newspapermen. Another railing crosses the center of the room, back of which spectators will be seated. But thirty-six chairs are to be installed and according to Recorder Dond the number of admittances to trials will be restricted to that limit. It is also his intention to enforce the rule prohibiting young men and curiosity seekers from crowding into the place.

Back of the court room is a separate compartment, the cells are located, four in number. They are of steel, with bunks and accommodations for two prisoners. The sanitary arrangements are complete in every detail. Entrance to the cell room is through a steel-grated doorway and the rear is guarded in the same manner.

The upper floor is also divided into two rooms. The rear part is mainly taken up with one large steel cell which will be used mostly for female prisoners in order to isolate them from the men. It will also prove advantageous to the department in keeping boys away from the ordinary run of prisoners and by separating crooks prevent them from communicating with each other. To what use the other section will be put, has not yet been decided upon but it will probably be as a dormitory. It is proposed to have at least one day marshal, a single man, sleep there during the night in order that police assistance may be secured by telephone at any time, similar to the rule in force in the city department. In addition it may be used as a meeting room for the police committee, recorder and other officials. The lockers formerly used by the firemen are in place and will be fitted up for the policemen.

A full glass front is now where the large main entrance doors were and the latter have been placed in the rear. Neat gold letters convey the information that the building is "Police Headquarters," and the usual green light is to be installed. The main illumination will be by electricity and the whole structure is in a thoroughly renovated condition, it being almost impossible to tell that it was formerly an engine house.

When the new building is occupied, the present station house and headquarters will either be torn down or altered into a dwelling. In keeping with the improvements, it is Recorder Dond's intention to inaugurate a policy that will place his court on a par with any in the State and conduct it in the efficient manner that has been maintained since his entrance to office.

BALM FOR JILTED GIRL

Gets Verdict Against Baldwin for $7,125.

JURY OUT ONE HOUR

Amount One of the Largest for Breach of Promise Rendered by Middlesex Court in Years.

After remaining out but one hour, a jury in the Middlesex County Court at New Brunswick yesterday afternoon, returned with a verdict of $7,125 for Miss Bertha Guise in her damage suit for breach of promise against George Baldwin, of this city. The amount is one of the largest for a matter of this kind rendered in years and it occasioned great surprise. As yet the defendant has given no notice of appeal and he evidently will not as he has no property and his only alternative is to surrender his body.

The suit was brought by the young woman through her father, William Guise, of Hamilton street, New Brunswick, and Baldwin practically admitted her charges throughout. She declared that she had met him at a dance at Fords, near Perth Amboy, in May 1903, and that their friendship soon ripened into love. He proposed marriage, she says, and was accepted. He was received at her home as her future husband and she visited him frequently at his residence in this city. After the engagement had dragged along she asked that the wedding date be set but the young man always had some excuse for putting it off.

When action was first brought and the case was about to be heard, Baldwin offered to marry the girl but she refused to accept. It caused the court to adjourn proceedings, however, in order to give the parties time to consider but nothing was done. The taking of testimony was resumed Monday and completed yesterday afternoon, Judge Fort presiding. In the summing up, the defense offered testimony attacking the character of the girl and also showing that the offered to marry her. The plaintiff rebutted this with facts showing that Baldwin at the time he made the offer to wed was attacking her character.

Baldwin is twenty-four years old and resides on West Front street. He is a buyer and seller of hay in connection with his brother, William O. Baldwin.

On application of Baldwin's counsel, Supreme Court Justice J. Franklin Fort this morning set the verdict aside as excessive. The date for a re-trial has not been set.

WILLIAM H. ROGERS WEDDED 25 YEARS AGO

FRIENDS SURPRISE COUPLE ON OCCASION OF ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rogers, of Central avenue, observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding yesterday in an unexpected manner. For several days they had been visiting in Washington and they had been home but a short time last night, when a large number of their friends called on them. The host and hostess were completely surprised, not having the slightest intimation of the visitation.

A feature of the affair was that the guests each brought a photograph of himself or herself taken many years ago and a study of these proved a happy form of amusement during the evening. The social features were not the least of those enjoyed, while refreshments were served before the guests departed. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were the recipients of many presents of use and value.

Anniversary Service.

Dr. A. H. Lewis will speak on the subject "Individual Helpfulness" at the meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E., of Trinity Reformed church, Sunday evening. There will be special music and singing, the service marking the nineteenth anniversary of the society.

SEPT. HEALTH RECORD

Board Reports 32 Births and 12 Deaths During Month.

BUT SEVEN MARRIAGES

House-to-House Sanitary Inspection Finished for Year—Routine Business.

At present there are few cases of contagious disease in Plainfield, according to a report at the October meeting of the Board of Health, held yesterday afternoon. Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, F. W. Dunn and Charles Dunham were the only members present and there was very little doing in the way of important business.

During the month of September there were two cases of measles and no deaths, eight cases of typhoid fever and one death, one case of scarlet fever and no deaths, seven cases of diphtheria and one death. There was one death from tuberculosis. Of the eight cases quarantined during the month, three were released, leaving five still under quarantine.

On September 1, the work of house-to-house inspection was brought to a close and during the month all the remaining notices were served.

The Board granted offal permits to Theodore Glaser and W. T. Banks. E. E. Ripley was granted a permit to sell milk and Benjamin F. Ruckman a permit to remove dead animals. The plumbing bonds of Andrew L. Carney, Louis Morel and Nicholas Cody were ordered filed.

During September there were reported seven marriages, thirty-two births and twelve deaths. Of the seven marriages, six were white and one colored. Twenty-five of the births were white and seven colored, twelve were male and twenty female. Of the twelve deaths, nine were white and three colored, three were male and nine female.

Of the twelve deaths one was under one month, two were between the ages of one and five years, two between the ages of five and twenty years, three were between the ages of twenty and forty years, two between the ages of forty and sixty years and two were over sixty years of age.

CONGREGATIONAL MEN'S CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

WILLIAM D. WADSWORTH IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting for election of officers of the Men's Club, of the Congregational church, was held last evening. The meeting was largely attended, and being the first since the club disbanded for the summer, was a very interesting one to all present.

The officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, William D. Wadsworth; vice president, P. B. MacIntyre; secretary, J. A. Powlison; treasurer, Charles Steiner. In each case except the vice presidency, the old officers were re-elected. Alexander Millar, who was vice president last year, was obliged to decline the nomination on account of his health.

Following the election of officers, Stacy Reynolds and S. W. Dunning were appointed to the executive committee to take the places of those whose officers have expired. The other members of the executive committee are A. C. LaBoyteaux, Frank Weeks and Rev. C. L. Goodrich. A meeting of this committee will be held in a short time to arrange for the future meetings of the Men's Club, and to decide upon some form of entertainment. An effort will be made to increase the membership of the club during the next year, and all who attend will be welcomed and given a good time. At the conclusion of the business meeting, a social time was enjoyed.

Tier's ice cream has stood the test of years and it is still used more than any other in Union County. The reason is plain-good material and the know-how-to-do-it makes all the difference in the world.

Peck, the dry goods dealer on West Front street, has done the largest and best business in this city for years. The oldest residents will confirm this statement. The best goods at the best place is certainly enough to convince you.

One of the features at Powers' pharmacy is a complete cigar department where the very best smokes are to be had. Drop in and get a few. Remember—Powers' pharmacy is located conveniently at Somerset street and Craig place.

Hoagland, the expressman, has the reputation of being reliable and prompt. What more do you want? How great a relief it is to send an order, and then forget it. You can trust to Hoagland that the directions will be accurately carried out.

There are cheap houses and there are houses not so cheap, but if a man can get a good house built cheaply it is to his advantage to do it. Herman Hansen is a house builder and he can quote estimates that will bear competition with any other contractor.

When in doubt as to what to give as a birthday present, if it's mother, sister or sweetheart, why not select one of those pretty palms or plants at Charles L. Stanley's North avenue flower store. They are always acceptable and add to the appearance of a home.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—William Robey and family, of New York, have moved to 441 West Sixth street.

—The case of Julia A. Drake against Lewis Harris, landlord and tenant, is returnable at Justice Hand's court today.

—Shirley & Johnston, of West Front street, have received nearly all of the contracts for furnishing apartments in the New Madison on Madison avenue.

—Judgment was obtained against Henry Hoffmann, proprietor of the Belmount Hotel, by M. R. Giles, in the contract case held at Justice Hand's court yesterday. The plaintiff was represented by Hetfield & Hetfield. There was no defense.

AMUSEMENTS.

The first of Henry W. Savage's attractions at the Grand this season is "The Prince of Pilsen," and a repetition of the fine entertainment it provided last season is looked for. Three of last season's company who made individual hits are in the cast—Arthur Donaldson (the real prince), Ivar Anderson (the naval lieutenant), and Jeannette Bageard (Sidoni, the French maid). These three were also in the original cast. Most of the others have had "Prince of Pilsen" experience, notably Trixie Friganza, who plays the widow. Jess Dandy, impersonator of Hans Wagner, and Almyra Forrest, who has the role of Edith Adams. Marie Welsh as Nellie, Stella Martine as the bell boy, Percy Ames as Lord Shrimpton, and James Francis Sullivan as Francois complete the cast.

George Ade's comedy "The College Widow," is providing an immense popular attraction at the Garden Theatre, New York, and the beginning of the third week, Monday evening, finds this Henry W. Savage attraction enjoying the remarkable success it scored on the opening night. Every performance during the past two weeks has packed Mr. Savage's new play house to the limit, and Mr. Ade's coy widow, with her amusing associates, including "Silent" Murphy and "Bub" Hicks, Flora Wiggins and others are safely established on a substantial wave of unlimited popularity.

H. B. Putnam, of Rochester, N. Y., has been visiting friends in Plainfield.

SPORTING NEWS.

TENNIS.

The tennis tournament in doubles in the Plainfield High School commenced yesterday afternoon on the courts of the Bronx Tennis Club. There were seven entries. The committee in charge of the affair is as follows: Chester Briggs, Theodore Gavett and Jack Douglass. The winners of the doubles will receive silver cups.

In spite of a furious gale, and a whirlwind of dust, the finals in the High School tennis tournament were played off Friday afternoon on the Albert street courts. A large crowd of students were assembled on the courts to view the contest, which was an exhibition of good tennis. The winner of the finals and the champion of the school in the tennis tournament was Howard Craig, president of the athletic association, and the runner-up in last year's competition. Briggs, who won the cup last season, did not enter this year. He will play in the doubles with Craig. Regardless of the fact that the scores in the final set would denote an easy victory, the match was by no means an uninteresting one, and the two players were both often applauded for their excellent strokes. Though the first two sets were won by the score of 6 0, there were times in both sets when the play would continue for several minutes without a stop, while fast and spectacular rallies were by no means rare. Judging the final match as a whole, it may be said that the winner of the set gained his points through greater steadiness, and more accuracy in placing. Collier was strong at the net, but his game was broken up in that position by the good lobbing of his opponent. In the latter part of the third set, Collier seemed to take a remarkable brace, and after sixteen games had been lost, won four in succession. He was unable to hold out, however, and lost the set in the end at the score 6 4. Previous to his match with Craig, Collier had defeated Jack Douglass, 6-0 and 6 4, and his game at the first part of the finals clearly showed that he was tired. The other set in the semi-finals between Douglass and Freeman resulted in a victory for the former by the score of 4 6, 6-2, 6-1. By defeating Collier in the singles, Craig becomes the owner of a handsome silver cup, the prize offered by the association. The cup will be formally presented at a meeting of the school, after the tournament in doubles has been run off.

FOOTBALL.

Becker, the Lehigh man, who is a candidate for half on the Alis team, is by no means a new man at the pigskin. He has been heard from before in college football, and promises to be heard from on the Alis field this season.

There will be a practice of the Orange Field Club football team on the Westervelt avenue grounds Thursday evening. A number of new candidates are expected to be out. All the old players are requested to be present.

The Madison A. C. team, which was crushed by the High School team last week, has prospects which were not shown in the game Saturday. They have weight and their backs played good individually, but they failed utterly to form any sort of interference. With a little more practice they will be prepared to meet teams averaging about 140 pounds.

The Orange Field Club and Dunellen will meet on the football field next Saturday. Both teams are confident of winning and a close game may be expected. The weight of both aggregations is about the same, though the local eleven has developed a little better team work, as the result of more practice. It is the intention of Captain Maltbie, of the Dunellen team, to have his men out as much as possible this week and to get them into better form before they meet the O. F. C.

The fact that both the Leal's school and the city High School won their games last week and both with comparative ease, has aroused much speculation as to the outcome of the interscholastic game, which will shortly take place in this city. The two teams have been rivals for years, and while the public school has proved superior in baseball, the private school players have captured the gridiron honors. The game will be a most interesting one this year, as there is no doubt that the High School players are much better equipped to win than than were formerly.

DIAMOND DUST.

Newark defeated the Cincinnati team at Newark, Sunday, by a score of 6 to 2.

"Red" Waller, pitching for the Baysides, against the Philadelphia Giants, Sunday, was defeated by a score of 3 to 0.

Garvin pitched for Ridgewood against Providence, at Ridgewood, Sunday, and won his game by a score of 4 to 2. Seven hits were made off his delivery.

The N. Y. Nationals defeated the Emeralds at VanNest, Sunday, by a score of 6 to 3. Deegan and Farmer were the battery for the Emeralds, and Elliott and Marshall for the New Yorks.

The Plainfield A. C. is scheduled to play a return game with the Elizabeth Stars at Elizabeth on Saturday. It is not Manager Johnston's intention to use Garvin in the box, as he has his eye on another twirler who he thinks will hold the Stars down.

It is to be regretted that the Plainfield A. C. is not making a grand finish of the season's work. However, the team holds a good record, all things considered. Out of twenty-four games played, the team has won twelve, and one must consider that the fastest semi-professional aggregations in the East have been met on Crescent Oval.

Eugene Bassford, who has been playing right field for the Plainfield A. C., and who has been the object of much criticism on the part of some, has the record of making seven hits in nine games, almost an average of one hit a game. There are lots of leaguers who cannot and do not accomplish this. To be sure, on Saturday his playing was a trifle off, but weather conditions were also off.

BASKET BALL.

Manager Collier, of the High School basket ball team, has received several communications from out of town teams asking for games in this city. As the interscholastic and juvenile leagues will both be played off in the local gymnasium, it is doubtful if there will be time for such outside games. The Leals and North Plainfield High School teams will both play their home games on the local Y. M. C. A. floor, and a complete schedule of basket ball games has been arranged for every Wednesday afternoon beginning with October 26 to the last part of March. Collier expects to fill in all the dates, not scheduled in the league, games with teams in various parts of the State, including South and East Orange, Pingry and Hasbrouck.

GOLF.

With the advance of the fall weather, there is a notable absence of members at the golf courses in this vicinity. Only those who are participating in the various scheduled events are to be found playing the game in most instances, the others preferring warmer weather to follow the favorite exercise.

ROD AND GUN.

Al Springer got seven ducks at South Plainfield Monday morning. Dr. Giddis shot two. The season is reported to be a good one, and many lovers of the sport are to be found in the vicinity of South Plainfield with their guns on their shoulders.

Mrs. Irving Brown and her two daughters, of Central avenue, are planning a trip abroad where they will spend the fall and winter.

FAIRVIEW STAKES.

Royelle, favorite, won the Corinthian steeplechase easily by one length and a half from Conover.

All the horses in training of the estate of W. C. Whitney will be sold at auction at Morris park on Oct. 14. The list includes Artful, Tanya, Sandria and many others almost as well known.

Two of the heats she ran in 2:09¼, establishing a world's three-year-old record for two heats.

PEACE OF THE WORLD

International Congress Hears Workers' Report.

MOVE TO STOP WAR IN FAR EAST.

Chairman In Opening Address Spoke Earnestly In Favor of General Disarmament Among Nations. Roosevelt's Call Commended.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—A general supplication, coupled with a demand almost for the institution of peace between nations of the world, was the keynote of the first deliberative session of the thirteenth international peace congress. Delegates from the great countries of the globe, all prominent in their home lands, engaged in the proceedings, giving to the occasion all the dignity and importance of a momentous international assembly.

A feature of the opening session was the receipt of an elaborate report from the international peace bureau for 1904, in which was reviewed what had been attained in the direction of peace by the peace workers of the world during the year passed and also was set forth the present war conditions of the world, necessitating correctionary measures by those desiring the establishment of universal concord. The suggestion was made that some collective move might be made to induce the Russo-Japanese belligerents to return to peace.

Edwin D. Mead, the chairman of the organization committee of the congress, delivered the opening address of the meeting, speaking an earnest word in favor of the reduction of great navies and a general disarmament among nations.

Robert Treat Paine, Sr., of Boston was elected president of the congress and Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood, also of this city, secretary.

Responses were made by one delegate from each of the countries represented at the congress, including Alderman Thomas Snape of Liverpool for Great Britain.

Mr. Snape referred particularly to Secretary of State Hay's appearance at the peace meeting as the representative of the United States and took occasion to remark upon what an astounding thing it would be considered in England did the British minister of foreign affairs officially represent Great Britain at a similar meeting.

A general commendation of President Roosevelt's call for another Hague conference marked the other addresses.

Oscar S. Strauss, formerly United States minister to Turkey and a member of The Hague court, presided at a mass meeting last night. Mr. Strauss advocated a revision of The Hague treaty so that it might be rendered certain that when nations enter into a struggle some one of them would take the initiative in referring the differences to The Hague tribunal.

Senator Hoar Buried at Concord.

CONCORD, Mass., Oct. 5.—The last services over the body of United States Senator George Frisbie Hoar were held here, the place of his birth, and several hundred of the senator's former townsmen followed the body to the place of its burial in Sleepy Hollow cemetery. In the First Parish church a solemn service of Scripture reading, song and prayer was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Loren B. MacDonald. The pastor spoke no words of eulogy, reading instead James Russell Lowell's poem on Channing. Two of Senator Hoar's favorite hymns, "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me," were sung by a quartet. At the grave brief services of burial were held, and the body was committed to the grave.

Christian Science Healing Legal.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 5.—The legality of the practice of Christian Science in New Hampshire was upheld by the supreme court of the state in a decision handed down in the suit of Mrs. Jennie Spead of this city to recover damages for alleged injuries as the result of treatment by Irving W. Tomlinson, a Christian Science practitioner, also of Concord. Mrs. Spead claimed that Tomlinson had failed to cure her of the illness for which he treated her, and that her cure was greatly delayed by the time spent in taking his treatment. The case was decided in favor of the defendant in the lower court and was appealed. The supreme court now affirms the decision and dismisses the bill.

Convention of Republican Clubs.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 5.—The biennial convention of the National League of Republican Clubs opened here today. Among the delegates are John Kelley, secretary of the Missouri Republican league; James S. Clarkson and Andrew B. Humphrey of New York, R. C. Dale and Ferd K. Rule of California and John Simering, chairman of the Republican state central committee of Maryland. Governor Durbin welcomed the delegates, and Sid B. Redding of Little Rock, Ark., responded. The annual address was made by President J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia.

Wrecked Crew at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 5.—Captain U. S. Cody and thirteen of his crew of the steamer Iron Chief, which had been wrecked in Lake Huron, passed through Detroit last night en route for Cleveland.

EDISON SAVES SON.

Thomas A. Edison, Jr., Chemical Company Accused.

POSTMASTER ISSUED FRAUD ORDER

Magno Electric Vitalizer Made by Company as a Curative Power Is Said to Be Worthless—Senior's Name Improperly Used.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Acting Postmaster General R. J. Wynne has issued a fraud order against the Thomas A. Edison, Jr., Chemical company, its officers and agents as such and Thomas A. Edison, Jr. The company has offices in New York, and it is charged with obtaining money through the mails by false and fraudulent pretenses.

"The magno-electric vitalizer," an alleged invention of Thomas A. Edison, Jr., is the article the company is engaged in exploiting.

Assistant Attorney General Goodwin in the opinion recommending the fraud order says: "It appears that the article which the company is endeavoring to sell to the public is inoperative, that all matters of opinion relative to its curative power for diseases and other matters of opinion are made dishonestly and with intent to deceive and that false and fraudulent representations are made regarding foreign patents, the inventive genius of Edison, Jr.; his inventing this vitalizer, the personal attention alleged to be given to the treatment by Edison, Jr.; the laboratory of Edison, Jr., and his motives in offering this article for sale."

Another feature in the case was the facsimile of the signature of Thomas Alva Edison, Sr., used by the company for a considerable time, but afterward discontinued. It appears from the evidence that the company imitated the signature of Edison, Sr. In his opinion Assistant Attorney General Goodwin says: "The company throughout its literature expressly and impliedly seeks to convey to the public the impression that Edison, Jr., is a man of inventive genius as great as that of his father. For instance, the following was written by Manager Sparks:

"Never has the truth of the law of heredity been so well illustrated as it has in the Edisons, father and son. It has been disclosed that T. A. Edison, Jr., is not the inventor; that under the agreement he had with the company he never received over $35 a week, while the company sold thousands of the vitalizers at $8 per set at a large profit."

The company was cited to show cause why a fraud order should not issue Sept. 8. Sept. 15 was set for the hearing. Mr. Sparks, manager of the company, and Charles W. Zearing, attorney for the company, appeared to make answer. Frank H. Dyer and Church & Church, attorneys of Thomas A. Edison, were at the hearing. At the request of the attorney for the company the decision was postponed to permit affidavits to be filed.

From the evidence before the department it appeared the vitalizer was never patented.

Thomas A. Edison, the veteran and brilliant inventor, after bearing for almost two years a heavy weight of sorrow because his son and namesake for a paltry weekly stipend plunged the family name into disreputable association, put all the energy of his declining years into the fight which came to a successful termination yesterday.

The son, repentant and broken in health, is, even now with the battle won, under the watchful eye of a nurse at Greenwood Lake lest in his present nervous condition he might unwittingly yield to the persuasion of other smooth tongued men.

A New York dispatch says that Newton Bennington, one of the directors and the principal stockholder of the T. A. Edison, Jr., Chemical company, when interviewed there said:

"Mr. Edison, the elder, accomplished at Washington what he could not accomplish in the courts. This same case was thrashed out in the courts of Delaware some time ago, and Justice Bradford decided against the Edison people at every point.

"We never used the name of Thomas A. Edison, Sr., and his son never patented the article we are selling and for which I have now thousands of testimonials.

"The statement that Mr. Edison's son only received $35 a week is untrue. He was paid $75 a week. The order must have been secured on the flamboyant signature of Thomas A. Edison, Jr., such as is used on all proprietary medicines."

Conclave of Episcopalians Opens.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—What is considered by the leading bishops and lay deputies as the most important conclave of Episcopalians ever held in this country was formally opened in this city today, when the triennial general Episcopalian convention assembled in Emmanuel church. Before the opening session a service was held in Trinity church, at which the lord archbishop of Canterbury and prelates from four continents were present. Nearly 100 bishops were in the solemn procession which precedes the services. The preacher was Right Rev. William Croswell Doane, D. D., LL. D., bishop of Albany, N. Y.

French Boats Wrecked.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 5.—The French fishing schooner Alliance has been totally wrecked at Trepassey. Her crew of fifteen men had only left the vessel five minutes when she sank. The French fishing schooner Georges Paul is ashore at Port au Port and will be a total wreck. Her crew were thirty-six hours in boats before they could reach a place of safety.

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 5, 1904.

Chairman Taggert says he wants money. On that platform he will find no division of opinion.

Thomas Edison, Sr., is of the belief that his son is an inventor of nothing except dreams.

The Somerset County Republican convention was held yesterday at Somerville and it is noticeably quiet in North Plainfield today.

New York Democrats give Parker and Davis a reception tonight. Murphy might just as well present him with that gold brick without waiting for election day.

Plainfield will be the thickest part of the fight in the Fifth district Congressional campaign and a good deal depends upon the attitude to be taken by the Republicans who voted the straight ticket last fall. Will they turn the tables on the bolters or will they remain regular? The personal popularity of the Democratic candidate among his townsfolk is depended upon by his friends to be the means of cutting down the big majority which the Republican party has here. But banking on friendship on election day is poor business and it is a question whether Mr. Martine can draw sufficient votes away from Mr. Fowler in this city to make any great depreciation in the Republican majority in Union County.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT AT Y. M. C. A. HAS OPENED

ARRARGEMENTS MADE FOR ENTERTAINMENTS DURING WINTER SEASON.

The formal opening of the Y. M. C. A. intermediate and boys' departments was held at the association auditorium last evening, and was largely attended by both the boys and their parents. The evening was pleasantly spent, and the audience was given a good insight into the work which is conducted at the association for the boys and young men.

O. S. Rogers, the chairman of the boys' work committee, presided, and introduced Joseph Lorraine, of Boston, who entertained at the men's reception Monday night, as the entertainer for the evening. Mr. Lorraine opened the programme with a few humorous selections and songs, including a number of clever imitations.

Following Mr. Lorraine, Kenneth Robbie, the boys' secretary, spoke at some length on the plans for the department both in the gymnasium work and in the educational and spiritual branches of the association. Mr. Robbie announced that the work will be conducted in the gymnasium about the same as in former years, with the exception of a few additional features provided for by the new physical director, Mr. Henckel. Mr. Robbie said that a series of six entertainments for the boys' department will be arranged, the dates of the course to be announced later. There will also be special Saturday outings for the boys beginning with one which will be held this week. The boys will go chestnutting, and will make a day's trip through the woods in quest of open burrs. Furthermore, Mr. Robbie spoke of the Boys' Conference to be held here the latter part of this month, and announced that at least two Bible classes will be conduced for the boys during the coming season.

At the conclusion of Mr. Robbie's announcements, Mr. Lorraine again favored the audience with recitations and songs, and was very enthusiastically received. He was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Robbie.

FIRST ROUND IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

DOUBLES BEGUN ON BRONX CLUB'S COURTS.

The opening matches in the Plainfield High School tennis tournament in doubles were held at the courts of the Bronx Tennis Club yesterday afternoon. The sets were more interesting than the matches in singles and the spectators were more enthusiastic. A large crowd of pupils and a few members of the faculty gathered at the side line to view the sport, and to urge the players to their best efforts.

Much interest was evidenced in the sets in which the faculty members figured. Principal Travell has played in the tournaments for several years, and usually puts up a good exhibition of tennis. He and Howard Lapsley were roundly applauded when they won their match yesterday with Robert and Strong by the score of 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

In addition to this match three other sets in doubles were played, which completed the preliminary round. They resulted as follows: Gavett and Smith defeated Howe and Foster, 6-2, 6-1; Collier and Thompson defeated Brown and Doane, 6-3, 6-2; Craig and Briggs defeated Opdyke and Brakley, 6-0, 6-0. The result of yesterday's play will bring Collier and Thompson up against Gavett and Smith in the semi-finals, and Travell and Lapsley against Craig and Briggs. The latter combination won the tournament last year, and it is anticipated that their contest in the probable finals with Collier and Thompson will be an interesting one. Collier was the runner-up in this year's singles, and Thompson is strong at doubles, so that the two teams are fairly well matched.

CRANFORD GOLFERS WON TOURNAMENT CUP

NOW CHAMPIONS OF CENTRAL JERSEY GOLF LEAGUE.

In defeating the Westfield Golf Club team on its course at Cranford, on Saturday, the Cranford Golf Club team has won the championship of the Central Jersey Golf League tournament, and also the handsome cup put up by the two clubs, with the two other members, the Colonia and Park Clubs. Cranford—J. C. Edgecomb, 0; F. P. Davis, 0; B. C. Fuller, 3; G. H. Barnes, 3; John Cottrell, 3; Charles Spiegl, 3; John L. Warner, 2; A. Edgecomb, 0. Total, 14.

Westfield—Joseph Sherman, Jr., 1; Marshall Whitlatch, 1; R. J. Townley, 0; C. E. Halsted, 0; W. M. Townley, 0; E. B. Floyd, 0; S. R. Trevvett, 0; W. J. Bogert, 0. Total, 2.

Mrs. Pettit's Address.

HENRY C. PAYNE DEAD

Postmaster General Passed Away at Washington.

HAD BEEN AILING FOR TWO YEARS

Body Will Rest In Forest Home Cemetery at His Native Place, Milwaukee—George B. Cortelyou Will Succeed Him.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Postmaster General Henry C. Payne of Washington died at ten minutes after 6 o'clock last night. President Roosevelt called at the Arlington hotel, where General Payne had apartments, at 5:45 and was at once admitted to the bedside of the dying member of his cabinet.

An hour before that the physicians, who had been closely in attendance since General Payne was stricken with heart trouble last Wednesday, had announced that all hope of saving his life was gone. His end was peaceful.

Mrs. Payne and other members of the family and Drs. Magruder, Grayson and Rixey were at the bedside when the end came. The postmaster general had been unconscious for two or three hours previously.

A succession of sinking spells of increasing severity and depressing effect had taken place, but the remarkable vitality which enabled Mr. Payne to rally was shown even up to a very late hour. His close relatives were summoned to Washington last Thursday night.

Around Mr. Payne's bedside at the time of his death was his devoted wife, the Rev. Dr. Dunlap, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church; Major and Mrs. W. S. Cameron of Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Cameron of Milwaukee, Charles L. Jones and Miss Louise Jones, relatives; Private Secretary Whitney, Miss Marie Barbieri, an old companion of Mrs. Payne; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mason of Washington, old time friends of Mr. and Mrs. Payne, and the faithful colored messenger at the department of the postmaster general.

When the postmaster general had breathed his last Dr. Magruder led Mrs. Payne out of the room.

Just before he died, while his niece was at the bedside, Mr. Payne awoke. He recognized and spoke to her. He also recognized the physicians and drank a small quantity of coffee diluted with cream, which he retained. When Dr. Osler reached the bedside he asked Mr. Payne how he was feeling.

"First rate," was Mr. Payne's response.

Mrs. Payne has stood the strain with fortitude and has gone through the trying ordeal with bravery. The cause of death was disease of the mitral valve and dilatation of the heart.

Postmaster General Payne had been in failing health for two years, although the illness which carried him away was of only about a week's duration. He had returned only recently from a western trip and despite a slight cold apparently was in better physical condition than he had been for some time previously. Mr. Payne himself felt greatly benefited by his last western trip and on returning here at once plunged into the work of his office. He was at his desk at the postoffice department last Tuesday, where a number of his friends spoke of his apparently better health. He attended the cabinet meeting that day. He passed a restless night, however, and, although he spent Wednesday forenoon at his office, he showed that he was feeling badly. Stopping at the White House on his way, he returned to his hotel for luncheon and felt so ill that he took to his bed, from which he never again arose.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Episcopal church in this city next Friday morning, and then the body will be taken to Milwaukee. The remains should arrive there Saturday evening, and services will be held on Sunday at All Saints' Episcopal church there. A message has been sent to the Right Rev. Isaac L. Nicholson, the bishop of Milwaukee, who is now at a convention in Boston, asking him if he can officiate. Interment will be at the Forest Home cemetery, Milwaukee. Mrs. Payne has expressed a desire that the services be as simple as possible.

In succession to Mr. Payne, George Bruce Cortelyou, former secretary of the department of commerce and labor and now chairman of the Republican national committee, will become postmaster general.

Mr. Cortelyou's appointment as head of the postoffice department was determined upon several months ago by President Roosevelt, when Mr. Payne indicated to the president his desire to retire. Mr. Payne would have resigned long ago had it not been for the then pending investigation.

It is understood that Mr. Cortelyou will assume the duties of postmaster general as soon as he conveniently can after the close of the campaign. It is probable that he will enter office about the 1st of December, although no date for the assumption of his new responsibilities has been determined on even tentatively. After the election it will take him some time to wind up the affairs of the campaign, and he may desire to take a brief rest.

In the interim the responsibilities of directing the affairs of the postoffice department may devolve upon the first assistant, Mr. Wynne, who has just returned from an extended trip to Europe. It will be unnecessary formally to designate Mr. Wynne as the acting head of the department.

AFFAIRS OF OUTPOSTS.

Sacharoff Claims Victory For Cossacks.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The war office at St. Petersburg has received the following dispatch from General Sacharoff:

"A squadron of Japanese cavalry has twice attempted to break through the line of advance posts of Cossacks of the guard in the district between Khuankhuandia and Fengtiapu. Both attempts were unsuccessful. Two sotnias of our cavalry re-enforced the advance posts, and the Japanese dispersed.

"One battalion of the Japanese advance guard, with two or three squadrons of cavalry, renewed the offensive movement against a regiment of Cossacks. General Mistchenko sent re-enforcements to the aid of the Cossacks, and the enemy was repulsed at all points, the whole line retreating toward Sialiankhetzy, pursued by our cavalry.

"Captain Tolstoukine, commander of a sotnia, ambushed one of the enemy's patrols at Konschutzy. One Japanese officer was killed.

"Another Russian patrol sent in an easterly direction discovered Tawanghau pass occupied by 200 Chinese bandits commanded by Japanese officers. During the reconnoissance one Cossack was killed."

A special messenger has brought to the emperor General Kuropatkin's full report of the battle of Liaoyang. The messenger when interviewed declared that the main army is concentrated at Tai pass and that it is not likely General Kuropatkin will make a determined stand at Mukden.

General Grippenberg, recently appointed to the command of the second Manchurian army, will be received by Emperor Nicholas at Peterhof this morning.

The third division of the guards, stationed at Warsaw, is under orders to go to the front. This, with the second division of the guards and the rifle brigade of the guards stationed in and around St. Petersburg, will make altogether about 40,000 guards who have been ordered to the far east.

There are recurrent rumors of the fall of Port Arthur, but they are not confirmed.

Tokyo dispatches say that an official telegram reports a Russian cavalry reverse on Sunday last. The fight, which was between Japanese scouts and Russian cavalry, occurred thirteen miles north of Liaoyang. The Russians were forced to retreat.

Later in the day the same body of scouts encountered 250 Russian cavalry, and after a short fight the Japanese retired. The Japs lost none of their men, while the Russian casualties were thirty killed and wounded.

A Mukden report says that Chinese bandits, organized into regular troops, are fighting daily side by side with the Japanese on their west flank south of Sinmintin.

BARTHOLDI IS DEAD.

Designed Colossal Statue In New York Harbor.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Frederick Auguste Bartholdi, sculptor and designer of the statue of Liberty, is dead here of consumption.

Tuberculosis developed three years ago and showed violent symptoms during the last few months, but Bartholdi insisted on continuing work in his studio. During the last days of his work he recognized his approaching end and began to design his own tombstone.

This will show an allegorical figure holding out a laurel wreath. He leaves an uncompleted important group intended to be erected in Paris in honor of the aeronauts who distinguished themselves at the siege of Paris.

It is eighteen years now since the "inauguration," as the French describe it, in New York harbor of the colossal statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World." This was always "the" Bartholdi statue, and the famous sculptor was best known at home for the work that made him an international character at the time the statue was presented to America.

A veteran of the Franco-Prussian war, in which he served with distinction, Bartholdi in 1872 executed a bronze and marble group entitled "The Malediction of Alsace." His next work after that showed a new and interesting bent. It was "Lafayette Arriving In America."

Three Killed by Gas.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Augustus Donoman and his wife and Richard Small were asphyxiated by illuminating gas in a bedroom in a hotel kept by Salvatore Cappolla in Flushing. Donoman and his wife were formerly residents of Flushing, but had been visiting in Philadelphia. Cappolla, the proprietor of the hotel, was arrested and held in bail to answer a charge that he delayed in reporting the case to the police.

Alleged Embezzler Arrested.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—The police have arrested James McManus, wanted in Harrisburg, Pa., on a charge of embezzlement. McManus admits that he worked for a harvester company in Harrisburg, but denies knowledge of the embezzlement charge.

FASHION'S LATEST DICTA.

All That Is Novel In Skirts, Street Attire and Fabrics.

The recent convention of dressmakers from everywhere and Paris has decided for us what we are to wear for the next year or longer, and, after all, the change is for the better for all except for the one who pays the bills.

There has been much talk in the papers about the skirts, which, they say, will measure thirty feet around—ten yards. That is a story got up to fill out in round numbers and to give weight to the rest of their assertions, something in the way of ballast. There are skirts which measure ten yards around, but they are the accordion plaited ones, and the material for these is always thin and, generally speaking, inexpensive. But skirts are certainly to be larger around, and some of them show decided indications of drapery. The rest are large around the hips and gathered, shirred or laid in folds or gauged deeply in the back in the very old fashioned way. This makes the back of the skirt full at the waist line and is not altogether unlike a bustle. The skirt is ample and the breadths are gored so that the whole sweeps backward in a very stately manner.

Skirts for ordinary street wear are not to be as long as before, scarcely one out of a hundred quite touching the ground. There is a slight dip at the back, but not enough to be remarkable.

The new styles will make richer goods a necessity, and we may expect to see the rich silks of other days—brocades, heavy black grosgrains, peau de soies and all the list so well known of old. Waists will be pointed, but without the horrible straight fronts which distort the figure to real deformity and with the drooping shoulder to give apparent breadth to the upper part of the body. Sleeves will be large at the top and taper down to the wrist, much like the old leg of mutton, but somewhat modified, for the last ones we had about fifteen years ago took from four to five yards of material.

For street attire there will be many tight bodices made with postilion backs and regular habit fronts. The white vest front made of satin or white ribbed velutina is handsome and particularly fetching on a pretty figure. The tight waist is the blessing of women with pretty figures. Those whose figures were—well, such as leave something to be desired—have had it all their own way since the blouse waists have been in vogue. Now the woman who wishes to be considered very smart stands straight as a reed, with her broad shoulders braced back and her eyes level and straight ahead.

Street gowns for ordinary walking requirement are made of cloth, mohair, vicuna and a long line of zibelines, some of them with but occasional hairs, while the others are thickly covered and are called panne zibelines. Chevlots, cravenettes and many other things in colors, with broadcloth, eudora, silk warp henriettas and other all black materials, are plentiful. Irish poplin is also seen; but, beautiful as all poplin is, it does not wear very well, especially if it gets wet.

In the illustration may be seen the style of the new evening gowns, which have pointed bodices with the skirts gathered and even draped. Lace will be used as garniture, but in a manner new to this generation. Flowers will hold the festoons. The plain silks are rich and heavy, and there are a few "shot" ones, which means changeable. The black silks are in full evidence and will be the favorite weave of the season. One might even say that for the street silk will be worn to an almost unprecedented extent. The skirts are ample and cut on large lines. The black chene taffetas in the new heavyweight make elegant and durable gowns. One such on exhibition has the skirt in demitrain, with no trimming, but bias folds about three inches from the edge. The waist is laid in loose plaits at the top, and these are brought down to a point in front under a crushed belt of the same. A richer and more elegant gown could scarcely be imagined. It was exhibited on a young woman with fair hair and a beautiful complexion. This last must have cost much time and money—the pink was so very pink and the white so very white. The evidence of the pompadour style is clearly before us in the evening gowns, while those for more ordinary wear may be summed up as being pretty nearly what one wants, provided the skirt is wide and ample.

OLIVE HARPER.

The Mississippi Bubble

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

(Copyright, 1902, by Emerson Hough.)

John Law leaned back comfortably in his chair.

"I make no doubt," said he, "that I shall make trente et le va, here at this table, this very evening."

Smiles and good-natured sneerings met this calm speech.

"Trente et le va—it hath not come out in the history of London play for the past four seasons!" cried Wilson. "I'll lay you any odds that you're not within eye-sight of trente et le va these next five evenings, if you favor us with your company."

"Be easy with me, good friends," said John Law, calmly. "I am not yet in condition for individual wagers, as my jewel is my fortune, till to-morrow at least. But if ye choose to make the play at Landsknecht, I will plunge at the bank to the best of my capital. Then, if I win, I shall be blithe to lay ye what ye like."

The young Englishmen sat looking at their guest with some curiosity. His strange assurance daunted them.

"Good sir," said Law, "let us first of all have the joint."

"I humbly crave a pardon, sir," said Pembroke. "In this new sort of discourse I had forgot thine appetite. We shall mend that at once. Here, Simon! Go fetch up Mr. Law's brother, who waits below, and fetch two covers and a bit to eat. Some of thy new Java berry, too, and make haste! We have much yet to do."

"Now we must to business," cried Castleton, as the dishes were at last cleared away. "Show him thy talisman, Pem, and let him kiss his jewel good by."

Pembroke threw upon the table once more the moccasin of the Indian girl. John Law picked it up and examined it long and curiously, asking again and again searching questions regarding its origin.

"I have read of this new land of America," said he. "Some day it will be more prominent in all plans."

He laid down the slipper and mused for a moment, apparently forgetful of the scene about him.

"Perhaps," cried Castleton, the zeal of the gambler now showing in his eye. "But let us make play here to-night. Let Pembroke bank. His luck is best to win this vaunter's stake."

Pembroke dealt the cards about for the first round. The queen fell. John Law won. "Deux," he said, calmly, and turned away as though it were a matter of course. The cards went round again. "Trois," he said, as he glanced at his stakes, now doubled again.

Wilson murmured. "Luck's with him for a start," said he, "but 'tis a long road." He himself had lost at the second turn. "Quint!" "Sept!" "Sept et le va!" in turn called Law, still coolly, still regarding with little interest the growing heap of coin upon the board opposite the glittering ring which he had left lying on the table.

"Vingt-un, et le va!"

"Good God!" cried Castleton, the sweat breaking out upon his forehead. "See the fellow's luck!—Pembroke, sure he hath stole thy slipper. Such a run of cards was never seen in this room since Rigby, of the Tenth, made his great game four years ago."

"Vingt-cinq; et le va!" said John Law, calmly.

"I'll lay thee 50 to one that the next turn sees thee lose!" cried Castleton.

"Done," said John Law.

"You lose, Mr. Castleton," said Law, calmly, as the cards came again his way. He swept his winnings from the coin pushed out to him.

"Now we have thee, Mr. Law!" cried Pembroke. "One more turn, and I hope your very good nerve will leave the stake on the board, for so we'll see it all come back to the bank, even as the sheep came home at eventide. Here your lane turns. And 'tis at the last stage, for the next is the limit of the rules of the game. But you'll not win it."

"Anything you like for a little personal wager," said the other, with no excitement in his voice.

"Why, then, anything you like yourself sir," said Pembroke.

"Your little slipper against £50?" asked John Law.

"Why—yes—," hesitated Pembroke, for the moment feeling a doubt of the luck that had favored him so long that evening. "I'd rather make it sovereigns, but since you name the slipper, I even make it so, for I know there is but one chance in hundreds that you win."

The players leaned over the table as the deal went on. Once, twice, thrice, the cards went round. A sigh, a groan, a long breath broke from those who looked at the deal. Neither groan nor sigh came from John Law. He gazed indifferently at the heap of coin and paper that lay on the table, and which by the law of play, was now his own.

"Trente et le va," he said. "I knew that it would come. Sir Arthur, I half regret to rob thee thus, but I shall ask my slipper in hand paid. Pardon me, too, if I chide thee for risking it in play. Gentlemen, there is much in this little shoe, empty as it is."

He dangled it upon his finger, hardly looking at the winnings that lay before him. "'Tis monstrous pretty, this little shoe," he said, rousing himself from his half reverie.

"But heard you not the wager which was proposed over the little shoe?" broke in Castleton. "Wilson, here, was angered when I laid him odds that there was but one woman in London who could wear this shoe. I offered him odds that his good friend, Kittie Lawrence—"

"Nor had ye the right to offer such bet!" cried Wilson, ruffled by the doings of the evening.

"I'll lay you myself there's no woman in England whom you know with foot small enough to wear it," cried Castleton.

"Meaning to me?" asked Law, politely.

"To any one," cried Castleton, quickly, "but most to thee, I fancy, since 'tis now thy shoe!"

"I'll lay you 40 crowns, then, that I know a smaller foot than that of Madam Lawrence," said Law, suavely. "I'll lay you another 40 crowns that I'll try it on for the test, though I first saw the lady this very morning. I'll lay you another 40 crowns that Madam Lawrence cannot wear this shoe, though her I have never seen."

These words rankled, though they were said off-hand and with the license of coffee-house talk at so late an hour. Beau Wilson rose, in a somewhat unsteady attitude, and, turning towards Law, addressed him with a tone which left small option as to its meaning.

"Sirrah!" cried he, "I know not who you are, but I would have a word or two of good advice for you!"

"Sir, I thank you," said John Law, "but perhaps I do not need advice." He did not rise from his seat.

"Have it then at any rate, and be civil!" cried the older man. "You seem a swaggering sort, with your talk of love and luck, and such are sure to get their combs cut early enough here among Englishmen. I'll not tolerate your allusion to a lady you have never met, and one I honor deeply, sir, deeply!"

"I am but a young man started out to seek his fortune," said John Law, his eye kindling now for the first time, "and I should do very ill if I evaded that fotune, whatsoever it may be."

"Then you'll take back that talk of Mrs. Lawrence!"

"I have made no talk of Mrs. Lawrence, sir," said Law, "and even had I, I should take back nothing for a demand like yours. 'Tis not meet, sir, where no offense was meant, to crowd in an offensive remark."

Pembroke said nothing. The situation was ominous enough at this point. A sudden gravity and dignity fell upon the young men who sat there, schooled in an etiquette whose first lesson was that of personal courage.

"Sirrah!" cried Beau Wilson, "I perceive your purpose. If you prove good enough to name lodgings where you may be found by my friends, I shall ask leave to bid you a very good night."

So speaking, Wilson flung out of the room. A silence fell upon those left within.

"Sirs," said Law, a moment later, "I beg you to bear witness that this is no matter of my seeking or accepting. This gentleman is a stranger to me. I hardly got his name fair."

"Wilson is his name, sir," said Pembroke, "a very good friend of us all. He is of good family, and doth keep his coach-and-four like any gentleman. For him we may vouch very well."

"Wilson!" cried Law, springing now to his feet. "'Tis not him known as Beau Wilson? Why, my dear sirs, his father was friend to many of my kin long ago. Why, sir, this is one of those to whom my mother bade me look to get my first ways of London well laid out."

"These are some of the ways of London," said Pembroke, grimly.

"But is there no fashion in which this matter can be accommodated?"

Pembroke and Castleton looked at each other, rose and passed him, each raising his hat and bowing courteously.

"Your servant, sir," said the one; and, "Your servant, sir," said the other.

CHAPTER V.

DIVERS EMPLOYMENTS OF JOHN LAW.

"And when shall I send these garments to your lordship?" asked the haberdasher, with whom Law was having speech on the morning following the first night in London.

"Two weeks from to-day," said Law, "in the afternoon, and not later than four o'clock. I shall have need for them."

"Sir," said he, "I should be glad to please not only a friend of Sir Arthur Pembroke, but also a gentleman of such parts as yourself. I hesitate to promise—"

"But you must promise," said John Law.

"Well, then, I do promise! I will have this apparel at your place on the day which you name. 'Tis most extraordinary, but the order shall be executed."

Law but half heard him, for he was already turning toward the door, where he beckoned again for his waiting chair.

"To the offices of the Bank of England," he directed. And forthwith he was again jogging through the crowded streets of London.

The offices of the Bank of England, to which this young adventurer now so nonchalantly directed his course, were then not housed in any such stately edifice as that which now covers the heart of the financial world, nor did the location of the young and struggling institution, in a by-street of the great city, tend to give dignity to a concern which still lacked importance and assuredness. Thither, then, might have gone almost any young traveler who needed a letter of credit cashed, or a bill changed after the fashion of the passing goldsmiths.

Yet it was not as mere transient customer of a money-changer that young Law now sought the Bank of England, nor was it as a commercial house that the bank then commanded attention. That bank, young as it was, had already become a pillar of the throne of England. William, distracted by wars abroad and factions at home, found his demands for funds ever in excess of the supply. More than that, the people of England discovered themselves in possession of a currency fluctuating, mutilated and unstable, so that no man knew what was his actual fortune. The shrewd young financier, Montague, chancellor of the exchequer, who either by wisdom or good fortune had sanctioned the founding of the Bank of England, was at this very time addressing himself to the question of a recoinage of the specie of the realm of England. He needed help, he demanded ideas; nor was he too particular whence he obtained either the one or the other.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Thomas E. Watson, Populist candidate for the presidency, is in New York. He is accompanied by Mrs. Watson and is in apartments at the Hotel Kensington, Fifth avenue. Last night Mr. Watson spoke at a dinner at the Palm Garden. Mr. Watson says he never was in better health and that he has filled all engagements and will fill all that he has made.

Mr. Watson's arrival in New York occurred on the same day that the Populist managers sent to the secretary of state at Albany a petition placing in nomination thirty-nine Watson electors and a full state ticket to be voted for in November. The petition required 6,000 signatures and at least fifty voters in each county in the state.

At Prescott, Ark., he delivered a speech sitting down.

"I was satisfied with the results," he said, "and I can talk just as well that way as standing up. I was suffering from a cold and did not want to overtax myself."

Mr. Watson's itinerary for the present month is as follows: Newark, N. J., Thursday night; Jersey City, Friday night; Buffalo, N. Y., Saturday night; Chicago, Oct. 10; Virden, Ill., Oct. 12, addressing the Federation of Miners; Chillicothe, Mo., Oct. 18; Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 19; Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 20; Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 22; Attalla, Ala., Oct. 25; Tarboro, N. C., Oct. 27, and Augusta, Ga., Oct. 28. The last week of the campaign is left open.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Baseball fans in Somerville say that they hope a series of games will be arranged between Plainfield and Somerville next season. They believe that such a series of contests would be a paying venture.

George Wiltse, of the New York Nationals, and his brother, of the Baltimore Eastern League Club, have returned to their home in Somerville for a stay. They are practically through for this season.

Managers Johnston and Burke have arranged to have the ball game between the Elizabeth Stars and the Plainfield A. C., played on Crescent Oval on Saturday afternoon. The game will be called at 3:30. There will be some improvement in the local aggregation.

Virgil Garvin, the baseball pitcher, who twirled for Ridgewood on Sunday, has returned with his wife to the Hotel Kensington, where they will remain for the present. Mr. Garvin says that he would like to have a chance to redeem himself for last Saturday's work. He says he is confident that he can twirl a far better game.

ROD AND GUN.

Ira F. Randolph, at present staying at Point Pleasant, Monmouth county, is very fond of fishing and is generally very successful in his catches. This morning a box was received from him containing fifteen fine Bonnetas, weighing about five pounds each, and a number of his Plainfield friends had fish for dinner today.

HOPE FIVE DEFEATS LEAL'S SCHOOL TEAM

WEST END BOYS WIN BASKET BALL CONTEST BY SCORE OF 27 TO 7.

Superior team work, and accuracy in goal shooting on the part of the Hope team won the basket ball games with the Leal's School five on the Hope chapel floor last night. The score was 27 to 7. Dilts and Porter were the stars for the Hope team, while Jewett played a good game for the school boys. At the end of the first half the score stood 19 to 1, the game being entirely in the Hope players' hands. The second half taken by itself would have been a good exhibition of basket ball, the score at the end of the half being 8 to 6. The Leal boys got hold of the ball better, and guarded the Hope forwards in good style. Both halves were fifteen minutes.

The following is the lineup of the two teams, and the detailed score:

Hope chapel—Dilts, forward; Duckworth, forward; Rosebury, center; Porter, guard; Emmons, guard.

Leal's School—Chapman and Manning, farwards; Jewett and Wikoff, center; Jewett, Miller and Strong, guards.

Goals from the field—Dilts, 6; Duckworth, 2; Rosebury, Porter, 4; Manning, Jewett, 2. Fouls—Hope chapel, 8; Leals, 6 Goals from fouls—Dilts, Chapman. Umpire—Doane. Referee—Nash. Timer—Sweeney.

JURY SAYS PHYSICIAN WAS UNDULY NEGLIGENT

DR. WICKMAN MUST PAY $780 FOR APPLYING BANDAGE IMPROPERLY.

A verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $780 and costs was rendered by the Somerset Supreme Court jury yesterday, in the damage suit brought by George Lees, of North Plainfield, against Dr. Albert Wickman, of Newark. The original amount asked for was $10,000, the plaintiff alleging that he had been deprived of the use of his limbs through the improper application of a bandage by the defendant. The jury was out two hours.

The plaintiff's testimony showed that the doctor was negligent in applying a plaster jacket, and that as a result of his negligence the jacket was forced into the arms and sides of the plaintiff, cutting deep gashes, causing his right arm to be greatly inflamed and swollen and resulting in a partial paralysis of the arm. The defense offered was that the defendant had used due care in the treatment of the plaintiff and that the injury sustained by the plaintiff must have been the result of his own negligence. Several well known experts were put on by the defense, among whom was Dr. Twinch, of Newark. The only expert offered by the plaintiff was Dr. Buchanan, of this city, who attended Mr. Lees, after the application of the jacket, and who removed the same.

The plaintiff was rerpesented by George W. V. Moy and the defendant by Louis H. Aff, of Newark, and Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville. Judge Garretson was on the bench.

HOLD-UP AT DUNELLEN.

Local Insurance Man Relieved of $30 While on His Way Home Last Night.

Clarence G. Harrison, of New Market, a local agent for the Metropolitan Insurance Company, reported at police headquarters early this morning that he had been held up and robbed of $30 near the Dunellen school at 11:30 last night. He was on his way home, he said, when two men suddenly sprang upon him and while one held him, the other searched his pockets, finding the money. They fled in the darkness before he could give an alarm.

Harrison was unable to furnish any accurate description of this assailants, remembering only that one was short and slim and the other tall and stout.

FANWOOD POSTMASTER REMOVED FROM OFFICE

HARRY P. ROBINSON SUCCEEDS J. P. STEVENS.

Announcement was made by the postoffice department today that Harry Payne Robinson, of Fanwood, had been appointed postmaster at Fanwood to succeed J. P. Stevens, of 439 East Seventh street, this city, removed.

Stevens was appointed a short time ago and according to custom furnished a bond. Government officials found an erasure in one of the signatures and refused to accept it. In the meantime Stevens had changed his residence to this city and when the bond was returned to him he refused to have another made out, partly because he was not living at Fanwood and partly because of annoyance at the seemingly small mistake which had been taken up.

Stevens is in the dry goods business in New York with stores at 23 and 25 Thomas street. Robinson is also a New York business man, conducting a hat store at 21 Irving place.

WEDDED IN SAINT MARY'S R. C. CHURCH

MISS MARY MADDEN BECOMES WIFE OF DENNIS BAGLIN, OF THE BOROUGH.

In St. Mary's church at 6 o'clock, last evening, Miss Mary C. Madden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Madden, of West Fifth street, was married to Dennis Baglin, of the borough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Egan, assisted by Father Delehanty, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Miss Margaret Dunn was bridesmaid and Frank Gunning, of Brooklyn, was best man. Miss Madden and her attendant were gowned in crepe de chine and carried roses. John Madden, Dr. Lawrence Doyle and James Monohan were the ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Baglin are to leave today on a wedding trip. Both young people are widely known and have a host of acquaintances in the city and borough.

POLITICAL CHAT.

William Allen Stryker, of Washington, who was chairman of the Democratic Congressional Convention at Elizabeth, on Thursday, made the statement that a change of 500 votes in the Fifth District would elect James E. Martine to Congress. This will be Congressman Fowler's second race in the Fifth District. Two years ago his majority was 1,194. It is argued that if Plainfield should give Mr. Martine's vote he would be successful.

Under the slogan: "Turn the spendthrifts out—Get close to the people—They cast the votes," the Democrats of the Fifth Congressional district will wage a vigorous campaign against the Republicans. The enthusiasm displayed at Thursday's Congressional convention was unusual. There were ringing speeches by Joshua R. Salmon, of Morris County, and after Congressional nominee, James E. Martine, had concluded his speech of acceptance, Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, aroused the convention by his witticisms. He predicted a sweeping victory for the Democrats and promised his support toward its success.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—There will be an important business meeting of the W. C. T. U. in the rooms on Madison avenue tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock —The large box cars now operated on the main line of the trolley between Newark and Dunellen are appreciated by the public, but the open cars run during the past few days have been a source of much annoyance and discomfort.

—The breaking of a trolley wheel on one of the large through cars at Dunellen, yesterday, delayed traffic for nearly a half hour. The car was brought to Plainfield largely through the efforts of Conductor Amos Stites, who stood on top the car, holding the trolley pole on the feed wire. When the car reached here it was taken to the Fourth street car barns for repair.

REPUBLICANS MAKE TICKET

Frank H. Smith is Selected for Registrar at the Union County Convention Today.

CALVERT FOR CLERK

Coyne, Embree and Tillman for Assemblymen — Ernest R. Ackerman, of This City, Was Chosen Chairman.

The Republicans of Union county named candidates for registrar of deeds and mortgages, assembly, county clerk and coroner at the convention held in the Lyceum theatre at Elizabeth this afternoon. Hamilton F. Kean, chairman of the Union county Republican committee, called the convention to order and after a few brief remarks he had the call for the convention read. Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, was chosen chairman.

Frank H. Smith, collector of taxes in this city, was nominated for registrar of deeds without opposition. Edward Coyne, of Elizabeth; Peter Tillman, of Rahway, and George Embree, of Westfield, were selected as candidates for assembly. James C. Calvert, of Elizabeth, was chosen for county clerk to succeed Mr. Howard. His opponent was Major Hicks, of Summit.

The Plainfield delegates were: Harry H. Coward, Uzal B. Crane, Fred W. Dunn, William L. Gloak, J. Hervey Doane, Tom Hanna, Frank Ostrom, Frederick Pope, William N. Runyon, Ernest Ackerman, Charles J. In assuming the chairmanship, Mr. Ackerman was greeted with cheers. Addressing the convention he said:

"For the compliment which you have conferred upon me I thank you. To be chosen to preside over any Republican convention is an honor, but at this time and in this place, to be selected to act as the presiding officer of the Union County Convention in this city which is the home of our Senior United States Senator and also the residence of the Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committees, is an especial honor.

"Our friends of the opposite party, claiming that they are now 'Safe and Sane,' are endeavoring to persuade the voters that they should at this time be selected to administer National affairs. But why should the voters of this county entrust the management of its affairs to a party that had not sufficient courage to put in its platform a clear cut declaration of it principles upon the money question? Did not the Democratic party for

She brought suit against the New Jersey Central and on the second trial she recovered damages.

Miss Simonson was twenty-one years of age and had lived in the borough for several years. She leaves a mother and sister, with whom she lived, and two brothers, Ellis Simonson, of Elizabeth, and John Simonson, of New Haven, Conn.

FIRE LADDIES ENTERTAIN

North Plainfield Department Inaugurates Social Series.

HAVE MANY GUESTS

Mayor Smalley and Members of the Common Council Among Those In Attendance.

For the purpose of formally expressing appreciation for what has been done for them and to bring all together on a more familiar footing, the North Plainfield fire department entertained Mayor Newton B. Smalley, members of the Common Council, and many other well known boroughites at headquarters last evening. It marked the first of a series of similar events which are to be given during the coming winter and by all who participated it was voted a distinct success in every way. An entertainment, supper and speeches were features of the gathering and it was well on toward midnight before it terminated.

In the early part of the evening the guests assembled in the main dormitory on the second floor where a musical programme held their attention. Quartette selections were rendered by Edward Terry, Harry Zimmerman, Edward P. T. Smith and William Campbell; guitar solos by William McCullough and phonograph selections by Frank Schuck. A clog dance was also contributed by William Campbell that was greeted with long applause.

Afterward adjournment was made to the rear store room, which had been cleared and neatly fitted up with tables on which a splendid supper was served. It began with a course of Jerry Foss' clam chowder, famous in three states, and concluded with watermelon, any number of good things all prepared by the firemen themselves, interspersing. The seventeen members of the department acted as waiters and they saw to it that no one was neglected.

On returning to the dormitary, cigars were lighted and speech-making was in order, with Chief Howard Woolston acting as toastmaster. The principal address was made by Mayor Smalley and he was frequently interrupted by genuine applause. He spoke of the conditions and circumstances that led to the paid departments being established and expressed satisfaction at the success it has attained. Contrary to statements made by those who opposed the movement, he said, the taxes had not increased and the system is giving the best of satisfaction. As for returning to the volunteer days, he declared there was no danger of that as the department is getting better every day and giving better service than many others throughout New Jersey. Similar remarks were made by Recorder Doud and in the midst of his address in which he was telling of the promptness with which the men answered alarms, either real or false, the house gong sounded a nearby box. Instantly the men leaped to their stations and were ready to go out before the full round had struck off. To the assembled guests it proved their worth more than words could. Only one man knew that the alarm was to sound and it was he who did it.

Other addresses were given by Councilmen VanArsdale, Humble and Arnold, former Councilman Peter Emmons, F. A. Dunham and others. For the firemen, Chief Woolston replied and Lieutenant Campbell also spoke. Afterward a social period of conversation followed during which many of those present made a thorough inspection of the house.

The committee which arranged the affair consisted of William Campbell, Jerry Foss, Walter Kettenring and William McCullough. Another is to be held next month and a different committee will act.

The Eleventh's Reunion.

The annual reunion of the Eleventh New Jersey Volunteers is being held at Morristown today. Although there are several members living in this city the only one in attendance is Captain Wm. Hand. The fireman's parade at Flemington and other matters kept away Chief T. O. Doane, Henry Mellison, John Goodwin, Isaac Randolph, T. B. Titsworth and Wm. Payne.

BADLY HURT IN RUNAWAY

Thrown From Rig Michael Catur May Die.

HORSE'S WILD DASH

Smashes Another Wagon and Bicycle—Son of Nominee Buckle Has Narrow Escape.

One man perhaps fatally injured, two rigs and a bicycle smashed and several very narrow escapes, is the aftermath of one of the most spectacular runaways that has occurred in the business portion of the city in a long time. The victim is Michael Catur, twenty-one years old, of 214 Richmond street, who was driving a rig owned by A. S. Giles, the plumber, and the one which caused the trouble. He is at Muhlenberg Hospital with a compound fracture of the scalp, probable internal injuries and a score of bad bruises. He has not yet recovered consciousness and his condition is considered grave.

Catur was on his way to the freight station at Richmond street, seated in a plumber's wagon, when the horse became frightened by an automobile on East Fourth street, just off Park avenue. The animal bolted and ran at terrific speed to Watchung avenue, when suddenly swerving in the car tracks, a large wooden crate in the rear of the vehicle fell over on Catur and caused him to lose his grasp on the reins. The horse then ran against a pole and the driver was thrown to the ground striking on his head. He bounded over several times and then as he stopped both horse and wagon passed over him.

The runaway turned up Watchung avenue and at Third street, Irving Buckle, son of former Councilman Buckle, riding his wheel, was all but run down. He had only time to leap from his machine when it was knocked over and smashed. The maddened horse continued down North avenue just escaping the long line of hackmen's rigs in front of the depot and turning into Park avenue collided with Thomas F. Walsh's wagon tied in front of Schantz's saloon. Walsh's horse and rig were pitched in a heap on the sidewalk but the runaway extricated itself and started off again. It reached Front street safely, turned down that thoroughfare and winding in and out among a score of vehicles swerved into Madison avenue. It finally threw the wagon against a tree at Grove street and Mercer avenue and finding itself free, attempted to climb the porch of St. Peter's German Lutheran church. It had partially succeeded when caught.

The animal was uninjured beyond a few cuts but the wagon was much the worse for its journey. Walsh's rig was also damaged but his horse escaped harm.

When Catur was pitched out, he was seen to fall by Miss Sadie Hand and Miss Etta Yaegar who are in offices nearby. They called for men to take the injured man to a place of safety and then summoned the ambulance and police patrol and notified the hospital. The police conveyance was on hand in a few moments with Driver O'Gorman and Patrolman Overbaugh. They had Catur in it and on the way to the hospital when the ambulance appeared on the scene. The injured man is single and has been in Giles' employ for the past two years.

Representatives as delegates from the various Christian Endeavor Societies in this city, are attending the State Convention of the Endeavor Society which opened in Central Baptist church, Elizabeth, this morning at 10 o'clock and will continue until tomorrow night, and they are taking an active part in the various sessions.

The convention was called to order by Rev. Walter Thorpe, president of the Elizabeth Union of Christian Endeavor and Epworth League, when a large number of delegates, including the State officers and those living at a distance were present. Many Endeavorers arrived yesterday to attend special conferences.

After the convention opened this morning devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Eben Cobb, of the Second Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, followed by addresses of welcome by Rev. Dr. Everett T. Tomlinson and Rev. Herbert F. The response was made by State President Sproull.

Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, of Newark, gave the keynote of the convention under the subject "Consecrated Personality." After this address there was an open conference on Christian citizenship, conducted by Rev. Dr. J. H. Clark, of Lake Como and superintendent of the Christian Citizenship department in the State Union. Then followed announcements, the appointment of committees, after which the convention adjourned for dinner.

The entrance fee to the entire meet is fifty cents, each separate event costing ten cents. None but school members will be allowed to enter the meet, and the class relay teams will be chosen with great care as to class standing. A Colored Drum Corps.

West End colored men are organizing a fife and drum corps to help "make things lively" during the coming election period. Among those interested are Oscar Green, Frank Nelson and Wm. Wilson.

BOROUGH FIREMEN OFF TO FLEMINGTON

WARREN BOYS TO PARTICIPATE IN BIG PROCESSION THIS AFTERNOON.

Headed by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps and clad in their handsome uniforms, thirty members of Warren Engine Company left by special train this morning, for Flemington, where they are to participate in the big firemen's parade. They were in charge of Captain William C. Smith and Lieutenant Lambert B. Bodine, while Herman Klinsman, of the West End Company, marched at their head, carrying the silver trumpet presented him during the volunteer days. The train also carried many Plainfielders who went along to witness the procession, in all filling four cars.

Previous to going away, the company paraded about the local streets and frequently executed difficult drill movements which they have become familiar with under Captain Smith's instruction. Each order was carried out with a nicety and precision that called for cheers and applause. Without doubt the Warren boys are among the best drilled in the State and they will undoubtedly win favor at Flemington.

MISS MADALENE BIRD IS NOW MRS. MUMFORD

PLAINFIELDER GOES TO NORTH PLAINFIELD FOR A BRIDE.

Miss Madalene Bird, daughter of Mrs. Rosanna Bird, of Somerset place, and Charles Stillman Mumford, son of Benjamin A. Mumford, of Arlington avenue, were married at 8 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's mother in the presence of many guests from Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia, Long Island, Hoboken, Newark, Gatlin, and this city.

The home was attractively decorated, the parlor being arranged with palms and cut flowers. There were also palms and red and white decorations in the dining room. An effective arrangement in the parlor was a bell made of white roses and it was beneath this that the couple was married.

The bride, attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Bird, as maid-of-honor, was gowned in white organdie over white taffeta, trimmed with white lace, chiffon roses and white satin ribbons. She also wore a veil caught up with a spray of lilies-of-the-valley and she carried a bouquet of bride roses. The maid-of-honor wore a gown of pink silk batiste and she carried pink roses.

The bridal party entered the parlor while Eugene O'Reilly's orchestra rendered the Mendelssohn wedding march. The bride was accompanied by her uncle, Sylvester Sharkey, who gave her away. The groom's best man was Arthur W. Lederer, of this city.

Beneath the floral bell, the party met the officiating clergyman, Rev. Joseph C. McKelvey, of Warren chapel. During the ceremony, which was performed with a ring, the orchestra rendered a selection of music.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Mumford received the congratulations of the guests and then supper was served. Later the couple left the city to spend their honeymoon at Atlantic City. They will be absent about ten days. Upon their return they will reside on Arlington avenue.

Both the bride and groom are well-known in this city, where they have a host of friends. The groom is engaged with his father in business on East Third street. The bride received many gifts, including silverware, china, cut-glass, table linen and furniture.

At the reception which followed the marriage, the couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Bird, mother of the bride, and Miss Mary Stanbury Mumford, sister of the groom. Mrs. Bird was gowned in grey crepe, trimmed with white lace and chiffon roses, while Miss Mumford's gown was of black lace. The bride's traveling gown was of grey voile.

FRED KANEN GIVEN $15,000

Story of Westfield Wreck Retold in Court at Elizabeth. Before Sympathetic Jury.

HELPLESS INVALID

Lad Will be in Present Terrible Condition for the Rest of His Life—Jury is Out Only a Half Hour.

The story of the terrible railroad wreck which occurred near Westfield on the night of January 27, 1903, was retold in the Supreme Court at Elizabeth yesterday and today before Justice Fort, in the re-trial of the case of Frederick M. Kanen, of this city, against the P. and R. Railroad Company.

After the counsel for both sides had summed up and the court delivered its charge, the jury retired this morning and returned in half an hour, awarding young Kanen a verdict of $15,000.

At the former trial, which took place several months ago, a verdict in the sum of $18,000 was awarded the plaintiff. The company at once appealed the case and the verdict was set aside as being excessive. Craig A. Marsh represents the Plainfielder. When removed from beneath the wreckage Kanen was found to be so badly injured that he was taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital. The most serious injury sustained was to his back and spinal column, and from the effects of that injury he will undoubtedly be a helpless invalid the remainder of his days. He has completely lost the sense of feeling from his neck down.

Yesterday he was unable to move hand or foot and in giving his testimony, he lay on stretcher. His testimony, however, was given in a strong, clear voice.

In January Kanen was taken to a hospital in New York, where a thorough examination was made by means of X-rays by Dr. Gibney. It was discovered that one of the bones of the spinal column had had been fractured, and a surgical operation was performed and the bone removed. The operation, while successfully performed, failed to give the relief hoped for, and Dr. Gibney and other experts unite in giving as their opinion that the boy will be a helpless invalid the remainder of his days.

His employers on being sworn, testified that the short time he was in their employ he showed remarkable brightness, was quick to learn, punctual to the minute and entirely satisfactory. He began work at $3 per week and shortly after had his salary raised to $4.

SKULL FRACTURED; VICTIM WILL RECOVER

GEORGE BIRD SERIOUSLY HURT WHILE AT WORK.

George Bird, of Summit avenue, a civil engineer in the employ of the Central Railroad, sustained a serious injury while working on a steel construction yesterday at Elizabethport. A steel girder fell on him, striking him on the head and shoulders, and inflicting a bad fracture on the skull. He was rendered unconscious and remained in that condition for nearly an hour.

The force of the blow threw Bird to the ground, and he received several painful bruises about his head and arms. He was cared for by the workmen on the bridge, and as soon as possible removed to this city. Mr. Bird was taken from the depot to his home in the ambulance and Norman Probasco was summoned.

Upon examination of the wound it was found that the blow had caused concussion of the brain. Mr. Bird was made as comfortable as possible yesterday afternoon, though he was in a semi-conscious state most of the time. This morning he appeared to be much improved, and though of a dangerous nature the injuries are not thought to be fatal.

Marchant Brothers, of North avenue, have the reputation for selling the best butter, milk, cream and eggs and it will be to your advantage to trade with this firm.

A. H. Enander, of Park avenue, is just the man to look after your furnace or range if it needs attention, and he is an expert in all kinds of plumbing and tinning work.

School is in session once again and the children need supplies of all kind. Their every want can be accommodated at Harper's Park avenue store, near Fourth street, where books, papers and materials are displayed in profusion.

Harry K. Lister, the North avenue bicycle dealer, has recently received a large number of Edison gold mounted records for phonographs. They comprise the latest vocal and instrumental hits and new talks by "Cal" Stewart, the Yankee humorist.

Before the weather gets too cold it would be well for you to place your winter supply of coal in your cellar and Boice, Runyon & Co. will do this for you in a satisfactory manner. You will not regret this action for the coal is of the best quality and the price is right.

It's aggravating after waiting for a garment to be completed to find that it has not been cut according to measurment or is an ill fit. No such thing will happen if the order is given to S. Hirsch, the Watchung avenue tailor. Riding habits are one of his specialties.

Within the past few years, Elston M. French has found homes in Plainfield for hundreds of people. His real estate business has become very extensive and because of this fact he is in a position to buy, sell or rent property where others fail. He takes entire charge of properties.

The best place for fall millinery is Bonn's. There you will get all the styles which you could find in New York, and save the expense of the trip to the City. There is no use of going out of town for your hats, etc., when you can get the best in your own city. That's the case with Bonn.

Alexander Lusardi calls your attention to his excellent variety of confectionery, fruit and soda water. You should try them before going elsewhere. They are the best in town. His candy is received fresh daily, and can be beat no where. As for fruit, you only have to look at it, to be convinced of its superiority.

There are so many delicacies at R. W. Barnes' Park avenue store it is rather a difficult matter to enumerate them all. Suffice it to say, however, that he has jams, jellies, potted meats, hams and crackers in abundance, also fruits and vegetables in season. If orders are telephoned they will receive careful attention.

J. C. Hansen can show you as no other one can the vast difference caused in the appearance of a house if the outside is painted with good taste. You pay a great deal of attention to the decorations on the interior of your home. Why not look at the outside occasionally. That's the part that most people see, and if you have Hansen paint your house you will be proud of it.

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader, by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

KENTUCKY FUTURITY.

Bon Voyage Won Feature at Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 6.—The two-year-old division of the Kentucky Futurity was won by Bon Voyage in two straight heats in 2:15 and 2:15¼. With the exception of the record of 2:14, made by Katherine A. two years ago, it was the best record event. Bon Voyage was driven by Charles Marvin of Lexington. The event is worth $5,000, of which $3,000 goes to the winner.

In the 2:11 class pacing the favorite, The Broncho, and her driver and owner were suspended a year for laying up. The Broncho paced second to Don N. in the first two heats. The judges were suspicious, and when Charles Dean drove out for the third heat they unseated him and put A. P. McDonald behind his mare. McDonald won the next three heats. Both horse and driver were then suspended, and McDonald was awarded $250.

Ozanum by breaking gave the second heat of the 2:07 trotting to McKinley, but finally won the race. The favorite, Nancy H., surrendered the first heat of the 2:14 pace to Funston, but won the race in the next three heats.

The track was in good condition, but high wind prevented Major Delmar from starting against time.

Bronx Handicap Won by Leonidas.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Leonidas, second choice, won the Bronx Highweight handicap, six furlongs Withers mile, at Morris Park. Lady Amelia, the favorite, made the pace to the stretch, where she tired. Castalian, who was backed from 7 to 1 to 9 to 2, then took the lead and appeared to be winning easily when Hildebrand brought Leonidas up with a rush and won driving by three-quarters of a length. The Harricana Selling stakes was won easily by the favorite Glenecho. Alan-a-Dale equalled the track record for a mile.

Japanese Tennis Expert.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—The result of the play in the intercollegiate championship lawn tennis tournament on the courts of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford finds four colleges—Yale, Harvard, Columbia and Pennsylvania—still in the running for final honors. Surprises were the features of the day, the chief being furnished by Dewhurst and Takaki of Pennsylvania. Much interest was manifested in the latter's play, as it is the first appearance of a Japanese player in a tournament in this country.

Pennsylvania Gave Them Whitewash

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—The University of Pennsylvania football eleven defeated Franklin and Marshall 34 to 0. At no time during the game was the Pennsylvania goal in danger. Pennsylvania went through the visitors' line almost at will. The feature of the game was Corson's run the entire length of the field for a touchdown.

Harvard's Easy Victory.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 6.—Harvard scored an easy victory over Bowdoin in the football game on Soldiers' field, winning by the score of 17 to 0. The Harvard offense proved to be effective, but the play on the whole was ragged. The most remarkable feature was the evenness of Harvard's second set of halfbacks.

Accident on Football Field.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 6.—Onthrup, the right end on Wesleyan's football team, suffered a severe blow on the head in the game here and was knocked unconscious. He was removed at once to the university infirmary, where doctors said that he was at present in a serious condition, but would recover.

Flora Willoughby at Delmar.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Flora Willoughby, at 5 to 1, lasted long enough to beat Neversuch a nose at the wire in Delmar's feature. Lubin, the favorite, finished fourth. Dromio and Ariena were the winning favorites.

Engine Ran Away, Killing Two.

PORT HENRY, N. Y., Oct. 6.—A locomotive of the Lake Champlain and Moriah railroad, which was being used at Mineville to shift cars, became unmanageable and ran under a pit head. The steam dome was knocked off, the boiler exploded, and Engineer Frank Twilliger and Fireman A. J. Hestlin, both of Mineville, were scalded to death.

OUSTED THE BOARD

Mayor of New York Changed Officials In a Day.

THEY WILLFULLY VIOLATED LAW.

Mayor's Letter Says, "The Conduct of the Board May Be Fairly Attributed to Collusion of Park Commissioner."

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—George B. McClellan, mayor of Greater New York, yesterday afternoon appointed a new civil service commission in place of the one he dismissed earlier in the day.

The new board will be composed of only three members instead of five as before.

The new board is composed as follows: Bird S. Coler, president; Alfred J. Talley of Manhattan, R. Ross Appleton of Brooklyn.

No salaries attach to the offices, except in the case of the president, whose salary is $6,000 a year.

When the three members were sworn in the mayor said he expected the smaller commission would be more efficient than the old one.

Mayor McClellan removed the entire civil service commission and the commissioner of parks for the borough of the Bronx on charges preferred by the Civil Service Reform association.

In his letter rejecting the resignation of President John H. McCooey, the mayor said:

"I have reached the conclusion that Commissioner Schmitt of the Bronx department of parks has wilfully violated the law. I am forced to the conclusion that in some respects at least this violation by him would have been impossible if it had not been for the conduct of your board, which I deem illegal in itself.

"The conduct of the board may be fairly attributed to collusion of the commissioner of parks of the Bronx. The civil service commission is intended by law to serve as a check upon the heads of the city departments so as to prevent them from violating the law or its subsidiary rules.

"I consider your resolution of March 16th, which was evidently intended to validate previous illegal acts of Commissioner Schmitt and to permit an evasion of the laws as to his acts subsequent to that time, to have been passed in bad faith and not for the purpose of enforcing, but rather for the purpose of subverting the civil service law.

"Your oath of office and mine requires from each of us an effort to administer our respective trusts according to law and in the public interests, and the city expects that that oath shall be kept with an exercise of intelligence and right conscience.

"I am as sensitive as one could be to the disagreeable nature of the duty which I am compelled to perform, but I must nevertheless do it, and I therefore request your resignation as president of the municipal civil service commission instanter."

The removal was made after an investigation of charges laid before the mayor by the Civil Service Reform association. These charges allege that Schmitt exploited positions in his department for political purposes by discharging certain employees and employing others in violation of the civil service rules, "with the co-operation of the civil service commission." The men removed from office besides Schmitt are John H. McCooey, president of the board, and his colleagues Jerome Siegel, Eugene F. O'Connor and E. A. Crowninshield. Hal Bell, the other member of the board, had already resigned.

German Steel Syndicate Conference.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The German Steel syndicate is holding conferences at Cologne with the British, French and Belgian producers. So far as learned, the American steelmakers are not represented. The German syndicate refused to answer a direct question as to whether Americans were participating. No Americans were present at the public dinner given to the delegates. The object of the conferences, as reported, is to reach an international selling arrangement, but the proceedings themselves are kept strictly secret.

Murder at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 6.—A man supposed to be J. R. Campbell was found in a dying condition near the stage entrance of the Grand Opera House. His skull had been crushed, and he died before he could be taken to a hospital. A brother of the murdered man is said to be employed in the office of the collector of customs, Washington. A steamship pass found in the man's coat pocket bore the name of J. R. Campbell.

Hard Times In London.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—At a meeting of the Manchester city council it was announced that owing to the hard times and depression in the cotton industries between 40,000 and 50,000 people in the poorer parts of the city were practically on the verge of starvation. Similar conditions prevail in London and other large cities of the United Kingdom, where the winter is expected to be one of the hardest in many years for the poorer classes.

A STATE FUNERAL.

Washington Will Pay Honor to Late Henry C. Payne.

ROOSEVELT PRAISES DEAD FRIEND.

Secretary of State's Proclamation, by Direction of President, Closes All Federal Departments During Funeral Services.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—There will be a state funeral on Friday at St. John's Protestant Episcopal church in this city for Henry C. Payne, late postmaster general. The body will be taken to Milwaukee and buried in Forest Home cemetery.

President Roosevelt called at the apartments of the late postmaster general to extend his personal condolences with the family.

Messages of condolence have been received from prominent men all over the country expressing their sympathy for the family of the dead postmaster general. The family and friends of Mr. Payne were so exhausted from their long vigil that scores of messages which were received remained unopened for many hours.

Preparations for the funeral service at St. John's church here are going steadily forward. All the forms consistent with services over the body of a cabinet member who has died in office will be observed. Invitations will be issued to the funeral, and the seats in the church will be occupied largely by persons prominent in official life and by the family and near friends of the deceased.

The programme adopted for the funeral of Sir Michael Herbert will be followed. Invitations will be extended to public officials, the diplomatic corps, the judiciary, district officials and friends of the family. The army and navy will be represented. General Chaffee has sent his aid to tender a military escort.

The Rev. R. Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, will conduct the ceremony there, while the Right Rev. Isaac Nicholson, bishop of Milwaukee, will conduct the services in Milwaukee.

A short time before Mr. Payne died word was sent to the White House that the end was near, and Mrs. Roosevelt called, accompanied by Captain William S. Cowles of the navy, the president's brother-in-law. President Roosevelt reached the Arlington annex at 5:45 and remained until 6 o'clock. He was visibly affected when told that Mr. Payne's end would come very soon. He did not go to the sickroom. As he left the Arlington the president asked a group of waiting newspaper men if they had known Mr. Payne, and when nearly all nodded their heads, he said, "He was the sweetest, most lovable and most trustful man I have ever known."

By direction of the president Secretary John Hay has issued the following proclamation:

"To the People of the United States:

"Henry Clay Payne, postmaster general of the United States, died in this city at ten minutes past 6 last night.

"Rising to eminence by his own efforts, successful in his enterprises, attaining to positions of high trust in private business, energetic and conscientious in his relations with his fellow men, of singularly gentle, loyal and lovable nature, inspired by a large sense of the duties of a true citizen and winning the respect and esteem of all with whom he associated, he was called in the fullness of his powers to discharge the duties of a peculiarly onerous and responsible office in the high councils of the nation. His career is an example for good citizens to follow, and his untimely death is mourned by all.

"The president directs that the several executive departments and their dependencies shall show fitting regard for the memory of this distinguished public man, that the departments in the city of Washington shall be closed between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 1 o'clock p. m. on the day of the funeral, Friday, the 7th inst., and that the national flag shall be displayed at half mast upon all the public buildings throughout the United States from now until the funeral shall have taken place."

Mr. Payne was the forty-third postmaster general since Franklin. Under the amendatory act of 1891 the first assistant postmaster general becomes acting postmaster general in the event of the death of the head of the department.

PEACE CONGRESS AT BOSTON.

Appeal to Go to Emperors of Russia and Japan.

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—Resolutions intended to bring about if possible an end to the Russo-Japanese war were adopted at the meeting of the international peace congress. By the terms of these resolutions the congress will address an appeal to the emperors of Russia and Japan to terminate the struggle, and each of the powers signatory of The Hague convention will be formally requested to press upon Russia and Japan the importance of putting an end to the present war.

It was also voted that the resolutions referring to friendly intervention by the powers be presented to President Roosevelt by a committee of the congress.

The resolutions were passed after a lengthy discussion in which many of the most prominent foreign delegates participated.

During this discussion Delegate William R. Creamer of England took occasion while favoring the declarations to characterize the treaty between England and Japan as a blunder and to charge that this treaty doubtless had much to do in bringing on the Russo-Japanese war. Thereupon Great Britain's policy of being a party to the treaty was vigorously defended by Colonel Bryce Jones, M. P.

The deliberative proceedings of the day took on an added interest from the fact that a leading Hindoo, Baba Bharati, was introduced to speak as the representative of his country. The most intense applause that has been evoked thus far during the convention greeted the Hindoo, who, dressed in the costume of his people, delivered a passionate speech in excellent English denouncing on the one hand the attempt of Christianity to thrust Christianity upon India as its religion and the policy of the English people of India of invading the Tibet.

It was voted during the session to refer the subject of a reconciliation of France and Germany on the Alsace-Lorraine question to the Bern bureau for study by a special committee.

Part of the phraseology of a cablegram prepared to be sent to Andrew Carnegie was objected to by a delegate from New York, and it was finally rewritten so that Mr. Carnegie was hailed as an earnest worker for the world's better political order.

NERVE SAVED DYNAMITE CAR.

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Men Prevented Great Explosion.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 6.—Only for the extreme nerve of Engineer Archie McFee and Brakeman W. C. Keiffer of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company in extinguishing a blaze in the end of a car loaded with 10,000 pounds of dynamite in the Baltimore and Ohio yards it is probable that the whole east end of the yards, including the shops, roundhouse and thousands of cars, would have been one mass of debris by this time. How the car took fire is a mystery. It had been in the yards only a short time when the end was discovered ablaze. Trainmen, seeing the large sign "Danger" on the door, fled in all directions.

Engineer McFee and Brakeman Keiffer uncoupled their engine from its train and made a flying run to the burning car. With buckets the fire was put out, but not before it had eaten its way almost to the explosive. The act of the trainmen is described as being one of the bravest and nerviest ever performed on the Baltimore and Ohio, and both were complimented by the local officials of the road.

Jury In Lear Case Disagrees.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—The trial of Henry Lear, former president of the Doylestown (Pa.) National bank, who was accused of misappropriating, misapplying and embezzling funds of the bank, ended in a disagreement of the jury. The case was given to the jury, and after nearly twenty-four hours' deliberation the jurors reported to Judge McPherson, who presided, that they could not agree. The jury was thereupon discharged.

Yale Freshmen Decrease.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 6.—The preliminary report on the entering class at Yale shows that there is a decrease in the number of academic freshmen, but a gain in the Sheffield Scientific school, the aggregate number of freshmen being 668 against 707 last year. Before the university opened the indications were that the freshman class would be larger than that of last year. Registration has not yet closed, however.

I felt it more in the morning just after getting up or if I did any stooping or lifting. Notwithstanding the fact that I took all kinds of medicines I never found anything which helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. They not only removed the pain but they strengthened me in other ways."

RESIGNATION OF L. F. LOREE.

Why He Quit as President of the Rock Island Railway.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The resignation of L. F. Loree as president of the Rock Island railway system states that Mr. Loree's resignation came after a series of conferences lasting more than a week between Mr. Loree and the principal owners of the road. At these conferences were William H. and James H. Moore, D. G. Reid, chairman of the Rock Island board; Robert Mather, vice president and general counsel of the road, and B. F. Winchell, president of the Rock Island Railway company. At these conferences there developed differences of opinion as to methods of management which were diametrically opposed, and the outcome was the resignation of Mr. Loree.

The battle, if battle it may be called, was largely between Mr. Loree, supreme executive head of the Rock Island system, and Mr. Winchell, president of the Rock Island railway, whose methods and policies have been diametrically opposed from the beginning. The policy outlined and advocated by Mr. Winchell won the day, and hereafter he will be the sole executive head of the system, with power subordinate only to the owners.

Mr. Loree, in tendering his resignation, gave up a salary of $75,000 annually, guaranteed for a period of five years. It was nine months ago that Mr. Loree resigned the presidency of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to take up the management of the Rock Island system. A cash bonus of $500,000 was one of the considerations which induced him to make the change.

SAFE BLOWERS SENTENCED.

Two Criminals In the Toils at Tavares, Fla.

TAVARES, Fla., Oct. 6.—Frank Duncan and his partner, Kid Stafford, were convicted here of blowing the safe of the Leesburg bank and were sentenced to the penitentiary for fifteen years, the full limit for that offense. Sentence on Duncan was suspended and he was turned over to the Alabama authorities to be taken to Birmingham, where he was convicted of the murder of two policemen and sentenced to hang.

When captured the prisoners were well armed, and a bottle of nitroglycerin was found in their possession. They claimed that the bottle contained medicine, but detectives placed some of its contents under a stump and blew it to atoms, startling the town with the explosion.

When the prisoners were taken back to jail and they, with the sheriff and detectives, were standing in the corridor Duncan drew from his pocket a bottle of nitroglycerin, raised it aloft and, with an oath, said, "Turn us both loose or we will go to —— together!"

Detective Ahn leveled his pistol at Stafford, who sank to his knees and begged him not to shoot. Duncan gave up the bottle out of consideration for Stafford.

Duncan's wife came up from Tampa and advised him to kill himself. It is thought she smuggled the bottle of nitroglycerin to him.

Defenders of Port Arthur Strike at Enemy.

JAPS HAVE LOST TEN THOUSAND.

General Stoessel Reports That Water Works Redoubts Were Destroyed by His Troops Before Being Evacuated.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—A Tokyo report received late last night says that the Russian squadron has made a sortie from Port Arthur and that a great naval battle has occurred. No details are given.

A Harbin report says that the Japanese advance posts have been driven back all along the line between the Hun river and Bensihu.

St. Petersburg advices say that Lieutenant General Stoessel, commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur, has reported the Japanese losses at 10,000 during the attacks on Port Arthur from Sept. 19.

General Stoessel adds that practically nothing remained of the water works redoubts when the surviving Russians evacuated them.

The last Japanese attack to which General Stoessel refers was on a hill called High mountain, south of Inthan. He gives instances of the heroism of the defenders, especially the case of a lieutenant who threw hand bombs into the Japanese trenches, causing a panic. Colonel Irman, chief of the Port Arthur artillery, is praised for the magnificent dispositions of the guns.

The military critics at St. Petersburg share in the general uncertainty as to how to size up the situation at the front if Field Marshal Oyama makes his anticipated advance. They seem to agree that a strong screening movement is in progress immediately east of Liaoyang, that probably a feint will be made from the west, that the tactics of the Japanese at Liaoyang will be repeated and that General Kuroki will try a wide flanking movement from the east.

Some of the critics point out that the conditions at Port Arthur may force a change of Oyama's plan of campaign. The continued failure of the attacks on the fortress and the enormous losses sustained by the besiegers, they think, may compel Oyama to dispatch some veteran troops from the Manchurian army to General Nodzu's support, as the re-enforcements arriving at Port Arthur are mostly reserve men. Unstinted praise is bestowed on Lieutenant General Stoessel for the heroic defense made by the garrison, which naturally is increasing the hope that the fortress may hold out until relieved.

A Chefu report says that the Japanese have made repeated and recklessly brave attempts to capture High hill at Port Arthur. Owing to the destruction of earthworks their advance was completely unprotected, and under the rays of the searchlight the Russian machine guns swept them down in masses.

More troops, however, came on with fanatical bravery, leaping over the bodies of their dead comrades. Then the Russians, emboldened by their success, sortied and drove them back. The Japanese replied with machine guns.

Lightning Hit Oil Tank.

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 6.—The plant of the National Refining company was completely destroyed by fire early yesterday, entailing a loss of upward of $200,000. The fire was started through lightning striking a 30,000 barrel tank, which at the time was about two-thirds full. When the tank exploded thousands of barrels of burning oil were spread over the surrounding territory. Spectators who had gathered turned and fled wildly from the oncoming sea of fire. A number of persons were burned, but none fatally. The efforts of the fire department to suppress the flames were unavailing, and for a time it seemed as though the western part of the town was doomed. A sudden shift of the wind, however, saved the surrounding property, and the flames were confined to the National plant.

Powder Company's Plant Blown Up.

DOVER, N. J., Oct. 6.—About 400 tons of dynamite blew up at the plant of of Henry Lear, former president of the the American Forcite Powder company, on the shore of Lake Hopatcong, six miles from this place. The vibration was felt for many miles around and caused considerable excitement, many at first thinking it was an earthquake. By inquiries over the telephone the true cause of the disturbance was soon learned, however, and it was found that no one had been injured.

Took an Hour to Reach Parker.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—At the Parker reception, held at the Manhattan club here last night, it was impossible to estimate the number of persons with whom the candidates shook hands. From the time one mounted the first stairway it took just an hour to reach the main reception room, where Judge Parker, Justice Herrick, Judge Charles H. Truax, president of the club, and John Hone, chairman of the board of governors, were stationed.

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 6, 1904.

Although the verdict has been set aside as excessive "in the eyes of the law," yet every decent man will commend the jury which returned a verdict of $7,153 in favor of the New Brunswick young mother who sued a Plainfield man for breach of promise. No punishment is too severe for such men.

Advertising makes more trade. More trade makes more advertising. What an advertisement suggests is frequently of more importance than what it says. The vital question that confronts the merchant of today is not, Will it pay to advertise? but, How can I make my advertising most effective? Some advertising is useful as object lessons to teach advertisers how not to do it. The merchant who appreciates good service should not forget to show his appreciation when occasion offers—Retailer and Advertiser.

It would be interesting to know where the People's Democratic Party is getting all its money to run its "cyclonic" campaign in this State. Surely the Populists, for that's the real name of the combination bent on injuring Parker's chances, have never cut any great figure and have never been known as having wealthy members in the State. From Newark and New York every district is being flooded with campaign "literature" and mass meetings are being arranged for every town of any size at all. Who is furnishing the cash?

In whizzing around a corner an automobile knocked down a man in New York yesterday and a policeman on the scene failed to arrest the chauffeur. The injured man says he is ready to buy pistols for people who want to shoot speed-exceeding chauffeurs. This man's feelings are shared by countless others who realize the seriousness of auto speeding through built-up sections. The wanton disregard for the rights of pedestrians shown by foolhardy chauffeurs is apparent every day and something should be done to check the recklessness.

The opposition to Dr. William J. Shearer as county superintendent of schools was without any good reason and no sensible person, having regard for the advancement of the public school system in Union County, would consider the arguments of his enemies for a single moment. Dr. Shearer is known as a sound educator whose ideas have already been put in use throughout the country and, as the Elizabeth Journal says, his reappointment "is a matter of much gratification to all who have at heart the interests of the cause of education in our county."

CONDUCTOR BURIED.

Hurtt, the New Jersey Central's veteran conductor who died suddenly on his train Monday. They took place at his late home on West Front street and were in charge of Rev. J. R. Bryant.

Afterward Winfield Scott Post, No. 78, G. A. R., took charge with J. F. Berg as chaplain and William [illegible] Smith as commander. At Hillside cemetery, where burial was made, the full military service was observed.

Those who acted as pall bearers were Bennett Brittin, Louis Hurtt, John W. Coddington, William B. Ayers, H. Craig Smith and Wallace Coriell.

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

George J. Wilson, of South Second street, formerly at Pond's, has taken a position in a shop at Tottenville, S. I.

Monte Knight, of West Fifth street, is detained from work by a bad case of blood poisoning in one of his fingers.

Peter Sweeney has left the Perin-Freres glove factory and has secured an excellent position in a machine shop at Bayonne.

The Potter plant is taking on some of its employes laid off recently and is also adding new men. Robert Ellis, Joseph Bird and George Schultz are among the machinists to be re-employed.

One department of the Manganese Safe Works has a rush on at present that necessitates overtime until 10 o'clock each night. The company has recently received an order for a large fire proof vault.

While working over an emery wheel, Monday, James Mahoney, of the Pond shop, accidentally had the middle finger of the left hand badly ground. It was dressed by Robert Gow but he will be unable to resume his position for a week.

A man in the machine department of the Potter plant holds the record for faithful services. He has been with the firm eighteen years and in that time has never once been late to work and has been absent from his place only on account of sickness or matters of extreme importance. It is said the flooring about his machine has been replaced seven times, having been worn out by his walking to and fro.

The following officers were elected at the bowling meeting last evening: C. B. Koons, president; M. C. Sutphen, secretary and manager; Frank A. Neal, treasurer. All of these officers have been interested in bowling at the Y. M. C. A. for several years, and have done much to promote interest in the sport among the members.

Demonstration "Arnold" Knit Goods.

The "Arnold" Knit Bath Apron—You can make a bath a "joy forever" for baby and for yourself too, if you use the "Arnold" Knit Bath Apron. APRON, because it goes around your waist and you can handle baby with greater ease and safety. The back is soft knit cotton; the face heavily fleeced with long downy nap which so quickly absorbs moisture that before there is time to get chilly, baby is dry and happy. Washes without shrinking. Neatly bound and finished. Price $1.00.

The "Arnold" Knit Knickerbockers for Children—Appeal to the judgement and good taste of every sensible mother. You need only to see them to be convinced of their superiority over muslin, cambric or other harsh, unelastic materials which prevent that freedom of motion so necessary to the health of young children. The "Arnold" Knickerbockers, single fold, for summer wear, are cool, light and elastic. Cut full to allow for binding or cramping. Wear like iron. Launder without starch; no rough "saw" edges Prices range from 35c to 80c.

Children's Knit Knickerbocker Drawers (Arnold Goods)—Are you a sensible mother? Then this is good news for you. Instead of the stiff, uncomfortable muslin, here are drawers of fine cotton yarn, knit into a soft, elastic fabric, delightful to the touch, free from seams and rough edges, porous and very thin. Absorbs perspiration and protects against colds. Does not shrink in washing. The garments are made in Knickerbocker shape, so liberally cut, so elastic that they cannot bind in any position. You owe it to the child to try them. 35c to 80c.

The "Arnold" Knit Knickerbocker Drawers for Children—Softer than muslin. Finely knit, of best cotton yarn. Comfortable. Can't chafe the tender skin. Absorb perspiration and let it evaporate quickly—no colds. Is that attractive? Then listen: They are elastic and of so full cut a pattern that they allow freedom of motion in any position. That's important to a growing child. Washable, unshrinkable, long wearing. Summer weights, 35c to 80c.

Large coal chutes will be placed near one end such as are in the Jersey City yards, and a large pit will be dug for ashes from the engines. P. H. S.'S BATTALION NOW TO BE REORGANIZED

PRINCIPAL TRAVELL ORDERS CADETS TO ASSEMBLE MONDAY.

According to the new plans of the Board of Education, the work in military drill at the Plainfield High School will count as a part of the regular school course, and will be elective as are the other studies. The work was conducted on this basis for a part of last year and as an extra inducement to the young men to take part in the drill, it was granted that all those who had drilled regularly in former years should receive credit for the amount of work done. The entire course in drill, which will count one point towards graduation, includes five years of work for each cadet. This gives a pupil entering the preparatory class an extra point in his course if he followed the work in drill.

Principal Travell announced at the chapel exercises yesterday morning that the first steps toward the reorganization of the battalion would be taken next Monday afternoon when the cadets will meet at the Company K armory for a discussion of the work for the ensuing year, and for a short drill. An important change will be introduced into the work. Instead of following the old army and navy regulations which the battalion has used for the last ten years, they will go by the New Jersey regulations, a tactic book more recently published, and more up-to-date. The manual of arms is considerably different in the new regulations, but aside from this change, there will be no difficulty in instructing the cadets according to the more recent code. The manoeuvres by company and by battalion will be practically the same.

As to the definite plans of this year's work, Commandant Macnab was unable to announce anything as yet. It is probable that the work will be by the battalion, which will consist of two, and if possible three companies. The plans of the work, and the official orders await the appointment of the complete staff of officers. There are but few of the officers whose positions are known at the present time. The Major of the battalion will be Harry G. Thompson, but the captains and other commissioned officers will be chosen by competitive examination. These examinations in military tactics will take place next week, and will be written. The appointments will be made at the discretion of the commandant and the principal. In considering the examinations notice will be taken of the competitor, the commanding ability, and the knowledge of the regulations.

Following the appointment of the officers, a meeting will be held at which the course of military drill to be pursued will be outlined. Officers' meetings will be held monthly and the work reviewed at that time.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 9.

Topic.—Helping one another.—Rom. xv, 1-7. (An honorary members' meeting.)

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

The honorary members of the Christian Endeavor society are not unlike the soldiers who have laid aside the duties of war and have surrendered their places to younger men, yet their interest in the organization and its work does not cease, and with what joy they meet with former comrades and talk over the old days and past experiences! But their interest should not end here. They should keep up an interest in the young and give them whenever possible the advantage of their sympathy and previous experience, and in their turn the young soldiers should keep up an interest in them and whenever possible help them and sympathize with them. Age and youth should always co-operate. This is especially true in Endeavor work. "Once an Endeavorer, always an Endeavorer," has ever been Mr. Baer's interpretation of Christian Endeavor membership. On this occasion, therefore, may a beautiful spirit of sympathy, co-operation and helpfulness be manifested in every Endeavor society throughout the world.

"Helping one another" is one of the cardinal virtues of Christianity. Nor can a true Christian disposition be better manifested than by a sincere, practical interest in the needs of others.

1. Helping one another is a Christian duty. "We, then, that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of others and not to please ourselves." "Ought" is a strong word. It leaves no room for the consultation of personal inclination or desire; it expresses a duty, and it is the duty of Christians to help one another. "Bear ye one another's burdens and thus fulfill the law of Christ" is the apostle's command to the Galatians. And how little helps sometimes, though we may not recognize the fact! A kind word, a letter of sympathy, a warm shake of the hand, a prayer, practical assistance—how such things help and cheer us in the journey of life!

2. Helping one another is a blessing. Performed duties are always blessings. "And not to please ourselves." The Christian who ceases to help others soon comes to living simply for himself, and absolute selfishness is the most miserable condition into which we can come. Life becomes limited and stunted. We find ourselves "of all men most miserable." It has been said that giving is the great antidote to miserliness for those who are getting immensely rich or who have great riches. Self interest should encourage us to sympathy and helpfulness for others.

3. The purpose of helping one another. "Let every one of us please his neighbor for his good to edification." Spiritual good is the purpose of Christian helpfulness. That should ever be kept in mind. The cup of cold water is given to quench the thirst, but it affords an opportunity to speak to the thirsty one of the living water that quenches the thirst forever.

4. The example of Christ teaches us to help one another. "For even Christ pleased not Himself." He might have done so, but He did not. He is our great example. Let us follow His example in helping others.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. xxxv, 1-10; xli, 6; lxi, 1-3; Dan. xii, 3; Matt. xiv, 15-21; xxviii, 16-20; Luke v, 17-26; x, 25-37; Phil. ii, 1-12; Gal. vi, 2.

In the Ozarks.

At the recent rally of the Kansas City (Mo.) Union Miss Haus gave a very graphic description of how the young women of a society in the Ozarks determined to revolutionize their town, saying those familiar with the "tone" of a lumber town would appreciate the difficulty of the undertaking. Prayerfully they worked, under sealed orders given out every week, and their labors were not in vain, for gradually the leaven began to work, and all but one of the young men accepted Christ during a revival held there a little later. From four active members the society has increased to sixty active members, and the end is not yet. This stirring message induced twenty-seven Endeavorers who heard her story to pledge themselves to become soul winners this year.

Two Fanny Crosby Endeavorgrams.

Christian Endeavor Juniors, I'm going to lock you up in my heart. It's big enough to hold you all. I'm going to pray for you. You pray for me.

It's a sweet, precious thought to me that the first face my eyes shall ever look upon is that of my Saviour. "I shall see Him first of all!" This is blessing enough for all of our Christian Endeavor.—Fanny J. Crosby, the Blind Hymn Writer.

Three Nuggets From India.

Christian Endeavor is not a spent force; it is a vital force.

I prophesy that the greatest Christian convention has yet to be held, and it will be a Christian Endeavor convention in India.

God can use weak Christians to do things that nobody else can do. Here's a keynote for Christian Endeavorers.—Rev. F. S. Hatch, Field Secretary for India.

Y. P. S. C. E.

YOUTH is the time the habits form.
YOUTH roots the oak to stand the storm.

PRAYER grounds the life in highest ways.
PRAYER serves to strengthen youthful days.

SIN crouches at the heart ajar.
SIN forces many a bolt and bar.

CHRIST brings abiding peace of heart
CHRIST only makes all sin depart.

ENDEAVOR, then, is Christward lift.
ENDEAVOR—highest heaven's gift.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Oct. 9: "Helping One Another."—Rom. xv, 1-7.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES.

"Now, we that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak and not to please ourselves."

How that chills our ardor! Just when we have got so we can leap and run and get along fairly well without holding on to things we are not to have the chance to make speed, but must hold up and help along somebody who happens to be lame or just lazy. "How provoking!" If you didn't say that out loud, you did think it and felt it inside.

Why couldn't everybody have been made strong and reasonable and nice? How much pleasanter it would have been for us if everybody had been made so as to be kind and agreeable to us! The world would have been much more attractive to us, and we should have been happier. So we think.

Well, things and folks were not all made that way, that is certain. So the more important question for us to answer is, "What shall we best do about it?"

Perhaps as good a beginning as we can make will be to look around carefully and see how many weak ones there are whom we are called to help carry. It may be well to look over their infirmities so as to know better what our burden is to be. If you dare do it, take a paper and set down the names, and against them put in plain terms the chief difficulty with each one as you see it. When this list is finished go over it and think in each case what is needed to make that one just about right. Set that down also.

Now take yourself in hand and make an inventory of your strength. Be careful not to miss any point of excellence or underrate its value. Incidentally you may perhaps have some infirmity thrust into notice. Don't stop for that unless to jot it down in a place by itself. If any others appear, put them together. This is a real scientific way to study your work and the means at hand for doing it. If you have never tried this do not pass the suggestion lightly by. If you will give it a fair trial you will learn more about yourself and your neighbors in a little time than you ever imagined possible.

You will also learn something besides, possibly of more worth. You will awake to the fact that folks are all very much alike. All have some infirmity and each has some power.

Beyond this lies another truth you will discover. All need to hang together. Each is needed by the others. None are so weak but they can help somehow. None are so strong but they need help at some time. Interdependence and not independence is the condition in which we find ourselves. We must help one another.

Look a bit deeper and you will see the reason for this and bless God that He has placed weakness and strength over against each other so closely in this world.

When you stop using your strength in exhibition athletics and begin to pick up some of the infirmities you have listed, you get a new insight into living. You discover first of all that you are not as strong as you thought you were and not quite as clever. It sobers and humbles some. It hurts, but that doesn't harm you. After the smarting passes you learn how to carry more easily. Skill comes with practice.

Soon you learn something else. You can carry bigger loads than at first. You are stronger than you were or than you thought you were. Then you feel better.

At first the work may be irksome and done only from a sense of duty. At length you get accustomed to it, then get to liking to do it, and finally your whole life becomes absorbed in it. Then some glad day you are aroused to the fact that you have come into closest fellowship with Jesus and are doing His work. You have penetrated the mystery of happiness. It lies in the highlands of character beyond the hills of helpfulness.

The Rising Tide.

The tide is rising. It submerges point after point of weedy rock and runs farther and farther up into the clefts of the craggy shore, each wave flinging its crest upon the upper levels, to pour back in noisy waterfalls whose music dies to silence as the next wave comes. Up the rock ladder toward the lower pool the breakers climb and climb. At last a single wave throws its spray over the barrier wall, and as its drops fall life stirs in all the shady hollows under kelp fringe and waving weed. Stillness returns and then another dash of spray, a climbing wave whose crest falls over, a swift recurring tribute from the sea to its imprisoned child, until at last the ocean takes the pool to its embrace again to nourish and delight it and prepare it for renewed trial of loneliness when the tide goes out. It has the sorrow of waiting; it has also the patience of hope. If for awhile it lies bare to the sun's rays and the wind's buffeting, it belongs by nature and by expectation to the power and beauty and purpose of the sea that never fails to come to its relief. So God's purpose and refreshment include our waiting as completely as our active hours, and so His help is sure. But the poor, self dependent pool, to whose assistance the ocean never climbs, shrinks in the sun and gathers the dust of the world and withers away at last with heat and drought, unsatisfied.—Congregationalist.

Helping Others.

Some people might find time for helping one another if they were not so busy helping themselves.—Chicago Standard.

Charity should start from the heart and get out into the world by the way of the pocketbook.—Christian Instructor.

Tears, Idle Tears!

Time For Women to Stop Weeping

AT this stage of the evolution of the feminine sex it is time for grown women of sound mind to stop crying. For 200 years they have read in poetry and novels that "woman's tears" were to female creatures what his fists are to a man.

If there ever was any truth in the saying that woman's tears move man there is none now. The old gag was worn out long ago. It ought to have been. Woman's tears—shed for buncombe, as is the case half the time—either bore and irritate a man or else they harden his heart tougher than

"BEAUTIFULLY," REPLIED THE MONSTER.

Pharaoh's when he would not let the children of Israel go. It is like this:

A certain man had made up his mind to do something his wife opposed. It was his own affair—if married folk ever can have any private affair—but madame set herself against it because she would be left alone for a time. Not being a baby or a lunatic, or yet bedridden, she was considered by the husband able to amuse herself awhile. Not so looked she upon the case, and she adopted a ruse to make him give in. In the deadest watches of the night, when all was darkness and all the world was asleep, supposedly, the husband was suddenly awakened by the sound of hysterical weeping, "convulsive sobbing," the feminine novelist has called it time out of mind. The sound came from his wife.

The husband, fully awake during the performance, smiled grimly to himself and made not a sound. He had become used to female sobs. He had been ten years married. Next morning at breakfast the wife, anxious to know whether her ruse had succeeded, asked him how he had slept last night, and that unfeeling monster of a man was mean enough to answer, "Beautifully; never better."

As this was the result of all that feminine "hysterical weeping," madam had reddened and swollen her nose, had made her eyes sunken and red, her face sallow and wretched looking, had shivered the timbers of her nerves and kept herself awake half the night, all for nothing.

The husband knew it was posing, all posing, and even if he had not the scenes would only have served to turn him further away from the woman.

It is true the penny dreadful still says, "She turned her tear bedimmed eyes full upon him," but it is no good. Tear bedimmed eyes and the red nose which must accompany them are not pretty or pleasant to look at.

Recently men writers have been devoting considerable space to the question of what makes women weep. Evidently they are of opinion that the convulsive sobbing gag looks queer alongside the college training and athletic development of the new woman. The new woman, by the way, is not the tear shedding woman.

One gentleman asserts that two-thirds of the weeping of women is posing, mere posing for effect. They have their tear glands under ready control, so they can pour out the accommodating drops whenever and wherever these will apparently do the most good. Perhaps this is so to some extent. Another man, a noted literary man, thinks women sometimes cry so that they may be petted. Perhaps this is true or was in old woman days. Children and dumb animals in bondage instinctively crave petting.

Note, O my sisters, what one man writes:

"A deeply rooted tradition this, the efficacy of tears over the hard heart of man, and small wonder that woman nourished on novels should have come to accept it as an article of faith. And it is only by her bitter and frequent failures that she learns—if she ever does learn—the truth. This is the truth: Tears are an unmitigated and disastrous bore to the average man."

On general principles every manifestation of unpleasant emotion is evil and works evil to the manifester. Weeping destroys a woman's good looks and her nervous system and makes her an object to be avoided. Besides and more than all, it is becoming unfashionable. Cut it out!

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy." "The Girl at the Halfway House." Etc.

(Copyright, 1902, by Emerson Hough.)

John Law was in London on no such blind quest as he had himself declared. He was here by the invitation, secret yet none the less obligatory, of Montague, controller of the financial policy of England. And he was to meet, here upon this fair morning, none less than my Lord Somers, keeper of the seals; none less than Sir Isaac Newton, the greatest mathematician of his time; none less than John Locke, the most learned philosopher of the day. Strong company this, for a young and unknown man, yet in the belief of Montague, himself a young man and a gambler by instinct, not too strong for this young Scotchman who had startled the parliament of his own land by some of the most remarkable theories of finance which had ever been proposed in any country or to any government. As Law had himself arrogantly announced, he was indeed a philosopher and a mathematician, young as he was; and these things Montague was himself keen enough to know.

It promised, then, to be a strange and interesting council, this which was to meet to-day at the Bank of England to adjust the value of England's coinage; two philosophers, one pompous trimmer and two gamblers; the younger and more daring of whom was now calmly threading the streets of London on his way to a meeting which might mean much to him.

All those at the board looked with some intentness at the figure of the young man from the North, who came as the guest of Montague. With small formality, the latter rose and advanced to meet Law with an eager grasp of the hand. He made him known to the others present promptly, but with a half apology.

"Gentlemen," said he, "I have made bold to ask the presence with us of a young man who has much concerned himself with problems such as those which we have now in hand. Sir Isaac Newton, this is Mr. Law of Edinboro'. Mr. Law, the fame of John Locke I need not lay before you, and of my Lord Somers you need no advice. Mr. Law, I shall pray you to be seated.

"I shall but serve as your mouthpiece to the court, gentlemen," resumed Montague, seating himself and turning at once to the business of the day. "We are all agreed as to the urgency of the case. The king needs behind him in these times a contented people. You have already seen the imminence of a popular discontent which may shake the throne of England, none too safe in these days of change. That we must reorganize the coinage is understood and agreed. The question is, how best to do this without further unsettling the times." One after another, he called upon each of those present for suggestions, leaving John Law to the test.

"Mr. Law," said Montague, "by your leave and by the leave of these gentlemen here present, I shall take the liberty of asking you if there doth occur to your mind any plan by which we may be relieved of certain of these difficulties. I am aware, sir, that you are much a student in these matters."

A grave silence fell upon all. John Law, young, confident and arrogant in many ways as he was, none the less possessed sobriety and depth of thought, just as he possessed the external dignity to give it fitting vehicle. He gazed now at the men before him, not with timorousness or trepidation. His face was grave, and he returned their glances calmly as he rose and made the speech which, unknown to himself, was presently to prove so important in his life.

"My lords," said he, "and gentlemen of this council, I am ill-fitted to be present here, and ill-fitted to add my advice to that which has been given. It is not for me to go beyond the purpose of this meeting, or to lay before you certain plans of my own regarding the credit of nations. I may start simply from established principles of human nature.

"It is true that the coinage is a creature of the government. Yet I believe it to be true that the government lives purely upon credit; which is to say, the confidence of the people in that government.

"Now, we may reason in this matter from the lesser relations of our daily life. What manner of man do we most trust among those whom we meet? Surely, the honest man, the plain man, the one whose directness and integrity we do not doubt. Truly you may witness the nature of such a man in the manner of his speech, in his mien, in his conduct. Therefore, my lords and gentlemen, it seems to me plain that we shall best gain confidence for ourselves if we act in the most simple fashion.

"Let us take up this matter direct-ly with parliament, not seeking to evade the knowledge of parliament in any fashion; for, as we know, the parliament and the king are not the best bed-fellows these days, and the one is ready enough to suspect the other. Let us have a bill framed for parliament—such bill made upon the decisions of these learned gentlemen present. Above all things, let us act with perfect openness.

"As to the plan itself, it seems that a few things may be held safe and sure. Since we cannot use the old coin, then surely we must have a new coin, milled coin, which Charles, the earlier king of England, has decreed. Surely, too, as our learned friend has wisely stated, the loss in any recoinage ought, in full justice and honesty, to fall not upon the people of England, but upon the government of England. It seems equally plain to me there must be a day set after which the old coin may no longer be used. Set it some months ahead, not, as my Lord Keeper suggests, but a few days; so that full notice may be given to all. Make your campaign free and plain, and place it so that it may be known, not only of parliament, but of all the world. Thus you establish yourselves in the confidence of parliament and in the good graces of this people, from whom the taxes must ultimately come."

Montague's hands smote again upon the table with a gesture of conviction. John Locke shifted again in his chair. Sir Isaac and the lord keeper gazed steadfastly at this young man who stood before them, calmly, assuredly, and yet with no assumption in his mien.

"Moreover," went on John Law, calmly, "there is this further benefit to be gained, as I am sure my countryman, Mr. Paterson, has long ago made plain. It is not a question of the wealth of England, but a question of the confidence of the people in the throne. There is money in abundance in England. It is the province of my lord chancellor to wheedle it out of those coffers where it is concealed and place it before the uses of the king. Gentlemen, it is confidence that we need. There will be no trouble to secure loans of money in this rich land, but the taxes must be the pledge to your bankers. This new Bank of England will furnish you what moneys you may need. Secure them only by the pledge of such taxes as you feel the people may not resent; give the people, free of cost, a coinage which they can trust; and then, it seems to me, my lords and gentlemen, the problem of the revenue may be thought solved simply and easily—solved, too, without irritating either the people or the parliament, or endangering the relations of parliament and the throne."

The conviction which fell upon all found its best expression in the face of Montague. The youth and nervousness of the man passed away upon the instant. He sat there sober and thoughtful, quiet and resolved.

"Gentlemen," said he at last, slowly, "my course is plain from this instant. I shall draw the bill and it shall go to parliament. The expense of this recoinage I am sure we can find maintained by the stockholders of the Bank of England, and for their pay we shall propose a new tax upon the people of England We shall tax the windows of the houses of England, and hence tax not only the poor but the rich of England, and that proportionately with their wealth. As for the coin of England, it shall be honest coin, made honest and kept honest, at no cost to the people of old England. Sirs, my heart is lighter than it has been for many days."

The last trace of formality in the meeting having at length vanished, Montague made his way rapidly to the foot of the table. He caught Law by both his hands.

"Sir," said he, "you helped us at the last stage of our ascent. A mistake here had been ruinous, not only to myself and friends, but to the safety of the whole government. You spoke wisely and practically. Sir, if I can ever in all my life serve you, command me, and at whatever price you name. I am not yet done with you, sir," resumed Montague, casting his arm boyishly about the other's shoulder as they walked out. "We must meet again to discuss certain problems of the currency which, I bethink me, you have studied deeply. Keep you here in London, for I shall have need of you. Within the month, perhaps within the week, I shall require you. England needs men who can do more than dawdle. Pray you, keep me advised where you may be found."

There was ill omen in the light reply. "Why, as to that, my lord," said Law, "if you should think my poor services useful, your servants might get trace of me at the Green Lion—unless I should be in prison! No man knoweth what may come."

Montague laughed lightly. "At the Green Lion, or in Newgate itself," said he. "Be ready, for I have not yet done with you."

CHAPTER VI.

THE RESOLUTION OF MR. LAW.

The problems of England's troubled finances, the questions of the coinage, the gossip of the king's embroilments with the parliament—these things, it may again be said, occupied Law's mind far less than the question of gaining audience with his fair rescuer of the morn at Sadler's Wells. This was the puzzle which, resolve as he might, not even his audacious wit was able to provide with plausible solution. He pondered the matter in a hundred different pleasing phases as he passed from the Bank of England through the crowded streets of London, and so at length found himself at the shabby little lodgings in Bradwell street, where he and his brother had, for the time, taken up quarters.

"It starteth well, my boy," cried he, gaily, to his brother, when at length he had found his way up the narrow stair into the little room, and discovered Will patiently awaiting his return. "Already two of my errands are well acquit."

"You have, then, sent the letters to our goldsmith here?" said Will.

BABY BOY IN SEWER.

MOTHER CONSIDERS RESCUE DIRECT WORK OF GOD.

Fell Through Inlet Into the Mud and Stayed There All Night—Head Not Covered—Found 19 Hours Later.

Carl, the two years and three months old child of Fred Natzke disappeared from its home, No. 401 Division street, Chicago, at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday, and was lost to view until the following afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when Henry Schuette and Alexander Crowe rescued it from its 19 hours' imprisonment in a sewer inlet on Winchester avenue, near West Division street.

"Felled down, mamma. Felled down, mamma," was all little Carl could say when brought home, yet his quick cuddling to his mother's breast and his trembling as he uttered the words, told eloquently his terrible experience.

Through all the dark Thursday night and through the long rainy hours of Friday the baby had lain two feet beneath the street level, imprisoned in a hole 18 by 12 inches. His legs and most of his body had been in mud and slime for all that time. He was semiconscious when found, and his feeble cries were what attracted Schuette's attention. After a vigorous rubbing, administration of restoratives and a meal of bread and milk, the little fellow was physically scarcely the worse for his exposure, although nervous and distressed. Mrs. Natzke, who is declared to be profoundly religious, insisted that the recovery of her baby was a miracle.

"This is the direct work of God," she said, as she tenderly bent over the child. "It is as plain a miracle as ever has been worked, for no baby who was not watched directly over by God could have lived where Carl was found. My husband and I prayed all Thursday night, even while we searched, and our baby was given back to us in answer to that prayer."

"Mamma, mamma," suddenly cried Carl, hiding his face against his mother's arm and sobbing.

"He is utterly unstrung, and his nervous system quite out of order as a result of the experience," explained Mrs. Natzke. She soothed the baby with kisses and a few words of lullaby, and he grew quiet again.

"While I called in a doctor when I got Carl back," she went on, "I only did it because the neighbors insisted. For six years there has not been a doctor in the house; we believe that God will care for us and our little ones in sickness; I am not a Christian scientist; I am simply a Christian. If God would keep my baby safe for 19 hours He certainly would see that no ill-effects came to him. My faith is deep and is wonderfully rewarded."

While Carl is too young to give any account whatever of his accident his mother explains that he must have wandered out of the back gate Thursday evening just after supper. Half a block down the lane is Winchester avenue, and the young rover headed for the open street. On reaching it he must have gone toward Division street. Thirty feet from the lane exit, close beside the curb, is the opening of the sewer, and into this the baby fell feet first. He slipped down until his head was well out of sight, and there he stuck.

"We must have passed over his head three or four times while searching for him," said Mrs. Nitzke.

When Schuette passed the inlet Friday he heard a noise which he thought was caused by a cat. He leaned down to investigate, and almost at once saw the head of the baby. He called for help, and Crowe responded. With a crowbar the latter pried off the cover of the manhole near the inlet, and in a few seconds the small, mud-stained form had been lifted to the street.

Fish Story from Delaware.

From Seaford, Delaware, comes a story which relates to a pike swallowing many fish, so many wise persons may swallow the yarn. While cleaning a large pike Mrs. John Harris, a resident of the town, was surprised to find when she cut it open another pike of ordinary size in its stomach. After finishing cleaning and salting the first pike, she then started to clean the second, and was still further amazed when she discovered another pike in the second one's stomach. She then proceeded to cut open the third one, and was still more astonished to find a minnow in its stomach with a small hook in its mouth. She called her husband to look at the four fish, and he declared he had never seen or heard of so many fish being in the stomach of one fish. The pike was caught in Hearn's mill pond, near here, a place noted for large pike.

BRIGGS AND CRAIG WIN HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENT

EASILY DEFEAT THEIR OPPONENTS IN THE DOUBLES PLAYED YESTERDAY.

Repeating their achievement of last year, Chester H. Briggs and Howard H. Craig won the doubles in the Plainfield High School tennis tournament yesterday afternoon on the Albert street courts. They defeated Smith and Gavett in the final match by the score of 6-2, 6 3, 6 3. The sets were played in a fast style, and drew much applause from the spectators who thronged the side lines.

The set which surprised most of the spectators was the one in the semi-finals between Collier and Thompson and Smith and Gavett. The match was won by the latter combination, the score being 6 2, 6-2.

In the other set in the semi-finals, Craig and Briggs had practically an easy thing with Travell and Lapsley, whom they completely out-classed.

eight years play with repudiation? How can any one who is 'sane' trust an organization that omits any mention of its regret for the past, and that leaves a gaping void in its platform of such proportions that the Presidential candidate himself, even though he had twice voted for free silver; attempted to plug it up in misfit fashion by a belated despatch to his lieutenant at St. Louis?

"No, the farmers, the artisans and wage earners generally, having been busy during the administration of William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt, and remembering the closed doors and soup houses prevalent during the last Democratic administration, will therefore decline the proposition to exchange a state of certainty for an experiment, and will gladly vote for the nominees of the Republican ticket standing as they do on a platform which is clear and explicit and which needs no belated addition or corrective apology from its candidates in order to make it appear intelligible and definite to the voters.

"The party of Sumner, Lincoln, Seward, Grant, Chase, Blaine, Garfield and Roosevelt, a party of construction and not of opposition, can safely be trusted to properly handle the various questions as they may arise from time to time, whether they be of tariff or finance or the re-establishment of a Merchant Marine or the building of an Isthmian canal.

"Mindful as ever of those who in the dark days nearly half a century ago fought for the Union, whether on land or sea, the Republican party proposes to see that justice is accorded to them on proper terms and with the least possible personal hardship, and will not insist on exasperating, technicalities in order that they may receive their due. The Democratic candidate frankly says he will revoke that pension order if he is elected President. But would he not be dependent upon Republican co-operation in order to put it on the statute books again?

"For your attention, and for the honor the rest of the county confers on Plainfield, the great Republican stronghold, in making me your presiding officer, I thank you, and as no factional differences exist, a united and enthusiastic Republican party will contribute an unprecedented majority towards the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks, Edward C. Stokes, Congressman Fowler and the nominees of this convention."

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold its first fall meeting in the lecture room of the church tomorrow afternoon.

Members of the Epworth League in the local M. E. churches will go to Westfield tonight to attend a rally to be held at the M. E. church in that place. They will make the trip by trolley.

The first regular meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church was held at the church paiors yesterday afternoon and was attended by members of both the Park Avenue and the First Baptist church societies. The regular routine business of the society was transacted, and the speaker of the afternoon was introduced. She was Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, of Elizabeth, and she made an interesting address on the subject, "An Outline of the Study of Japan." This paper was the one which Mrs. Pettit read recently at the missionary conference at Northfield and was a decidedly interesting and instructive talk. Mrs. Pettit made reference in her address to the religious atmosphere of Japan and its relation to the present struggle with Russia.

Interesting reports were presented at the executive committee meeting of the Plainfield City Union of King's Daughters held this morning at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Reed, of Myrtle avenue, a more detailed account of which will be given at the semi-annual meeting of the organization to be held the last of the month at a place and date to be decided upon later.

It was decided to have the organization incorporated and steps will be taken toward that end at once. The treasurer reported a balance of $649 and the season's work was considered very successful. Since leaving the camp on September 22 and up to October 1, Miss DeLany, the city nurse, has made thirty-one visits.

There were fifty-six members present. Mrs. J. M. Tier, as superintendent of the society, was in charge.

These officers and the chairman of the committees were chosen:

Local Fire Chief Barely Escapes Injury in a Collision of Trolleys.

Chief T. O. Doane, of the local fire department, narrowly escaped serious injury in a crash of trolley cars between Elizabeth and Newark yesterday. He was standing on the back platform of one of the through cars when another one came up behind and struck it at almost full speed. The chief was pitched forward and colliding with the guard rail in front of him was temporarily disabled. He eventually fully recovered and today feels no ill effect.

Several other passengers were quite badly hurt in the crash, which the motorman of the rear car said was due to his brake failing to work.

Mr. Fowler Makes Harmony Speech at Union Convention.

SUMMIT IS CONTENTED

No Factional Fights This Year—The Ticket Selected—The Committees.

Perfect harmony and great enthusiasm were marked features of the Union County Republican convention held yesterday afternoon in Lyceum Theatre, Elizabeth. Not in several years has the party in this county shown such unanimity and in the convention there was not even a trace of disaffection. While United States Senator John Kean was unable to be present, Congressman Charles N. Fowler was there and in a short speech that he made at the close of the session, he declared that every one present was for the re-election of Mr. Kean, and so was he. This brought forth the wildest enthusiasm and applause.

Mr. Fowler received a flattering reception upon his entrance to the platform. Briefly, the Congressman said that he was for the Republican platform adopted at Chicago, the candidates on the National ticket, the candidate for Governor, E. C. Stokes, and every candidate nominated at the county convention. He assured all that he would work just as hard for every man nominated, from the top of the ticket to the bottom, as he worked for himself. Mr. Fowler aroused the greatest enthusiasm by his impressive and earnest manner.

The county ticket as published in yesterday's issue, went through according to the regular programme, there being not the slightest hitch or contest. After the nominations were made unanimous, the candidates were escorted to the platform by a committee of seven, of which Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk was the chairman. Ernest R. Ackerman, chairman of the convention, introduced each one and the reception was cordial. Each nominee, with the exception of Edward Coyne who is ill, made a few remarks, thanking the delegates for the honor conferred and promising to do all in their power toward the success of the ticket. Interspersing the business of the convention, Datter's band played popular selections, enlivening the occasion.

W. R. Littell, of the Eighth ward, Elizabeth, nominated James O. Calvert for county clerk; Charles J. Fisk nominated Frank H. Smith for registrar of deeds and mortgages; A. E. Woodruff, of Rahway, nominated Peter H. Tillman, of that place, for the Assembly; J. B. Turner nominated Edward Coyne, of Elizabeth, for the Assembly, and J. O. Clark nominated George Embree, of Westfield, for the Assembly, while Mayor Howe, of Roselle, nominated Dr. P. M. Pierson, of that place, for coroner.

It was expected that Summit might make a fight for the county clerk nomination, but the happy remarks of Rutherford Franklin, of that place, took the convention by storm, when after a lengthy address in which he told how Summit had been promised everything during the past ten years and each year was told to "just come down next year," he presented the votes of the delegates for James O. Calvert, and afterward for the other nominees. In doing so he said that next year a sheriff will be nominated and "Summit will come down expecting something."

The good nature of Mr. Franklin and his original wit won friends for him and his town and if Summit fails to capture something another year it will not be the fault of the convention, so said the delegates. In presenting the name of Dr. Pierson for the nomination of coroner, Mayor Howe said it was the first time Roselle had ever asked for anything, whereupon Mr. Franklin congratulated Roselle upon her first appearance, at the same time seconding the nomination for his delegates.

As there was but one nominee for each office, the secretary cast the ballot, after which the nominations were made unanimous.

As stated yesterday, Hamilton F. Kean called the convention to order, and upon his recommendation Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, was made temporary and permanent chairman. The secretaries were Robert L. Patterson, of Elizabeth; William Cook, of Linden; Asa F. Randolph, of Plainfield, and the vice presidents, Henry Jardine, of Rahway; Everard K. Tucker, of Elizabeth; Augustus L. Alpers, of Westfield.

Charles J. Fisk then moved the appointment of the various committees

ELEVENTH REGT. REUNION

Men Who Faced Shot and Shell Gather at Morristown.

SEVENTY SURVIVORS

Some Plainfielders Among the Number—War Record of Gallant 11th.

Morristown, replete with reminiscences of Revolutionary days, added to its reputation of old-time generosity yesterday by entertaining under the auspices of General A. T. A. Torbert Post, G. A. R., the surviving members of the Eleventh Regiment New Jersey Veteran Association. In the State House at Trenton are five sets of colors, pierced by shot and shell, which were carried by this command to victory.

Seventy members of this old fighting regiment were present, including Thos. Titsworth, William Hand and John Goodwin. T. O. Doane, Isaac Randolph, Henry Mollison and W. H. Paine could not attend.

The members of Torbert Post escorted them to the post rooms, on Washington street, carriages being provided for the women. There the annual business meeting of the regiment association was held. During its session the wives of the members were given carriage drives about Morristown.

The meeting was presided over by Colonel John Schoonover, the president, of Trenton; Bishop W. Maines, of the Soldiers' Home at Kearny, the secretary, also being present. Mr. Schoonover was re-elected president and Mr. Maines secretary.

Dinner was served by the women of Hope League in the county hall. Among the decorations of the room were two banners, bearing a long list of the battles in which the regiment was engaged. There are only two survivors of the Eleventh Regiment living in Morristown, Joseph H. Berry and Gilbert D. Youngs.

During the war but few, if any regiment in the Union army lost a greater percentage in a single day's battle. Their brave conduct upon that battlefield was the cause of their name being recorded by Colonel Fox, the government historian, upon the official roll of honor.

Recruiting for this regiment was commenced in May, 1862, under the first call of President Lincoln for 300,000 volunteers to serve for three years. Three days after leaving Trenton the regiment received its first lesson in actual warfare at the second battle of Bull Run, where from August 28 to August 30, it was held in reserve, guarding Chain Bridge, across the Potomac River. The first loss was at Fredericksburg, Va. Then followed the battle of Chancellorsville in May, 1863, where the regiment lost 192 men. The Eleventh Regiment with the army started on the long march which terminated in the battle of Gettysburg. The scene at bivouac at Emmetsburg, Md., when the regiment was formed in a hollow square, was memorable.

The regiment crossed the Rappahannock River to Culpepper and fought at Kelly's Ford. Then the regiment fought in the battle of Locust Grove, where Chaplain E. Clark Uline, now a Presbyterian minister at Phillipsburg, was efficient in caring for the wounded. At the battle of Mine Run the Rapidan was recrossed. After breaking camp in May, 1864, the Eleventh Regiment with the main army went over the river on pontoon bridges and fought for several days in the wilderness, participating in the charges at Spottsylvania. At North Anne River and Tolapotomy Creek the regiment fought its way to Cold Harbor, where 10,000 men were killed or wounded in about thirty minutes. The regiment passed to Petersburg, where it lay for months in the trenches. On Sunday, February 5, 1863, at the battle of Hatcher's Run, the regiment repelled three desperate charges by a superior force.

The Eleventh Regiment was present at the surrender of General Lee's army at Appomattox, where some divided their rations with the boys in gray. It marched from there through Richmond and Fredericksburg to a camp on Arlington Heights, where the corps was reviewed by Generals Meade, Hancock, Humphrey, Mott, Admiral Farragut, President Johnson, Secretary Stanton and many others. On May 23, 1865, the regiment participated in the grand review of the Army of the Potomac in Washington, and on June 8 returned to Trenton. There the command was escorted to the Capitol, where Governor Parker made a speech of welcome. On June 15, 1865, the regiment was formed in line for the last time, and the day afterward the comrades who had fought and suffered together for so long a time bade each other farewell.

MILLER SUES EMPLOYER

William Shafer, Hurt by Fall, Asks 5,000 Damages.

A. L. CADMUS, DEFENDANT

Case Called for Trial at Elizabeth Yesterday, But is Put Over to Monday.

Through his counsel, Craig A. Marsh, William B. Shafer, of West Front street, has commenced suit against Abraham L. Cadmus, proprietor of the Commercial Mills on South Second street, to recover damage for injuries sustained by him while in the employ of the latter. He asks $5,000 and the case was called at Elizabeth yesterday soon after the Kanen matter was disposed of. Several witnesses were called after which adjournment was made until Monday.

Shafer is a miller and his duties at Cadmus' place of business necessitated his crossing an improvised bridge composed of a single plank, leading from one building to another. A short time ago as he was walking over it, the plank suddenly gave way beneath his weight and he was thrown to the ground, a distance of about eight feet. He fell in such a manner that he was badly hurt and later when examined by physicians it was learned that internal organs had been affected, possibly permanently. Shafer has since been incapacitated and it is his belief that he will not again be able to work.

When the case was placed before the court yesterday, Counsellor Marsh very unexpectedly called upon Mr. Cadmus, the defendant, as his first witness. He had with him the plank which broke beneath Shafer's weight and which he had intended to use in giving testimony on the defensive. He was made to exhibit the broken pieces as a part of the plaintiff's assertion that the plank was in bad condition and unfit to be used as it was.

Cadmus' interest are being taken care of by James P. Powers and Attorney-General Robert McCarter.

BROTHERS MEET FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THEIR LIVES

DR. P. J. ZEGLIO AND DAVID ZEGLIO NOW GETTING ACQUAINTED.

Separated all their lives by the entire width of the continent, Dr. P. J. Zeglio, of Somerset street, and his brother, David Zeglio, of California, saw each other for the first time Wednesday night. The latter came to the city unexpectedly and though they knew nothing of each other's appearance, the recognition was made without any introductory remarks.

David Zeglio, who is now past the half century mark, went West when a young lad and before his brother Peter was born. He settled in California and becoming involved in business interests never found time to make a trip to his former home in New Jersey. He maintained a regular correspondence and letters have been passing between he and his brother regularly. Some years ago they exchanged photographs but their features at this time have changed so that they could not be told by them.

The visitor is a typical Westerner and his ideas differ greatly from those of his brother. Up to the present time he has refused to take a ride in the physician's auto, being fearful that it might blow up.

Scott, State secretary of boys' work, and Rev. James A. Francis, of Westfield.

CELEBRATED CASES LIKELY TO BE SETTLED

MRS. PERRINE'S FIGHT TO RECOVER HER BIRTHRIGHT.

Long drawn out litigation instituted by Isaac P. Runyon to obtain the birthright of Mrs. Louisa M. Perrine, of Lake street, will be settled in all probability when the remaining cases in the matter are called for trial at Williamsport, Pa., on Monday. The witnesses for Mrs. Perrine will go to court however for it may be that one of the twenty-eight defendants will object to the settlement which is very favorable to the Plainfield woman. Mrs. Perrine's claim is for all the property left by "W. S. Allen," who was none other than her father, Stephen Pangborn, of Williamsport.

In 1862, Pangborn suddenly deserted his wife and only child, who is now Mrs. Perrine and nothing more was heard from him. In 1898 Mrs. Perrine learned that her father had died and that he had left a large estate. When Pangborn settled at Williamsport he married again and at the time of his death was the father of several children by the unlawful union. He had taken the name "W. S. Allen" and had amassed a large estate.

Isaac P. Runyon immediately started suit to recover from the second family of Pangborn, but by that time the estate had been partitioned and sold. The test cases resulted in victories for Mrs. Perrine and but two or three remains on the calendar and these will be settled amicably in all probability.

COLORED JURY AND COLORED LITIGANTS

PARSON JACKSON FOREMAN OF JURY IN MOFFETT'S COURT.

For the first time in the history of the State, a colored jury heard a contract case in Justice Moffett's court, this morning, when Fanny Alston brought suit against her brother, John Alston, for the recovery of $50 as value of furniture he was keeping from her. The contestants who are colored were represented by Assemblyman Swackhamer for the plaintiff and Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., for the defense. After remaining out twenty minutes the jury returned with a verdict of $50, although Miss Alston admitted the furniture was worth but $16.

The jury was composed of Rev. E. E. Jackson, foreman William Brown, Henry Phillips, Edward B. Maynard, Joseph Holden and Abram Henry. Deacon Spencer Conway and William Dickerson were empanelled but were challenged. The defense at once gave notice of appeal.

Mass-Meeting in Elizabeth.

The Elizabeth Republican Clubs and others from surrounding towns held a big mass meeting at Elizabeth last evening. City Judge William N. Runyon, of this city, presided, and the speakers of the evening were Everett Colby, president of the State League of Clubs, and William H. Speer, prosecutor of Hudson county.

Celebrated Her Birthday.

Miss Helen Woodruff, of Duer street, entertained a number of her young friends Wednesday afternoon on the occasion of her eighth birthday. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent with games, and the young folks had a thoroughly enjoyable time. Refreshments were served. There were about twelve little ones present.

DEMOCRATS IN SESSION

Union County Convention at Elizabeth This Afternoon.

PROBABLE NOMINEES

John Moody Calls the Convention to Order—The Proceedings.

The Democrats of Union county are in session at Turn Hall in Elizabeth this afternoon for the purpose of nominating candidates for registrar of deeds, assembly, county clerk and coroner. There is much uncertainty as to the choice of the convention for the several nominations and a spirited contest is expected for county clerk at least.

John Moody, chairman of the Democratic county committee, called the convention to order shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon and made a short speech in which he dwelt upon the political situation in county, State and Nation. Plainfield was not so well represented as in former years, many of the delegates from here not putting in an appearance. James E. Martine, a familiar figure at all Democratic gatherings, had gone up to Morris county to tell the voters why he should go to Congress and other old-timers were also absent.

Joseph Gunn, of Springfield, and Joseph Hague, of Elizabeth, both seek renomination for assembly. Assemblyman Charles L. Moffett, of this city, absolutely declines to run again, and it is not improbable that George B. Cladek, of Rahway, may be named in his stead. Major Baldwin, of Summit, and J. L. Crowell, of Elizabeth, are candidates for county clerk.

The nomination for registrar of deeds may be captured by Bernard Higgins, of Elizabeth, who is at present employed in the county clerk's office.

Charles L. Moore, also of Elizabeth, is strongly urged to accept a nomination for the office but up to the present time he has declined to allow his name to be used in that connection.

EPWORTH LEAGUES IN A BIG RALLY

PLAINFIELD METHODISTS ATTEND A MEETING AT WESTFIELD.

Over one hundred members of the Epworth League of the First M. E., Grace M. E. and Monroe Avenue M. E. churches, together with a delegation from Somerville, joined with others in a rally held last night in the Westfield M. E. church. R. F. Fenno, of this city, presided.

Miss Curry's work at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and in New York, together with an address on world evangelism comprised the programme of the evening. A social hour followed the exercises during which refreshments were served by members of the Westfield church. It was announced that an Epworth League convention will be held at High Bridge in two weeks.

HILLSIDE CLUB NOTES.

Excavating Cellar for Addition to Clubhouse.

The work of excavating the cellar for the improvements to be made at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club has been started and will be rushed with the idea of completing the same before cold weather arrives.

The trustees of the club met this week and voted to appropriate about $100 for the laying out of a new green between the carriage and automobile drives. This will be one hundred feet square and will allow for several putting and approaching tournaments at one time.

Settled Out of Court.

The case of Joseph Kuldeshes, of Dunellen, as executor of Helen Kuldeshes, against Charles W. Kent, administrator of Xavier Stahlin, on action for a $1,500 board bill, was settled amicably just before coming to trial at New Brunswick, yesterday. It is understood the plaintiff accepted $1,200. Isaac P. Runyon represented the plaintiff.

LODGE'S ANNIVERSARY

Jr. O. U. A. M. Celebrate Natal Day.

FRANKLIN COUNCIL

Enjoyable Evening Spent by Visiting Councils From Nearby Places as Franklin's Guests.

The rooms of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., in Washington Hall were crowded last night on the occasion of the organization's seventeenth anniversary.

Somerset and Benevolent Councils, of this city; Fairview, of Mt. Bethel; William G. Holton Council, of Dunellen and Twilight, of Scotch Plains were well represented. A business meeting preceded the entertainment at which all the councils were represented, and in which all the members had a part. There were speeches by several of the prominent men in the various councils, and the reports of the several committees were heard.

Following the business meeting, the formal entertainment was begun with an address of welcome by Past Councilor Harvey R. Thorn. In addition to extending a hearty welcome to the visitors on the part of the entertaining lodge, the speaker outlined at some length the history of Franklin Council, and spoke of their advance in the last seventeen years, and the progress made by the other councils.

Following his speech, Mr. Thorn introduced Mr. Sheck, of New York, a magician, who entertained the audience for half an hour with sleight of hand tricks. His performance was much enjoyed, as he is one of the cleverest in his profession.

A feature of the programme which brought much applause was a violin solo by B. A. Paraubek. A trio, composed of Mr. Paraubek, J. S. Hewitt, flute, and Herbert Harold, piano, rendered several selections in a highly creditable manner. An enthusiastic and stirring speech followed by P. H. Latourette, of Somerset Council. In his speech, Mr. Latourette congratulated Franklin Council upon their excellent showing during their seventeen years of benevolent work, and commented upon the spirit of loyalty which existed in the order as a whole.

The programme was concluded with another fifteen minutes of magic, and an instrumental selection by the trio. Mr. Thorn was master of ceremonies for the evening and the committee on arrangements consisted of the following: Chairman, William J. Hartpence; George M. Townley, Frank Platts, C. J. Newman, T. E. Currin, Jr., and Randolph Marsh.

The council met for the first time on October 6, 1887, there being at that time forty charter members. The meeting, at which the council was founded, was held in the Sons of Temperance Hall, corner Front street and Park avenue, and for the last seventeen years the growth of the council has been steady. The work which the council has done in recent years has been widespread and of far reaching effects. There assistance in time of illness and trouble has been invaluable to their members. During the last year alone, twenty-three were initiated into the fraternity, while a number of applications lie on the table at the present time. The total membership of the council is 260, two deaths having occurred in the last year, and three members having been suspended. The council has expended $568 in sick benefit during the year.

Casino Entertainment.

Attention is called to the announcement in advertising columns of the piano recital to be given at the Casino next Thursday evening, by Miss Aeolia McRae, who is said to be one of the most remarkable and proficient exponents of musical art heard in this city for many years. The young woman has won highest praise from the captious critics in New York, Brooklyn, Chicago and St. Louis, who predict for her unqualified success in her work. She will be assisted by Miss Emerson, violiniste, who is well known here.

An Election Eve Ball.

The members of St. Patrick's Alliance are making preparations to conduct a ball in the former Crescent clubhouse on East Second street, election eve. A committee composed of James Ennis, Patrick Nugent and Patrick Connolly has the matter in charge.

On Clearing House Committee.

At the fifty first annual meeting of the Clearing House Association, of New York, former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, presidents of the Market and Fulton Bank, New York, was made a member of the new Clearing House committee.

CONVENTION CONTINUES

Big Attendance at State C. E. Sessions at Elizabeth.

MANY ADDRESSES

Enthusiastic Assemblage of Christian Workers in Conference.

The annual State Christian Endeavor convention being held at Elizabeth, continued last night with unabated success. The attendance of delegates is reported to be the largest of recent years. The speakers last night were Rev. Dr. Andrew Gillies, of St. Andrew's M. E. church, New York, and A. N. Pierson, of Westfield, who presented the fresh air work being carried on in the State by the Endeavorers. He illustrated his talk with stereopticon views. Another feature were the songs by the Southern Jubilee Singers.

This morning's session opened with Rev. John T. Kerr presiding. Rev. John V. Ellison, of the East Baptist church, Elizabeth, conducted the devotional exercises, followed by a business session during which various reports were presented and addresses by the superintendents of the different departments were made, including the report of the treasurer, Rev. T. E. Davis, of this city.

This afternoon, A. W. Bailey, M. D., of Atlantic City, State vice president, presided. There was an address by Rev. Dr. John F. Cowan, associate editor of the Christian Endeavor World. This was followed with a quiet hour service led by Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tompkins, rector of Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, Philadelphia. The rest of the afternoon was taken up with Junior leaders' conferences and rallies and an address by John Willis Baer, of New York city, for twelve years general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, will be the strong attraction for tonight, with closing words of the convention by the State president, Rev. John T. Sproull, who will also conduct the consecration service.

The gains in membership during the past year is a source of gratification to the State Society. The Sixth Baptist, of Paterson, leads with 300 per cent. Westfield Baptist has thirty-nine per cent.; First Presbyterian and Congregational, of this city, thirty-three per cent.; South Plainfield Baptist, twenty-five per cent.; Park Avenue Baptist, twenty-five per cent. Among the Junior societies the percentage of increase in membership shows that the First Presbyterian, of this city, has thirty-five per cent; Presbyterian, of Westfield, thirty-one per cent., and Park Avenue Baptist, of this city, twenty-five per cent.

PUPIL GOVERNMENT IN LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

TRIBUNES ARE NOW MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY.

To a certain degree the system of school government which has been in vogue at the Plainfield High School for the last three years has been done away with. The laws will still be made by a body of pupils which will be called the school senate, but the office of tribune, or the body which executes the senate regulations will this year is composed of the faculty. This change has seemed wise to those in charge of the affair for various reasons. The duty of policeman in the school was a decidedly unpleasant one to put upon the pupils, and often caused unpleasantries to arise among them.

The school senate has not yet been chosen but the body of law-makers will be elected in the near future. The board will consist of two pupils, a girl and a boy, from each class in the school, with the exception of the preparatory grade. The president of the senate will be elected by the school at large from the senior class. The latter office may be filled by either a boy or girl.

Trolleys That Travel.

Walter Higgins, a former well known employe of the local street railway, is spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Higgins, of West Front street. He is now a motorman on the "Fast Line" which operates big express trolley between Schenectady and Troy, N. Y. They frequently travel at a speed of seventy-five miles an hour and Higgins has been placed on one of the most important runs in the system.

No Postseason Baseball This Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—There will be no postseason series of games played this year between the pennant winning teams of the National and American Baseball leagues. President John T. Brush of the New York National League club when seen said that after an absence of six days from his office through illness he found on his desk the challenge for a world's championship series sent to him by President Gordon of the Greater New York team of the American league some days ago. Mr. Brush referred to John J. McGraw for a statement, and Manager McGraw was very emphatic in his refusal to play a postseason series.

OUR ISLAND COLONY

Secretary of War Taft on the Philippines.

ADDRESS AT INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

United States Had No Other Course to Take Than to Assume Sovereignty of the Islands After War, Said Speaker.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 7.—At the national convention of the Republican League clubs in this city Secretary of War Taft spoke at length on the conditions of the islands and expectations of the government in relation to the United States' greatest colony, the Philippine Islands.

Secretary Taft began by referring to the pleasure he had in visiting the home of the late General Harrison, who, he said, was "a great lawyer, a great statesman and a great man."

The speaker devoted substantially all of his speech to the issues respecting the Philippine Islands and dwelt at some length on the situation in which "the United States, without fault, found itself after the protocol with Spain was signed," saying that there was no other course for the United States to take other than to assume the sovereignty of the islands. "To turn the islands back to Spain," he said, "would have been false to the reasonable hope of the insurgents, and to turn the islands over to Aguinaldo would have found the people suffering from oppression far greater than to continue them under the rule of Spain." He described the condition of the people in the islands, showing that 7 per cent spoke Spanish, and the remainder were in a condition of ignorance hard for the Americans to understand. He spoke at length of the plan of education by a thousand American teachers who have been imported to teach 10,000 or 15,000 Filipino teachers the English language, enabling them in turn to teach the primary and secondary courses.

Secretary Taft described the municipal government, which, he said, is completely autonomous, and the provincial government, which is partly autonomous, as schools in self government, and pointed out that in two years from next January a popular assembly would be elected by the people of the Philippine Islands which should take equal part with the commission in legislation for the islands. He also described the material improvements that have been made in the islands.

Secretary Taft discussed the question of the cost of the Philippines to the United States and pointed out that down to May, 1902, the cost, as officially reported by the secretary of war, did not exceed $169,000,000, that the $20,000,000 to be paid under the treaty, added to this, increased it to $189,000,000, and that the cost per year to the United States for maintaining the courts and the additional cost of maintaining 13,000 troops in the Philippines instead of in the United States, all taken together, do not exceed $5,000,000 a year.

"The civil government," he said, "is self sustaining, and no expense whatever for the civil government is imposed upon the United States."

TAFT HAS NO FEARS.

Late Governor Makes Little of Independence Movement.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 7.—The cable dispatch from Manila stating that the Filipinos would hold an independence mass meeting at Manila next Sunday was shown to Secretary of War Taft. The secretary said:

"Even though they have what I notice is called 'fiery orators' I am sure that no evil results will follow the meeting. The fact that the government will not interfere with the meeting is pretty good proof of that. I am sure that the meeting will be a peaceable affair and that no warlike results will ensue. Sandico, who, I notice, is referred to in the cablegram as being one of the principal speakers, addressed a meeting the other evening with no harmful results. In fact, the governor was present at the meeting and spoke also, explaining to the Filipinos present that they are not ready for independence. Following these two addresses there was a discussion pro and con, but conducted in no more strenuous manner than some political meetings in this country."

Four World's Records Made.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 7.—The Transylvania for 2:12 class trotters, valued at $5,000, resulted in possibly the greatest contest in the history of the trotting turf and was won by Sweet Marie in the three final heats, the first two heats going to Tiverton. Four world's records were made in the Transylvania, besides lowering the event record and making the fastest mile of the year on any track.

Christening Party For the Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 7.—Governor Joseph M. Terrell, accompanied by a party of prominent Georgians, left here at midnight for Bath, Me., where they will take part in the launching of the new battleship Georgia. The governor's party included Congressman and Mrs. Tate and Miss Stella Tate, sister of the congressman. Miss Tate will christen the new ship.

Killed Trying to Save Cat.

WINSTED, Conn., Oct. 7.—While trying to save her kitten from being run over by an electric car in Suffolk the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Brown of Suffolk was struck and killed by the car. The grass beside the track was so high that the motorman did not see the child until it was too late to save her. The cat escaped.

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 7, 1904.

Both Mount Pelee and W. J. Bryan are in eruption again.

Union County's Republican convention showed good judgment in selecting Frank H. Smith, of this city, as the party's candidate for registrar of deeds for when the ballots are counted it will be found that he has added strength to the ticket and has received a flattering vote himself. Much depends upon the majority given the ticket in this city, and with Frank H. Smith as one of the candidates there is no reason to suspect that former Mayor Charles J. Fisk was grossly in error when he declared that Plainfield will give 1,500 Republican majority at the coming election, provided the congressional contest is not included in his prediction.

CARNEY DECLINES TO BE A CANDIDATE

NORTH PLAINFIELD LEADER NOT IN SHRIEVALTY RACE.

In a conversation with a reporter for The Daily Press today in reference to the Somerset County Democratic shrievalty nomination contest, David J. Carney, of North Plainfield, said:

"No, I am not a candidate for the nomination. The office of Sheriff of Somerset County has no charms for me. In fact, the position is an uncongenial one from my viewpoint. Of course those well-wishers who have so kindly extended their friendship and assured me of their help in case the nomination came to me is a gratification that leaves a deep impression on a sensitive nature. There is a sort of self-satisfactory pleasantness in life's journey when one's neighbor's, especially to those of opposite political persuasion, tender, unsolicited, aid to a prospective candidate in such numerous instances as it has been my pleasure to receive. To those well-wishers my gratitude is everlastingly grateful. Their friendships it will always be my aim to continue to merit."

SPEAKERS ENGAGED FOR MASS-MEETINGS

FIRST RALLY TO BE HELD BY REPUBLICANS THURSDAY NIGHT.

Arrangements have been completed for the first Republican mass meeting to be held on Thursday night, October 13, at Reform Hall. The committee has secured as speakers, Oscar F. Huntley, of Alabama, and Hon. Clark M. Carr, speakers of National reputation. Seats will be reserved at this meeting, as well as the other three to follow, for women, until 8:15 o'clock and they are given a cordial invitation to attend.

It is hoped to have Hon. T. M. Burton, of Michigan, chairman of the committee on rivers and harbors, as the speaker for the meeting to be held on Thursday night, October 20, and Joseph Barbour, of Connecticut, will be the speaker on Tuesday night, October 25. On Thursday night, November 3, Congressman Charles N. Fowler and Lee Fairchild, of California, will be the principal speakers.

While Edward C. Stokes, the Republican nominee for Governor, can only give one night to Union county, Monday night, October 31, it has been arranged to have him present at Republican Headquarters at 7 o'clock that night to meet his friends here, after which he will speak at a mass meeting in Elizabeth.

Death of Mrs. C. R. Richardson.

Mrs. Charlotte Rogers Richardson, youngest daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Rust Rogers and the late Major Arthur Lee Rogers, of Virginia, died at her home in New York, October 5. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in this city, at the residence of her brother, George Rust Rogers, corner of Mercer and Rockview avenues. Interment was made at Hillside.

FARMER AND POLITICIAN

Career of Plainfielder Who Wants to Go to Congress.

JAMES E. MARTINE

Man of Pronounced Political Views Who is Beloved by His Fellow Citizens.

Farmer-orator James E. Martine, the Democratic candidate for Congress, issued an address to the voters of the Fifth District today in which he declares that he has not one word of personal abuse to present against his opponent, Charles N. Fowler. He adds that if elected he will go to Congress unpledged to any influences save to advance the best interests of the country, State and district and will be zealous and attentive to the duties of the office.

James E. Martine, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fifth Congressional District, was born in the city of New York, but moved to Plainfield, New Jersey, with his parents at the age of twelve years. In Plainfield he attended the public schools, but owing to the death of his father he left school at the age of fourteen to take charge of his father's farm known as Cedar Brook, and also to look after various other interests of the family. Although having left school so early he does not lack in education, and he has been a student all his life and is a man of culture and great intelligence. He is well informed on all subjects and is equally at home in discussing any subject of politics, religion, science or literature. At the age of sixteen years he was induced by the Honorable Theodore F. Randolph, formerly Governor of New Jersey, to take the stump for the Democratic ticket, and from that time he has been active as a speaker and worker in every political contest, both State and National. His fame as an orator is not limited to New Jersey, but he is well known in the State of New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and has also addressed many audiences as far West as Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado. As an political orator he has few equals in this country and certainly none in the State of New Jersey. He is familiarly known throughout this entire section of the State as the "Farmer Orator."

Mr. Martine has never held public office, though often a candidate. He has never put his claims forward in any way, but on the contrary has always been ready to make sacrifices when the party has been in search of a candidate willing to face an almost certain defeat. In 1896 Mr. Martine ran for Mayor of Plainfield and although the balance of the Republican ticket carried the city by nearly 2,000, Mr. Martine was beaten by only about 300. At other times he has run for the Assembly, the State Senate, etc., and has invariably run ahead of his ticket, particularly in his own town. He is a man of strong views with the full ability to express them, but he has practically no enemies and has hundreds of personal admirers.

Mr. Martine's occupation has always been that of a farmer. Cedar Brook Farm, where he resides, is in the easterly section of Plainfield and during recent years the town has practically grown up around it and a portion of the farm has been developed into a building section. The farm originally embraced over one hundred acres and the original house which is still standing was erected 160 years ago. Some years ago Mr. Martine presented the congregation of the Park Avenue Baptist church the plot of ground on which the church now stands. He also presented a plot of three acres to the Plainfield hospital.

MEREDITH'S DUAL POSITION.

Superintendent of Schools to Hold Present Job.

Superintendent Arthur B. Meredith, of the Nutley Public Schools, formerly instructor in science at the Plainfield High School, who has been appointed county superintendent of schools in Essex County, has made arrangements with the Nutley Board of Education whereby he would retain his position there.

Mr. Meredith is just beginning his fourth year in the latter place. Since he went there the standard of the schools has been materially raised, and on this account the members of the Board of Education do not want to lose him. Mr. Meredith has assumed the duties of the new office. He will be put in charge of the county examinations for teachers' certificates at the South Orange High School Saturday. He has been a member of the Board of Examiners for some time.

Boy's Wheel Stolen.

A boy's Crescent bicycle was stolen from the yard of A. E. Janke at Ninth street and Arlington avenue, last evening. It belonged to his son, Felix Janke, and had been left by him while he entered the house for a few moments. The police have been notified.

SPITE HOUSES.

C. W. Opdyke Expresses Sympathy for Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph.

C. W. Opdyke, of Hillside avenue, has sent the following letter for publication:

Editor, The Daily Press:

Permit me to express my sympathy with Mr. Randolph's letter to the Council, published in your columns on Tuesday. My neighbors and I on Hillside avenue have been held up in a similar way, by similar methods and partly through the same agencies. In some particulars our case presents worse features. It is high time that the city should take steps to protect its oldest citizens, as well its own reputation and welfare. If no present law can be enforced for this protection, let a new ordinance be passed.

SALOON ELEMENT'S CELEBRATION PREMATURE

NEWARK EVENING NEWS COMMENTS ON LOCAL QUESTION.

The Newark Evening News said editorially in yesterday's issue:

"The State Liquor Dealers' Protective Association was a trifle premature in celebrating, at its recent annual convention, the defeat of high license in the city of Plainfield. At the convention held in Hoboken, one month ago, the State organizer of the league made a report in which he told how he had brought about the defeat of the ordinance providing for the raising of the retail license fee in that city from $700 to $1,000. 'Without entering into details,' Organizer Buckridge returned thanks 'for the influence and assistance of friends to the industry,' which had enabled him to win such a great victory over the high license forces.

"Now the Plainfield Common Council, after having listened to the reading of this report, and without asking for any further 'details,' has passed on first and second reading a new ordinance, making $1,000 the price of a retail liquor license, and there is every probability that it will be pushed to final passage and will become effective at the earliest possible moment. The vote on the ordinance this time stood seven to four, and the people of Plainfield now have no hesitation in picking out from among the councilmen those who are openly 'friends to the industry.' It was right at this point that the liquor interests used influential pressure to defeat the first ordinance, but the boasts of what they accomplished then promise to lead to their undoing this time, and the people of Plainfield may also desire to secure further 'details' later."

Fishing in Barnegat Bay.

Barnegat Bay is the largest inland body of water of the State of New Jersey, covering upwards of 300 square miles of surface. As a perfectly safe sailing, rowing, fishing and shooting water area, it has not equal in the North and no superior anywhere. The nerve centre of operations in the fishing season is at Forked River, Waretown and Barnegat and of the shooting season, at Harvey Cedars, both on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Forked River has the largest number of cat boats, both with sails alone and with sails and motors, for rental with operators, at from $3 to $5 per day, directly on the edge of the best fishing ground. Harvey Cedars has the largest number of sneak boxes, decoys and stands for duck and geese shooting, at similar rates per day. There are plenty of all-the-year-around hotels at rates of $2 and $2.50 per day. All northern sea fishes and all water fowl are plentiful in their respective seasons. There are no licenses to be paid by non-residents. Naturally, weakfish are most sought for by the general fishing public, because they are more plentiful and easier caught than other species. For bait, shrimps and shedder crabs are best any may be had from baitmen at the various resorts. No special tackle is required and any pole with ten yards of line is sufficient. To catch weakfish, select a spot near where others are fishing, in channels at the edge of saltgrass areas. To know of the Barnegat Bay region send 6 c. in stamps to C. M. Burt, General Passenger Agent, New Jersey Central, 143 Liberty street, New York city, for Sea Shore Book.

—G. H. Campbell, general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, together with his family, have taken possession of the Thorn property at 63 Grove street, formerly occupied by L. K. Strouse.

—Everybody's shoe store—that's it. Some stores are specialists in women's shoes, others in men's. VanArsdale makes a specialty in each. He has them all handy together, so that the entire family can be satisfactorily fitted out.

CZAR'S WAR COUNCIL

St. Petersburg Disturbed by Unrest at Mukden.

KUROPATKIN MAY TAKE OFFENSIVE

War Office Officials Gave Out No News From Manchuria — Port Arthur Fleet May Have Struck a Blow.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A special cablegram from St. Petersburg says that the war commission sat until an unusually late hour last night, but adjourned without issuing additional news from the front.

Expert opinion is divided as to whether a serious engagement is likely to occur at Mukden, but the dispatch from that city reporting an unusual activity there gives rise to much speculation. It is impossible to say whether this condition presages the evacuation of Mukden, but in any case it is evident that something of unusual interest is impending. Some even are bold enough to take it that General Kuropatkin is preparing to assume the offensive, but in view of the facts that most reliable advices credit him with only about six divisions at Mukden this is exceedingly improbable. It is thought more likely that the commotion had to do with one or other of the Japanese flanking columns, which the Russian commander may have been preparing to check.

Advices from St. Petersburg this morning say that while the admiralty claims to have no knowledge of the departure of the Port Arthur squadron, it is inferrable from the way in which the report that such an event had transpired has been received that definite confirmation would not create surprise. It is said that no direct orders have been sent to Admiral Wiren to break through the blockading fleet, but it is tacitly admitted that the admiral has discretionary powers to leave Port Arthur should the situation demand or conditions be propitious. In naval circles it is pointed out that the present conditions seem to be favorable for a sortie. Heavy storms have raged outside Port Arthur and doubtless compelled the blockading vessels, and particularly the torpedo boats, to seek shelter, thus leaving the way clear for a dash to Vladivostok.

Significant orders have been issued to keep time expired members of all the guards regiments stationed in and around St. Petersburg with the colors till March, 1905.

Orders were issued to all seamen belonging to the battleship Orel and the cruisers Oleg, Zomtchug and Izumrud to rejoin their vessels at Cronstad immediately. It is believed that this presages the sailing of these vessels today for Reval, where Emperor Nicholas is going to review the whole Pacific squadron.

A Mukden report says that General Kuropatkin has bestowed the ribbon of St. George upon all the Red Cross nurses of the Sisterhood of St. George for bravery at the battle of Liaoyang. During the awful night of Sept. 1 these nurses toiled unceasingly, proceeding upon their errands of mercy under a hail of shrapnel, dressing wounds and even carrying disabled soldiers to the ambulances.

A Tokyo report says that the Port Arthur blockading fleet has captured a junk laden with provisions which was endeavoring to enter the harbor. Statements of the crew and evidence found aboard indicate the existence of a fleet of thirty junks organized to run the blockade from the vicinity of Tsingtau.

Despite the vigilance of the blockading fleet many of these vessels reach the Russian lines at a number of landing places on the lower end of the peninsula. They enter at night, the Russian guns and mine fields giving them an advantage over vessels of the blockading fleet.

While it is suspected that ammunition is being smuggled in, none has yet been found in the many junks that have been overhauled and searched.

Ships Will Warn Russians.

MELBOURNE, Victoria, Oct. 7.—Admiral Fanshawe, commanding the Australian squadron, has ordered the warships Pylades and Cadmus to proceed to Torres strait to warn the Russian warships, reported to have been seen cruising off Thursday island, against committing any breach of international law.

Mrs. Avery Killed by Electric Car.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Julia E. Avery was struck by an electric car here and fatally injured. She died soon after at the Park hospital. She had been viewing the falls, and it is thought the roar of the water prevented her from hearing the approaching car, for she stepped directly in front of it. She was prominent in society and in church work and was the eldest daughter of the late Dr. D. H. Bullard.

Thieves Got $10,000 In Gems.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 7.—A special from Asheville, N. C., says: "Some time during the night the residence of John A. Stewart, 14 West Chestnut street, was entered by burglars and $10,000 worth of diamonds stolen. Among them was a bracelet, two brooches and a ring. Officers have no clew to the burglars so far as known."

Tunnel Now Clear of Fire.

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 7.—Fire which broke out in the Pocahontas tunnel, on the Bluestone branch of the Norfolk and Western railway, has been put out, and traffic through the tunnel has been restored.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair and warmer; north winds.

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

(Copyright, 1902, by Emerson Hough.)

"Now, to say the truth, I had not thought of that. But letters of credit—why need we trouble over such matters? These English are but babes. Give me a night or so at the Green Lion, and we'll need no letters of credit, Will. Look at your purse, boy—since you are the thrifty cashier of our firm!"

"I like not this sort of gold," said Will Law, setting his lips judicially.

"Yet it seems to purchase well as any," said the other, indifferently.

"But there must be serious purpose."

"Know then," cried the elder man, suddenly, "that I have found such serious purpose!"

The speaker stood looking out of the window, his eye fixed out across the roofs of London. There had now fallen from his face all trace of levity, and into his eye and mouth there came reflex of the decision of his speech. Will stirred in his chair, and at length the two faced each other.

"And pray, what is this sudden resolution, Jack?" said Will Law.

"If I must tell you, it is simply this: I am resolved to marry the girl we met at Sadler's Wells."

"How—what—?"

"Yes, how—what—?" repeated his brother, mockingly.

"But I would ask, which?"

"There was but one," said John Law. "The tall one, with the brassy-brown, copper-red hair, the bright blue eye, and the figure of a queen. Her like is not in all the world!"

"Methought 'twas more like to be the other," replied Will. "Yet you—how dare you think thus of that lady? Why, Jack, 'twas the Lady Catharine Knollys, sister to the Earl of Banbury!"

Law did not at once make any answer. He turned to the dressing-table and began making such shift as he could to better his appearance.

"Will," said he at length, "you are, as ever, a babe and a suckling. I quite despair of you. 'Twould serve no purpose to explain anything to so faint a heart as yours. But you may come with me."

"And whither?"

"Whither? Where else, than to the residence of this same lady! Look you, I have learned this. She is, as you say, the sister of the Earl of Banbury, and is for the time at the town house in Knightwell Terrace. Moreover, if that news be worth while to so white-feathered a swain as yourself, the other damsel, the dark one—the one with the mighty pretty little foot—lives there for the time as the guest of Lady Catharine. They are rated thick as peas in a pod. True, we are strangers, yet I venture we have made a beginning, and if we venture more we may better the beginning. Should I falter, when luck gave me the run of trente et le va but yesterday? Nay, ever follow fortune hard, and she waits for you."

CHAPTER VII.

TWO MAIDS A-BRODERING.

"Now a plague take all created things, Lady Kitty!" cried Mary Connynge, petulently flinging down a silken pattern over which she had pretended to be engaged. "There are devils in the skeins to-day. I'll try no more with't."

"Fie! For shame, Mary Connynge," replied Lady Catherine Knollys, reprovingly. "So far from better temperance of speech, didst ever hear of the virtue of perseverance? Now, for my own part—"

"And what, for your own part? Have I no eyes to see that thou'rt puttering over the same corner this last half hour? What is it thou art making to-day?"

The Lady Catherine paused for a moment and held her embroidery frame away from her at arm's length, looking at it with brow puckering into a perplexed frown.

"I was working a knight," said she. "A tall one—"

"Yes, a tall one, with yellow hair, I warrant."

"Why, so it was. I was but seeking floss of the right hue, and found it difficult."

"And with blue eyes?"

"True; or perhaps gray. I could not state which. I had naught in my box would serve to suit me for the eyes. But how know you this, Mary Connynge?" asked the Lady Catharine.

"Because I was making some such knight for myself," replied the other. "See! He was to have been tall, of good figure, wearing a wide hat and plume withal. But lest I spoil him, my knight—now a plague take me if I do not ruin him complete!" So saying, she drew with vengeful fingers at the intricately woven silks until she had indeed undone all that had gone before.

What pantomime might have followed did not appear, for at that moment the butler appeared at the door with an admonitory cough. "If you please, your ladyship," said he, "there are two persons waiting. They—that is to say, he—one of them, asks for admission to your ladyship."

"What name does he offer, James?"

"Mr. John Law, of Lauriston, your ladyship, is the name he sends. He says, if your ladyship please, that he has brought with him something which your ladyship left behind, if your ladyship please."

Lady Catharine and Mary Connynge had both arisen and drawn together, and they now turned each a swift glance upon the other.

"Are these gentlemen waiting without the street door?" asked Lady Catharine.

"No, your ladyship. That is to say, before I thought, I allowed the tall one to come within."

"Oh, well then, you see, Mary Connynge," replied Lady Catharine, with the pink flush rising in her cheek, "it were rude to turn them now from our door, since they have already been admitted. James, you may bring the gentlemen in."

Enter, therefore, John Law and his brother Will, the former seeming thus with ease to have made good his promise to win past the door of the Earl of Banbury.

"Lady Catharine Knollys," said John Law, his voice deep and even, and showing no false note of embarrassment, "we come, as you may see, to make our respects to yourself and your friend, and to thank you for your kindness to two strangers."

"To two strangers, Mr. Law," said Lady Catharine, pointedly.

"Yes"—and the answering smile was hard to be denied—"to two strangers who are still strangers. I did but bethink me it was sweet to have such kindness. We were advised that London was cruel cold, and that all folk of this city hated their fellowmen. So, since 'twas welcome to be thus kindly entreated, I believed it but the act of courtesy to express our thanks more seeming than we might as that we were two beggars by the wayside. Therefore, I pay the first flower of my perpetual tribute." He bowed and extended, as he spoke, a deep red rose. His eye, though still direct, was as much imploring as it was bold.

Instinctively Mary Connynge and Lady Catharine had drawn together, retreating somewhat from this intrusion. They were now standing, like any school girls, looking timidly over their shoulders, as he advanced. Lady Catharine hesitated, and yet she moved forward a half pace, as though bidden by some unheard voice. "'Twas nothing, what we did for you and your brother," said she. She extended her hand as she spoke. "As for the flower, I think—I think a rose is a sweet-pretty thing."

CHAPTER VIII.

CATHARINE KNOLLYS.

"You mistake, sir! I am no light o' love, John Law!"

Thus spoke Catharine Knollys. She stood near the door of the great drawing-room of the Knollys mansion, her figure beseeming well its framing of deep hangings and rich tapestries. Her eyes were wide and flashing, her cheeks deeply pink, the sweet bow of her lips half a-quiver in her vehemence. Her surpassing personal beauty, rich, ripe, enticing, gave more than sufficient challenge for the fiery blood of the young man before her.

It was less than two weeks since these two had met. Surely the flood of time had run swiftly in those few days. Not a day had passed that Law had not met Catharine Knollys, nor had yet one meeting been such as the girl in her own conscience dared call better than clandestine, even though they met, as now, under her own roof. Yet, reason as she liked, struggle as she could, Catharine Knollys had not been able to end this swift voyaging on the flood of fate. It was so strange, so new, so sweet withal, this coming of her suitor, as from the darkness of some unknown star, so bold, so strong, so confident, and yet so humble! All the old song of the ages thrilled within her soul, and each day its compelling melody had accession. That this delirious softening of all her senses meant danger, the Lady Catharine could not deny. Yet could aught of earth be wrong when it spelled such happiness, such sweetness—when the sound of a footfall sent her blood going the faster, when the sight of a tall form, the ring of a vibrant tone, caused her limbs to weaken, her throat to choke?

John Law looked at her calmly, but said nothing. One hand, in a gesture customary with him, flicked lightly at the deep cuff of the other wrist, and this nervous movement was the sole betrayal of his uneasiness.

"You come to this house time and again," resumed Catharine Knollys, "as though it were an ancient right on your part, as though you had always been a friend of this family. And yet—"

"And so I have been," broke in her suitor. "My people were friends of yours before we two were born. Why, then, should you advise your servant, as you have, fairly to deny me admission at the door?"

"I have done ill enough to admit you. Had I dreamed of this last presumption on your part I should never have seen your face again."

"'Tis not presumption," said the young man, his voice low and even, though ringing with the feeling to which even he dared not give full expression. "I myself might call this glance upon the other.

DIAMOND DUST.

Westfield will play its last game of the season on Saturday meeting the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. aggregation at Elizabeth.

The All-Nationals will play the Elizabeth Stars at Elizabethport on Sunday. "Dummy" Taylor, of the New York Nationals, will pitch for the visitors and "Flick" Luyster will be on the slab for the home team.

The New York Nationals world's champions fifteen years ago, played the present champions a game at the Polo Grounds yesterday, when field day exercises were held for the benefit of the players. The contest was a draw. The presence of the old-timers, such as Gore, Tiernan, Ewing, Welch, Hatfield and many others, aroused much enthusiasm among the fans.

FOOTBALL.

Becker, the Lehigh man who is playing half for the Alls football team, will be behind the line for the Dunellen team in their game tomorrow. He has agreed to play with the Dunellen aggregation until the schedule of the Alls games begin.

Russell, who has been practicing for end on the High School team, has been obliged to withdraw from the game on account of a badly poisoned hand. His loss will be felt. Rockwell and Jones are playing the ends at present and are likely to be put in in the Leals-High School game Saturday.

It is said that the Dunellen team, which will meet the Orange Field Club on the gridiron tomorrow, outweighs its opponents by at least fourteen pounds a man. They have not had the same amount of practice as the O. F. C. however, and this fact will serve to even up matters to some extent.

Manager Smith, of the Orange Field Club, recently declared that the average weight of their team at present, and as they will go on the gridiron tomorrow, is 144 pounds. In boasting the championship of the State, they claim the weight at a round 150 pounds, thereby allowing a six-pound handicap to any contestor of the claim. As yet, the Dunellen team is the only one which has presented a challenge for the State championship, though other teams may put in an appearance.

COMMENT ON MARTINE

Republican and Democratic Opinions on His Candidacy.

SINCERE AND LOYAL

Views of State Gazette, Summit Record and Cranford Chronicle.

Perhaps Bryan may be induced to come to New Jersey to speak for his friend, the "Farmer Orator."—Elizabeth Journal.

The Democrats of this district have nominated James E. Martine, the "farmer-orator" of Union County for their candidate for Congress. Mr. Martine regards himself the bellwether of the Democracy in this State, and no matter to what the party is committed the green back craze, the silver heresy or the gold standard he bears aloft the "excelsior" banner and leads over the mountain or wallows in the ditch with equal enthusiasm and hope. He is a good foil to candidate Black, who says nothing for Martine talks all the time.—Morris County Chronicle.

Farmer Jim Martine, in a speech delivered some time ago, declared that he would rather go to Congress than go to Heaven. The opportunity to achieve his long-cherished ambition was put within his grasp by the Democratic convention of yesterday, which honored him with a unanimous nomination after his name had been placed before the delegates of John Moody, of Cranford. The Cedar Brook statesman will make a campaign of cyclonic energy, and if anybody in the district can defeat the builder of fictitious libraries, Mr. Martine is the man.—Cranford Chronicle.

James E. Martine, the "Farmer Orator," has at last received a nomination for an office of importance at the hands of a Democratic convention. The Democrats of the Fifth District have named him for Congress against Charles N. Fowler, and Mr. Martine promises to make the effort of his life to win. He is especially noted for the rapidity and continuity of his speech; he is also known for his admiration for Col. William Jennings Bryan for whom he talked and voted in 1896 and again in 1900. Mr. Martine is an honest man and has the courage of his convictions but he hasn't the popularity necessary to his election to Congress in the Fifth District and the more he talks the greater will be his minority. It is going to be a cross-lot walk for Mr. Fowler.—Trenton State Gazette.

There can hardly be a comparison between the candidates named by the Republican and Democratic parties in the Fifth Congressional District. James E. Martine is so far superior to Charles N. Fowler in all that goes to make a creditable representative in Congress that the former should be certain of the greatest majority ever given to a candidate in the counties comprising that district. Faithful to every trust reposed in him by the public, patriotic to an exceptional degree, able and zealous Mr. Martine combines all of the qualities that go to make a successful legislator.

His opponent has had ten years of service in Congress and extended reference to his career is almost unnecessary. He has accomplished nothing for his district, for the State or for the Nation and his time has been devoted almost exclusively to selfish schemes and plans which have the endorsement of the Standard Oil Company and kindred corporations who are ever ready to defray the expenses of his campaign. Through the enormous fund he has thus been able to command, Fowler has succeeded in securing re-election for each of the past four terms but we doubt whether the honest voters of the Fifth District will this year permit the reflection that such methods cast at the district.

Fowler's time during the last session of Congress was devoted to his Wall St. friends to such an extent that he was present only three or four times during the entire session.—Summit Record.

The report of the State Board of Assessors shows that there is $181,719,143 of railroad and canal property in New Jersey, taxed at the rate of five dollars on $1,000 of valuation, for State purposes, and nothing whatever for county, township or city expense. Of this large amount $23,999,492 represents tangible personal property, and the remainder comprises the roadbed, rails and ties, and franchises. Over $6,142,000 of this property is located in Union County, and does not contribute one cent for county or local purposes. The Democratic State platform declares that railroad property shall be taxed at the same rate as that of individuals. This would have the effect of reducing the tax rate in every taxing district through which the railroads run.

FREEHOLDERS CRITICIZED

Borough Council Says They Ignore Property Owners.

MAYOR'S REMARKS

Other Matters of Business at Last Evenings Regular Meeting—Storm Sewer for Rockview Avenue.

Severe criticism of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders for its inattention to demands of property owners for improvements, marked last evening's meeting of the Borough Council. Mayor Smalley and the members were unanimous in their disapproval, the former especially being vehement in his remarks. The course of several small streams in the borough is adjacent to property which comes under the Board's jurisdiction and by reason of floods and other causes great damage has at times been caused. Bridges have also been left in a bad condition but to petitions for a betterment of conditions the county officials have lent a deaf ear.

The trouble has long been manifest in the borough and it was brought to a head last evening through a communication from Corra Ryno and other residents near Somerset street and Codington avenue. They asked the Council to take steps to prevent the continual overflow of the small stream which crosses at that point and free them from continual annoyance and expense. The petition stated that the Board of Freeholders had been asked to do something but had declined, saying it was the place of some other body to attend to the matter. Mayor Smalley declared it did not come under the borough's jurisdiction and the clerk was directed to notify the petitioners that redress should be sought of the freeholders or of Lewis Coddington, of Somerville, who owns the land where the flooding is most frequent. Some years ago he caused the course of the brook to be changed and the overflowing is said to be largely due to this.

In his remarks on the subject, Mayor Smalley said the borough has constantly been ignored when it asked for any improvement or repairs, despite the fact that its annual share of the county tax is $15,000. The question is to be taken up at the next Council meeting and Tax Collector Brown was instructed to prepare a statement showing the amount of monies paid each year to the county.

Maps were presented to the Council by Mayor Smalley showing the need of a storm sewer in Rockview avenue. Its cost, he said, would be about $1,800 and the property owners had signified their willingness to bear one-half of that amount, if the improvement was made. The matter was discussed informally and though the councilmen were in favor of it, they decided to reserve formal action until the subscription list has been completed.

George F. Brown, Percy F. Brown and John Kirch, in a petition, asked the Council to accept a portion of Jefferson avenue from Green brook to the intersection of Walnut street, which has recently been macadamized and curbed. It was voted on favorably. In the payment of claims, a bill from the electric light company for $6.25 was held up, Councilman Arnold declaring that it should not be paid as it was for light furnished the new station house.

On motion of Councilman VanArsdale, $160 was appropriated to buy winter police uniforms and an ordinance to take possession of the new station house was passed on its second reading. According to Chairman Arnold, of the street committee, $694 40 was expended on street work during the month, while Councilman Van Arsdale reported twenty arrests by the police department and $50 in fines collected.

New Club Prospering.

At a further meeting to be held next Thursday, a new name will be selected for the organization and plans will be made to continue it permanently as a strictly social organization.

REPUBLICANS FOR PARKER

Call for Formation of a Parker and Davis Club.

TO MEET ON TUESDAY

Independent Republicans to Gather at the Casino to Organize for the Campaign.

Independent Republicans have issued a call for the organization of a Parker and Davis Club, which will be composed of Plainfield Republicans who will not vote for Theodore Roosevelt for President. A preliminary meeting will be held at the Casino Tuesday night and the promoters of the proposition will be on hand to explain reasons for organization and why they prefer former Judge Parker to Col. Roosevelt.

The call as issued is signed "Independent Republicans" and contains nothing to show who are the originators of the scheme. It is said that the membership will be drawn largely from the Third ward but this can not be verified. Parker's candidacy has appealed strongly to eminent lawyers who fear that the present executive of the Nation does not have proper regard for the Constitution. A few days ago a Parker Constitutional Club was formed by lawyers throughout the State. New York city has such an organization. It is not the purpose of the Plainfielders, it is reported, to confine the membership exclusively, to the legal fraternity but professional men generally will be invited to join the movement.

CORNER-STONE LAYING OF GRACE PARISH HOUSE

CEREMONY TO TAKE PLACE WITHIN TEN DAYS.

The rector and vestry of Grace church are arranging for the formal laying of the new parish house corner-stone. No date for the ceremony has yet been set, but it will take place, in all likelihood, within the next ten days. Rt. Rev. Dr. John Scarborough, bishop of New Jersey, will be present on the occasion, provided he returns from the General Convention at Boston in time for the ceremony.

Participating in the service in addition to the rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector-emeritus, Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, and the vestry will be clergymen from parishes in the vicinity and prominent laymen. It is likely that the corner-stone of the present parish building will be used.

NO TROLLEY FRANCHISE.

Freeholders Refuse Petition for Springfield-Elizabeth Route.

The Union County Board of Freeholders Thursday afternoon, at a regular meeting, refused by a vote of 12 to 8 to grant the application of the Morris County Traction Company for a franchise to construct a trolley line from Springfield to Elizabeth. The reason for the board's action was that a majority of its members did not think the concessions offered by the company were sufficient for such an important and valuable privilege.

The antagonism of these two freeholders from Summit, Messrs. Swain and Cady, was aroused against the application, because in its amended form Summit was left out in the proposed route of the new line, and the Summit men concluded, therefore, it would be of no benefit to that city. This, likewise, had the effect of getting Elizabeth freeholders to vote against granting the franchise.

Interesting Wedding in Adirondacks.

Mr. DeForest is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Mali, whose summer home on East Front street, is an inheritance from Mrs. Mali's father, John Taylor Johnston.

WANTS $50,000 DAMAGES

Middlehauf Sues Mrs. Opdyke for Malicious Prosecution.

HER CASE DISMISSED

Grand Jury Refuses to Indict Plainfielder on Charge of False Pretence.

Within an hour after a complaint against him of obtaining money under false pretenses, had been dismissed by the Cumberland County Grand Jury, yesterday, E. D. Middlekauf, of Watchung avenue, this city, began suit for $50,000 against Mrs. Ella VanEvra Opdyke, of Vineland. He alleges malicious prosecution and the summons was sent to Bridgeton by special messenger at 5 o'clock this morning. The papers were prepared by his local attorneys, Messrs. Codington & Swackhamer, and his interests will further be looked after by Lawyer W. A. Logue, of Bridgeton, who wired him of the jury's action.

Middlekauf was placed under arrest in this city on September 7 on complaint of Mrs. Opdyke, who asserted that he defrauded her father, Theodore VanErvra, of $11,882. He was taken to police headquarters and turned over to Chief of Police Bullock, of Millville, who came to Plainfield with the warrant. Mr. Middlekauf readily accompanied him, telegraphing in advance for $10,000 bail.

According to the plaintiff's testimony when her suit was brought, Mrs. Opdyke's father died four months ago as a result, she alleged, of worrying over investments made by Middlekauf for him. A month later Middlekauf removed to this city from Millville where he has since resided with his wife and three children. When placed under arrest he denied any wrongdoing. It was said that he succeeded in getting VanErvra to buy 100,000 shares of stock in the National Oil and Development Company upon false representations of dividends, and this was followed by other alleged poor investments, with the result that the greater part of his money was swept away.

Middlekauf is interested in oil companies and has an office for the transaction of his business in New York city.

WILTSE TO PITCH FOR PLAINFIELD TODAY

ELIZABETH STARS TO PLAY SECOND GAME HERE.

Louis Wiltse, brother of George Wiltse, who pitched for the West Ends, of Somerville, against Plainfield, a few weeks ago, will pitch for the Plainfield A. C. today, against the Elizabeth Stars. He has been pitching for the Baltimore Eastern League team this season, and his record is better than that of his brother. Wiltse will make his home in this city, having leased an apartment in the New Madison.

Otherwise the Plainfield team will be the same as last Saturday. The Stars will play the same team as a week ago and "Warry" MacLaughlin wil pitch for the visitors. The contest will be called promptly at 3:30 o'clock. Manager Johnston believes that victory will come to Plainfield today and he wants a big crowd on hand to root. The Elizabeth fans will come to this city in special trolley cars.

LAMBERT MISSING.

Alton Man's Whereabouts Unknown Since Last Tuesday.

Clarence Lambert, who for many years has conducted an ice business in Fanwood, Scotch Plains and vicinity with his brother, Simeon Lambert, as partner, has been missing since Tuesday and it is alleged that he left his family at Alton in ignorance of his whereabouts.

His absence is the main topic for conversation in the two villages today as he was widely known. It is declared by those intimate with him that he disposed of his wagons and business interests to Rahway people and drew all of his money out of the bank before leaving.

St. Agnes Guild Meeting.

The first meeting of the St. Agnes' Guild, of Grace church, was held yesterday afternoon in Grace church chapel. There were thirty girls present. The teachers hope that at the next meeting on Friday, all the old members and those who wish to join the Guild, will be present at 3:30.

EQUINE DISCOVERS FIRE

Saves House From Destruction by Arousing Coachman.

INCENDIARY ORIGIN

Mysterious Blaze Damages Central Avenue Residence Belonging to Mrs. West.

Fire of an evident incendiary origin which broke out in an unoccupied residence on Central avenue, between Seventh and Eighth streets, at 5 o'clock this morning, would undoubtedly have destroyed the building but for its discovery by a horse. An intelligent animal in the stable of William T. Gough, of West Eighth street, situated just back of the burning house, saw the flames through its stall window and began a loud whinnying and jumping about until it aroused the coachman, Charles Kosead, sleeping upstairs.

Alarmed by the equine's movements he hurried to it but the window is so situated that he did not notice the reflection. Thinking the animal was hungry he placed some hay near it and went back to bed, but not to sleep. He had barely gotten in his room when the racket again began and a second time he went down to investigate. He then perceived that the horse was gazing intently out of the window and following its gaze he saw the flames creeping up the kitchen extension on the Central avenue house.

He turned in an alarm from box 33 at Seventh street and Central avenue at 5:15. The department was quickly on the scene, but owing to the nature of the blaze, the men had a stubborn fight. To Chief Deane there was every appearance of the structure having been set on fire from the outside and the flames had crept in beneath the walls, spreading slowly about. It was 6:15 before the last spark was extinguished, with only the kitchen affected.

The house is owned by Mrs. C. S. West, of Troy, N. Y., formerly of Plainfield, and although fully furnished, no one lived in it. The loss is placed at $300, covered by insurance. A further investigation is being conducted in order to learn if possible just what started the conflagration.

HONNECKER SPEAKS TO POPULISTS TONIGHT

PEOPLE'S DEMOCRATIC PARTY CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR IS HERE.

Reform Hall will be the scene of a mass meeting this evening conducted under the auspices of the People's Democratic Party, the split from the Democratic party caused by the exclusive of the Hearst delegates from the State convention. Several well known speakers have been engaged for the occasion, among them being George A. Honnecker, candidate for Governor, and Joseph R. Buchanan, labor editor of the New York Journal. Music will be furnished by a fife and drum corps and previous to gathering in the hall, the leaders will be escorted about the local streets.

The name People's Democratic party is applied only in this State. Its constituents are really Populists and they support the Populist candidate for President, Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, who is now making a whirlwind tour of the State. He spoke at Kruger's Auditorium last night and will appear at Camden this evening. He is to travel to the place by special train over the Pennsylvania railroad and will speak from the platform of one of the cars wherever a stop is made. Watson is regarded as one of the greatest orators stumping the State since William Jennings Bryan covered it and in all of the large cities he has made a good impression. An effort was made to have him come to Plainfield but as his local supporters are few in number his campaign managers decided not to do it.

A Pleasant Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Linbarger, of West Front street, gave a reception at their home Thursday evening. The evening was spent with games and music, and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all the guest. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Willard, Miss Lettie Willard, Miss Alice DeMott, Mrs. J. P. Gibson, Louis Schermerhorn and Benjamin LuVere.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. An able leader has been secured.

ROSS AND BEEKMAN

Probable Nominees of Somerset County Democrats.

CONVENTION IN SESSION

Candidates for Sheriff and Assemblyman to be Named —Dungan is Chairman.

Somerset Democrats in session at Somerville this afternoon propose to name Frank Ross, of Bridgewater township, for sheriff, and Daniel H. Beekman, of Franklin township, for assembly. John Anderson, of Bridgewater township, and Fred Nelson, of Bound Brook, are also in the running for the shrievalty nomination, but it is said by the political wiseacres that Ross will be the man.

Jacob Shurts, of Bound Brook, chairman of the Somerset county Democratic committee, called the convention to order shortly after 11 o'clock this morning in the court house. Major Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, was selected as chairman, and Louis Moore, of Bridgewater township, as secretary. Major Dungan delivered a lengthy speech in which he strongly attacked the Republican position in State and Nation.

These committees were named: Permanent organization—Adam Hummer, of Millstone borough; William Ely, of Montgomery township; B. F. Teeple, of Rocky Hill. Credentials—W. J. Conroy, of North Plainfield borough; Robert Zerkibel, of Warren township, and H. S. Burrows, of Hillsborough. Rules—Asher Fleming, of Peapack; Charles Acker, of Liberty Corner, and George Corle, of Branchburg. Resolutions—John A. Freck, of Bridgewater; George Anderson, of Bound Brook, and Dr. William TenEyck, of Franklin township.

The convention adjourned shortly after noon and will resume its business this afternoon. William J. Conroy, J. T. Case and Herman Klinsman are North Plainfield's delegates, and George Mobus and Theodore H. A. Lueraaen are North Plainfield township's representatives. David J. Carney and other prominent borough Democrats are watching the proceedings of the convention.

DARING ATTEMPT OF TWO TRAIN ROBBERS

HOLD-UP ON JERSEY CENTRAL NEAR SOMERVILLE.

A daring attempt was made by two armed men to hold up a west bound freight train on the New Jersey Central Railroad, one mile east of Somerville at 7:30 last night. The men, who were riding on the train, climbed over the tender and pointed their revolvers at the engineer, W. H. Condit, ordered him to stop his engine in Lozy's cut.

Instead of stopping Condit crowded on steam and made a wild run for Somerville. The men opened fire at the cab of the engine, but Condit managed to escape unharmed. He stopped his train at the station and shouted to Policeman Koch, who was standing on the station platform.

Koch boarded the first freight car back of the engine just as the train stopped. He was confronted on top of the car by one of the men, who covered him with a revolver. By a quick move Koch knocked the weapon from the man's hand with his club. There was a struggle between the policeman and the man on top of the car, in which the cop was the victor. Koch handcuffed his prisoner and took him from the train. In the meantime the other train robber held up the engineer and fireman at the point of a revolver while he escaped.

The man who was taken in custody by Koch refused to give his name or the object he and his companion had in holding up the train. It is believed the men had confederates in Lozy's Cut, who intended to rob the train of valuable freight.

More Trouble for Baldwin.

George Baldwin, of this city, against whom Miss Bertha Guise, of New Brunswick, secured a verdict of $7,125 for breech of promise, is now to defend himself in another action from the same family. The girl's father, William Guise, has commenced a criminal action against him and it will be heard as soon as Judge Fort fixes the date for trial. Baldwin is now under $2,000 bail pending settlement of the damage suit.

VANQUISHED WORKMEN

Mrs. Glazer's Battle With 50 Telephone Co. Employes.

OVER RIGHT OF WAY

Alton Woman Tries to Prevent Telephone Polls Being Erected.

Alone and unaided, Mrs. Theodore Glazer, of Alton, yesterday successfully fought off fifty workmen in the employ of the Northeastern Telephone Company who sought to erect four poles in front of her property. They succeeded in getting one in position but she so hampered them that they could not get holes dug for the others. While she was jumping in front of their shovels and the earth was being removed from all around her, a neighbor summoned her counsel, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and he served notice on the foreman of the job to desist. He reluctantly called the men away. Notice has been served on the company to take down the pole.

The telephone people in seeking to get their trunk line through Fanwood township met with all manner of opposition and in order to get the good will of the residents have been paying various amounts for each pole put up in front of their property. The Glazer place is owned by Mrs. Glazer, but the officials made the agreement with her husband. Mrs. Glazer informed Adjuster Stephenson, who was with them, that she did not want poles on it. Stephenson refused to stop.

Not daunted by the formidable array of men who stood around with picks and shovels, Mrs. Glazer jumped among them whenever they started to dig and by running from one point to the other they found it hard work to get the holes to the proper depth. One was finally completed and the big pole was placed in it while she was standing off another gang further down the road. The earth was removed from all about her but only once was any violence offered when one man grasped her by the shoulders and forced her to one side.

Unless the one pole is removed, suit will be entered against the company.

Anderson, pleaded not guilty, and was held, being unable to give bail; Wilbur N. Miller, who on August 8 in the township of North Plainfield assaulted Lizzie Larkin, with intent to rape, pleaded not guilty, and was released on a bail of $500.

DEMOCRATS NAME TICKET

Union Co. Convention Harmonious and Enthusiastic.

COX, GUNN AND HAGUE

Three Assemblymen Nominated—Baldwin for Clerk and Higgins for Registrar.

For county clerk, George W. Baldwin, of Summit; for registrar of deeds, Bernard J. Higgins, of Elizabeth; for members of the Assembly, Joseph H. Gunn, of Springfield; Joseph Hague, of Elizabeth, and Stephen Cox, of Cranford. For coroner, Dr. Rufus Dearborn, of Elizabeth. This was the ticket that the Democrats placed in nomination at the Union county convention held in Turn Hall, Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon. The convention was an enthusiastic one and harmonious.

As chairman of the county committee, John L. Moody, of Cranford, called the convention to order, after which Judge Louis S. Hyer, of Rahway, was chosen temporary and permanent chairman. E. M. Meek, of Elizabeth, was the secretary.

These committees were appointed:

Credential—Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., of Plainfield; W. J. Wood, of Elizabeth; Alfred Cook, of Rahway. Permanent organization—Noah Woodruff, of Roselle Park; Robert H. McAdams, of Elizabeth; Clarence Teel, of Plainfield. Rules—G. H. Schlotter, of Elizabeth; Robert Gordon, of Elizabeth; W. H. Swain, of Summit. Resolutions — Mulford Scudder, of Westfield; Richard A. Barry, of Elizabeth; John Halliday, of Clark Township. Vacancies — Alford Cook, of Rahway; John L. Moody, of Cranford; Patrick Murphy, of Elizabeth; John J. Lane, of Summit; D. Hobart Sayre, of Union.

W. D. Gibby, of Summit, nominated George W. Baldwn, of that place, for county clerk, after Clark Township had nominated John L. Crowell. When it was seen that Mr. Baldwin had a majority of the votes, Mr. Crowell withdrew and moved that the nomination of the Summit man be made unanimous.

In nominating a candidate for registrar of deeds, Clark Township gave way to Rahway, and Alford Cook, of that place, nominated John L. Crowell. The First ward, of Elizabeth, gave way to the Second ward, and W. D. Wolfskeil in an enthusiastic speech nominated Bernard J. Higgins, who has served for twelve years in the county clerk's office. He had a majority of the delegates and Mr. Crowell withdrew in favor of Mr. Higgins and the nomination was made unanimous, amid great applause.

In placing an Assembly ticket in nomination, John L. Moody presented the name of Assemblyman Joseph Gunn, of Springfield; Edward Doyle named Stephen Cox, of Cranford, and Joseph Firman named Joseph F. Hague, of Elizabeth. The names of Alford Cook and Fred C. Hyer, of Rahway, were presented, but they declined, and the first three nominated received the unanimous vote of the convention.

G. H. Schlotter nominated Dr. Rufus Dearborn, of Elizabeth, for coroner, after Thomas Higgins, of Elizabeth, had declined to accept. There were no other nominations and the convention made the choice unanimous.

On motion of Edward Nugent the work of Assemblymen Gunn, Hague and Moffett in the last Legislature was endorsed by the convention.

After the nominations were completed, a committee consisting of Edward Nugent and John Moody escorted the candidates to the platform, where they were introduced and made short speeches.

AMUSEMENTS.

Weber Music Hall was formally opened last Tuesday night for inspection by friends and patrons. In many respects the reception resembled an opening night at the famou shouse of mirth and music. Throughout the evening carriages drew up to the doors in a steady procession and the cosy little playhouse was soon crowded to the doors with fashionably dressed women and men in evening clothes who flocked to get a look at the rejuvenated place of amusement in its new dress. Managers Weber and Zeigfeld were kept busy responding to the congratulations showered upon them and Miss Anna Held and other members of the Weber & Ziegfeld all-star stock company received their friends in flower-bedecked boxes. Patries from Philadelphia, Boston and other adjacent cities came over specially to attend the reception. During the evening some of the seats and boxes for the opening performance of "Higgledy-Piggledy" on Oct. 13 were sold by a method which, it is hoped, will effectually prevent tickets from falling into the hands of speculators.

A FATAL AUTO RIDE

Motor Car Wrecked by Central Express.

PARTY SAID TO HAVE BEEN DRUNK.

Three Dead, Five Injured—Car Went Down Embankment and Upset on Rails, Where It Was Dashed to Fragments by Train.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Further details of the automobile wreck in the Bronx show that three people were killed, two are in the Fordham hospital badly injured, three are in their homes slightly hurt and one man is missing as a result of a ride that followed a night of drinking at roadhouses and that ended tragically at the southerly end of Jerome avenue, near McComb's dam, where the road crosses the New York Central railway.

Engineer Livingston, who was placed under arrest and later released on his own recognizance, said that previous to his arrest he found Emma Perez sitting by the track crying. Livingston asked her what the matter was.

"Oh, Mr. Noyes was drunk, and I guess we were all drunk!" she is said to have replied. "There wasn't a sober one in the party. If I ever live through this I'll never drink another drop."

The bodies of Noyes and the unidentified woman were taken in a patrol wagon to the Highbridge station, and the coroner's office in the Bronx was notified, after which the bodies were removed to the Fordham morgue.

The party occupied a large touring car and were returning from Mount Vernon to the Riverside casino. All were in good spirits. Noyes, who was said to be partly under the influence of liquor, was the chauffeur. His intention, it is thought, was to cross the McComb's dam bridge, but instead he ran the machine down the extension of Jerome avenue, which ends at a fence at about One Hundred and Sixty-first street. The main road is brilliantly lighted, but the extension is not. Beyond the fence is an embankment with a sheer drop of twenty-five feet to the tracks.

Two policemen saw the automobile go whizzing down the extension, and one of them called out to the chauffeur, but almost before he spoke the machine crashed into the fence, cleared the embankment and then fell from sight.

As the auto went down it turned over, and the occupants were spilled out along the railroad track. Noyes, Belle Perez and Madge Corcoran fell directly on the tracks, while the others fell on either side of it.

As the auto struck the tracks the train, coming around the curve with a roar, crashed into the wreck and tossed it up into the air on the pilot of the engine. Noyes had been entangled in the wreckage of the auto, and the train caught him up and crushed him to death. He was still with the auto when the train was brought to a stop.

Miss Corcoran wore a long automobile coat, and this had become entangled in the broken bits of the auto. She was carried along by the engine for a distance of 200 feet, when the cloth of the coat gave way, and she fell, only to be cut in two at the waist by the driving wheels of the engine. Every wheel of the train passed over her body.

Belle Perez had been badly injured in the fall. The engine carried her a short distance and then tossed her aside. She died shortly after being taken to the hospital. The other two died instantly.

Noyes Was a Rochester Man.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Alfred Noyes, the chauffeur killed in the automobile accident in New York yesterday by a New York Central train, was a Rochester man. His parents are now residents of this city. He was twenty-five years old and had been in New York nine years.

LADY CURZON HAS RELAPSE.

Report Received This Morning Portends End Near.

WALMER CASTLE, Kent, Oct. 8.—Lady Curzon has been seized with chilliness and rigors, portending a crisis. It appears there was some secretion that had possibly been overlooked in the first operation or that formed subsequently which led to apprehension that a second operation for peritonitis might be necessary, and hence the hurried summoning of the specialists from London.

Mrs. and Miss Leiter, who were staying at Deal, also were summoned in the belief that the end was not distant.

No bulletin has been issued, but early this morning, it is understood, the condition of Lady Curzon continues grave. The patient shows no improvement.

Cleveland Home From Buzzard's Bay.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 8.—After spending four weeks at Buzzard's Bay former President Grover Cleveland arrived in Princeton last night, where he was welcomed by the members of his family, who returned several weeks ago. Mr. Cleveland is in excellent spirits and said that he had enjoyed a very pleasant and restful summer. Mr. Cleveland declined to discuss the political situation.

PAUL, Minn., Oct. 8.—Acting on instructions received from Winnipeg, the St. Paul police are watching the Union depot for a man named Belmont, who was connected with a bank in the Manitoba capital. From the meager details possessed by the police here it appears that Belmont and about $12,000 disappeared simultaneously.

BATES RENOMINATED

Republican State Convention at Boston Names Ticket.

LOSS OF SENATOR HOAR IRREPARABLE

Lodge Spoke In Praise of Late Statesman—Denied That He Was Against Reciprocity With Dominion of Canada.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—The scholarly face of the late Senator Hoar looking down upon the deliberations of the Republican state convention saw the nomination of the state ticket again headed by Governor John L. Bates, sixteen presidential electors and the adoption of a platform the main planks of which were an indorsement of President Roosevelt's administration and the advocacy of reciprocity treaties with foreign countries and especially with Canada and which closed with a tender but eloquent tribute to the dead statesman himself.

The state ticket nominated was as follows: Governor, John L. Bates of Boston; lieutenant governor, Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston; secretary, William M. Olin of Boston; treasurer and receiver general, Arthur D. Chapin of Holyoke; auditor, Henry E. Turner of Malden; attorney general, Herbert Parker of Lancaster.

The enthusiasm which greeted the name of President Roosevelt, the hearty welcome to the two leaders, Governor Bates and Lieutenant Governor Guild, and the thundering applause of Senator Lodge in his speech defending his attitude on reciprocity gave the full major tone to the convention. Yet through all the proceedings the minor key was frequently sounded as speakers turned toward the portrait of Senator Hoar to offer tribute to the memory of the man.

Attorney General William H. Moody as presiding officer spoke for nearly an hour on national issues and in defense of his chief's administration of the country's affairs.

Senator Lodge said of Senator Hoar:

"The loss to the Republican party and to the world in the death of the senior member from Massachusetts is irreparable."

In his own life, he said, a gap had been left which never could be filled. Senator Lodge said he had been so deeply moved by the applause which greeted his name when it was mentioned that he was moved to say a few words of a personal nature. He said in part:

"For twelve years I have tried to serve the state of Massachusetts with all the strength in my possession. I am aware that there have been shortcomings, but I have done my utmost for the interests of the United States, for the interests of our own beloved commonwealth.

"I have been attacked repeatedly on the subject of reciprocity with Canada, but my actions have always been guided by my desire for larger markets for the United States.

"I have been accused of being opposed to Canadian reciprocity. I have been accused of changing my position on the question. In reply I will state that I have never been opposed to reciprocity which will be a benefit to the United States, and I have never changed that position.

"I have felt that it was necessary to make answer to those who assailed me and who charged that those associated with me in representing Massachusetts at Washington were not true to the old state. But I am moved by your reception this morning, and I will say that with the single exception of the Philippine question I have never differed from my distinguished colleague, and I would like to see the man who dares to say that George Hoar was false to Massachusetts.

"The attacks which have been made charging that we have failed as representatives and senators of the United States are untrue. My uppermost thoughts have been of the old Bay State. Everything I have in the world is tied up in this state and not in foreign countries. To the best of my ability I have served faithfully and with loyalty, and I feel from your action that you know it."

When Senator Lodge concluded speaking he was given an ovation which did not subside until some one on the platform motioned the leader of the band in the gallery to give a selection.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 8.—Pursued by the Mexican authorities after being released from the Ensenada jail on bail, Captain Manha of the schooner May took refuge on the British steamer St. Denis, where the captain locked him in and nailed the American flag on the door. The attempt to retake him was abandoned. Manha has arrived here on the St. Denis. He was arrested Sept. 15 and thrown into jail on the charge of poaching guano from Mexican territory.

Fatal Wreck on Panhandle.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 8. — One person was killed and seven injured in a collision on the Panhandle railroad between the Wheeling express, eastbound, and a light running freight engine, westbound. J. W. Rauch, fireman of the passenger engine, was crushed between the boiler and tank and killed.

CAPTURED, HE SHOT HIMSELF.

Whipple Has Defied Officers of the Law For Nearly a Month.

EAST GLASTONBURY, Conn., Oct. 8.—In an attempt to make good his threat not to be taken alive John Whipple, the outlawed farmer, put two bullets into his head when he found himself cornered by a posse of armed men in the barn of Theodore Evans, on the South Glastonbury highway, late yesterday. It does not seem likely that he will live to be brought to trial.

Since Sept. 12 Whipple has defied the officers of the law, who wanted him in the first place for shooting a neighbor and later for setting fires which destroyed two sets of farm buildings and since last Sunday on the additional charge of shooting State Officer Louks. Almost every day for three weeks Whipple has kept in the woods, and, although the man hunt has been kept up in all the surrounding country, no attempt was made to beat the woods in which it was thought Whipple had cover. It was known that he was heavily armed and that he would shoot any one who attempted to take him, as was shown by his wounding Officer Louks, who had surprised him at home.

When Whipple appeared at the Evans farmhouse for food it was given him, after which he went to Evans' barn and slept. In the meantime an armed crowd had gathered and the place surrounded. When everything was in readiness several men made a dash for the door. Whipple was inside and saw them coming. There were two reports from his revolver; but, as it proved, the bullets went into his own head. When Whipple first took to the woods he told a neighbor that he would never be taken alive.

Dixiana Stakes at Morris Park Won by the Favorite.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Rapid Water, at 11 to 10, won the Dixiana stakes for three-year-olds, one mile, at Morris park. Dolly Spanker made the running to the stretch, where O'Neil sent Rapid Water to the front and won easily by three lengths.

The Manhattan handicap, for all ages, Eclipse course, was won by the two-year-old Broadcloth, with the 60 to 1 shot Race King second and the favorite Castalian third. Castalian made the pace to the final eighth pole, where Broadcloth took the lead and won by three-quarters of a length.

Jockey Tommy Burns was suspended for three days for trying to beat the barrier with Castalian in the Manhattan handicap. Three favorites won.

STATE FUNERAL SERVICES.

Late Postmaster General Payne Honored at Capital.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Although a state funeral, the services in St. John's church over the body of the late Henry C. Payne, postmaster general, were marked by impressive simplicity, according to the wishes of Mrs. Payne and his near relatives. Official Washington filled the nave of the church, and, brilliant as were the uniforms of the large representation from the army, navy and marine corps, the solemnity of the scene was only enhanced by the sharp contrast of color with the deep mourning of the family and personal friends of the dead cabinet officer.

Side by side with Mrs. Payne sat the president and Mrs. Roosevelt, both in deep mourning. In half an hour the funeral procession was winding its way slowly down Pennsylvania avenue, escorted by the postal carriers of the city of Washington in uniform, to the Pennsylvania station, whence the body was taken on a special train to Milwaukee.

Secretary Hitchcock, who had expected to go to Milwaukee on the train, was unable to do so and telephoned the fact with his regrets. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson was the only cabinet officer who went with the train, but the plans contemplate Secretary Shaw and Secretary Metcalf joining the funeral party later.

The interment will be in Forest Home cemetery, Milwaukee, the home of the late postmaster general.

ATTACKED KING LEOPOLD.

Leader of Kongo Reform Association Charged Cruelty to Natives.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—King Leopold of Belgium was assailed for his policy as sovereign of the Kongo Free State at a public meeting in connection with the sessions of the international peace congress. The meeting, which was one of the largest of the congress, had been called to consider the mutual relation of races and the menace to the world's order through the exploitation of weaker peoples.

The attack upon King Leopold was made by E. T. Morel of England, who represented the Kongo Reform association. Mr. Morel charged that the king was personally responsible in a large measure for cruelties practiced on the natives of the Kongo Free State in the terrific endeavors of monopolistic commercial organizations to obtain from the country all the ivory and rubber possible.

The king was defended by George Herbert Head of Cambridge, England, who submitted that King Leopold had done all possible to stope the cruelties practiced; and who also urgently asserted that whatever profits came from the trading and development in the Kongo did not pass to King Leopold at all, but were expended instead for the development of the Kongo State and in public works in Belgium.

The Belgium government's policy in the Kongo also was bitterly denounced by Rev. W. H. Morrison, for seven years a missionary in the Kongo land.

BAY STATE TICKET.

Democrats Name William L. Douglas For Governor.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—The Democratic state convention, held in the Boston theater, was one of the most harmonious in the party's history. The entire state ticket, headed by William L. Douglas, a manufacturer of Brockton, was nominated by acclamation.

The nominees for the state offices were as follows: Governor, William L. Douglas, Brockton; lieutenant governor, John C. Crosby, Pittsfield; secretary of state, Henry T. Schaeffer, Winchester; treasurer and receiver general, Edmund C. Codman, Boston; auditor, Francois X. Tetreault, Southbridge; attorney general, John P. Leahy, Boston.

The platform adopted by the convention indorses the national candidates and platform, assails the protective tariff, charging that the system of protection was responsible for the prosperity of "the huge industrial giant, otherwise known as 'infant industries,' basking peacefully in the sunshine of the Dingley tariff, content with the assurance that no Republican government agent will 'run amuck' or in any way disturb their monopolistic tranquillity." The platform also declares in favor of Philippine independence.

Accuses Walker of Murder.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 8.—John Congdon, the nineteen-year-old youth under arrest in connection with the murder of Bartender William Herman in the basement of a Gratiot avenue saloon here, has made a statement. Congdon alleges that John Walker killed Herman. Walker is the man under arrest upon whose person were found the victim's watch and some bloodstained money. Walker denies the truth of Congdon's confession.

Over Seventy-four Million Bibles.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—In the eighty-eight years of the life of the American Bible society there have been issued 74,441,674 copies of the Bible, of which 1,770,891 were in the year just ended, as recorded in the annual report of the society and made public. During the last year 929,823 copies were issued from the Bible house in New York, and 841,068 were issued from the society's foreign agencies in China, Japan, Siam, Syria and Turkey.

Ambassador Leaves St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 8.—Ambassador McCormick, who has been granted leave of absence to go to the United States on urgent private business, left St. Petersburg last night. Before going Mr. McCormick had an interview with Professor de Martens, who is a member of the admiralty appeal court.

KUROPATKIN IS ILL.

Russian Warships at Port Arthur Battered by Japs.

CZAR WANTS NO INTERVENTION.

St. Petersburg Has Received No Late News From Manchurian Army or Port Arthur—Baltic Fleet Almost Ready to Sail.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A dispatch from Vladivostok says that General Kuropatkin has been very ill since the battle of Liaoyang and has been unable to direct operations in person.

A Tokyo report says that the fire of the Japanese land batteries severely damaged four Russian warships in the harbor of Port Arthur.

One of the vessels was completely wrecked. The names of none of the ships are given.

Advices from St. Petersburg say up to this hour the war office has not received fresh advices from the front.

The admiralty continues without news of the reported sea fight off Port Arthur as well as of the Tokyo report of the wrecking and damaging of Russian warships at Port Arthur by the Japanese land batteries.

As a portion of the squadron has been going out occasionally to bombard the Japanese land positions, the possibility that some of the Russian vessels may have been damaged by the Japanese batteries is admitted.

The admiralty officially announces that the Baltic fleet will be ready to sail as soon as the battleship Orel and the cruisers Oleg, Zemtchug and Izumrud, which sailed from Cronstadt, arrive at Revel. The ice breaker Ermak will accompany the fleet.

It has been learned from an admiral occupying a high position that the proposition to send the fleet to the far east by way of Cape Horn has been decided in the negative.

The admiralty is unable to furnish information concerning the two Russian ships reported to be cruising in Torres strait, south Pacific ocean, between New Guinea and Australia.

If any Russian ships have been sighted in Torres strait or if any Russian ships are now there they must have been sent out from Vladivostok.

While not withholding praise for the American spirit of desiring to do things, the Russian press expresses gratification that President Roosevelt's idea of calling a peace conference to an accompaniment of the thunder of cannon has apparently been shipwrecked.

They express the hope that this will induce the American journals to give up the discussion of unsolicited intervention in the Russo-Japanese war in any shape or form.

Victim of Modern Naval Fight.

CHELIABINSK, Russia, Oct. 8.—Captain Andreieff of the Russian armored cruiser Rossia of the Vladivostok squadron has passed through here on the way to eastern Russia. He is suffering from an acute form of nervous prostration, the result of the terrific tension during the naval fight with the Japanese fleet under Admiral Kamimura following the departure of the Rossia, Gromoboi and Rurik from Vladivostok. The same ailment affects many of the wounded who are being invalided home and who look like living corpses. It seems impossible for the nervous system to recuperate from the awful strain to which it is subjected in a modern naval battle.

British Government Cannot Move Yet

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Replying to a letter from the International Arbitration and Peace association suggesting that the time is at hand when his majesty's ministers in concert with other powers can, with good hope of success, appeal to the governments of Russia and Japan to suspend the conflict in the far east, Foreign Minister Lansdowne states as follows: "Neither of the belligerents having expressed any desire for mediation on the part of other powers, his majesty's government does not consider that it could with advantage take such action as is suggested by your committee."

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 8.—Late details of the Nebraska launching show that the ship broke away eleven minutes ahead of time. No one was hurt, and no damage was done. The Nebraska slid into the water on absolutely even keel. Everything about the launching was successful beyond the fact that the supports were weakened too quickly by the workmen. The vessel was christened by Miss Mickey.

Advertising is an investment, not a "get rich quick" scheme. The mere fact that a merchant may not get enough calls for an advertised article to pay for the advertisement is no proof that his advertising expenditure has been wasted. On the contrary, that same advertisement, costing, perhaps, $3 or $4, may strongly impress a person who wants something of another sort altogether, and may bring to the store a customer whose trade amounts to hundreds of dollars every year.—Press and Printer.

Organizer Buckridge must have thought it necessary to make some bluff to the State Liquor Dealers' Protective League as an excuse for drawing his pay when he declared that the original high license measure was killed in the Common Council "by friends of the industry." We do not believe for one moment that a single member of the Common Council did not vote conscientiously and when that man Buckridge makes such a statement he slanders the reputation of the four members of that body who voted against increasing the retail license fee to $1,000.

In some quarters the opinion is held that Councilman Tyler made a mistake in introducing the high license measure at this time, and the funny thing about it is that this so-called mistake is because a campaign is on. But this, by no means, represents the better public sentiment. There is no time like the present for enacting the proposed ordinance and we believe that when the subject comes up for final passage at the November meeting of the city fathers there will be an unanimity of favorable opinion among the eleven members of the Common Council.

EPWORTH CONFERENCE.

Local Societies to be Represented at Meeting.

An important business meeting of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, held last evening at the church parlors, was in charge of the president, E. A. Edgar, and at the conclusion of the regular monthly business of the society, the subject of the coming conference at High Bridge was considered. The district convention is held yearly by representatives from Newark, Elizabeth, Westfield, Cranford, Roselle, Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington and Plainfield.

A delegation of six members of each of the local societies will be appointed by the president, to represent this city, though as many members of the League as possible are urged to attend the conference. The convention will meet for one day only at the Methodist church in High Bridge, and the representatives of the various State societies will be entertained by the Epworth Leaguers of this city.

Junior League Holds Sale.

Under the auspices of the Junior League of All Souls church a successful cake and candy sale was held yesterday afternoon at the church parlors. The affair was in charge of Harold Brownell, the president of the society, assisted by a committee of the members. About twenty-five dollars was realized from the sale, which will be devoted to the benefit of the League.

Martin Johnson, of West Third street, has taken a position in the Perin-Frezee' glove factory.

William Hangliter, formerly with The Pond Shop, has resigned his position with an automobile firm at Asbury Park and has returned to this city.

The State factory inspectors are making a tour of the local shops. The Pederick-Ayer Works, in the West End, were visited yesterday and found to be meeting all requirements.

Owing to strikes on the Santa Fe Railway system, in Chicago and in other places, it has been found necessary by the International Association of Machinists to levy a general assessment of $1 upon the membership. The Santa Fe and Chicago difficulties alone involve upward of 7,000 men and for the past two months the International has been paying out in benefits over $10,000 a week. The membership of the organization is 75,000 and it is strong locally.

By the toss of a coin at a conference in Orange between the Boss Slaters and the journeymen, of the Local Slaters Union, an agreement has been reached whereby the strike, which has been on since July 1, is amicably settled, and the men are directed to return to work. There was considerable dickering over the terms of settlement and at last it was suggested that a coin be tipped. President Samuel J. Blair, of the bosses' organization, whirled a quarter to the ceiling and it turned on the floor in favor of the journeymen. No formal agreement has been signed.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Colored Race in Jersey.

The colored race is looking up in New Jersey. In Elizabeth a few days ago a colored clergyman flatly refused to marry a white woman to a negro, on the ground that he desired to preserve the identity of his race, which could not be done, he said, by their marrying white people. This shows he had a proper pride in his own race, which is one of the best incentives to progress and one of the best evidences of a desire to improve. In Plainfield recently a negro woman, who brought suit against one of her own race, asserted that people of her color were not treated fairly in white justices' courts. This may or may not be construed into a demand for a trial by one's peers, but it resulted in having a colored justice preside at the trial and a jury of colored men to pass upon the merits of the case. As an offset to these two interesting incidents, the unwritten order issued at Atlantic City stands out in incongruous relief. Colored girls and men have been ordered to keep out of the surf on certain fashionable portions of the beach. Just why the Atlantic City patrons refuse to allow the colored nurses and waiters to maintain that perfect degree of cleanliness which salt water bathing insures is a question, but there are many other characteristics of Atlantic City hard to explain.—Newark News.

JERSEY'S PREMIUMS.

Gold Medals for School and Road Exhibits at St. Louis Exposition.

The New Jersey School exhibits at the St. Louis Exposition have been awarded fourteen gold medals, eight silver medals and a grand prize given for the fine exhibit.

The State has also received a gold medal for the exhibition of a model road, which was built under the direction of State Supervisor of Roads R. A. Meeker, of this city. The only other competitor in the good roads exhibit was the Government, but New Jersey's model was considered superior.

COMMENDS ACTION OF FORMER MAYOR RANDOLPH

CORRESPONDENT PRAISES HIS EFFORTS AGAINST A "SPITE" HOUSE.

Editor, The Daily Press:

The value of any self-sacrificing movement in which the public is likely to become the beneficiary is the estimate ultimately put upon the effort by members of the community. For some time I have been watching the papers for some expressions of approval of L. V. F. Randolph's heroic effort to rid this community of a certain pestilential influence which has for some time been growing in volume and boldness. The degree of success attending practical black-mailing schemes in other parts of the city have emphasized the disposition of many of our citizens to display their preference for ease and comfort, rather than to heroically stand up for the right, as has the eminent and respected citizen above referred to. Mr. Randolph has displayed characteristics which have made men famous in history and should be accorded the support and credit of every right-minded person. In his attempt to secure the protection of his own interests, which should have been accorded him by those to whose care the enforcement of the proper ordinances have been entrusted, he has set in motion a train of thought and probable action which will in all likelihood prevent the repetition of such a gross miscarriage of judgment, or which will bring to pass ordinances which will provide against further misapprehension of the intent of the city ordinance made and provided for such contingencies. And now lest we forget the signal services of a man who had rather face the hatred of those whom it has been necessary for the unenviable publicity of such a controversy, let all who have the courage of their convictions so express themselves as to indelibly fix their opinions upon the minds of the less courageous or indifferent members of this community, and remember that there was at least one man, although undoubtedly able to buy off his tormentors, who chose to stand by the right regardless of consequences.

INTEREST IN SPORTS AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

TENNIS AND BASKET BALL THE PASTIME OF GIRL PUPILS.

Since the election of the officers of the Girls' Athletic Association at the Plainfield High School, the interest in athletics has advanced there. The basket ball players are considering the subject of reorganization, while those interested in tennis are making arrangements for the annual fall tournament for the girls.

Miss Edith Jarvis has appointed a committee to arrange for the running off of a tournament for the championship in singles, and the plans are already under foot. The committee is as follows: Miss Margaret Hasbrouk, chairman, Miss Josephine Serrell and Miss Florence Smalley.

The matches will be played part on the Albert street courts, where the boys' tournament was played, and part on the Manning avenue court. It has been suggested that at the conclusion of the girls' singles a tournament in mixed-doubles be played, but nothing definite has been decided. There are at least twenty girls in the school who are good tennis players, and if all enter the event it should be an interesting one. Last year the tournament was won by Miss May Cogan, who was then in the freshman class. She will take part in the affair again this fall.

In basket ball also, the spirit has awakened, and nearly every day the tennis court adjoining the Casino is used by a merry crowd of basket ball candidates. A league among the classes has been formed, and a trophy will be put up for the class winning the highest number of points. Miss Mary E. Ferry, of the faculty, is coaching the girls in basket ball, and has charge of the league. Miss Ferry is faculty director of the athletic association.

AMUSEMENTS.

Julian Edwards, the composer, has launched Mme. Schumann-Heink well in the comic opera swim with his new "Love's Lottery," at the Broadway Theatre. If Stanilius Stange's plot was not of sturdy oak, his lyrics were of willowy grace. There was the air of romance and the smell of English heather in his story, though his heroine was a washer woman of many more years than twenty. Manager Fred C. Whitney, too, builded well for his new star's debut. The cast was exceptionally good, its voices were exceptionally true. It was backed by the best singing chorus which has been seen on Broadway since musical comedy gnawed at the roots of comic opera and stunted it to the level of the variety stage. Among all these necessities of a very refreshing and diverting comic opera Mme. Schumann-Heink was the giant of strength. She gave it nerve, she supplied almost all the humor, she was all over the stage. Musically, she was not affected by the frivolous surroundings, for she sang with purity of tone and mastery of technique. She was the former Schumann-Heink of grand opera, plus vivacity, buoyancy, activity.

Meeting of Music Club.

A meeting of the Bronx Music Club was held at the home of Charles Eoff, of Crescent avenue, last Thursday evening. A rehearsal was held, and a pleasant social evening was spent. The plans for a musical entertainment, which is considered by the members of the club, were discussed, and the meeting adjourned.

SYMBOLIC OF STATES

STATUES REPRESENTATIVE OF THE LOUISIANA PURCHASE.

FOURTEEN TYPICAL FIGURES

They Are Seated on Pedestals in the Colonnade of States at the St. Louis Fair—Masterpieces of Statuary.

St. Louis.—The panorama that is spread out before the multitude in the Plaza of St. Louis at the world's fair is so magnificent, so satisfying as a unit, in fact so complete, that it seems almost sacrilege even to attempt to separate it into its integral parts and examine them in detail.

We feel, as we feast our eyes on its ravishing beauty, whether by daylight when all the splendor of the rainbow gardens may be seen, or by night when the changing hues of red and amber and green supply the color that the flowers are wont to provide, that there is not one superfluous touch, not one discordant note. The picture is composed along lines of symmetry, with the climax, the great white Festival Hall, in the center, and the beautiful facades of the palaces of Education and Electricity acting as essential accessories to lead the eye up to that climax. Thus the artist composes his picture, and thus only can the picture be a success.

Yet the picture, as one sees it from the main launch landing, is not all there is to it. There are details that reveal themselves only to the pedestrian who climbs the pink granitoid steps, wanders about among the fountains and cascades and follows the curves of the Colonnade of States. By no means the least interesting of these details are the heroic statues that represent the 14 states acquired by the Louisiana purchase treaty.

A WING OF THE PERISTYLE.
Showing a portion of the colonnade of states.

The colonnade, that spreads like great white wings to the right and the left of Festival Hall, is composed of seven hemicycles on each side. The entire composition is a great architectural screen, formed of stately Ionic columns and massive pylons that are surmounted by bronze eagles. Each hemicycle constitutes a little shrine in which is enthroned the deity of one of the Louisiana purchase states.

The sculptors who modeled these deities sought to impart to the plastic clay the characteristics of the various states. or life itself. In this instance it is the source of the Mississippi, the stream of paramount importance in the Louisiana territory. The wheat, the logs and the source would not be applicable to any other state of the 14.

Two of the states, Indian Territory and South Dakota, have made use of the figure of an Indian squaw; but how different are the two! The southern squaw, her head bowed and her eyes downcast, is a type of patient resignation that cannot but appeal to those who know the story of the Indian women and in fact the Indian tribes of the southwest. Mr. Heber has added the wheat and other suggestive accessories, most significant among which is the water jar of quaint Indian pottery. In the South Dakota goddess, Mr. L. O. Lawrie, one of the most daring of the younger generation of American sculptors, has given us an altogether different type of Indian woman. She is erect and haughty, her head turned to one side, as if in scorn. She is of the race of men who may be killed without being crushed. Her only suggestive accessories are the scythe and the logs on which she rests.

The statue of Kansas, by A. A. Weinmann, is highly suggestive in that the figure is seated upon a fatted steer and holds in her hand an ear of corn, one of the chief resources of Kansas wealth. North Dakota, by B. L. Zimm, is associated with the implements of mining and also with wheat, wood and the buffalo's skull, the last reminiscence of the days when civilization had not yet invaded the Dakotas.

Wyoming, Nebraska, Colorado and Missouri are differentiated by the shield bearing the great seal of the state. The first of these, by C. F. Hamann, has a ledge of rock for a throne. The drapery is especially rich in swinging curves, and the face is tremendously strong. The second, the conception of Carl C. Tefft, has the scythe and the oak tree at the back, and there are suggestions of both wheat and corn. The goddess of Nebraska is essentially an agricultural deity. Had her face been a little more severe and dignified she might have passed for Ceres herself. Yet it is evident that such was not Mr. Packer's idea. He has placed his figure on a classic settee that would have been a fitting seat for the goddess of the harvest; but he has associated her with the anvil, the eagle and the dictum of Nebraska, "Equality before the Law." The Colorado statute, by A. Zeller, suggests chiefly the precious product of the mine. On the head of the goddess is a helmet surmounted by an eagle, proud bird of the lofty mountain peaks. Missouri's deity, by A. S. Calder, holds the winged, serpent-entwined staff of Mercury, the patron of commerce, in her right hand. At her back is the horn-of-plenty, pouring out fruit and grain.

Louisiana's goddess is rather a goddess than a representation of a state. Mr. Schwarz has given her no device except a sprig of agave, that is somewhat typical of the southern states. The statue is so strong in modeling and so splendid in pose that one does not feel the need of suggestive accessories.

Mr. Jaegers has given his Arkansas deity the cotton boll and the bear for symbols; but it is a comfortable, amiable bear on which she can rest her arm with impunity. Oklahoma, as she is pictured by Mr. Conway, is a classic figure that reminds one of the portraits of Roman matrons. At her side is a highly decorated plow and the ornament in her hair is of wheat. Montana, by A. C. Skodik, is another strongly classic figure in voluminous draperies. Her device is the miner's shovel. At her back grows the sturdy oak, and in her hair she has placed a spray of northern laurel.

Not second in interest even to the state homes on the Plateau of the States and the Trail, are these shrines at which the citizen from whatever section of the great Louisiana purchase territory may bow in gratitude and pride. These are the altars on which the patriotic resident of the middle west may lay his offering of incense. They are something more than artistic and essential decorations. Like almost every feature of the great world's fair, they are full of meaning that is not for the casual observer. They are not merely parts of a great and glorious architectural scheme. They represent the tangible spirit of 14 of the greatest states in the union.

EMILY GRANT HUTCHINGS.

THE MINNESOTA STATUE.

Only one of these figures is so characteristic that it could not by any possibility be mistaken for the goddess of any other than its own state, yet all are accompanied by accessories that give the requisite "local color."

The one not to be mistaken is that of Minnesota, modeled by that brilliant and resourceful sculptor, Gustav Gerlach. Like all the others, it is the partially draped figure of a woman. On the head is a crown of wheat. Wheat figures in the representation of many of the states, for the northern part of the Louisiana purchase territory is essentially a wheat-growing country. For this reason the discarded hand reaper might serve as an accessory for many another figure in the adjoining hemicycles. The artist did not stop with the crown and sheaf of wheat. He seated his goddess on a log of wood from the northern forests, and at her side he placed an overturned Greek urn. The never-failing stream of water from the mouth of the Greek vase has always been symbolic of the "source" whether of the river, the soul, poetic inspiration

EXPERT AT CHESS.

Miss Rose Jefferson, Champion Woman Chess Player of the World.

When the list of expert players was made out for the chess congress at St. Louis in October the name of only one woman was included. It was that of Miss Rose Jefferson of Memphis.

In the great game, which it is popularly believed can be played successfully only by people with plenty of gray matter in their skulls, Rose Jefferson comes off winner at least nine times out of ten. This young American woman of twenty-two is beyond doubt the champion woman chess player of the world. Few of the men champions have ever defeated her.

Miss Jefferson earns her living by teaching music in Memphis. Chess is her recreation; teaching music is the serious business of her life. It is not the first time a chess expert has been also a skilled musician.

The young lady's father was a noted chess player. So far as she can remember, she learned the royal game at the age of six. She had abundance of gray matter in her female brain pan even then. Both she and a brother who was older seem to have been born chess players. The older brother became an expert. He kindly taught his little sister the adroit moves of the great game and delighted in her growing power till one unlucky day came. Rose played better and better all the time. When she was seventeen she played a match game with this expert brother who had taught her the clever moves. She beat him. That gray matter was bulging up still further in the feminine brain.

If there is anything a man dislikes worse than another it is to be beaten by a woman at chess. It somehow shivers the timbers of his hereditary sense of masculine superiority. Once a youth and a maid, two romantic students, formed an attachment to each other. It was considered by their chums, equally romantic, an ideal falling in love, he being dark and manly, she blond and feminine. All went lovely and the days passed full of sweet commune till the sad day when the absorbing game of chess made its advent among the students. The youth and maid, then betrothed, learned it. The young man called one evening and told his best girl how he had beaten ever so many other girls who had ventured to hustle pawns and knights against him on a chessboard.

Flushed with victory, the young man proposed to try the great game with his best girl. She felt that the gray matter of the whole feminine sex was to rise or fall with the results of that game. She played and beat the young man. He was discomfited down to his toes. It hurt his feelings. He was even angry at the girl. The upshot was that the game of life they two were preparing to play together was declared off. They never played chess or anything else together again.

In like manner Miss Jefferson's brother, after she had beaten him, refused ever afterward to play chess with her. But from the result of that game Rose Jefferson gained confidence to meet as opponents in the noble game the most skilled experts of the time. Memphis has a chess club, and Miss Jefferson is an honorary member of it. At the club appear from time to time the world's famous chess players. One of these was H. N. Pillsbury. Miss Jefferson defeated him twice. He told her she was one of the best chess players he had even seen, and he did not add "for a woman" either.

Next came a game with Dr. Emanuel Lasker, champion chess player of the world. It was a tremendous game, like a battle between two great armies. It lasted two hours and a half. It looked as though the girl was about to win when Dr. Lasker quit the game and said he could not play a minute longer, as he had an engagement. That seemed hardly fair toward the American girl. Some time afterward, however, at the Manhattan Chess club in New York city, Dr. Lasker defeated Miss Jefferson in a lengthy, hotly contested game. But she had then only just arrived in New York and was weary and new to the surroundings. She says it makes a great difference for the worse when one tries to play in a strange place. The longest game the girl ever played was with R. H. Harrison, whom she defeated after a contest of twelve hours.

Miss Jefferson is especially skillful in the use of her pawns, which is the mark of an expert in chess. She has the keen, rather close set eyes and the strong, well developed nose that physiognomists say mark the successful detective and news reporter.

There are those who declare that Miss Jefferson, if she were able to devote more time to practice, might easily be developed into a world's champion chess player.

The Mississippi Bubble

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

(Copyright, 1902, by Emerson Hough.)

Lady Catharine looked at him curiously. "Actually, sir," said she, "you cause me to chill. I could half fear you. What is in your heart? Surely, this is a strange love-making."

"And by that," cried John Law, "know, then the better of the truth. Listen! I know! And this is what I know—that I shall succeed, and that I shall love you always!"

"'Tis what one hears often from men, in one form or another," said the girl, coolly, seating herself as she spoke.

"Talk not to me of other men—I'll not brook it!" cried he, advancing toward her a few rapid paces. "Think you I have no heart?" His eye gleamed, and he came on yet a step in his strange wooing. "Your face is here, here," he cried, "deep in my heart! I must always look upon it, or I am a lost man!"

The girl leaned back against the wall near which she had seated herself. The young man bent forward, taking both her hands quietly in his own now, and gazing steadily into her eyes. There was no triumph in his gaze. Perhaps John Law had prescience of the future.

"Oh, sir, I had far liefer I had never seen you," cried Catharine Knollys, bending a head from whose eyes there dropped sudden tears.

"Ah, dear heart, say anything but that!"

"'Tis a hard way a woman must travel at best in this world," murmured the Lady Catharine, with wisdom all unsuited to her youth. "But I cannot understand. I had thought that the coming of a lover was a joyous thing, a time of happiness alone."

"Ah, now, in the hour of mist can you not foresee the time of sunshine? All life is before us, my sweet, all life. There is much for us to do, there are so many, many days of love and happiness."

But now the Lady Catharine Knollys veered again, with some sudden change of the inner currents of the feminine soul.

"I have gone far with you, Mr. Law," said she, suddenly disengaging her hand. "Yet I did but give you insight of things which any man coming as you have come should have well within his knowledge. Think not, sir, that I am easy to be won. I must know you equally honest with myself. And if you come to my regard, it must be step by step and stair by stair. This is to be remembered."

"I shall remember."

"Go, then, and leave me for this time," she besought him. But still he could not go, and still the Lady Catharine could not bid him more sternly to depart. Youth—youth, and love, and fate were in that room; and these would have their way.

The beseeching gaze of an eye singular in its power rested on the girl, a gaze filled with all the strange, half mandatory pleading of youth and yearning. Once more there came a shift in the tidal currents of the woman's heart. The Lady Catharine slowly became conscious of a delicious helplessness, of a sinking and yielding which she could not resist. Her head lost power to be erect. It slipped forward on a shoulder waiting as by right. Her breath came in soft measure, and unconsciously a hand was raised to touch the cheek pressed down to hers. John Law kissed her once upon the lips. Suddenly, without plan—in spite of all plan—the seal of a strange fate was set forever on her life!

For a long moment they stood thus, until at length she raised a face pale and sharp, and pushed back against his breast a hand that trembled.

"'Tis wondrous strange," she whispered.

"Ask nothing," said John Law, "fear nothing. Only believe, as I believe."

Neither John Law nor the Lady Catharine Knollys saw what was passing just without the room. They did not see the set face which looked down from the stairway. Through the open door Mary Connynge could see the young man as he stepped out of the door, could see the conduct of the girl now left alone in the drawing-room. She saw the Lady Catharine sink down upon the seat, her head drooped in thought, her hand lying languidly out before her. Pale now and distraught, the Lady Catharine Knollys wist little of what went on before her. She had full concern with the tumult which waged riot in her soul.

Mary Connynge turned, and started back up the stair unseen. She paused, her yellow eyes gone narrow, her little hand clutched tight upon the rail.

CHAPTER IX.

IN SEARCH OF THE QUARREL.

As Law turned away from the door of the Knollys mansion, he walked with head bent forward, not looking upon the one hand or the other. He raised his eyes only when a passing horseman had called thrice to him.

"What!" cried Sir Arthur Pembroke. "I little looked to see you here, Mr. Law. I thought it more likely you were engaged in other business—"

"Meaning by that—?"

"What should I mean, except that I supposed you preparing for your little affair with Wilson?"

"My little affair?"

"Certainly, with Wilson, as I said. I saw our friend Castleton but now, and he advised me of your promptness. He had searched for you for days, he being chosen by Wilson for his friend—and said he had at last found you in your lodgings. Egad! I have mistook your kidney completely. Never in London was a duel brought on so swift. 'Fight? This afternoon!' said you. Jove! but the young bloods laughed when they heard of it. 'Bloody Scotland' is what they have christened you at the Green Lion. 'He said to me,' said Charlie, 'that he was slow to find a quarrel, but since this quarrel was brought home to him, 'twere meet 'twere soon finished. He thought, forsooth, that four o'clock of the afternoon were late enough.' Gad! But you might have given Wilson time at least for one more dinner."

"What do you mean?" exclaimed Law, mystified still.

"Mean! Why, I mean that I've been scouring London to find you. My faith, man, but thou'rt a sudden actor! Where caught you this unseemly haste?"

"Sir Arthur," said the other, slowly, "you do me too much justice. I have made no arrangement to meet Mr. Wilson, nor have I any wish to do so."

"Pish, man! You must not jest with me in such a case as this. 'Tis no masquerading. Let me tell you, Wilson has a vicious sword, and a temper no less vicious. You have touched him on his very sorest spot. He has gone to meet you this very hour. His coach will be at Bloomsbury square this afternoon, and there he will await you. I promise you he is eager as yourself. 'Tis too late now to accommodate this matter, even had you not sent back so prompt and bold an answer."

"I have sent him no answer at all!" cried Law. "I have not seen Castleton at all."

"Oh, come!" expostulated Sir Arthur, his face showing a flush of annoyance.

"Sir Arthur," continued Law, as he raised his head, "I am of the misfortune to be but young in London, and I am in need of your friendship. I find myself pressed for rapid transportation. Pray you, give me your mount, for I must have speed. I shall not need the service of your seconding. Indulge me now by asking no more, and wait until we meet again. Give me the horse, and quickly."

"But you must be seconded!" cried the other. "This is too unusual. Consider!" Yet all the time he was giving a hand at the stirrup of Law, who sprang up and was off before he had time to formulate his own wonder.

"Who and what is he?" muttered the young nobleman to himself as he gazed after the retreating florm. "He rides well, at least, as he does everything else well. 'Till I return,' forsooth, 'till I return!' Gad! I half wish you had never come in the first place, my Bloody Scotland!"

As for Law, he rode swiftly, asking at times his way, losing time here, gaining it again there, creating much hatred among foot folk by his tempestuous speed, but giving little heed to aught save his own purpose. In time he reached Bradwell street and flung himself from his panting horse in front of the dingy door of the lodging house. He rushed up the stairs at speed and threw open the door of the little room. It was empty.

There was no word to show what his brother had done, whither he had gone, when he would return.

CHAPTER X.

A CHANCE DECREED.

Mischance delayed the carriage of Beau Wilson in its journeying to Bloomsbury square. It had not appeared at that moment, far toward evening, when John Law, riding a trembling and dripping steed, came upon one side of this little open common and gazed anxiously across the space. He saw standing across from him a carriage, toward which he dashed. He flung open the carriage door, crying out, even before he saw the face within:

"Will! Will Law, I say, come out!" called he. "What mad trick is this? What—"

He saw indeed the face of Will Law inside the carriage, a face pale, melancholly, and yet firm.

"Get you back into the city!" cried Will Law. "This is no place for you, Jack."

"Boy! Are you mad, entirely mad?" cried Law, pushing his way directly into the carriage and reaching out with an arm of authority for the sword which he saw resting beside his brother against the seat. "No place for me! 'Tis no place for you, for either of us. Turn back. This foolishness must go no further!"

"It must go on now to the end," said Will Law, wearily. "Mr. Wilson's carriage is long past due."

"But you—what do you mean? You've had no hand in this. Even had you—why, boy, you would be spitted in an instant by this fellow."

"And would not that teach you to cease your mad pranks, and use to better purpose the talents God hath given you? Yours is the better chance, Jack."

"Peace!" cried John Law, tears starting to his eyes. "I'll not argue that. Driver, turn back for home!"

The coachman at the box touched his hat with a puzzled air. "I beg pardon, sir," said he, "but I was under orders of the gentleman inside."

"You were sent for Mr. John Law."

"For Mr. Law—"

"But I am John Law, sirrah!"

"You are both Mr. Law? Well, sir, I scarce know which of you is the proper Mr. Law. But I must say that here comes a coach drove fast enough, and perhaps this is the gentleman I was to wait for, according to the first Mr. Law, sir."

"He is coming then," cried John Law, angrily. "I'll see into this pretty meeting. If this devil's own fool is to have a crossing of steel, I'll fair accommodate him, and we'll look into the reasons for it later. Sit ye down! Be quiet, Will, boy, I say!"

With one leap he sprang from the carriage, leaving Will half dazed and limp within.

Even as he left the carriage step, he found himself confronted with an adversary eager as himself; for at that instant Beau Wilson was hastening from his coach. Vain, weak and pompous in a way, yet lacking not in a certain personal valor, Beau Wilson stopped not for his seconds, tarried not to catch the other's speech, but himself strode madly onward, his point raised slightly, as though he had lost all care and dignity and desired nothing so much as to stab his enemy as swiftly as might be.

It would have mattered nothing now to this Highlander, this fighting Argyll, what had been the reason animating his opponent. It was enough that he saw a weapon, bared. Too late then, to reason with John Law, "Beau" Law of Edinboro,' "Jessamy" Law, the best blade and the coolest head in all the schools of arms that taught him fence.

For a moment Law paused and raised his point, whether in query or in salute the onlookers scarce could tell. Sure it was that Wilson was the first to fall into the assault. Scarce pausing in his stride, he came on blindly, and, raising his own point, lunged straight for his opponent's breast. Sad enough was the fate which impelled him to do this thing.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Report For the Week.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

With the crops almost beyond danger, prices of securities at the highest point since May, 1903, and idle machinery resuming at many factories and mills that have been closed for months, the business outlook grows steadily brighter. By far the best feature of the situation is the confidence manifested by an increased disposition to provide for future requirements. This is by no means general, but it is noticed at pig iron furnaces, woolen mills and among dealers at widely separated points, particularly those located in the agricultural sections.

Dispatches from the leading cities are almost unanimous in telling of improved conditions. Boston reports sentiment cheerful and a steady growth in mercantile branches; Philadelphia textile manufacturing is still irregular, but improving, and most other lines increasingly active; merchandise movement is unprecedented in some lines at Baltimore, and the only complaint pertains to cotton goods; Pittsburg glass factories are resuming with a new wage scale, staples move more freely, and collections are better.

Commercial failures this week in the United States, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., are 222 against 223 last week, 225 the preceding week and 239 the corresponding week last year. Failuses in Canada number 25 against 18 last week and 30 the preceding week and 17 last year. Of failures this week in the United States 73 were in the east, 62 south, 64 west and 23 in the Pacific states, and 84 report liabilities of $5,000 or more. Liabilities of commercial failure in the United States reported for September are $12,864,701 against $7,129,568 for the month last year.

ASSAGAI AGAINST BAYONET.

Portuguese Troops In Square Became Panic Stricken.

LISBON, Oct. 8.—In the chamber of deputies the minister of marine made a detailed statement of the recent fighting in Portuguese Southwest Africa, when a force of Portuguese operating against the Cuanhamas were ambushed by tribesmen as they were crossing the Cunene river. The minister said that when the attack was made the detachment formed in a square, which was subjected to a heavy fire and at one moment had to defend itself with bayonets. The square was not broken, but the irregular troops became panic stricken and were thrown into confusion.

A hand to hand conflict, assagai against bayonet, was the principal feature of the engagement. Re-enforcements sent to the relief of the detachment only succeeded in saving a few of the wounded. The commander of the detachment recrossed the Cunene river with his forces and returned to Humbe, where he now is secure.

N. P. H. S. OUTCLASSED BY HOPE'S FAST FIVE

WEST END BOYS WON TO TUNE OF 42 TO 4.

Completely outclassed, the basket ball team of the North Plainfield High School fell before the Hope chapel team to the tune of 42 to 4, last night. It must be said to the credit of the school boys that they were fighting against heavy odds both with respect to weight, and to greater amount of team work. The game was played at Hope chapel, and was the third game which the home team had won from school fives.

Dilts, of Hope, had his eye on the basket as usual, and landed the greater part of the goals made. His playing, together with that of Porter, who occupied the position at center, were the features of the game. Blimm and Emmons, the Hope guards, had little work to do in guarding their goal, but got into the team work in good style. For the N. P. H. S. team, the playing of Steiner and Webster was the best, though the guards had their hands full, and put up a hard fight.

The line-up of the two teams was as follows: Hope—Dilts and Duckworth, forwards; Porter, center; Blimm and Emmons, guards. N. P. H. S.—Nischwitz and Mundy, forwards; Steiner, center; Webster and Hand, guards. Goals from the field: Dilts, 15; Duckworth, 2; Porter, 2; Blimm, Emmons, Webster and Nitchwitz.

Referee, Browning, umpire, J. Sweeney; timer, Miller; scorer, Vincent; time of halves, 15 minutes.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Members of the Anciens Order of United Workmen in this State are said to be looking with more favor on the new rates and plans of the organization. Since January 1 last the new guaranty fund plan has been in operation and this jurisdiction has been called upon to pay each month its share. Up to July 1 these payments have amounted to $21,169.85. To meet the demands, the State lodge collected from the members the sum of $10,980.58 as guaranty fund money, and the balance of $10,188.77 was transferred from the beneficiary fund. Notwithstanding this extra drain upon the latter fund, the State lodge found it unnecessary to levy an assessment last month, the deaths in July being so few in number that they were taken care of with the money left over from June.

Former Judge James E. Otis, of Ocean county, has consented to be the Democratic candidate for Congress from the Third New Jersey District, comprising Monmouth, Middlesex and Ocean counties.

The New York Press with strong assurances of authority, declares that New Jersey is conceded to Roosevelt, in the following language: "New Jersey has been eliminated definitely from the consideration of the Parker campaign managers. Parker personally was extremely reluctant to forego the twelve electoral votes of New York's sister State, but the confidential reports made by the Democratic leaders in New Jersey left him no alternative."

A number of graduates of Princeton University, irrespective of party have formed an organization to promote the interests of Charles C. Black, our candidate for Governor of New Jersey. They have issued a circular in which they say: "The Governor of New Jersey is ex-officio president of the board of trustees of Princeton University, and it will be a benefit to Princeton to have as Governor a loyal Princetonian. It is not a question of party affiliation or of preference between the candidates for the Presidency, and we appeal to you to disregard national issues and to vote for Charles C. Black." Among the names attached to it are Percy R. Pyne, Edward A. Stevens, John Hardin, VanTassel Sutphen, Edwin A. S. Lewis and Archibald Stevens.

Funeral of Miss Simonson.

Funeral services over the remains of Miss Evelyn Simonson were held from her late home on Duer street last evening, with a large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance. They were conducted by Rev. E. V. Stevenson, rector of Grace church. One hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," was sung, and there were numerous floral tributes. Interment was made today in Fairview cemetery, Staten Island.

Burglars Tested Silverware.

Burglars entered the home of Lewis Tinsman on North avenue, Dunellen, this morning and appropriated a large lot of silverware and clothing. The intruders were unmistakably experts as they carried acid with them and tested all the silverware taken, leaving behind whatever articles were plated. Entrance was effected by breaking a window and throwing the catch.

James E. Martine, Democratic candidate for Congress, addressed the Democratic Club here on Monday. Wm. Tuttle, Jr., presided. Mr. Martine fired off a lot of "hot air" about equal taxation and the like.—Westfield Leader.

So "Farmer" Martine is going to get a shy at a seat in Congress, is he? Well, the "farmer" will be able to retire after while with the satisfaction of having been nominated for about everything worth having, anyway.—Perth Amboy News.

MARTINE'S LETTER CONTAINS ONE PLEDGE

SAYS HE WILL BE ZEALOUS AND ATTENTIVE TO PEOPLE'S INTERESTS.

James E. Martine, of this city, the Democratic Congressional candidate, issued the following open letter yesterday:

To the voters of the Fifth Congressional district:—

Through the action of the Congressional convention, I have been placed in nomination as a candidate for Congress. I have lived in the city of Plainfield for some forty years, engaging in the occupation of a farmer, though in the meantime taking an earnest interest in the affairs of State. I am a Democrat in politics, believing that "he serves his party best who serves his country best." My opponent, the Honorable Charles N. Fowler, is a gentleman of dignity and wealth. I have not one word of personal abuse or controversy to present against him though I honestly disagree with his methods. Mr. Fowler's vast wealth and his close identification with wealthy institutions, give him great advantage. Against these influences I have only to offer my earnest efforts and honest purposes. Should I be elected, I will go to Congress unpledged and untied by any influences save to advance the best interests of my country, State and district. With this avowal and declaration, I solicit the suffrages of my fellow citizens, promising to be zealous and attentive to the best interests of the people. Respectfully,

James E. Martine.

P. A. C. DEFEATS STARS

Elizabeth Aggregation Loses Saturday's Game by 6 to 1.

WILTSE'S GOOD WORK

The Baltimore American's Pitcher Holds Visitors Down to a Total of Four Hits.

The Plainfield A. C. had sweet revenge on Saturday when it defeated the Elizabeth Stars by a score of six to one on Crescent Oval. A week ago, Manager Burke's aggregation "put it all over" the locals by a score of 12 to 1 and they were determined to reverse the order, if possible. In doing this the home team was assisted largely by Louis Wiltse, of the Baltimore Eastern League team, who stood on the firing line. With clock-work precision he held the visitors down, allowing them but four hits and striking out ten men. His performance was of the highest order and he was ably supported by Farmer, who played gilt-edged ball at the receiving end.

In the absence of Daly, Oregan covered third base, and with one exception, when he made an error on a low throw to first which was responsible for the only run the visitor's got, he was up to his usual game. Joe Alberts covered right field in faultless style, while Bassford was in centre and Dietrich in left. The playing of Jones at short was brilliant, his stops of hard-hit grounders and his throwing to first, arousing great enthusiasm. He also led the team in hitting, landing on the leather sphere three times safely. Oregan, Bradley and Wiltse also did good work with the stick, securing two hits each, Bradley getting a three-bagger. Jones also got a three timer.

"Warry" MacLaughlin was not in quite the good form of a week ago, for he was touched for a total of twelve hits. Quinlan and Soffel were credited with the only errors, while Noyes got two hits and Soffel and Foster one each. This makes the series stand one victory for each team and it is possible the third contest will be played at Elizabeth on Saturday, October 23. The detailed score:

DEMOCRATS SELECT COUNTY COMMITTEE

PROCEEDINGS OF SOMERSET COUNTY CONVENTION AT SOMERVILLE.

David J. Carney and Walter Linbarger, from the borough, and George Mobus, from North Plainfield township, were named as members of the Somerset County Democratic Executive Committee at the convention held in Somerville on Saturday.

The nominees of the convention as stated in Saturday's issue of The Daily Press, are Frank T. Ross, of Bridgewater, for sheriff; Daniel H. Beekman, of Branchburg, for member of the Assembly; Dr. Thomas H. Flynn, of Bridgewater, and Dr. Frederick Hughes, of North Plainfield, for coroners.

During the noon recess, a combination of the delegates of John L. Anderson and those of Frank Ross was effected, Mr. Anderson withdrawing on the promise of Mr. Ross to continue him as deputy should he be elected. This massing of forces was too much for Fred Nelson, of Bound Brook, who was defeated on the first ballot by a vote of twenty-five to ten. The nominations were all made unanimous after the first ballot.

After the candidates were escorted to the platform and had made brief addresses, Robert L. Stevens, the candidate for Congress, made a short speech.

DECLARED DEMOCRATS ARE NOT JEFFERSONIANS

POPULISTS' GUBERNATORAL CANDIDATE SPEAKS AT MASS-MEETING.

Local supporters of the People's Democratic party which swears allegiance to Thomas E. Watson, the Populists' candidate for the Presidency, conducted a rally and mass meeting in Reform Hall, Saturday evening. It was fairly well attended, although announcement that the gathering was to be held was made only the day before.

The speakers of the evening were George A. Honnecker, of Jersey City, who is the candidate for Governor; Joseph R. Buchanan, labor editor of the New York Journal, and John Wright, of Camden, a member of the party who is stumping the State. All three are capable of making good addresses and they held the close attention of the audience. At frequent intervals they declared the Democratic party to be masquerading under false colors and not to be the upholder of the Jeffersonian principles.

Wright lashed the workingmen for their way of casting a vote, declaring that they never stopped to consider whether they were doing it to benefit themselves or whether it was going to further a cause that would do them harm. The banker and business man, he said, thinks to himself as he prepares his ballot, "will this place a man in office who will look after my interests or one who is going to do me harm." "The working man," he continued, "the great mass of citizens who really turn the result of elections, allies himself with some party regardless of its platform or intentions and then votes for it, often to find out that he will be hurt by it later on."

The only Plainfielder who occupied a seat on the platform was Frank J. Shattle, who was one of the organizers of the party in the State after the Hearst delegates had been barred from the convention. Enthusiasm was wrought up considerably by the presence of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps which discoursed popular airs.

Gave Confirmation Reception.

A confirmation reception in honor of Isador Newcorn, son of William Newcorn, Esq., held at the latter's residence yesterday afternoon. Young Newcorn was confirmed a member of the Hebrew faith on Saturday, and the family party in honor of the event was a most enjoyable affair. There were about twenty persons present. An elaborate dinner was served, and the visitors entertained in a delightful manner.

Battalion to Organize.

The P. H. S. C. C. will organize this afternoon in the Company K armory. A meeting of the cadets interested in organization of the battalion will be held this afternoon, and the plans for the drills will be discussed. In addition to outlining the work, a short drill will be held at the conclusion of the business meeting.

MORE TROUBLE AT ALTON

Telephone People Outwit Mrs. Glaser and Erect Poles.

AN EXCITING BATTLE

Hostilities Halted for Time by a Plucky Woman Getting Her Foot Crushed—A Damage Suit.

Refusing to recognize Mrs. Theodore Glaser's ownership of the property which she and her husband occupy at Alton, officials of the Northeastern Telephone Company together with fifty picked men, erected three poles in front of the place this morning after an exciting battle which lasted an hour. Headed by her counsel, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and aided by neighbors who rallied around her, Mrs. Glaser sought in every way to frustrate the work and in the end was carried to her home with a crushed foot, due to one of the poles being rolled on it. The opposition was immediately called off by the lawyer and the company is to be made defendant in a suit for damages, the plucky woman being in a serious condition. Notice has also been served on the officials to remove the poles within twenty-four hours or be made defendants in an action for trespass.

Today's disturbance made the second that has occurred since the company began stringing wires past the Glaser place. The permit under which the men worked was signed by Theodore Glaser, who admitted that he had no right to do so as the property is solely his wife's and she had no knowledge of his action. When the gang arrived on Friday morning she telephoned Attorney Hetfield and after a struggle Mrs. Glaser won her point and the men were withdrawn for the time being.

Saturday the officials consulted Counsellor H. C. Runyon, of this city, and on his advice it was decided to get ahead with the work, accepting the husband's written consent as legal. The material and tools were on the ground from Friday and this morning the men arrived and took up the work where they had left off, one pole having been placed in position. Again Hetfield was notified and jumping in a wagon was hurriedly driven to the scene where Counsellor Runyon was taking care of the legal end for the telephone people. Neighbors of the Glasers hurried up and in a few minutes Alton was treated to one of the most novel sights it has ever witnessed.

When the workmen started to dig a hole, either Hetfield, Scott Terry, or a sympathizer, would jump into it and the shovelling would cease at that point only to commence a short distance away. The Glaser force overcame this by dropping Mrs. Glaser's children in the holes that had been abandoned, thus preventing the invaders returning, but allowing the adults to continue the struggling. At one time the lawyer, Terry and the sympathizer were all in excavations, while a row of children's heards marked where an effort had been been given up. The supply of children was running low when one hole was completed and Mrs. Glaser's foot was crushed as a pole was about to be put in it. It marked the first assault that had occurred during the struggling and it was all that was necessary to begin legal action on that charge. Previous to that time the only violence offered was when men reached down and hauled up the children who had been placed to block them. The divisions that succeeded in getting holes dug, did so by forming a cordon with diggers in the middle and preventing them being molested by presenting a solid phalanx.

When the Glaser forces were called off, the work was continued and the poles are now up and the wires are to be strung. There is opposition to the telephone company all through the district and the outcome of the present struggle is being watched closely by all the neighboring propery owners.

ENDEAVORERS MARK NINETEENTH ANNIVERSARY

SPECIAL EXERCISES IN TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

Interesting exercises, including special music by the choir, a report by the recording secretary, Miss Harriet C. Randall, and addresses by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Sobenck, pastor of the church, and Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, comprised the programme at the celebration of the nineteenth anniversary of the Christian Endeavor Society, of Trinity Reformed church, held in the church, last night. There was a large attendance of Endeavorers and friends who joined in congratulating the society on its excellent record.

The service opened with a song service, led by Horace J. Martin, Sr., after which there was an anthem by the choir. The Scripture reading was conducted by Harry F. Crawford, president of the society, after which Rev. Dr. Cornelius Sobenck offered prayer. Preceding a cornet solo by Edward Young, accompanied on the organ by Arthur Titsworth, Dr. Sobenck offered a few words of welcome.

The pastor expressed the welcome in the Dutch fashion—"well-come." He said that he was glad to see so many present and he hoped all would come again. He said that the Dutch may be slow in some things, but they are not slow in knowing that the Christian Endeavor Society is a good thing. "Here in Trinity church," said Mr. Sobenck, "the society is thoroughly at home and our prayer is that God's blessing may rest upon us."

The report of the recording secretary, Miss Randall, was then presented. This showed that a year ago there were 120 active members and no associates. There have been added eleven new members to the roll this year, seven active and four associate. One member received into the church membership and two have died. There are now ninety-nine active members and four associates. Forty-eight meetings were held with a total attendance of 1,896 and an average attendance of forty. Two members have attended every meeting. To the Arabian Mission $10 was given. Miss Curry received $5 for her fresh air work and the King's Daughters' Circle in the church also received $5. During the year one hundred birthday bags were made and eighteen gingham aprons for mission purposes.

Following the report there was an excellent vocal duet by Miss Florence Bennett and Edward Young, entitled "Love Divine, All Love Excelling."

The speaker of the evening, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, was then introduced. He referred to organization as the great law of life and that of the Endeavor Society as one of those organizations with so many methods of action. He said that it would be a good thing if every member of the society and the church could be made chairman of some committee whereby he or she could feel a responsibility.

Dr. Lewis also referred to the individuality of character in organization. "How shall we develop ourselves into useful service is the important question," said Dr. Lewis. You owe more than I can tell to Trinity church and the church owes a great deal to your society."

Dr. Lewis then spoke of the value of individual culture for individual service and said that the highest conception of Christian service is when everyone is doing his or her share of the work. "In military life every man has his place in the ranks and so it should be in the Christian Endeavor Society and the society is like a chain, scarcely stronger as a whole than its weakest part. This society has the reputation of being a working body and I congratulate you. God loves these organizations only as he loves the individual and I ask you not to forget that grand individuality of service."

The service was concluded with the singing of a hymn and the benediction by Dr. Lewis.

SAMUEL A. WALLACE DEAD

Boroughite Passes Away After Three Weeks Illness.

A RESIDENT 35 YEARS

Married Miss Mary Estil Thirty-One Years Ago—A Mason—Funeral Arrangements.

After lingering in a semi-conscious condition for ten days, Samuel A. Wallace passed away at the home of his brother-in-law, Mulford Estil, of Grove street, yesterday afternoon. Stricken ill at Asbury Park on September 17, where had had been sojourning, he was brought home three weeks ago and for a time seemed to improve. A relapse came on September 30 and he was left speechless, blind and partly sensible, remaining in that condition until the end. The original illness was due to Bright's disease.

Samuel A. Wallace was born in Solesbury township, Pa., in 1831. He removed to Plainfield thirty-five years ago and had resided here ever since. For a long time he was a carpenter but later engaged in business as a ship chandler with warehouses at Baltimore, the firm name being Wallace & Gale. It prospered until at the present time the concern is one of the best known in that section. In the big Baltimore fire recently, the warehouses were destroyed but new and more commodious ones are now being erected. For the past six years he has not been actively engaged in managing his affairs in the business but always maintained representatives at Baltimore.

Thirty-one years ago he married Miss Mary Estil, who survives him. He was a member of Amity lodge, F. and A. M., of Lambertville, and of the Park Avenue Baptist church, of this city. Also surviving him are a brother who resides in Trenton and two sisters, one in Philadelphia and the other in Baltimore.

Funeral services over the body will be held from his late home Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'cook.

THREE ARE HURT IN BAD COLLISION

PLAINFIELDER IS INJURED IN AN ACCIDENT AT BOUND BROOK.

In a head-on collision between an eastbound trolley car of the Public Service Corporation line and a hay wagon driven by William McCullough, in East street, Bound Brook, last night, Andrew F. McKeon, of East Front street, this city, and Robert Davis, a motorman, of Bound Brook, passengers in the car, and McCullough, himself, received severe injuries.

McKeon sustained a dislocation of the shoulder, Davis' skull was fractured and McCullough had his right arm broken and three ribs fractured and was hurled a distance of twenty-five feet. The car was practically a wreck.

DEFIED THE OFFICER.

But Borough Cop Manages to Get Three of a Crowd of Plainfielders.

After they had been ordered out of the borough for disorderly conduct, a crowd of Plainfield young men hurled defiance at Marshal Pope Friday night and ran to get across the brook. The officer gave chase and captured William Clarkson, who was fined $10 by Recorder Doud, Saturday night.

Warrants were sworn out for Joseph Green and Edward Keiderling and they were caught yesterday by the city police. They furnished bail and will be given a hearing tonight.

Waddell's Heroism.

While firemen were fighting a fierce blaze in Downey's livery stable in Philadelphia, yesterday, "Rube" Waddell, the well known baseball pitcher, plunged into the thickest of the fire and smoke and assisted in rescuing valuable carriages and horses. He escaped unharmed.

A Seventh Son.

All South Plainfield is discussing a new arrival at the home of Thomas Teeple, of that village. It is a boy and the good people down that way are wondering if he is possessed of the supernatuural powers with which the seventh son is supposed to be endowed.

—The first in the course of Shakespearian lectures by Prof. Edward Howard Griggs will take place Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 in Vincent chapel. Course tickets, $2.50; admission, 50 cents. 10 10 2

PATSY COLUCCI STARTS ON TOUR OF THE WORLD

UNFORTUNATELY HE TOOK $80 OF HIS FATHER'S AND POLICE STOP HIM.

Becoming tired of what Plainfield had to offer in the way of amusement, Patsy Colucci, the seventeen-year-old son of Michael Colucci, of Richmond street, one of the wealthiest Italians in the city, suddenly departed hence Saturday. Previous to going he made provision for car fare, lunches and cigarettes by appropriating $80 from his father's safe but considerately leaving behind $1,000 that lay within reach.

Patsy had gone but a short time when his father discovered the loss and police headquarters was informed. He told Sergeant Frederickson that the boy would evidently go to Binghamton, N. Y., where he was acquainted and dispatches were sent to that city. He was arrested yesterday morning as he stepped from a D. L. and W. train, having caught it at Washington.

At Colucci's request, Patrolman McCarthy went to Binghamton last night and will bring back Patsy and what is left of the $80. The father does a general banking and money exchange business for local Italians and as a rule always has a large amount of money in his safe.

FRED W. GODDARD WINS TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

NOW PERMANENT OWNER OF HILLSIDE'S SILVER CUP.

Fred W. Goddard is the champion tennis player of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club this year. He won the title Saturday afternoon by defeating last year's winner, T. M. Day, Jr., in the final match of the annual tournament. The concluding match was played on the club courts, and in spite of the fact that it was late in the season, a good attendance was present to view the deciding contest. The scores of the sets were 6-4, 9-7, 9 6, and as the results would indicate each match was hard fought throughout.

In the opening set neither player was warmed up to the game to any great extent, and the victory went to Goddard at the score of 6-4. Day missed one point of making it a deuce set. The other two sets were much harder won, and the gallery applauded both players many times for their excellent strokes. Each point was won after a long rally, and nearly every game ran to deuce. This fact made the sets decidedly interesting ones to watch, and the spectators were delighted with the exhibition of good tennis on the part of both winner and loser. The second set was at one time practically Mr. Day's, when with a single point he might have taken it by the score of 6-4. Goddard braced up however, made the score five all, and eventually pulled out ahead by the score of 9-7. The final set was a repetition of the second one, both players struggling hard for the advantage. It was finally captured by Goddard after fourteen games had been played, the score being 8-6.

By winning this tournament Mr. Goddard becomes the permanent owner of a handsome silver cup, which is offered annually by the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. He also wins the title of tennis champion for the year 1904.

The Great Farland Coming.

All lovers of banjo music are counting on a rich treat tomorrow night, when for the first time in this city they will have the opportunity of hearing Farland, the world's most wonderful player on the banjo. He is conceded to be the peer of musicians, having complete mastery over this instrument. The concert will be given at the Y. M. C. A. Hall at 8 o'clock and Farland will present a programme of rare excellence. Seats are on sale at Hedge's drug store, Y. M. C. A. building.

Pulpit Supplies.

While Rev. L. T. Lindholm, pastor of the Swedish Pilgrim church, is visiting in Massachusetts, his pulpit will be supplied by Rev. Fred Bloom, of Staten Island; Rev. J. A. Jacobson, of Hoboken; Rev. Theodore England, of Perth Amboy, and Kenneth Robbie, of the Y. M. C. A.

Won Prize at Yale.

Among the honors given at Yale University on Saturday was one for dissertation, which was awarded to Donald Ashbrook McGee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. McGee, of North Plainfield.

GREAT GAME A-COMING

Plainfield A. C. to Have a Try at New York Nationals.

ALL STAR PLAYERS

Local Lineup Will Closely Resemble the New York Americans.

The local baseball season will close on Saturday when the New York Nationals, champions of the National League, will meet the Plainfield A. C., on Crescent Oval. According to the terms of agreement the regular big league team is to appear here and "Christy" Mathewson and Warner will form the battery. There will be Dan. McGann on first base, Billy Gilbert at second, "Bad Bill" Dahlen at short and Devlin on third, while in the field will be "Sandow" Mertes, Jack Dunn and Brown, with George Wiltse on the bench as extra pitcher.

There many be some surprises in the local lineup and if so a record-breaking crowd is likely to be on Crescent Oval. Efforts are being made to secure several New York American League players and if the plan is consummated a battle royal will result, such as the New York baseball fans have been clamoring for. Manager Johnston is especially desirous of securing "Willie" Keeler on his team for the game. Keeler began his baseball career here several years ago when Manager Keller was in charge of the Crescents, and his many friends would like to see him on the local diamond. It is also possible that Ganzel, Williams, Elberfield, Conroy and Anderson, of the Americans, may be seen here.

Arrangements are being made to wind up the season by giving the fans one of the best exhibitions ever seen here and if these players oppose each other there is no doubt but what a fast exhibition will be seen. As yet it has not been decided who will pitch, but it is likely to be either Louis Wiltse, Putnam or "Rube" Waddell.

In view of the expense attached to the arrangements for the game, the management is obliged to increase the price of admission to fifty cents. This was done a year ago when the New Yorks played the Westfields.

MISS ALICE JENKINS WEDS CHAS. SCHEUERMAN

CEREMONY WITNESSED BY RELATIVES AND FRIENDS FROM MANY PLACES.

Miss Alice Jenkins, daughter of Mrs. Mary Jenkins, and Charles Scheuerman were married Saturday afternoon at the bride's home on East Sixth street. Rev. Mr. Young, of Garfield, officiated, assisted by Rev. Dr. Snodgrass, of this city. There was no best man or bridesmaid, though the bride was attended by two flower girls, Miss Mary Jenkins, a sister, and Miss Florence Ludwig, both of Garfield. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, H. S. Jenkins, also of Garfield.

The decorations were of autumn leaves, tastefully set against banks of smilax and potted plants. The bride and groom stood beneath a canopy of greens, artistically arranged at the end of the parlor. Miss Jenkins was gowned in white mousseline de soie and carried white bride roses. She wore no veil.

Both young people were handsomely remembered with gifts from their friends and relatives, many of whom were present from New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City, Elizabeth, Passaic, Garfield, Flemington, Bethlehem, and this city. At the conclusion of a delightful reception following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Scheuerman left for a short wedding trip, after which they will make their home in this city. Miss Jenkins is the daughter of the late J. N. Jenkins, and the niece of Mayor Olin L. Jenkins.

Reception to Church Worker.

In honor of Miss Judith Johnson, who leaves soon for Sweden to visit her old home, an entertainment was given in the Swedish Pilgrim church, Saturday night. Miss Johnson has been an active worker in the church and her departure is a source of much regret. Rev. L. T. Lindholm, the pastor, made a few remarks in which he spoke of Miss Johnson's work and in behalf of her many friends a purse of money, "large enough," as the pastor expressed it, "to take her over and back," was presented to her. Refreshments and a social hour followed.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Checkers" is apparently in for a sensationally successful engagment at the Academy of Music. The big play house was filled nightly last week. And on Saturday night the entire house was sold out long before the opening and nearly one thousand people were turned away. Theatre parties from the suburbs are nightly affairs at the Academy and it is not surprising for "Checkers" is an excellent play and well worth seeing. The company were carefully selected and show, in the smoothness of the acting, the value of long association and frequent rehearsals. Thomas W. Ross deepens the strong impression he made last season, by his telling interpretation of the title roll, and the beauty of the young women who support him is quite worthy of their reputation.

The fiftieth performance of the "Isle of Spice" at the Majestic Theatre, New York, takes place tonight, and by a strange coincidence the five hundredth performance of the piece falls on the same night. The occasion will be made a noteworthy one. The house will be handsomely decorated, and costly souvenirs will be given away to every women who attends the performance on that night. W. H. Kohnle, who has succeeded Alexander Clarke, resigned, in the part of the King, has made a big hit in the part. It is Mr. Kohnle's first appearance in New York, although he has been a most popular comedian in the West for a number of years. His methods are quiet and his humor is most unctuous. One of the most testimonial tendered the Champion Giants on Tuesday night was the presence of almost all of the veteran pennant winners of 1894.

SIX DIE IN TUNNEL

Grand Trunk Railway Disaster at Port Huron.

RAILROAD MEN SUFFOCATED BY GAS

Train Broke, Engineer Died at His Post In Cab—Fireman Found Alive In Engine Tank—Brave Workers Perish.

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 10.—Six employees of the Grand Trunk railway have been suffocated to death by coal gas in the St. Clair tunnel, which runs under the St. Clair river from Port Huron to Sarnia, Ont. A coal train broke in two while passing through the tunnel, and three of the train crew were suffocated while part of the train lay stalled in the tunnel, the engineer lost his life when he returned and endeavored to push the stalled cars back to safety, and two other rescuers perished in vain attempts to penetrate the gaseous atmosphere of the great tube.

The dead are: A. S. Begg, Port Huron, superintendent of terminals; Engineer John Coleman, Port Huron; Conductor J. B. Simpson, Sarnia, Ont.; Conductor D. T. Tinsley, Sarnia, Ont.; Brakeman Thomas McGrath, Sarnia, Ont., and Brakeman D. A. Gillis, Sarnia, Ont.

The train, which entered from the American end of the tunnel, was made up of seventeen coal cars. When it broke Engineer Coleman realized that the accident had happened and with the three cars that were still attached to the engine steamed out of the tunnel into the Sarnia yards. He hastily detached his engine and went back into the tube for the stalled cars. When his engine reached them he attempted to push them back through the tunnel and out of the American portal. The grade proved too steep, however, and the attempt was a failure. The engine and cars rolled back into the gas laden tunnel, and the engineer was suffocated at his post in the engine cab. His fireman, Fred Forester, with great presence of mind, jumped into the partly filled water tank of the engine, where there was enough air to preserve his life, although he is in a serious condition.

When news of the broken train reached the American side of the tunnel Superintendent Begg, accompanied by two other employees, started in on foot hoping that the train was near enough to the entrance so that they might rescue and carry out some of the crew. They had gone but a short distance when the coal gas became stifling and Begg succumbed. The two other rescuers succeeded in crawling to the portal of the tunnel on their hands and knees.

Meanwhile preparations were being made at the Sarnia end of the tunnel to rescue the imprisoned train crew. An engine with a party of rescuers entered the tube and had proceeded but a short distance when they found John Haley, a track walker, lying unconscious on the track. He was taken out, and again the engine plunged into the gaseous atmosphere. The rescuers were overcome, however, by the gas before the train was reached, and Brakeman McGrath died. Switchman Blake, who was a member of the party, after a time made another attempt to penetrate the gas and this time succeeded in reaching the stalled engine, coupled it to the cars and ran the train out into the daylight. Simpson, Tinsley and Gillis were found dead in the caboose. Fireman Forester was in the water tank of the engine nearly two hours before he was rescued, and his escape is a little short of miraculous.

Filipinos' Mass Meeting Postponed.

MANILA, Oct. 10.—The mass meeting of Filipinos called to consider Philippine independence has been postponed. Teodoro Sandico, a former member of Aguinaldo's cabinet, who in 1899 signed the order for the massacre of all foreigners and Americans in Manila, and former Governor Reyes of Abra province and about 1,500 Filipinos, most of them clerks, gathered at the appointed time, but did not organize. Sandico advised the meeting to disperse and to await developments.

ARMY TO ADVANCE

Kuropatkin Says Russia's Hour Has Come.

CZAR MUST BE VICTORIOUS.

Comrades at Port Arthur Are Awaiting Relief.

JAPAN REMOVES BARON HASEGAWA

Russian Chief In an Order of the Day Assures His Soldiers That Country Will Send Re-enforcements Sufficient to Overwhelm Japan and Calls on Them to Make Every Sacrifice For Their Country.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A Mukden special cablegram says the following is the text of an order of the day issued by General Kuropatkin at his headquarters:

"More than seven months ago the enemy treacherously fell upon us at Port Arthur before war had been declared. Since then, by land and sea, Russian troops have performed many heroic deeds of which the fatherland may justly be proud. The enemy, however, is not only not overthrown, but in his arrogance continues to dream of complete victory.

"The troops of the Manchurian army, in unvarying good spirits, hitherto have not been numerically strong enough to defeat the Japanese army. Much time is necessary for overcoming all the difficulties of strengthening the active army so as to enable it to accomplish with complete success the arduous but honorable task imposed upon it. It is for this reason that in spite of repeated repulse of Japanese attacks upon our positions at Tashichao, Liandiansian and Liaoyang I did not consider that the time had arrived to take advantage of these successes and to begin a forward movement, and I therefore gave the order to retreat.

"You left the positions you had so heroically defended covered with piles of the enemy's dead and without allowing yourselves to be disturbed by the foe and in full preparedness for a fresh fight. After a five days' battle at Liaoyang you retired on new positions which had been prepared previously. After successfully defending all advanced and main positions you withdrew to Mukden under most difficult conditions.

"In the course of seven months hundreds of thousands of men and tens of thousands of horses and carts and millions of poods of stores have been coming uninterruptedly by rail from European Russia and Siberia to Manchuria.

"If the regiments which already have been sent out prove insufficient fresh troops will arrive, for the inflexible wish of the emperor that we should vanquish the foe will be inflexibly fulfilled. Heretofore the enemy in operating has relied on his great forces and, disposing his armies so as to surround us, has chosen as he deemed fit his time for attack, but now the moment to go to meet the enemy, for which the whole army has been longing, has come, and the time has arrived for us to compel the Japanese to do our will, for the forces of the Manchurian army are strong enough to begin a forward movement. Nevertheless you must be unceasingly mindful of the victory to be gained over our strong and gallant foe. In addition to numerical strength in all commands, from the lowest to the highest, the firm determination must be to prevail, to gain victory. Whatever be the sacrifice necessary to this end, bear in mind the importance of victory to Russia, and above all remember how necessary victory is the more speedily to relieve our brothers at Port Arthur, who for seven months have heroically maintained the defense of the fortress intrusted to their care.

"The illustrious head of the Russian land, together with the whole of Russia, prays for you, blesses you for your heroic deeds. Strengthened by this prayer and the small consciousness of the importance of the task that has fallen to us, we must go forward fearlessly with a firm determination to do our duty to the end without sparing our lives.

"The will of God be with us all."

A St. Petersburg dispatch, dated this morning at 2:55 a. m., says that General Kuropatkin's order of the day announcing his determination to take the offensive is supplemented by the news that an offensive movement has already been begun and that the Japanese line has been broken at Bentsiaputze. The Japanese occupied a front of about fifty-two miles, stretching from Bentsiaputze, on the east, through Yentai and across the railway to the banks of the Hun river, on the west. The Russian force had been moving south in close touch with the Japanese advance since Oct. 4. The Japanese outposts have been driven back in a series of skirmishes, and the Russians have reoccupied the station of Shakhe, fifteen miles south of Mukden, the railway battalion restoring the bridge across the Shakhe river in order to facilitate the advance. Meanwhile General Mistchenko's Cossacks have pushed southwestward as far as the Yentai mines, defeating the Japanese in a series of warm skirmishes. The most important action, however, occurred on the Japanese right at Bentsiaputze. Here the Japanese held a strong and important position, but it seems they made the inexplicable omission to fortify a commanding hill which was the key to the whole situation. A portion of General Kuropatkin's force made a strong attack on Bentsiaputze and, taking a leaf out of the Japanese book, occupied the hill from the east and flanked the Japanese out of the town, causing a serious loss in a rear guard fight.

It is reported from Mukden that two Japanese divisions under General Fugi are marching west up the Liao river and are now twenty-two miles south of Sinmintin. General Kuroki is expected to make a similar move eastward. This would leave the two armies in the anomalous position of threatening each others' lines of communication, the Japanese by a wide turning movement, while the Russians, pushing south, have already inflicted a blow on the Japanese right and are crowding back their center along the railway.

While it is understood that Mukden is not heavily fortified, General Kuropatkin has a powerful force behind him strongly posted at Tai pass, and if, as he asserts, the Russians are now powerful enough to assume the offensive it is possible his advance movement will force the Japanese flanking column to withdraw in order to protect their own base. On the other hand, there seems to be a possibility of one or both the Japanese columns threatening the railway behind the Russians and forcing a suspension of their aggressive movement.

Advices from Tokyo say that the first known dissatisfaction of the Japanese imperial government with the progress of the war is shown in the removal of Lieutenant General Baron Hasegawa from the command of the imperial guards division. The official bulletin announces that he is to retire from the field to take command of the military administration in Korea. Of course a major general of little experience in war could fill the bill in Korea, and the bulletin may be accepted as proof that Baron Oyama places on Hasegawa whatever discredit may attach to the delay of the Japanese army in the battle of Kwansuiten and several weeks later in the turning operations which Kuroki attempted at the spur of the Yentai coal mines.

Baron Hasegawa commanded what is known as the imperial bodyguard, comprising four infantry regiments, two regiments of cavalry, three of artillery and the Third battalion of engineers. The valor of the imperial guards at the Yalu river has gone into history. Their charge up mountain slopes northeast of Antung in the face of rapid fire batteries and their capture of the Russian guns was one of the great achievements of the early war. The guards have comprised the right wing of Kuroki's army almost from the beginning. There has been no question of the fighting ability of the men or of their good work with the field guns, but their failure in two battles to make progress where the left and the center were victorious no doubt has thrown discredit upon their direct commander, Hasegawa.

In the battle of Kwansuiten, which marked the beginning of Kuroki's strategy before Liaoyang, the Japanese had planned the envelopment of the right and left of General Kuropatkin's advanced position. The Japanese center, with inferior guns, had advanced across a chain of hills against the terrific artillery fire of the Russians. General Kuropatkin's heavy guns as well as his light fieldpieces were manned by picked European soldiers, who were able to find the Japanese batteries with great effect. In spite of this General Kuroki's center continued to advance, his object being to hold the Russian line, even with loss to himself, while his enveloping movement was going on. It was in this day's battle, near dawn on the 1st of August, that General Count Keller was killed.

Although the Japanese left wing was able to get around the enemy, the Japanese right was repulsed at several points, and, while the battle as a whole was successful after two days, the enveloping movement was not carried on as laid out by Kuroki. The fault is ascribed to General Baron Hasegawa.

A Chefu report says that the increased activity of the Japanese fleet blockading Port Arthur in the stopping of merchantmen is due to a lookout which is kept for three British ships, which it is suspected intend to attempt to enter Port Arthur with tinned meats and vegetables.

The British steamer Victoria was stopped near Weihaiwei last night, and the foregoing explanation was made to her by the Japanese boarding officer.

McCormick Aids Prisoners of War.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—The American ambassador to Russia, Mr. McCormick, spent yesterday in Berlin. He conferred with Japanese Minister Inouye regarding the arrangements for the transportation of the Japanese in Russia to Japan. The first party of these passed through Berlin on Oct. 4, and several hundred others, being the total of all those wishing to return home, are expected to pass through this week. The arrangements for the repatriation have worked most satisfactorily. The Russian government is providing special trains for the purpose and is bearing part of the expense. Ambassador McCormick continued his journey to the United States last night.

The fire originated in one of the hotels located in the business section. Bucket brigades fought the flames and got them under control by daylight, by which time many buildings were in ashes.

MISS WILSON DROWNED.

Balance of Bathing Party Rescued by Life Saving Crew.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 10.—Miss Bessie Wilson of Clarksburg, W. Va., niece of the late William L. Wilson, former postmaster general and afterward president of Washington and Lee university, was drowned while bathing at Virginia Beach yesterday afternoon. Her body was recovered.

Miss Mary Wilson of Charleston, W. Va., daughter of the former postmaster general; Miss Mary M. Simpson of Buchanan, Va.; Miss Eliza Dillon of Indian Rock, Va., and Miss Louise Latimer of Washington, sister of Lieutenant Julian L. Latimer, U. S. N., were rescued by United States life savers and are in a serious condition at the Princess Anne hotel, but will recover. The party went into the surf accompanied by Mr. E. Stormont, a resident of the beach. He was teaching them to float, and before he was aware of it several of the young women had drifted beyond their depth and were in danger of drowning. Mr. Stormont swam to the shore and launched a small surf boat. Speeding this to the rescue, he succeeded in getting Miss Mary Wilson, Miss Simpson, Miss Dillon and Miss Latimer aboard. Before he could reach Miss Bessie Wilson the boat capsized. Realizing his inability to save all the party unaided, Mr. Stormont returned to shore and ran to the life saving station for help. The crew immediately launched the surf boat and hurried down the coast. They reached the drowning girls in time to rescue four, but when Miss Bessie Wilson was picked up life was extinct.

FIRE AMONG DIPLOMATS' RIGS.

Washington Blaze Destroys Fine Carriages Worth $100,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Fire on the upper floors of William F. & B. J. Downey's livery stable here caused a loss of about $100,000. Some of the finest carriages owned in Washington, many of them belonging to senators, members of the diplomatic corps and wealthy Washingtonians, stored in the building, were burned. The fire started from defective electric light wiring.

The French embassy lost a handsome carriage, and others who lost vehicles are Senators Wetmore, Dryden and Fairbanks, Representative Hitt and Mrs. Westinghouse. Two hundred carriages on the top floor were completely destroyed, and about 200 others on the third floor were badly damaged. The loss on the building and to the firm's stock is about $75,000 and to private parties $25,000.

Waddell, the Philadelphia baseball pitcher, turned volunteer fireman and, with a handkerchief tied across his mouth, entered the burning building with the firemen.

Tarrytown Country House Destroyed

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The country residence at Tarrytown of M. Rumsey Miller, a lawyer of New York, has been destroyed by fire. The place was one of the handsomest in Tarrytown. The fire is believed to have started in the dining room from a defective electric wire. When it was discovered by Henry C. Miller, a son, it had gained such headway that no one could wait to dress or even take out clothing. All that was saved from the building were a few jewels. Mr. Miller is an invalid from paralysis and was removed from the house with the greatest difficulty. Miss Louise Miller was on Tuesday last married to Roger B. Williams of Ithaca, and all her wedding presents were in the house and were destroyed. The loss is estimated at about $100,000.

Presto II. Gave Paris a Surprise.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—The Prix du Consell Municipal, $20,000, the great event of autumn flat racing, resulted in a huge surprise, a rank outsider, Presto II., owned by Gaston Dreyfus and ridden by Jockey Ransch, easily defeating the hitherto invincible English mare, Pretty Polly, whom even the French public backed extensively at 2 to 1 on. Presto II. took and held the lead from the start and won without effort. Pretty Polly and Zinfandel, another English crack, made a keen fight for second place. The winner paid 66 to 1.

Chicago Won Both Games.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—The Chicago Americans won both of the final games of the season from St. Louis. In the first game the locals found Siever easy, batting him all over the field and easily won out. Pelty and Smith put up a fine pitchers' battle, but the former lost by hitting a batter with the bases full and forcing in the winning run. The scores: First game—Chicago, 6; St. Louis, 2. Second game—Chicago, 1; St. Louis, 0.

Pittsburg Won Final Game.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—The last game of the season went to the Pittsburg Nationals, 2 to 1. The locals were unable to hit Robertaille and only for a gift, a steal and McCarthy's clean drive would have ended the season with a blank. Brown was very effective until the ninth, when two clean singles, a scratch hit and Tinker's bad throw scored two runs. Score: Pittsburg, 2; Chicago, 1.

St. Louis Whitewashed Twice.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—The Cincinnati Nationals won both games from St. Louis here, shutting out the home team in each event. The second game was shortened to seven innings by agreement, winding up the season. The scores: First game—Cincinnati, 3; St. Louis, 0. Second game—Cincinnati, 1; St. Louis, 0.

Lady Curzon Better.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A late bulletin from Walmer castle says: "Lady Curzon passed a comfortable day, the improvement in her condition being maintained."

WORLD'S AUTO RACE

George Heath, an American, Wins For France.

CLEMENT, SECOND, CLAINS THE CUP

Vanderbilt Silver Tankard In First American Road Contest Goes to French Automobile Club. Carl Meusel Killed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—George Heath, an American, driving a ninety horsepower Panhard and representing the Automobile Club of France, finished first in the international automobile race for the massive silver cup given by William K. Vanderbilt, Jr. One man was killed, pinned beneath the overturned car owned and driven by George Arents, Jr., the young amateur. Mr. Arents himself was seriously hurt.

Albert Clement, driving an eighty horsepower Clement car, was second and entered a protest. H. H. Lyttle, in a thirty-four horsepower Pope-Toledo, came in third.

It was probably as close a finish as ever took place in a race of its kind. Heath crossed the tape in 5 hours 26 minutes 45 seconds and Clement second in 5 hours 28 minutes 13 seconds, the race going to Heath by 1 minute 28 seconds. The machines were started at two minute intervals.

The racing board of the American Automobile association considered Mr. Clement's protest at Garden City until 2 o'clock in the morning and finally decided to throw it out.

Gabriel, the noted French driver, who had been favored as a likely winner, was well in the lead in the first three laps. He was gradually overhauled and passed, however, and in the seventh lap, when he broke a crank shaft, Gabriel dropped out of the race. It is said he sat on the roadside and wept. Frank Croker drove a plucky race, but accidents to tires delayed him.

Through the first part of the race it looked as if Gabriel, Clement and Heath would fight it out, but after the first three laps Gabriel's machine began to behave badly, and finally he was forced to give up.

Swift and terrible as might be a vision of sudden death, the big French auto, driven by George Heath, an American, tore across the finish line in Westbury in the great race 1 minute 28 seconds ahead of the nearest competitor. Albert Clement, the young Frenchman, who was driving a car especially constructed for him by his father, was so close behind that even after both men had completed the course it was uncertain which actually was in the lead. Despite the fact that the course was so dangerous that many experts before the race pronounced it murderous, the race was the closest ever run over a 300 mile road course.

Murderous it proved. Hours before the end of the race death had taken its toll. Before 9 o'clock a. m. one man was dead. At midnight the life of another was trembling in the balance and the balance sinking against him. As they tore found in the second lap of the race the swaying of the car which George Arents was driving, with Carl Meusel as his assistant, wrenched the tire off one of the front wheels of the machine. It swerved wildly, jerking Arents, who was driving, out of his seat and leaving him unconscious in the road. Then it dashed on uncontrolled, so swift that Carl Meusel, his mechanic, had no chance to jump out and save himself. Three hundred feet farther on it turned a somersault, and Meusel was pinned underneath. Those who ran to his assistance soon saw he was terribly injured. Both men were hurried to the Nassau hospital in Mineola, where Meusel died without recovering consciousness. Arents had sustained a fractured skull, and later it was said at the hospital his condition was desperate.

Heath's claim to the honor of the fastest time for the distance was disputed by Clement, and the final award of the cup was long in dispute. Clement no sooner had completed the race than he turned back and, almost with tears in his boyish eyes—he is only twenty-two—entered a formal protest, saying he had been detained improperly in one of the controls for one and a half minutes. Anxious to show the foreign entrants every consideration, Mr. Vanderbilt and the other judges took the protest under consideration at a special meeting held in the Garden City hotel. The case was discussed until 1:30 in the morning, when it was decided to disallow the protest and award first place to Heath.

George Arents, Jr., who was thrown from his machine during the race, was somewhat better last night, although earlier it seemed as though his death would be but a matter of a short time. He is at the Nassau County hospital, Mineola, N. Y. Mrs. Arents is with her husband.

He had sinking spells the greater part of the night, but at 4 o'clock in the morning there was a slight resection, and, although the gain has been slow, it has been steady, and Mr. Arents is now in a semiconscious condition.

W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., the donor of the cup, said after the race:

"Apart from the question of superiority of one machine over another, the race has demonstrated the keen interest taken in automobiling by the American people as well as those of other nations. It was a good, clean race and full of interest. I might add that next year the race for the cup will also be held in this country, but after that it will take place in whatever country the cup may be, assuming that it is won away from the United States."

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Donald McInnis, of West Third street, has resigned his position in the foundry at Pond's.

The Rushmore Dynamo Company recently shipped a big order of its automobile search lights to a Parisian firm.

James Pine, of Astor place, assistant engineer at the C. and C. Works, Garwood, has been off duty the past week on account of illness.

The fact that five new men were added to the machine force at Scott's factory last week is an evidence of briskness at the East End works.

The Pond Tool Company has a "rush" order from the Japanese government which is now in the hands of the machinists. Two large planers are being run nights in order to get it out on time.

John McClellan, of Watchung avenue, is at Washington, D. C., in the interests of the Potter Press Works. Although one of its youngest employes he has been entrusted with a great deal of "road" work and has always proven efficient.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Liquor Dealers' Friends.

The State Liquor Dealers' Protective Association is again in a predicament at Plainfield that will make it necessary to once more ask for the "influence and assistance of friends to the industry" if high license is to be defeated. The voters, too, it may be remarked, will also have their eyes peeled to catch a glimpse of these very same "friends" in the Common Council.—Newark News.

North Plainfield Treachery.

The unanimity with which the Republican convention tendered the nomination for the Assembly to Irving Hoagland was a splendid tribute to that young man's popularity. Without solicitation from any one the nomination was offered to Mr. Hoagland because he is the man for the place. Active, bright, capable and with a captivating personality Mr. Hoagland made numerous friends during his former campaign when he went down with the rest of the ticket, because of treachery in North Plainfield. He would have been elected by a handsome majority had North Plainfield given him half her normal vote. The spendid vote given him in Franklin township showed how well his neighbors think of him. Irving Hoagland is a young man of sterling qualities well fitted to fill the office of member of Assembly. — Somerville Unionist Gazette.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Frank H. Lock, of West Seventh street, will shortly take a position in the employ of Frank & DuBois, insurance brokers in New York city. Lock is a graduate of the Plainfield High School in the class of 1904.

—The New Jersey Central will commence the extensive work of building entirely new docks at Elizabethport today, the cost of which will be about $250,000. Arthur Smith, of Grandview avenue, who is connected with the civil engineering corps of the company, will be engaged on this work.

Girls' Tennis Tournament.

The annual fall tennis tournament for the championship at the Plainfield High School Girls' Athletic Association will be begun this afternoon if the weather permits. The play will take place on the Bronx Tennis Club's courts, and will be finished this week.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Louise F. Mann, of Troy, N. Y., to Clarence M. Rogers, of this city.

Miss Margaret Goddard Wins Semi-Final Play for the Women's Handicap Cup.

An event of interest at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Saturday was the semi-final play for the Women's Handicap cup. Miss Margaret Goddard won from Miss Maude VanBokerck by 1 up. There were three contestants for this cup and Miss Edith Tracy drew the "bye." She will play Miss Goddard next Saturday in the finals.

There were just seven contestants who posted their scores for the Golf Committee cup. G. F. Earl won first honors with a net score of 76, while J. A. Tompkins and C. B. Morgan finished second and third with net scores of 78 and 79. These scores were posted:

G. F. Earl, 97, 21—76; J. A. Tompkins, 89, 11—78; C. B. Morgan, 85, 6—79; Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, 88, 8—80; D. W. Taylor, 96, 14—82; E. E. Iremonger, 95, 11—84; Arthur Murphy, 94, 8—86.

There were but a few entries for the Gaston cup. The point-winners were: G. F. Earl, 97, 1—96; A. E. Barclay, 99, 0—99; T. W. T. Maxwell, 101, 1—100.

It has been arranged to have a clock golf contest for women on the course next Saturday.

There were a number of players on the Park Golf Club course on Saturday, but they did not post scores in the weekly competition for the President's and Park Golf Club cups.

There was more than ordinary interest in the golf play at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday, when the qualifying round for the club championship was the attraction. This was eighteen holes, medal play, the first sixteen scores to qualify at first round match play next Saturday, continuing on October 22, 29 and the finals on Election Day at thirty-six holes.

These contestants qualified on Saturday:

Marshall Whitlatch, 80; C. E. Halsted, 84; E. D. Floyd, 84; Joseph Sherman, Jr., 89; W. J. Bogert, 91; H. E. Knight, 91; W. R. Davis, 93; J. A. Worth, 94; R. I. Townley, 95; J. A. Woodward, 97; R. H. SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

After the baseball game Saturday the two teams went to Pedetious' Hotel, where a chicken dinner was given by the management of the teams. Both teams went up to the end of the Somerset street line by trolley and from there walked to the hotel, after which every one was ready to devour large plates of the well cooked chicken. After the dinner Smith, who has done such good work in the box for the locals, was presented with a handsome Spaulding sweater.

A watermelon patch on the outskirts of the borough, was raided yesterday by a few small boys, who had a great time eating the four large watermelons which they got.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Rev. C. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, exchanged pulpits Sunday with Rev. J. W. Lisenden, of the First Baptist church, of Freehold. Mr. Lisenden occupied the local pulpit several weeks ago, his discourses then were enjoyed by large audiences, and had his second visit been more generally known he would have, no doubt, been greeted by much larger audiences, notwithstanding the inclement weather. Mr. Lisenden, besides being a speaker and well known in evangelistic work, is a singer of some note. At the evening service he rendered a solo which was enjoyed by all.

An east bound car jumped the track Saturday night about 11 o'clock, near the Park avenue crossing. The wrecking crew had to be summoned from the car shops before the car could be put back on the track, so firmly had it become embedded in the ground. The trouble was caused by a rail spreading.

Manager Johnston and the P. A. C. team redeemed themselves Saturday afternoon, in the eyes of the local fans, by defeating the Stars, of Elizabethport, by the score of 6 to 1. Wiltse, who occupied the box for the local team, pitched one of the finest games of the season.

The uncertain weather of yesterday made considerable difference in the number of automobiles usually seen passing through town on a Sunday.

Miss Marion Goodwin led an interesting weekly session of the Epworth League, held last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

The Orange F. C. had but little difficulty in defeating the Dunellens at Orange Oval Saturday afternoon, the score being 12 to 0.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of West Front street, spent Sunday with Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Sr.

DUNELLEN NO MATCH FOR ORANGE FIELD CLUB

LOSES FIRST GAME IN FOOTBALL SERIES BY SCORE OF 12 TO 0.

The Orange Field Club won its first game in its series with the Dunellen football team Saturday afternoon at Orange Oval. The score of the contest was 12 to 0. The Dunellen players showed a lack of practice compared with their opponents, who played together better, and were much faster.

The ball was kicked off in the first half by the O. F. C., and was soon recovered on downs. Then followed a successession of line plunges which terminated in a touchdown by Smith on a play through tackle. Tobin kicked the goal, making the score 6 to 0 After the kick off by Tobin, the same performance was repeated by the Dunellen team, and failing to gain they were obliged to kick. On recovering the leather, the O. F. C. again rushed it down the field, gaining first down several times, till Smith rounded right end for the second touchdown. Tobin made the score 12 to 0. No further scoring resulted in this half, though when time was called, the O. F. C. had the ball within twenty yards of the Dunellen goal.

The play in the second half was not so good. The O. F. C. lost several opportunities to score through fumbles, and though their end runs were still efficient for gaining good distances, the Dunellen line held better. A decided spurt was taken toward the latter part of the game by the Orange boys and when the half closed they had the ball on their opponents 10-yard line. It was too late for another tally however, and the final score went down 12 to 0.

CAMPAIGN MANAGERS

MEN WHO ARE DIRECTING THE POLITICAL CONTESTS.

WELL KNOWN IN CAPITAL

Washington Has a New Interest in the Battle for the Presidency —Senator Gorman as a Leader.

Washington.—President Roosevelt is back in Washington to stay. He will make a flying trip to Oyster Bay the day before election in November, will vote the straight republican ticket early in the morning and return to Washington election day afternoon in order to be in the executive offices when the returns come in at night.

President Roosevelt.

The president's presence in Washington has a stimulating effect on the life of the capital. What has been a country village in point of energy and life has now been transformed into a capital city. Strangers are visiting Washington in larger numbers and the white house is again the Mecca for politicians and statesmen.

While the president takes a deep interest in the campaign it cannot be said that he is in any way directing it. That work has been turned over to other hands and Mr. Roosevelt is surveying the field from the viewpoint of an ordinary citizen. This is the impression he gives visitors who see him. He is ready to discuss the outlook, but, like most citizens, is inquiring as to what the real workers out in the field are doing. The fact is the president has very little time to devote to politics just now, as, in addition to the routine business of his office, he is getting material together for his annual message to congress.

This annual message is a formidable undertaking. It is a compendium of the government's record for the past year. For weeks and months past bureau chiefs have been busy collecting the data of their offices for submission to the heads of their departments, and the cabinet officers in turn have been collecting these bureau reports, studying them, and soon will complete their digests of what has been going on in their departments and submit them to the president. The president goes over all these department and bureau reports, gets a comprehensive view of all that has been done and then advises congress in a set message of the progress that has been made, the problems that have been solved, the difficulties that have arisen, the policies that have been followed during the past year and suggests wherein congress may provide useful legislation for future government.

Cortelyou as Manager.

While the president is not running the campaign there are other men taking care of his interests. When he selected Secretary of Commerce and Labor Cortelyou to be chairman of the national committee and thus be his personal representative in the political contest, there was no end of criticism, grumbling and prediction of disaster and blunder on the part of politicians who believed that no man, not trained in the practical school of politics, should be selected to direct the campaign. Mr. Cortelyou's experience had been in the line of routine government work and later of executive experience, but he was not believed to have any knowledge or appreciation of what is known as "practical politics."

SECRETARY CORTELYOU

President Roosevelt had his own idea, however, of the kind of man he wanted to run the campaign. He believes thoroughly in political organization and knowing Cortelyou's genius for organization in government work he concluded the same quality would be valuable in a political campaign.

Chairman Cortelyou has not disappointed the president, but he has disappointed his critics within his own party. The old line politicians take their hats off to this young general who has brought into politics the genius and ability that proved so effective in conducting a government department. Even his political opponents express admiration for Mr. Cortelyou's quiet and effective method of managing a campaign. The visitors at the republican headquarters in New York and Chicago are all struck with the business air that characterizes them. The whole force works with the system and efficiency of a well organized business house.

The Democratic Managers.

The democrats also have a well organized national headquarters, but it required a longer time to get them into smooth running order. To aid in this they secured the services of Senator Arthur Pue Gorman of Maryland, a past master in politics and statecraft.

Senator Gorman.

Washington is particularly interested in the campaign now that two of its well known citizens are pitted against each other in directing the republican and democratic campaigns. Mr. Cortelyou has been a resident of the District for some 12 years, while Senator Gorman is looked on as one of the old inhabitants. He has had a home in Washington for a generation and spends his winters here with his family and his summers at his farm at Laurel, Maryland, only an hour's run out of the city.

Few public men are better known at the capital than Mr. Gorman, and it is safe to say few are more respected. He has thousands of acquaintances here now who are particularly interested in the campaign because they believe that Mr. Gorman is one of the actual, if not not the titular, head of the national democratic committee. He is as imperturable as Mr. Cortelyou, is diplomatic and tactful and back of all this has a life time's experience of the ins and outs of politics. He is expected to turn many a trick that will keep the other side guessing, but he is too shrewd to advance any opinion or make any prediction beyond the general statement that with harmony and hard work there is a chance to win the election.

Cupid in the Army.

It is a serious question with the military authorities whether there should not be some modification of the rules regarding enlistments in the regular army. The rule regarding the admission of married men into the ranks, it is contended by some of the authorities, might well be abrogated, or at least modified. There is now severe punishment meted out to a man who conceals the fact that he is married when he enlists in the army. It has been suggested that the punishment under these circumstances is out of proportion to the infraction of army rules and it is proposed to reduce the punishment so as to retain desirable men in the service, notwithstanding the fact that they are married. Many army officers contend that the best soldiers are often those who have wives to look after them or to provide for.

Uncle Sam's Bar for Cupid.

The principal objection to married soldiers is that in the transfer of troops involving travel beyond the seas and long periods of absence from home stations the soldier with a wife becomes somewhat of an impediment. The wives sometimes give trouble and if husband and wife are separated there is dissatisfaction and occasionally a desertion. This objection, however, is believed to be offset by the better character of the men who are married. They are apt to be steadier and more attentive to their duties.

The authorities have encountered some difficulty in getting the best material into the ranks of the army. Just now the navy seems to have the call, as the life there is more attractive and the opportunity greater for seeing more of the world. Army life in time of peace is rather monotonous and young men after the present short enlistment of three years do not care to reinlist. There is a suggestion that the term of enlistment be extended to what it formerly was, that is, five years. It was thought that the privilege of rising from the ranks and receiving commissions would be an inducement to intelligent young men to enter the army. This is not found to be the case, however, and the only explanation that seems to offer is that there are better opportunities in the labor and business world for strong, healthy and intelligent young men.

Negroes of Washington.

The sociologist who wants to study the race question might camp down here in Washington and have at easy range all types and classes of the colored race for his investigation. There is represented in 90,000 colored population of the capital city every degree of excellence and evil in the negro from the millionaire, educated colored man down to the most brutal type of the negro degenerate. The colored population of this city is to a great extent a barometer that reflects the sentiment of the race throughout the country. The aspiration of the better classes as typified in the Booker Washington movement is reflected in the upper crust of colored society in Washington. The brutal instincts that lead to the horrible crimes whose retribution usually comes in the form of lynching are observable through the lower strata of the negro population here. Major Sylvester, chief of police, declares that if the idle and evil negro were eliminated from Washington this city would be the most peaceful in the world.

Of the Undesirable Class.

Just now the colored people in this city are very much worked up over the "Jim Crow Car" proposition. The adjoining states of Virginia and Maryland have laws in operation that compel the segregation of the negroes and put them into cars that are known by that more or less euphonious term, "Jim Crow Cars." The Washington negro is as a rule very assertive, and as there are no federal laws regarding his place on street cars and railroad cars he does not hesitate to push himself, sometimes offensively, among the whites, but as soon as he gets out of the district he is unceremoniously chucked into a car by himself. This is very humiliating and the colored people of the district have held meetings with the purpose of forming some sort of an organization to contest the constitutionality of these Jim Crow laws. So far the meetings have resulted in nothing but talk.

THE AUTUMN HAT.

Hints For Purchasing—Burnt Orange a Leading Color.

When choosing a hat it is well to be guided as much in the selection by the shape of the shoulders as by the face, head, complexion and hair. Many millinery mistakes are made by the small woman wearing the large picture hats that are so becoming to tall girls with good shoulders. A girl of five feet two in a hat of this sort looks several inches shorter than she really is.

Burnt orange will figure prominently in the winter millinery schemes. It will be employed as a high light to touch up otherwise somber creations.

In velvet burnt orange is an exquisite shade, and the woman whose coloring will not stand this fashionable tint is to be pitied. On gowns the orange will make delightful glints of contrast in the guise of tiny waistcoats or as touches on cuff, collar and neck.

A dainty whim of fashion is to catch up the fullness on sleeves with fancy buttons.

Neck chains of all kinds are as popular as ever, and to be really up to date a golden, enameled or jeweled butterfly or bird is the dangle to be suspended from them.

The charming hat illustrated is made with a soft crown of black tulle. From under the tulle glint pale yellow roses. The drooping brim at the back makes this hat becoming to any mode of hairdressing. A full rosette of tulle and another of yellow roses conceal the bandeau which lifts the hat off the left side of the hair.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FROM FASHION'S WORLD.

Some New Materials—Dress Skirts Lined Once More.

From Paris comes the edict that hats must match the costume this season. This means a good deal to the woman with a moderate dress allowance. An artful way of serving fashion and economy at the same time is to select a certain shade as the basis tone of the entire wardrobe and have a hat developed in many shades of the same color, one of them matching each gown.

There will be a decided fancy this winter for smooth faced cloths. Chiffon broadcloth is promised a great vogue for afternoon costumes, while for walking and shopping frocks rough tweeds and homespuns are the choice. Zibelines for fall wear have a panne finish.

Scorched onion is a new autumn color, but it is too daring for an entire costume. Hats of this are very pretty and are a smart finish to black, blue, gray and brown toilets.

Skirts are to be lined. It is claimed by dressmakers that the action in walking is much more free than when the skirts are separate. Another old feature to be revived is the use of binding on skirts, and a very sensible one it is in every respect.

The gown illustrated is an autumn promenade toilet of old green satin cloth. The blouse jacket has an attached undulating basque and wide gathered shoulders. A silk braid trims the smart little jacket, and revers of the velvet in the same shade as the cloth show buttons of passementerie and buttonhole imitations. The folded belt is of old green satin. The skirt is laid in opposite plaits, falling out free, and is trimmed with two bias folds of velvet.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Mississippi Bubble

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

(Copyright, 1902, by Emerson Hough.)

It was over in an instant. It could not be said that there was an actual encounter. The sidestep of the young Highlander was soft as that of a panther, as quick, and yet as full of savagery. The whipping over his wrist, the gliding, twining, clinging of his blade against that of his enemy was so swift that eye could scarce have followed it. The eye of Beau Wilson was too slow to catch it or to guard. He never stopped the riposte, and indeed was too late to attempt any guard. Pierced through the body Wilson staggered back, clapping his hands against his chest. Over his face there swept a swift series of changes. Anger faded to chagrin, that to surprise, surprise to fright, and that to gentleness.

"Sir," said he, "you've hit me fair, and very hard. I pray you, some friend, give me an arm."

And so they led him to his carriage, and took him home a corpse. Once more the code of the time had found its victim.

Law turned away from the coach of his smitten opponent, turned away with a face stern and full of trouble. Many things resolved themselves in his mind as he stepped slowly towards the carriage, in which his brother still sat wringing his hands in an agony of perturbation.

"Jack, Jack!" cried Will Law, "Oh, heavens! You have killed him! You have killed a man! What shall we do?"

Law raised his head and looked his brother in the face, but seemed scarce to hear him. Half mechanically he was fumbling in the side pocket of his coat. He drew forth from it now a peculiar object at which he gazed intently and half in curiosity. It was the little beaded shoe of the Indian woman the very object over which this ill-fated quarrel had arisen, and which now seemed so curiously to intermingle itself with his affairs.

"'Twas a slight shield enough," he said slowly to himself, "yet it served. But for this little piece of hide, methinks there might be two of us going home to-day to take somewhat of rest."

CHAPTER XI.

FOR FELONY.

Late in the afternoon of the day following the encounter in Bloomsbury square, a little group of excited loiterers filled the entrance and passage way at 59 Bradwell street, the former lodgings of the two young gentlemen from Scotland. The motley assemblage seemed for the most part to make merry at the expense of a certain messenger boy, who bore a long wicker box, which presently he shifted from his shoulder to a more convenient resting place on the curb.

"Do 'ee look at un," said one ancient dame. "He! he! Hath a parcel of fine clothes for the tall gentleman was up in third floor! He! he! Clothes for Mr. Law, indeed!"

"Fine clothes, eh?" cried another, a portly dame of certain years. "Much fine clothes he'll need where he'm gone."

"Yes, indeed, that he will na. Bad luck 'twas to Mary Cullen as took un into her house. Now she's no lodging money for her rooms, and her lodgers be both in Newgate; least ways, one of un."

"Ah now, 'tis a pity for Mary Cullen, she do need the money so much—"

"Shut ye all your mouths, the lot o' you," cried Mary Cullen herself, appearing at the door. "'Tis not she is needing the little money, for she has it right here in the corner of her apron. Every stiver Mary Cullen's young men said they'd pay they paid, like the gentlemen they were. I'll warrant the raggle of ye would do well to make out fine as Mary Cullen hath."

"Oh, now, is that true, Mary Cullen?" said a voice. "'Twas said that these two were noble folk come here for the sport of it."

"What else but true? Do you never know the look of gentry? My fakes, I'll warrant the young gentleman is back within a fortnight. His brother, the younger one, said to me hisself but that very morn, his brother was hinnocent as a child; that he was obliged to strike the other man for fear of his own life. Now, what can judge do but turn un loose? Four sovereigns he gave me this very morn. What else can judge do but turn un free? Tell me that, now!"

IT WAS EMPTY.

"Well," said the apprentice, with a certain superiority in his air. "I dare wait no longer. My master said the gentleman was to have the clothes this very afternoon. So if to prison he be gone, to prison must I go too." Upon which he set off doggedly, and so removed one of the main causes for the assemblage at the curb.

The apprentice was hungry and weary enough before he reached the somber portals, yet his insistence won past gate-keeper and turnkey, one after another, till at length he reached the jailer who adjudged himself fit to pass upon the stolid demand that the messenger be admitted with the parcel for John Law, Esquire, late of Bradwell street, marked urgent, and collect fifty sovereigns. The humor of all this appealed to the jailer mightily.

"Send him along," he said. And the boy came in, much dismayed but still faithful to his trust.

"Some clothes," said the apprentice. "Some very fine clothes. They are of our best."

"Ha! ha!" roared the jailer. "Here indeed be a pretty jest. Much need he'll have of fine clothes here. He'll soon take his clothes off the rack like the rest, and happen it fits him well, very well. Take back your box, boy—or stay, let's have a look in't."

The jailer was a man not devoid of wisdom. Fine clothes sometimes went with a long purse, and a long purse might do wonders to help the comfort of any prisoner in London, as well as the comfort of his keeper. Truly his eyes opened wide as he saw the contents of the box. He felt the lapel of the coat, passing it approvingly between his thumb and finger. "Well, e'en set ye down the box, lad," said he, "and wait till I see where Mr. Law has gone. Hum, hum! What saith the record? Charged that said prisoner did kill—hum, hum! Taken of said John Law six sovereigns, three shillings and sixpence. Item, one snuff-box, gilt. Hour of admission, five o'clock of the afternoon. We shall see, we shall see."

"Sir," said the jailer, approaching the prisoner and his brother, who both remained in the detention room, "a lad hath arrived bearing a parcel for John Law, Esquire. 'Tis not within possibility that you have these goods, but we would know what disposition we shall make of them."

"By my faith!" cried Law, "I had entirely forgot my haberdasher."

The jailer stood on one foot and gave a cough, unnecessarily loud but sufficiently significant. It was enough for the quick wit of Law.

"There was 50 sovereigns on the charge list," said the jailer.

"Sixty sovereigns, I heard you say distinctly," replied Law. "Will, give me thy purse, man!"

Will Law obeyed automatically.

"There," said John Law to the jailer. "I am sure the garments will be very proper. Is it not all very proper?"

The turnkey looked calmly into the face of his prisoner and as calmly replied: "It is, sir, as you say, very proper."

"Will," said Law to his brother, who had scarce moved during all this, "come, cheer up! One would think 'twas thyself was to be inmate here, and not another."

Will Law burst into tears.

"God knows, 'twere better myself, and not thee, Jack," he said.

"Pish! boy, no more of that! 'Twas as chance would have it. I'm never meant for staying here. Come, take this letter, as I said, and make haste to carry it. 'Twill serve nothing to have you moping here. Fare you well, and see that you sleep sound."

Will Law turned, obedient as ever to the commands of the superior mind. He passed out through the heavily-guarded door as the turnkey swung it for him; passed out, turned and looked back. He saw his brother standing there, easy, calm, indifferent, a splendid figure of a man.

CHAPTER XII.

THE MESSAGE.

To Will Law, as he turned away from the prison gate upon the errand assigned to him, the vast and shapeless shadows of the night-covered city took the form of appalling monsters, relentless, remorseless, savage of purpose. He passed, as one in some hideous dream, along streets that wound and wound until his brain lost distance and direction. It might have been an hour, two hours, and the clock might have registered after midnight, when at last he discovered himself in front of the dark gray mass of stone which the chairmen assured him was his destination. It was with trepidation that he stepped to the half-lighted door and fumbled for the knocker. The door slowly swung open, and he was confronted by the portly presence of a lackey who stood in silence waiting for his word.

"A message for Lady Catharine Knollys," said Will, with what courage he could summon. "'Tis of importance, I make no doubt." For it was to the Lady Catharine that John Law had first turned. His heart craved one more sight of the face so beloved, one more word from the voice which so late had thrilled his soul. Away from these—ah! that was the prison for him, these were the bars which to him seemed imperatively needful to be broken. Aid he did not think of asking. Only, across London, in the night, he had sent the cry of his heart: "Come to me!"

"The Lady Catharine is not in at this hour," said the butler, with some asperity, closing the door again in part.

"But 'tis important. I doubt if 'twill bear the delay of a night." Indeed, Will Law had hitherto hardly paused to reflect how unusual was this message, from such a person, to such address, and at such an hour.

The butler hesitated, and so did the unbidden guest at the door. Neither heard at first the light rustle of garments at the head of the stair, nor saw the face bent over the balustrade in the shadows of the hall.

"What is it, James?" asked a voice from above.

"A message for the Lady Catharine," replied the servant. "Said to be important. What should I do?"

"Lady Catharine Knollys is away," said the soft voice of Mary Connynge, speaking from the stair. Her voice came nearer as she now descended and appeared at the first landing.

"We may crave your pardon, sir," said she, "that we receive you so ill, but the hour is very late. Lady Catharine is away, and Sir Charles is forth also, as usual, at this time. I am left proxy for my entertainers, and perhaps I may serve you in this case. Therefore pray step within.

"Sir, I am in some hesitation," said Mary Connynge. "There is indeed none in the house except the servants. You say your message is of importance—"

"It has indeed importance," responded Will. "It comes from my brother."

"Your brother, Mr. Law?"

"From my brother, John Law. He is in trouble. I make no doubt the message will set all plain."

"In that case," said Mary Connynge, her voice cool, though her soul was hot with impatience, "it might perhaps be well if I took the liberty of reading the message in Lady Catharine's absence. You say your brother is in trouble?"

The girl tore open the inclosure. She saw but three words, written boldly, firmly, addressed to no one, and signed by no one.

"Come to me!" Thus spoke the message. This was the summons that had crossed black London town that night.

Mary Connynge rose quickly to her feet, forgetting for the time the man who stood before her. The instant demanded all the resources of her soul. She fought to remain mistress of herself. A moment, and she passed Will Law with swift foot, and gained again the stairway in the hall, the letter still fast within her hand. Will Law had not time to ask its contents.

"There is need of haste," said she. "James, have up the calash at once. Mr. Law, I crave your excuse for a time. In a moment I shall be ready to go with you."

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL, PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

SPORTING NEWS.

FOOTBALL.

Styles, the Leal's coach, has done well in his work with the Leal's School eleven. His work showed in the game on Saturday, with the High School and also pointed out to the latter players that their chances are severely handicapped while there is no one to coach them.

The two Douglass brothers are showing up in great style behind the line for the High School football team. They are both fast men, and with good interference, they can be counted on for good gains Their line-bucking could be improved, as they are somewhat too light for that form of attack.

Wilcox, of Leal's, is considered one of the best all round football players in the scholastic field this year. He is without question the star in this city, and plays a snappy intelligent game at quarterback. In the game with High School Saturday, he handled his team with a great deal of precision, and ran them through the plays in a quick manner.

It is now a certainty that the Whittier School will be represented on the gridiron this fall. Fred Martin has resigned the position as manager of the basket ball team in order to take the football captaincy. The team will be out for practice next week regularly. They will weigh about the same as the North Plainfield High School team. Among the candidates are the following: Woodhull, Loughlin, Alpaugh, Fountain, Briggs, Smith, Harding, Martin, Crook, Smalley and VanWinkle. It is not certain that the boys will play under the name "Whittier School."

BASKET BALL.

The first game in the series between the Whittier School and the Juniors, of the Y. M. C. A., in basket ball, will be played off tomorrow when the two teams will meet on the floor of the local gymnasium. The two teams are well matched in weight and a good contest is looked for. This will be the first game in the league of younger players in this city. The other members of the league are Leal's second, and High School second. The Whittier and Y. M. C. A. teams will line up as follows: Woodhull and Loughlin, forwards; Alpaugh, center; Fountain and Briggs, guards. Y. M. C. A., Caldwell, center; Freeman and Doane, forwards; Steiner and Dorenger, guards. As the game will be played under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., the officials will be from the association.

DIAMOND DUST.

George Wiltse pitched for the New York Nationals against Brooklyn on Saturday, shutting out the latter by a score of 5 to 0.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Rev. L. T. Lindholm and family leave today for a few weeks' stay in New England.

An entertainment will be given in the parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest on Thursday night, October 20.

Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, of West Seventh street, left today for Niagara Falls, St. Louis and Des Moines, Iowa. At the latter place they will attend the convention of Congregationalists to be held a little later in the month.

The Young Women's Mission Band, of Trinity Reformed church, will hold its first fall meeting on Friday night in the lecture room of the church. The members and friends are requested to note the change in time from afternoon to evening. The subject will be "Arabia," and a cordial invitation is extended to all interested to attend.

A large attendance was a feature of the special meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. The speaker was William D. Murray, of this city, his subject being "Bible Study." He treated his topic in a most interesting and instructive way. Mr. Murray divided his talk into three parts, referring to the value of Bible Study both from a humane, a divine, and an ethical standpoint He spoke of the permanacy of the Bible, while other books are read once and laid aside. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra was present at the meeting and accompanied the singing, in addition to rendering several selections.

Social Club's Reception.

The Plainfield Social Club will hold its first annual reception and dance in T. A. B. Hall, Friday evening. The committee has completed arrangements and the affair promises to be largely attended.

Mrs. David Van de Veer, of Philadelphia, is a guest of Mrs. C. W. Eell, of Crescent avenue.

FELL THROUGH LOFT AND LAY UNCONSCIOUS FOR HOURS

LANDSFORD MAN IN A PRECARIOUS CONDITION.

While sound asleep in the hay loft of the barn at the coal yard of George Stevens on West Front street, Friday night, Charles Gallagher, a moulder, whose home is in Lansford, Pa., fell through a hole to the floor and on the way down struck several projections, inflicting several injuries. He lay on the floor in an unconscious condition during the night and was found by Samuel Taynor, the blacksmith.

A telephone call summoned the ambulance and the man was removed to the hospital. An examination showed contusions of the chest and back and while the physicians believe the man will recover, his condition at present is quite serious.

Gallagher, it is said, has been working in one of the local shops. He is forty years old and single.

SHAEFER'S DAMAGE SUIT NOW ON TRIAL

ACTION AGAINST A. L. CADMUS FOR $15,000 DAMAGES.

The suit of William Shaefer, of West Front street, against Abraham L. Cadmus, proprietor of the Commercial Mills, for $15,000 damages, for injuries sustained recently at the mills, was called at Elizabeth this morning before Judge Fort and a jury. Craig A. Marsh, Esq., represents the plaintiff and James P. Power, Esq., the defendant.

Shaefer's injuries were the result of a fall while walking over a rotten plank at the fill, and he claims to be permanently injured. The defense is that Shaefer, being well acquainted at the mill, should have noticed the condition of the plank.

MORE COMMENT ON MARTINE'S CANDIDACY

WHAT THE PRESS HAS TO SAY OF "FARMER-ORATOR."

James E. Martine, of Plainfield, the famous "Farmer Orator," was nominated for Congress by the Democrats of this Congressional District, at the convention held in Elizabeth on Thursday. The nomination of Mr. Martine brings directly before the voters of this district, the silver issue again. He is a sincere and earnest advocate of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, as well as a believer in Bryanism with all his heart and soul. His nomination upsets Mr. Cleveland's "safe and sane" theory and will give Parker's "irrevocably established" gold standard a very bad "jar." As the opponent of Charles N. Fowler, the silver tongue Martine will have an even harder task than did Flanagan and his barrel two years ago.—Rahway Advocate.

VERDICT FOR SHAFER

Jury Gives Him $5,000 in Suit Against A. L. Cadmus.

OUT JUST ONE HOUR

Craig A. Marsh Delivers Eloquent Plea in the Summing Up.

Returning after an hour's consideration of the facts, the Supreme Court jury this noon rendered a verdict for $5,000 to the plaintiff in the suit brought by William Shafer against Abraham L. Cadmus, for injuries received by the breaking of a plank at the Commercial Mills. The case occupied the attention of the court all day yesterday and the summing up took until 11 o'clock this morning. In his address to the jury, Craig A. Marsh, of this city, counsel for Shafer, gave one of the most eloquent pleas yet heard in the Union County court. Cadmus' interests were looked after by James P. Powers and Attorney-General McCarter. It is likely that the defendant will file an appeal.

When the case was resumed yesterday afternoon, Counsellor Marsh endeavored to show that for a long time previous to the accident his client had enjoyed excellent health, but apparently failed, in that upon cross-examination by Attorney-General McCarter, for the defense, Shafer admitted that only six months before the accident, he was operated on for appendicitis at Muhlenberg Hospital, and one year previous to that time he was confined to his home with typhoid fever. Shafer, however, insisted that long before the accident he had fully recovered from the effects of the illness referred to, and had regained his usual weight, 176 pounds. Since the accident, however, he had steadily lost weight until at the present time he weighed only 153 pounds.

Dr. Marcus L. Clawson, who attended Shafer, testified to his general condition. There was a heavy contusion on the right side, which later become discolored. Across his back was a bruise. It was slightly hardened and red, which must have been occasioned by some force. Referring to Shafer's present condition, the Doctor said that he was extremely nervous and that he had a loss of heart action owing to lack of exercise, which he is unable to take. The Doctor's opinion was that he would never be able to again do hard manual labor in which the lifting of heavy weights might be necessary, owing to injury to plaintiff's kidney, one of the results of the fall.

The hemlock plank which broke beneath Shafer's weight, together with a model of the plank leading from the bin to the stairway, were used in evidence.

The plaintiff claimed that the plank was of hemlock and very old, totally unfit for the use to which it was put. When it broke and let him fall, he had a lighted lantern in his hand which smashed and set the mill on fire. The flames were extinguished before they gained much headway.

AGED MAN STRUCK BY A CENTRAL TRAIN

HENRY VROOM HAS MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

While walking the New Jersey Central tracks on his way from Weston, Somerset county, to this city, where he intended to visit his son-in-law, C. M. Young, of Clinton avenue, Henry Vroom, aged seventy-two years, a farmer by occupation, was struck by a westbound train at a point about a mile from the city.

The aged man was found by a passerby and later moved to Muhlenberg Hospital in the ambulance. An examination disclosed a large lacerated wound on the right leg. His condition is not serious and he will be detained at the hospital but a short time.

FOR PROPERTY PROTECTION

Movement to Form Association Against Spite Houses.

MR. DEPEW'S IDEA

Suggestion in Line With Mr. Riley's Plan for Improvement Society.

Actuated by the "spite" houses that have been erected in various parts of the city at different times, local property owners have under consideration the formation of an association for mutual protection in matters of this kind. Since the publicity given former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph's troubles, the idea has been growing steadily and it will undoubtedly be brought to a head within a short time. The plan that has been most discussed has been touched upon in detail by a letter written to The Daily Press by R. Henry Depew, of Hillside avenue, who is a New York insurance broker. It reads as follows:

Editor, The Daily Press:

Some time ago it occurred to me that it would be a wise thing for the property owners of Plainfield to form an association for the purpose of mutual protection and benefit. The recent trouble of Mr. L. V. F. Randolph, and of my neighbors on Hillside avenue, leads me to believe that the present is an opportune time to take this matter up and bring it into shape.

My idea is to make this association absolutely non-political and I think that great good can be accomplished by the weight which an organization of this kind will have in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the city and its property owners.

I will be glad to have an expression of opinion from as many as may be interested, either through the columns of the newspapers or by letter, and if the plan meets with approval, I should be glad to take steps for the formation of a committee to carry it out.

Yours very truly,
R. Henry Depew.

Mr. Depew's plan is the furtherance of one suggested by William H. Riley, of North Plainfield, several weeks ago, when he declared in a written article that the city and borough is sadly in need of a "village improvement association," such as can be found in towns all over the country. Their purpose is to beautify ugly spots and induce property owners to take better care of their places. The new idea is aggressive in one sense of the word. All of those who believe in it, wish to see the city made better but they do not want to have their likes played upon to the extent of paying money for the purpose of holding off a "spite" house. With an association such as suggested, steps could be better taken to proceed against men who seek to mar the city's beauty for an ulterior purpose and with an example made of one it would have a decidedly detiorating check. Mr. Depew has taken the initiative in getting property owners together and there is little doubt but what he will receive plenty of support.

FIVE HUNDRED CYCLISTS TO RIDE IN CENTURY RUN

PLAINFIELD WILL BE TURNING POINT IN WHEELMEN'S BIG EVENT.

Plainfield will be a mecca for wheelmen Sunday, when the fall century run of the New Jersey division of the Century Road Club of America, takes place. It is expected that 500 riders will participate and this city will be made one of the turning points and the stopping place for dinner.

The start is to be made from Jersey City at 7 a. m. and Newark will be the first stop, thence via Waverly and Elizabeth to Rahway. After a short interval for refreshments another start will be made through Westfield, Scotch Plains, Springfield to Milburn, back to Elizabeth and along the county road through Roselle, Cranford, Westfield and Netherwood to this city, arriving here at noon with fifty-four miles completed.

The return journey will be made out Park avenue to Metuchen, to Rahway, to Boynton Beach, to Perth Amboy; then by ferry to Tottenville, S. I. From Tottenville the riders will journey to Port Richmond, where they will again be ferried to Bergen Point and then ride into Jersey City. The New York State division in charge of Captain Henry Velt, State Centurion Charles L. Thomart, S. Selle and many other well known metropolitan riders will take part.

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT IN THE PANGBORN CASE

MRS. LOUISA M. PERRINE TO RECEIVE SUBSTANTIAL AMOUNT.

It is not expected that there will be any trial of the celebrated Pangborn case in the Lycoming County Court at Williamsport, Pa., today, as scheduled, for the various cases are now in process of settlement on a satisfactory basis. According to the terms of the settlement, which are being arranged by Mrs. Louisa M. Perrine's counsel, Isaac P. Runyon, Esq., she will receive a substantial sum of money.

It is understood that all of the parties interested have agreed to the terms of settlement and it now remains to complete the arrangement. Mr. Runyon announced today that the cases would not be tried, inasmuch as the settlement is in progress. He refuses to state the amount to be received by Mrs. Perrine, who is the daughter of the late Stephen Pangborn.

Y. M. C. A. ORCHESTRA FURNISHED ENJOYMENT

CROWD LISTENS TO PROGRAMME AT FIRST CONCERT.

A crowd of over two hundred people being turned away from the door, the first of the series of concerts by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra was held last evening before an audience where standing room was at a premium. An up-to-date and thoroughly enjoyable programme was arranged, and much credit is due to Leader Korff for his work in training the orchestra.

The regular orchestra, consisting of twenty pieces, was assisted by the following soloists: Miss Etta Raybert, soprano; Miss Charlotte Conger, piano; Kenneth Stuart, trombone, and DeWitt Frazee, cornet. Their numbers were much appreciated by the audience, and the applause which they received was well deserved. Miss Raybert rendered two numbers which captivated her hearers, and she was given several encores. Kenneth Stuart and DeWitt Frazee were given their usual reception.

Seven of the numbers rendered by the orchestra were new publications, many being introduced into this city for the first time. All the selections were well played, and did great credit to the musicians. The programme in full was as follows:

"Japan's Triumphal" March, C. M. Vandersloot; overture — "Fairy Queen," M. Tobani; trombone solo—"Old Home Down on the Farm," (Air Varie) Harlow, Mr. Stuart, accompanied by orchestra; soprano solo (violin obligato)—"For All Eternity," A. Mascheroni, Miss Raybert, accompanied by Miss Conger; gavotte, "Bijou," Tobani; Oriental intermezzo—"Ra-Zaza," L. L. Comstock; Japo-Rhapsody—"Karama," Mabel McKinley; cornet solo—"Beautiful Home of Paradise," (Sacred song) R. A. King, Mr. Frazee; soprano solo—"Mattinata," F. Paola Tosti, Miss Raybert, accompanied by Miss Conger; intermezzo—"Katunka," L. O. Smith; Valse-Suite—"Voice of the Flowers," L. O. Smith; march—"On Jersey Shore," Arthur Pryor.

Patronesses for Recital.

The following named women have kindly consented to the use of their names as patronesses of the piano recital to be given by Miss Acolia McRae at the Casino, Thursday evening: Mrs. John Sheridan Zelie, Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna, Mrs. Charles A. Reed, Mrs. George W. VanBoskerck, Mrs. Chapman Fisk, Mrs. George P. Mellick, Mrs. Joseph W. Reinhart, Mrs. Orville T. Waring, Mrs. Lewis E. Waring. Miss McRae will be assisted by Miss Emerson, violinist. Cards of admission may be obtained at the leading drug stores, Estil's and the Casino.

TO SELL BALL FRANCHISE

P. A. C. to be Under New Management Next Season.

TO RETAIN JOHNSTON

Deal to be Consummated Before January 1—New Players to be Signed.

Arrangements are now being completed whereby the Plainfield A. C. will dispose of its interest in its baseball team to parties who will act as directors of a new organization which will assume control of affairs. These directors will select one man for manager and he will be held responsible for the results. Plans are now underway to consummate this deal and when it goes through it is believed Plainfield will have one of the best teams in her history. It is expected that George H. Johnston will be induced to assume the management, but if he finds it impossible to do so, another man thoroughly experienced in baseball management will take the place.

There will be a meeting of the club within a short time when these matters will be discussed fully. The idea is to complete arrangements early so that it will give the new organization plenty of time to plan next year's aggregation. It is desired that the team be secured by January 1, thus avoiding the troubles of this year, when all the best players were signed for the season and it was difficult for Manager Johnston to make up his team.

It has been recognized that Plainfield is one of the best ball towns along the line of the New Jersey Central and if a first-class team is put here it will be ably supported. There is also talk of forming some sort of a league of clubs within easy reach of Plainfield. Somerville is anxious to join such a league, and it is believed that Elizabeth, Summit, Madison and Chatham might be induced to ally themselves with Plainfield, Somerville and Elizabeth. The new organization will probably be known as the Plainfield Baseball Association.

It is understood that Ray Egner, of the crack Trenton Y. M. C. A. team, can be secured to pitch here and with a good team behind him, the local fans would be given a very fast article of ball. The chief trouble with the local team this year has been its inability to have a steady pitcher. "Lefty" Davis started the season, but as it progressed it was learned that he was in too fast company. It was then too late in the season to get a steady twirler and it has been rather expensive for the management to use big league pitchers. With the right kind of a man in the box, one that could be depended upon, the results of the contest would be far more satisfactory to the fans.

Deegan, the deaf-mute pitcher, could have been secured earlier in the season, but he signed with Orange A. C., where he has done great work this year, with Jack O'Neil at the receiving end. The Orange boys have won nearly all of their games and made a record to be proud of.

TO CLOSE STORES DURING BASEBALL GAME

THAT IS THE SUGGESTION OF A LOCAL MERCHANT.

In view of the importance of the baseball game scheduled to be played on Crescent Oval Saturday between the New York Nationals and the Plainfield A. C., a prominent merchant of the city suggests today that the merchants who can do so, close their places on Saturday between the hours of the game to allow their clerks to witness the contest. If the proposed arrangements go through, the employes of the various establishments will see one of the greatest exhibitions ever taking place in this city.

The New Yorks will present their regular lineup, while under the name of Plainfield A. C., will be seen many players who have gained renown in the baseball world, including "Willie" Keeler, who used to play here and who is probably one of the highest priced men in the game today. Plans are under way to increase the seating capacity at the grounds and give all who attend a good chance to see the contest.

—The first in the course of Shakespearian lectures by Prof. Edward Howard Griggs will take place Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 in Vincent chapel. Course tickets, $2.50; admission, 50 cents. 10 10 2

LODGE WOMEN IN SESSION

Daughters of Rebekah Holding Annual Assembly.

STATE ORGANIZATION

Friendship Lodge, of This City, Entertaining the Visiting Delegates.

The sixteenth annual session of the Rebekah Assembly, I. O. O. F., of New Jersey, opened this morning at the Coward building. The meetings will be held morning, afternoon and evening. The morning session was devoted to the execution of the routine business for the assembly.

The reports of the president, secretary and treasurer were read, all of which covered the work not only of the State, but of the order in general. Especially gratifying was the report of the secretary, Mrs. Mary I. Fuller, in which she showed the increase in the State membership of the order to be over 2,500. The increase in the order as a whole is 35,000. In the local order about forty new members were received.

Following the reading of the various reports, committees were appointed to serve for the day. They were chosen for the finance, reports, state of order, and judiciary. After the other routine business of the assembly was transacted, a number of speeches followed by grand officers. Among those who spoke were Grandmaster Ross and Past Grandmaster Grassman.

These are the present officers: President, Mrs. Emma Ferguson, of Newark; vice president, Miss Eva VanDusen, of Manasquan; warden, Mrs. Elizabeth Klein, of Newark; secretary, Mrs. Mary I. SITUATION IN SOMERSET

Frank Ross is Picked as a Winner for Sheriff.

BOROUGH'S POSITION

Question Whether North Plainfield's Warning Element Will Bolt County Ticket.

In forecasting the result in Somerset County, much depends on North Plainfield borough where harmony is not so thick that it can be cut with a knife. Mayor Smalley and his friends of the administration forces did not attend the Republican county convention and they do not seem to be over enthusiastic so far as the county ticket is concerned. Twice have North Plainfield Republicans under the leadership of Mayor Smalley, former Councilman Emmens, former Senator Reed and others, defeated the regular county ticket. Senator Reed does not seem to be actively interested in the campaign, but Mayor Smalley is still on the firing line. Should the warring forces again attack the ticket to rub it in harder on Somerville, it will have much effect on the vote.

Frank Ross, of Somerville, the Democratic nominee for sheriff, is very strong in Bridgewater township and is popular throughout the county, particularly so in North Plainfield. Daniel H. Beekman, of Branchburg, the Democratic nominee for Assembly, is considered a good man but he is not so well known as his colleague on the ticket. Political wise men say that Ross will be the next sheriff, but Edward Cooper, of Warren township, his opponent, is making an active canvas throughout the county. He has many friends in the country districts, particularly. Friends of Irving Hoagland, of Franklin township, the Republican nominee, says he will succeed S. S. Swackhamer in the Legislature.

Friends of Frank Ross, who was nominated for sheriff by Somerset county Democrats Saturday, are jubilant over his selection.

Mr. Ross is tax assessor of Bridgewater township, is a son of former Sheriff William Ross, and is one of the firm of James Ross & Co., brick manufacturers, who have conducted a brickyard near Somerville for many years. He secured the nomination for assessor over Charles L. Voorhees, and was elected by a large majority two years ago.

Daniel H. Beekman, nominated for member of Assembly on the Democratic ticket for Somerset county, is the young and able law partner of former Judge J. D. Bartine, of Somerville. Mr. Beekman is a graduate of the Somerville Classical School. After graduating there he entered the New York Law School and for two years pursued a course of study, completing his legal education with former Congressman Alvah A. Clark. He was admitted as an attorney at law in 1898 and as a counsellor at law in 1903. In 1901 the well-known partnership of the firm of Bartine & Beekman was formed. Mr. Beekman is a native of Somerset county. He was born and has always lived on the farm where he now resides, near North Branch, which place has been in the Beekman family for over a century.

Small Verdict.

A verdict of $1.25 for the defendant was given by the jury in the suit against George B. Staats brought by Fred Yates at Justice Hand's court yesterday afternoon. The case has been dragging along for over a year, having first been brought up at Justice Nash's court. The jury was composed of the following members: Cornelius VanHerwerden, foreman; W. VanCleft, F. Stahlte, M. E. Willis, W. H. Forristel, Jeremiah Cash, A. H. Evander, J. D. Brokaw, J. Geer, J. Vermeule, John Tier, Jr., and Frank Watson.

Business Men's Lunch.

E. H. Clevely, of North avenue, announces that he is now serving a business men's lunch from 12 to 3 o'clock for twenty-five cents and a regular dinner for thirty-five cents. A specialty is made of extra fine oysters. Mr. Clevely has a well-appointed dining room for women on the second floor at his restaurant. The menu and service at this restaurant are unsurpassed and a continuation of the liberal patronage is asked for.

Dunellen Woman Knocked Down.

Attempting to cross Fourth street at Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon, a Mrs. Titsworth, of Dunellen, was knocked down and run over by a carriage. She was taken to the office of Dr. Martha R. Stillman where she soon recovered. Her injuries were slight, consisting of a few cuts and bruises.

BOSTONS AGAIN WIN

American Pennant Won by World's Champions.

HUB TEAM DEFEATS NEW YORKERS

Winning Run Scored on Wild Throw by Pitcher Chesbro—Game Witnessed by Record Throng.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Boston baseball team, champions of the world, won the American league pennant at the league grounds. They were aided by errors on the part of Williams, which allowed two runs to be scored, and a wild pitch by Chesbro, on which Criger scored the winning run.

The game was witnessed by the greatest throng that ever visited American League park, fully 30,000 spectators being present. Dineen outpitched Chesbro, allowing but six hits to the Puritans' nine.

By one wild pitch New York lost the championship in the first game, and a more despondent man never left a baseball diamond than Jack Chesbro. He wiped his forehead with his big right arm and walked off the field the picture of abject dejection. A wild pitch, after all, did not matter so much, for Parent followed it with a base hit to center field that would have scored the run in any event.

The big crowd that filled every seat in the enormous stands witnessed the finish of the first game in something of a stupor, especially after the Highlanders had started in so bravely by making the first runs of the game through good batting.

The New Yorks died game up to the last batter, Dougherty. With two men on the bases he walked to the plate, swung mechanically on three curved balls and retired to the bench, with the crowd as silent as the interior of a tomb. Any kind of a long distance hit would have tied the score and practically would have won the game for the Highlanders, but the hit was not forthcoming, and, as luck would have it, Dougherty was the very man who failed of an opportunity.

The Highlanders played a ragged game in the field, at least some of them did. Williams seemed to be worried a bit by the responsibility of the contest, and his misplays were very costly to the chances of the Highlanders.

Boston should have won the game in the eighth inning on Lachance's long drive to center field for two bases. Stahl, however, was afraid that Anderson would get the ball and hung back so long that when it did fall safe he was caught at the plate by an admirably directed relay by Anderson and Williams.

Had Stahl got home Chesbro's wild pitch might not have been such a crucial point in the game. On the whole, the New Yorks did not play with the assurance and the confidence that their opponents did. The champions had been through the mill before and knew what it was. They had been accustomed to fights for the greatest honor in a baseball league, and they went after the contest with a steadiness that was reassuring to their friends who had come from Boston to see the fun.

"I haven't a word to say," said Clarke Griffith, "except congratulations to my players. They did their level best, and no one could ask more of them."

Jimmy Collins left the field as soon as the game was finished, all smiles and happier than he had been for many a day.

"It was the greatest baseball fight in which I was ever engaged," said he, "and I doubt very much if there ever will be another like it. It's a great honor to me to be able to be first in such a race. I only regret that we shall not be able to play the New York Nationals. I'm sure we would make it warm for them too."

WRECK IN MISSOURI

Pacific World's Fair Special In Collision.

HIT FAST FREIGHT HEAD ON.

Twenty-eight Perish In Forward Coaches, Which Were Crushed by Huge Freight Engine—Thirty-five Seriously Hurt.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 11.—Twenty-eight persons were killed, several are dying and thirty-five were seriously injured in a head-on collision between the second section of the Missouri Pacific world's fair special and a westbound extra freight train near Montserrat, Mo. The wreck was due to a misunderstanding of orders on the part of the freight crew.

The forward coach of the passenger train was telescoped, and the other cars of both trains were badly damaged.

Travel to the world's fair has been so heavy that all roads recently have been sending out their trains in two or more sections. The train wrecked was made up at Wichita, and, as is the custom, it picked up additional coaches. The last coach taken up was at Pleasant Hill, Mo. All the coaches were crowded.

The first section of the passenger train went through Montserrat, according to local officers of the road, carrying the usual signals denoting a train following; but, overlooking this, the freight pulled out.

West of the station, on a straight stretch of track, it collided with the second section of the passenger train, running forty miles an hour. The big freight locomotive, with the heavy train behind it, demolished the light passenger locomotive and then plowed through the baggage and smoking cars.

Most of the killed were in the smoking car. Nearly all the passengers were asleep when the crash came, and many of them knew nothing of the wreck until they returned to consciousness lying along the right of way, where they had been thrown by the force of the collision.

The scene of the wreck was a fearful one. The two big locomotives were torn almost to scraps. The smoking car and several of the freight cars were smashed beyond all recognition, and the dead and injured were scattered for 100 feet around.

The freight train was an extra. The crew had, according to the story of the conductor, been instructed to take a siding and let the passenger train pass. The first section of the passenger train had gone by when the freight pulled out. The passenger train bore no signal of a second section to come, he asserts, and he had no reason to believe that another was due.

The scene of the wreck was in a dip, on either side of which there was a steep rise. Both trains had put on extra steam to carry them up the opposite hill, and when they met at the curve at the lowest point they were running at a terrific rate. The passenger train was made up of three coaches and a Pullman.

The injured were taken to Sedalia and the dead to Warrensburg. At Warrensburg the coroner is holding an inquest.

The conductor of the freight train says he was dozing while his train was at Montserrat, and when the local train passed Engineer Horton believed it was the second section of the Wichita train and, thinking the track clear, pulled out on the main line.

T. C. Dressel, postmaster at Eastonville, Kan., was taken out from under a heap of seven bodies, suffering only a broken leg.

King's Sawmill Destroyed.

CORDELE, Ga., Oct. 11.—King's sawmill at Unadilla, the largest in this section, was burned yesterday, together with several freight cars and considerable lumber. The loss is more than $50,000, with little insurance. The fire started in the engine room.

Angiola sold favorite in the pools, with Hall Fry second choice, but Angiola was never able to connect with the wire first in the first five heats and, with Direct View, was ruled out in the fifth. The best time made was 2:09¾, two seconds slower than the record time made by Billy Buch last year.

NEW POSTMASTER GENERAL.

Robert J. Wynne Appointed by President Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—President Roosevelt has appointed Robert J. Wynne postmaster general to succeed the late Henry C. Payne. Mr. Wynne has been acting postmaster general by presidential order since Mr. Payne's death. This appointment makes him a member of the cabinet.

The appointment of Mr. Wynne as a member of the president's cabinet was not unexpected by those in close touch with the situation. It was known that in the event of Mr. Payne's death the president would designate Mr. Wynne as acting postmaster general because of his familiarity as first assistant postmaster general with the affairs of the department. Two days after the death of Mr. Payne the president so designated Mr. Wynne, and to those of his friends to whom he talked confidentially of the subject he indicated his intention, if there should be no change in the situation, of naming him as postmaster general.

Mr. Wynne was born in New York city in November, 1852, and was there educated in the public schools. He removed to Philadelphia and learned telegraphy, working in the Gold and Stock board, eventually becoming chief operator of the Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph company. After living eight years in Philadelphia Mr. Wynne came to Washington.

In 1902 Mr. Wynne was appointed first assistant postmaster general and has held that position up to the present time.

Yerkes of Kentucky, commissioner of internal revenue, at Toledo, O., Oct. 17.

Canterbury's Farewell Address.

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—The archbishop of Canterbury and bishops representing various parts of the world addressed a great missionary mass meeting in Tremont temple last night. The attendance was so large that it was necessary to hold an overflow meeting in St. Paul's church, at which most of the addresses were repeated. The address of the archbishop was probably the last that he will make in public during his stay in America.

Spanish Politics In Porto Rico.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 11.—Spaniards of San Juan have organized an association to assist the Republican movement in Spain. Fernando Juncos, a poet and historian, is the president of the junta, which will send out literature throughout the island and promises to assist the movement with money. There is a strong royalist element here, which is considering the inauguration of a counter movement.

Two Farmers' Daughters Die.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Oct. 11.—A suicide pact has resulted in the death of Miss Minnie Ifland, twenty years old, and Lulu Cook, fourteen years old, daughters of farmers twenty miles south of this city. Clasped in each others arms the two drank the contents of an ounce bottle of strychnine. Death came before medical aid could be summoned. The reading of trashy novels is said to have led to the suicides.

Boy Wanted to Be Shot Too.

BROOKFIELD, Mass., Oct. 11.—Frances W. Newcomb, thirteen years old, was accidentally shot here by Irving Mundell, fourteen years old, and is dead. Mundell was squirrel hunting with a rifle, and the girl was picking up chestnuts with other children. After the accident the Mundell boy rushed to the girl's father and, handing him the rifle, begged to be shot also.

Little Girl Found Suicide.

WORCESTER, MASS., Oct. 11.—William E. Baker, sixty-two years old, a wholesale spice dealer, committed suicide by shooting on top of Newton hill in one of the public parks here, and the body was discovered last night by Isabel Goggins, a little girl who was hunting for chestnuts. Despondency over business reverses is given as the cause of his act.

Preston Lea For Governor.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 11.—The regular Republicans and the Union or Addicks Republicans last night agreed upon Preston Lea of this city as their candidate for governor in place of the men nominated by their respective conventions. The two factions will attempt to agree on the remainder of the state ticket tomorrow.

Watson at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Thomas E. Watson, nominee of the People's party for president, last night addressed an audience which filled Princess rink to overflowing. The policies of both the Republican and Democratic parties were scored bitterly by Mr. Watson, and his declarations were received with enthusiasm.

RUSSIANS ADVANCE.

Manchurian Army Has Compelled Japanese to Retreat.

COSSACKS BROKE ENEMY'S LINE.

Mikado Appeals to National Spirit to Persevere In the War—Great Battle Imminent Near Liaoyang.

The Russian army in Manchuria is advancing to the attack in two columns under the personal command of General Kuropatkin. The Japanese main force is reported to have fallen back thirty miles.

In a message to the nation the emperor of Japan says that prospects of success are still distant and appeals to the national spirit.

Tokyo reports that three Russian warships at Port Arthur have been sunk by the combined fire of Japanese land batteries and fleet.

GREAT BATTLE IMMINENT.

Kuropatkin Taking Offensive, Pushing Enemy Back on Liaoyang.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A dispatch from Mukden says that General Kuropatkin's advance to the southward has been pushed forward with much initial success. General Mischtschenko, with his Cossacks, penetrated to the rear of the Japanese lines, compelling the Japanese to abandon several positions.

It is reported that the Japanese have retreated to Liaoyang and that they have evacuated Toyanchan, Saimatse, the Fenshiu pass and Kwandyancyan.

Advices from St. Petersburg, dated this morning at 2:15, say that a battle upon which the fate of the campaign in Manchuria depends seems only a few days ahead. General Kuropatkin has cast the die at last, about faced his army and is marching resolutely against the enemy as if resolved to do or die.

According to unofficial reports, Field Marshal Oyama at the first sign of General Kuropatkin taking the offensive began drawing in his line and concentrating upon fortified positions north of Liaoyang. According to the latest reports from Mukden, the Japanese outposts are being driven in all along the line.

The strategy of the forward movement will be concealed, as were the preparations for the advance, so that all surmises as to where General Kuropatkin intends to strike are mere guesswork. It is not clear whether General Kuropatkin contemplates a blow on the left, center or right of the Japanese army, but the fact that stress is laid upon the capture of Bentsiaputze, which opens the road and fords to Bensihu, twenty miles east of Liaoyang, where General Kuroki crossed, and that Cossacks are already reported in the neighborhood of the stream might foreshadow an exact reversal of the battle of Liaoyang, this time the Russian commander flanking and turning Liaoyang with his left, as Field Marshal Oyama did with his right.

On the Stock Exchange Japanese bonds fell off one-half to a point.

A dispatch from General Sacharoff to the general staff confirms the news that Bentsiaputze has been occupied by the Russians.

Before the Russians took the offensive in Manchuria special prayers were offered in a field chapel at Mukden.

The service concluded with a sermon by the grand almoner, who, addressing General Kuropatkin, said:

"The old time warrior was told on departing for the field, 'Return with your shield or upon it.' But today I say to you, 'Go with the cross and in the faith of Christ.'"

A dispatch from Mukden says that the Japanese are giving up not only the positions they occupied after the battle of Liaoyang, but also those they took previous to that battle. Their left wing has within the last few days gone about thirty miles to the southward.

A Chefu report says that there has been no fighting of importance at Port Arthur since the last big assault on the fortress, Sept. 19 to Sept. 23.

The Japanese landed a force from Tache bay on Oct. 5th, and the Russians retired in the face of superior numbers. The next day, however, the Japanese were driven out by an artillery fire, one gun which they had mounted being destroyed.

The Japanese engage in bombardments for three or four hours daily.

The publication of the Port Arthur Novi Krai in its original form has been resumed.

A Shanghai report says Lieutenant General Stoessel has reported that unless he is relieved before December he must surrender.

Baltic Fleet Sails For Libau.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 11.—After the farewell review of the Baltic fleet at Reval by Emperor Nicholas, the squadron sailed for Libau, from whence it is declared it will within a few days weigh anchor for the long voyage to the Pacific. The emperor inspected the fleet and torpedo flotilla that is to accompany it to the far east. His majesty made a speech to the crews, thanking them for their past services to Russia. Great crowds lined the route, especially cheering the empress and the infant czarevitch.

Speculated on the Bourse.

VIENNA, Oct. 11.—Victor Taussig, senior partner in the firm of S. Taussig & Co. of Vienna, committed suicide here by shooting. His brother, Otto, also a member of the firm, has absconded, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest. The firm is insolvent, with liabilities of $300,000. The losses of the firm are attributed to speculations on the bourse.

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 11, 1904.

His name is Taggart, though some pronounce it laggard.

The Delaware brand of harmony which has been sighted is likely of the sort found in North Plainfield.

A Philadelphia girl has declined an Austrian baron for a plain American citizen. The lucky man is sure to get a sensible woman.

It is safe to say that Marse Henry Watterson will try something stronger than mint-julip to drown his sorrows unless Taggart and Hill put more life into the campaign.

The only difference between Bryan and Watson is that one is fighting from within and the other fighting from without the Democratic ranks, but both are using their oratorical ammunition on Judge Parker.

An automobile contest such as that conducted on Long Island is as dangerous and brutal as a six-days' bicycle race and the latter is as demoralizing and cruel as a prize fight. Except in the eyes of the law, there is little difference between the men who show such a disregard for their own lives and the lives of others by being parties to an automobile race and the thugs actively interested in slugging matches.

It is certainly pleasant to hear a representative Englishman say that he came to America to learn and not to teach. His Grace, the Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of All England, frankly declares that one of the principal objects of his visit to this country is to study its ideas, methods and institutions. America is thus afforded an opportunity to study a man who is willing to admit that all greatness is not confined within the British Isles.

R. Henry Depew favors The Daily Press today with his views concerning an important matter. Spite houses have been erected in this beautiful city and the public is naturally incensed over the gross outrage. Persons engaged in such rascality are not good citizens and Plainfield could well afford to get rid of them. But there is no way to drive out such objectionable residents and the only thing to do is for all the general public, interested in the welfare of their city, to combine together to fight these mean and contemptible schemers. Let him and other citizens issue a call for a public mass meeting for organization. Such a society could not only protect the city in this way but could also act as a town improvement committee.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward White will leave this week for Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Henry Trottner, of New street, visited his sister, Miss Bessie Trottner, at Yonkers, N. Y., on Sunday.

Mrs. Louis Hurtt, of West Front street, has been quite ill since the recent sudden death of her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Codington, of Sandford avenue, have returned from a visit with relatives at North Branch.

Mrs. John Dalton, of New Rochelle, N. Y., has returned after a visit with Mrs. Charles Ramsberger, of Essex street.

Miss Adelaide Howard, of Mercer avenue, sailed Saturday for Germany, where she will complete her musical education.

The Burglar Was Her Lover.

A hurry call from a house at Grant avenue and Eighth street sent the police patrol scampering to that corner last night to locate burglars supposed to be prowling about. After searching the premises Patrolman Overbaugh and Driver O'Gorman found a man sleeping on the side porch. When taken to the house he proved to be the "gentleman friend" of one of the servants who hysterically threw her arms about him and asked the police to "please go 'way without him." They did.

Medical Men to Meet.

WYCKOFF REUNION TO BE HELD TOMORROW

DESCENDANTS TO GATHER AT EAST FREEHOLD.

The descendants of Garrett Wikoff, or Wyckoff, who was born in 1704 and died in 1770, many of whom live in this city and the immediate vicinity, are to hold an informal gathering at his grave, which is upon the farm of Peter Wyckoff Conover, Wyckoff's Hill, East Freehold. The meeting is to take place tomorrow afternoon.

Garret Wikoff was the father of the Peter Wikoff who acted as Washington's guide at the battle of Monmouth. Although many of the name in Monmouth are not descended from Garret Wikoff, still his descendants number over a thousand. Besides his son Peter, another by his second wife was Col. Auke Wikoff of Revolutionary fame and service.

All the descendants are urged to be present. It is understood that in case of storm the meeting will be held the next fair day. Rev. Garret Wyckoff, of Holmdel, is interested in the movement, and will answer correspondence.

F. C. Horlich, of East Third street, is entertainingr elatives from Danbury, Conn.

P. H. S. BATTALION HOLDS ITS FIRST DRILL

MAJOR THOMPSON MAKES ANNOUNCEMENTS TO CADETS.

The first meeting and drill of the Plainfield High School Cadet Corps was held yesterday afternoon at the Company K armory, about eighty cadets turning out. The drill was in charge of the major of the battalion, Harry G. Thompson, who was assisted by Commandant James D. Macnab.

Before the companies were put through the initial steps in the drill, the Commandant made an address in which he outlined the work planned for the coming year. It was decided to hold the drill on Mondays at 3:15 o'clock at the armory. The question of uniforms is not as yet decided, but will be considered at a later date. Most of the officers however, will be in uniforms.

An officers' meeting followed the drill at which time Major Thompson addressed the officers, and urged their best efforts in the work of conducting the drill. He announced that there will be officers' meetings at the close of most of the drills in order to discuss the plans for the next week's work.

As far as the drill yesterday afternoon was concerned, each of the companies was in charge of its captain, Percy Brown commanding Company A, and Stuart Freeman commanding Company B. The cadets were only put through a few facings, by the company formation.

In most cases the officers in the two companies were the same as were stated in the list which was published in yesterday's issue of The Daily Press, though they are subject to changes as the result of the examinations which are to be taken by all those aspiring positions in the corps. In addition to the regular work in the New Jersey Drill Regulations, there is a possibility that a hospital corps and a bicycle squad may be formed under the auspices of the battalion. The organization of these two squads depends entirely upon the number of cadets who desire to join them. If an insufficent number of names is received the plan will be given up. Commandant Macnab has received considerable instruction in both these specialties, having been a member of a hospital corps for some time.

Last Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

There is no more popular resort for a Sunday than Mauch Chunk, and to reach it entails a delightful rail journey, and at Mauch Chunk there is a diversity of amusement, the chief of which is a ride over the Switchback. This journey occupies more than one hour, and leads over and around the mountains with widely changing scenes at every turn. The Switchback is a gravity road, and the speed attained is close to a mile per minute. Another feature is Flagstaff, the summit of which is reached by trolley, and from its pinnacle point there is a view extending over miles and miles of beautiful county. An interesting spot close at hand is Glen Onoko, a short distance above Mauch Chunk, and, as its name implies, is a beautiful glen, with falls, cataracts, mountain paths leading to cool and delightful places. On October 16, 1904, the New Jersey Central is to run a popular excursion to Mauch Chunk from Plainfield by special train, leaving at 9:20 a. m. Returning train will leave Mauch Chunk at 5:40 p. m., and the round trip will cost but $1.50. Frequent train service will be in effect between Mauch Chunk and Glen Onoko, and the trains on the Switchback run every few minutes. 10 11 5 c

City Is Badly Handicapped with Antiquated Laws—Suffering from Reign of Crime and Police Laxity.

Chicago.—Nothing has awakened even this breezy, bustling city so much within the last ten years as the fight for a new charter that is to be determined by the voters, not of the city alone, but of the entire state, at the coming election. Politicians of both parties are working hand in hand with the business and professional interests of the city to arouse the necessary enthusiasm in the subject throughout the state to get the voters outside the city to vote on the subject at the November election, for without these votes, or at least some 300,000 of them, the city will fail to achieve a cherished ambition; without them it must remain simply an overgrown village instead of that which it aspires to—a world metropolis.

Above all things else, a new charter means the means of raising money for permanent improvements, and Chicago needs them. The "pay as you go" principal under which the city is operated under present state laws is a handicap which keeps Chicago out of the metropolis class. Large sections of the city are without drainage, for the city has not the money to build the sewer systems that are required, and the people of the southern portion of the city, at least, must continue to make rafts out of their sidewalks to get to and from their water-surrounded homes until such time as the city has authority to issue improvement bonds.

Among other things for which Chicago needs money are new bridges if she is to maintain her supremacy as a lake port. Money for street car tunnels, if she is to satisfactorily solve the traction problem. Money for a permanent lighting plant for the city streets. These things Chicago must have if she is to become a metropolitan city such as will be a credit to the state. These things she cannot have without the new charter which she is now asking for, and which the voters of the state can give her without expense to the state by voting "yes" on the November ballot.

Some Postal Routes.

Among the many classes that suffer from Chicago's lack of civic improvements are the city postmen. The rural free delivery carriers of the country districts have no need to envy their city coworkers, or at least that portion of them that serve the outlying districts of Chicago.

In the spring and winter the neat gray uniforms so familiar in the business section of the city give place to hip boots and slickers in the southern sections that is as yet but little more than a swamp. Here it is that the postman, like the householder, must utilize the floating sidewalks as a means of making his rounds in the spring, and in the winter must plow through great drifts of snow and slush on unbroken roadways.

Equally as bad conditions exist on the North side, though not to so large an extent. One carrier there, with an eight mile route to cover, has been supplied with a horse and buckboard to enable him to get over the territory. It is a pleasant task in the bright days of summer, but for some eight months of the year it is a harder proposition than that of any rural carrier in the sections favored with rural delivery. Sidewalks or paved streets are unknown quantities, and in places there is no bottom to the mud. To get out of the buckboard is to invite disaster, and he throws the mail at the front door and blows a horn to announce his presence. Daniels, the carrier, is one of the oldest men in the service and is extremely popular with the people whom he serves. His experiences, including numerous rescues of his horse from untimely death in the mud, would make an interesting book, and he can tell more hard-weather stories than any other man in the postal service.

The Reign of Crime.

King Highwayman has held court in Chicago since early in the summer, and has ruled the city with a rod of iron, scorning the efforts of the police to drive him from a lucrative field, and becoming bolder in his operations with the passing of each day.

The reign of crime with which Chicago has been cursed for several weeks, and in fact months, is subsiding a little. What it has amounted to may be inferred from the fact that within a period of three weeks the newspapers reported 70 hold-ups, 14 people wounded and one murder in addition to more than 50 burglaries.

Chief of Police O'Neil gave two reasons for the reign of crime. He attributed a part of it to the West side street fair, which attracted great crowds to Madison street every evening and gave the thugs an opportunity for successful operations. His other reason was the packing house strike, which he said not only drew the criminal classes to the city, but necessitated the detailing of nearly one-third of the city police force to the stockyards, and so leaving the city at the mercy of the thugs.

But the street fair and the strike both passed into history and the hold-ups and robberies continued with unabated vigor until the business and professional interests of the city organized for public protection and forced action on the part of the police, and now Chicago is gradually recovering from its reign of terror.

The remarkable feature of the history of Chicago's criminal classes is the number of boy bandits the city has produced. Some of the most desperate thugs the police have brought to bay, as for example the car barn bandits and the slayers of Hans Peterson, were mere boys. They are the product of the caves and shanties constructed by boys as loafing places in the vast stretches of open territory within the city. These caves and shanties serve as reading rooms for yellow back literature; as drinking places, and are the primary schools for criminals. Ostensibly they are innocent playhouses of the boys, but in reality they are the breeding places of lawlessness and anarchy.

Police Laxity.

Police officials are prone to place the blame for lawlessness in the city to a lack of numbers in police officers, and it is undoubtedly true that Chicago needs a much larger police force if the public are to be given a metropolitan service. But it is doubtful of the tax-paying public will willingly stand for greater taxation in order that the police force be increased in numbers until those now in the city service show what can be done under proper and efficient police discipline.

The unbiased report of Capt. Piper, of New York, made to the City club a few months ago, showed much laxity in police discipline. It was pooh-poohed by the police officials, but the public at large and the newspapers accepted it at face value, and demanded a change which they did not get. Since that time the Daily News has never dropped the subject for a day. It has kept its newspaper sleuths continually on the track of the police department, and has day after day pointed out breaches of discipline and negligence in individual police officers. Taking, for example, an officer stationed at one of the downtown street intersections—a crossing policeman—whose duties called for his presence on that one street crossing all day. A News reporter watched him for eight hours and gave time and circumstances to account for his absence from his post of duty for nearly half of that time. During that time that particular officer patronized the back door of a nearby saloon and secured liquor not less than half a dozen times.

Reporters for the News have followed policemen from one end of the city to the other with like results, finding a laxity of discipline and a disregard of standing orders in every police district. The result is the public demand efficiency in a small force before its numbers are increased.

Nerve Wrecking Noises.

Experts have pronounced Chicago a city of nerve-wrecked people. A city commission that has investigated the subject among the children especially say that at least one in three are suffering from nervous disorders of one form or another, and noise is given as the greatest cause.

There is no other city in America, and probably none in the world, where noise is such a predominating feature of city life as in Chicago. There is no other city in the world with anything like an equal mileage of cable street railways, and as noise producers the cable lines are far ahead of electric lines. There are few cities in the world with a greater mileage of elevated railroads, and none where so great a number of trains invade so densely a populated business district as in Chicago. There is no other city in the world with so many trunk lines of railway entering it as Chicago, and these railways invade almost every section of the city, and the rumble of trains, the screech of the whistle and the clanging of bells are never stilled. There is no other city in the world with a greater number of manufacturing establishments in it than Chicago, and each of these contribute their full quota of noise.

When one has lived with the noises of Chicago for a few years, and has felt their effect upon the system, one can readily realize the truth of the commission's statement that the city is populated by a nerve wrecked people.

UP TO DATE MODES.

The New Autumn Petticoat—Some Smart Walking Suits.

The underskirt worn with a toilet has much to do with its general good effect. To be a success it must be faultlessly fitted, quite flat at the top and closely adjusted about the hips. A flare at the bottom is absolutely necessary to give the desired sweep to outside skirt, so the deep ruffle at the edge is elaborately trimmed with plaitings, quilling and tiny flounces. Plaitings are edged with lace on the dressy skirts, and on very elegant examples motifs of lace are applied with silk cut away to give an airy appearance.

Green and blue changeable taffeta silk underskirts will be very popular, elaborately trimmed with either blue or green velvet ribbon put on in several rows of different widths.

Very smart are the walking suits made of covert cloth, with skirt cut perfectly plain and the close fitting three-quarter coat strapped.

Boots in all styles, but particularly with very pointed toes and Cuban heels, are made of the new and popular shiny leather.

A novelty in gloves is of the gauntlet variety, worn with the gauntlet thrown down and lined with a contrasting colored kid—for instance, white if the body of the glove is black, and vice versa.

Shown in the cut is a stunning gown of black taffeta. Over the silk bloused corsage is a bertha effect carried out by means of alternate rows of cream cluny lace and puffings of taffeta. The lace forms the collar, and a strip goes down the front of the plaited yoke and also trims the puffed elbow sleeves. Above the full gathered skirt is a girdle of the silk fastened with looped bows of taffeta.

NEW STYLES IN BLOUSES.

Dainty Blouses For the Home—The Winter Evening Gown.

Pretty blouses are constructed of Russian lace insertion and bands of ribbon about two inches wide. The former is handmade and very strong and, while possessing certain distinctive features of its own, resembles both cluny and guipure.

These lace waists are mounted over a colored silk lining made full like the blouse itself. A dainty waist of this kind is worn over a slip of burnt orange, the girdle of soft taffeta combining several shades of yellow toning into the orange.

Among the newest examples of evening gowns is one carried out in a delicate shade of mauve taffeta with a little detached floral pattern in pale pink and green. It has a short train and a triangle panel front, adorned at intervals with knots of almond green velvet ribbon. The bodice is long and pointed, with two wide flounces of oriental lace at the decolletage, and the sleeves are composed of three full puffs to the elbow, while the whole is completed by watteau streamers of almond green velvet falling from the center of the back.

The blouse shown in the cut is created from a very soft cream cloth. The empiecement and high cuffs are made of embroidered tulle over white silk. The band of stitched cloth about the yoke and over the shoulders terminates in pendants of passementerie, which are ornamented with gold buttons. A trimming of white and green cord on the collar makes a pretty finish.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Mississippi Bubble

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

(Copyright, 1902, by Emerson Hough.)

In two minutes she was sobbing alone, her face down upon the bed. In five she was at the door, dressed, cloaked, smiling sweetly and ready for the journey. And thus it was that, of two women who loved John Law, that one fared on to see him for whom he had not sent.

CHAPTER XIII.

PRISONERS.

They passed through the heavy gates, down a narrow and heavy-aired passage, and finally into a naked room. It was here, in such somber surroundings, that Mary Connynge saw again the man whose image had been graven on her heart ever since that morn at Sadler's Wells. How her heart coveted him, how her blood leaped for him—these things the Mary Connynges of the world can tell, they who own the primeval heart of womankind.

When John Law himself at length entered the room, he stepped forward at first confidently, eagerly, though with surprise upon his face. Then, with a sudden hesitation, he looked sharply at the figure which he saw awaiting him in the dingy room. His breath came sharp, and ended in a sigh. For a half moment his face flushed, his brow showed question and annoyance. Yet rapidly, after his fashion, he mastered himself.

"Will," said he, calmly, to his brother, "kindly ask the coachman to wait for this lady."

He stood for a moment gazing after the form of his brother as it disappeared in the outer shadows.

"Madam," said John Law, in deep and vibrant tone, "you will pardon me if I say that it gives me surprise to see you here."

"Yes; I have come," said the girl, not logically.

"You bring, perhaps, some message?"

"I—I brought a message."

"It is from the Lady Catharine?"

"I came from the Lady Catherine," said Mary Connynge, slowly, "but I bring no message from her of the sort which perhaps you wished." It was a desperate, reckless lie, a lie almost certain of detection; yet it was the only resource of the moment, and a moment later it was too late to recall. One lie must now follow another, and all must make a deadly coil.

"Madam, I am sorry," said John Law, quietly, yet his face twitched sharply at the impact of these cutting words. "Did you know of my letter to her?"

"Am I not here?" said Mary Connynge.

"True, and I thank you deeply. But how, why—pray you, understand that I would be set right. I would not undergo more than is necessary. Will you not explain?"

"There is but little to explain—little, though it may mean much. It must be private. Your brother—he must never know. Promise me not to speak to him of this."

"This means much to me, I doubt not, my dear lady," said John Law. "I trust I may keep my counsel in a matter which comes so close to me."

"Yes, truly," replied Mary Connynge, "if you had set your heart upon a kindly answer."

"What! You mean, then, that she—"

"Do you promise?"

"I promise," he cried. "And now, tell me what answer had the Lady Catharine Knollys."

"She declined to answer," said Mary Connynge, slowly and evenly. "Declined to come. She said that she was ill enough pleased to hear of your brawling. Said that she doubted not the law would punish you, nor doubted that the law was just."

John Law half whirled upon his heel, smote his hands together and laughed loud and bitterly.

"Madam," said he, "I had never thought to say it to a woman, but in very justice I must tell you that I see quite through this shallow falsehood."

"Sir," said Mary Connynge, her hands clutching at the arms of her chair, "this is unusual speech to a lady!"

"But your story, madam, is most unusual."

"Tell me, then, why should I be here?" burst out the girl. "What is it to me? Why should I care what the Lady Catharine says or does? Why should I risk my own name to come of this errand in the night? Now let me pass, for I shall leave you."

The swift jealous rage of Mary Connynge was unpremediated, yet nothing had better served her real purpose. The stubborn nature of Law was ever ready for a challenge. He caught her arm, and placed her not unkindly upon the chair.

"By heaven, I half believe what you say is true!" said he, as though to himself.

"Yet you just said 'twas false," said the girl, her eyes flashing.

"I meant that what you said is true, and hence the first also must be believed. Then you saw my message?"

"I did, since it so fell out."

"But you did not read the real message. I asked no aid of any one for my escape. I but asked her to come. In sheer truth, I wished but to see her."

"And by what right could you expect that?"

"I asked her as my affianced wife," replied John Law.

Mary Connynge arose an inch taller, as she sprang to her feet in sudden scorn and bitterness.

"Your affianced wife!" cried she. "What! So soon! Oh, rare indeed must be my opinion of this Lady Catharine!"

"It was never my way to waste time on a journey," said John Law, coolly.

"Your wife, your affianced wife?"

"As I said."

"Yes," cried Mary Connynge, bitterly, and again, unconsciously and in sheer anger, failing upon that course which best served her purpose. "And what manner of affianced wife is it would forsake her lover at the first breath of trouble? My God! 'tis then, it seems to me, a woman would most swiftly fly to the man she loved."

John Law turned slowly toward her, his eyes scanning her closely from top to toe, noting the heaving of her bosom, the sparkling of her gold-colored eye, now darkened and half ready to dissolve in tears. He stood as though he were a judge, weighing the evidence before him, calmly, dispassionately.

"Would you do so much as that, Mary Connynge?" asked John Law.

"I, sir?" she replied. "Then why am I here to-night myself? But, God pity me, what have I said? There is nothing but misfortune in all my life!"

It was one rebellious, unsubdued nature speaking to another, and of the two each was now having its own sharp suffering. The instant of doubt is the time of danger. Then comes revulsion, bitterness, despair, folly. John Law trod a step nearer.

"By God! madam," cried he, "I would I might believe you. I would I might believe that you, that any woman, would come to me at such a time! But tell me—and I bethink me my message was not addressed, was even unsigned—whom then may I trust? If this woman scorns my call at such a time, tell me, whom shall I hold faithful? Who would come to me at any time, in any case, in my trouble? Suppose my message were to you?"

Mary Connynge stirred softly under her deep cloak. Her head was lifted slightly, the curve of cheek and chin showing in the light that fell from the little lamp. The masses of her dark hair lay piled about her face, tumbled by the sweeping of her hood. Her eyes showed tremulously soft and deep now as he looked into them. Her little hands half twitched a trifle from her lap and reached forward and upward. Primitive she might have been, wicked she was, sinfully sweet; and yet she was woman. It was with the voice of tears that she spoke, if one might claim vocalization for her speech.

"Have I not come?" whispered she.

"By God! Mary Connynge, yes, you have come!" cried Law. And though there was heartbreak in his voice, it sounded sweet to the ear of her who heard it, and who now reached up her arms about his neck.

"Ah, John Law," said Mary Connynge, "when a woman loves—when a woman loves, she stops at nothing!"

CHAPTER XIV.

IF THERE WERE NEED.

Time wore on in the ancient capital of England. The tramp of troops echoed in the streets, and the fleets of Britain made ready to carry her sons over the seas for wars and for adventures. The intrigues of party against party, of church against church, of parliament against king; the loves, the hates, the ambitions, the desires of all the city's hurrying thousands went on as ever. Who, then, should remember a single prisoner, waiting within the walls of England's jail? The hours wore on slowly enough for that prisoner. He had faced a jury of his peers and was condemned to face the gallows. Meantime he had said farewell to love and hope and faithfulness, even as he bade farewell to life. "Since she has forsaken me whom I thought faithful," said he to himself, "why, let it end, for life is a mockery I would not live out." And thenceforth, haggard but laughing, pale but with unbroken courage, he trod on his way through his few remaining days, the wonder of those who saw him.

As for Mary Connynge, surely she had matters enough which were best kept secret in her own soul. While Lady Catharine was hoping, and praying, and dreaming and believing, even as the roses left her cheek and the hollows fell beneath her eyes she saw about her in the daily walks of life Mary Connynge, sleek and rounded as ever. They sat at table together, and neither did the one make sign to the other of her own anxiety, nor did that other give sign of her own treachery. Mary Connynge, false guest, false friend, false woman, deceived so perfectly that she left no indication of deceit. She herself knew, and blindly satisfied herself with the knowledge, that she alone now came close into the life of "Beau" Law, the convict; "Jessamy" Law, the student, the financier, the thinker; John Law, her lord and master. Herein she found the sole compensation possible in her savage nature. She had found the master whom she sought!

Into the heart of Catharine Knollys there came no mere mad selfishness of desire, yearn though she did in every fiber of her being since that first time she felt the mastering kiss of love. There was born in her soul emotion of a higher sort. The Lady Catharine Knollys prayed, and her prayer was not that her lover should die, but that he might live; that he might be free.

Nor was this hope left to wither unnourished in the mind of the high-bred and courageous English girl. Alone, with no confidant to counsel her, with no woman friend to aid her, the Lady Catharine Knollys backed her own hopes and wishes with resource and energy. There came a time, perilously late, when a faint rose showed once more in her cheek, long so worn, a faintly brighter light glowed in her deep eye.

When Sir Arthur Pembroke received a message from the Lady Catharine Knollys advising him that the latter would receive him at her home, it was left for the impulses, the hopes, the imaginings of that modest young nobleman to establish a reason for the message. Puzzling all along his rapid way in answer to the summons, Sir Arthur found the answer which best suited his hopes in the faint flush, the brightened eye of the young woman who received him.

"Lady Catharine," he began, impetuously, "I have come, and let me hope that 'tis at last to have my answer. I have waited—each moment has been a year that I have spent away from you."

"Now, that is very pretty said."

"But I am serious."

"And that is why I do not like you."

"But, Lady Catharine!"

"I should like it better did you but continue as in the past. We have met on the Row, at the routs and drums, in the country; and always I have felt free to ask any favor of Sir Arthur Pembroke. Why could it not be always thus?"

An Ideal Location

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

CLEVELAND WILL PRESIDE.

Ex-President Has Consented to Attend Important Assembly Oct. 21.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The following official announcement of Grover Cleveland's appearance at a political meeting in this city has been made at Democratic national headquarters:

"The Business Men's Parker and Davis association, whose membership is drawn from the leading business men of New York, have arranged to hold a mass meeting in Carnegie hall on Oct. 21. Ex-President Grover Cleveland has so far overcome his disinclination to make a speech during the canvass that he has consented to preside at this meeting. It is, however, fully understood both by the national committee and by his friends that this appearance of the ex-president will be the only one he will make as a speaker during the campaign. The principal speech of the evening will be delivered by ex-Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, and it is expected that this meeting will be the most important one held by any party in New York during the pending campaign."

"If Moses Will Only Lead."

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Oct. 11.—William J. Bryan addressed a large outdoor meeting in Elm park. Having been introduced as "the man who would some day be president of the United States," Mr. Bryan said that he used to think he would be president and that he was the Moses of the Democratic party. "But I don't think so now," he said. "Moses, you know, was slow of speech, and the Lord selected Aaron as his speechmaker. I believe that I am the Aaron rather than the Moses of Democracy. I am willing to be the Aaron of the party if our Moses, who has been so slow of speech, will but lead the people out of the wilderness."

Canadian Arctic Steamer Disabled.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 11.—Fishing vessels returning from Labrador report having sighted a strange steamer, which appeared like a sealer, off Davis inlet last Tuesday. The steamer was apparently disabled. It is believed that she is the Canadian cruiser Arctic (formerly the Gauss) bound for Hudson bay and that her engines are out of order. The cruiser Arctic was dispatched early this year by the Canadian government to proceed to the north, annex a number of Arctic islands for the British crown and then attempt to reach the north pole. She is commanded by Captain Bernier.

A Hundred Workmen Buried.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 11.—One hundred workmen were buried by the fall of walls in course of erection for an extension of the Casa Pra stores in this city. Up to the present fifteen corpses and forty wounded have been removed from the ruins. The fire brigade has been called out to assist in the removal of the dead and wounded. The walls, which were constructed of iron and cement, had reached a height of four stories. There is much indignation against the architect who planned and had charge of the work.

French Admiral at Y. M. C. A.

QUICK-WITTED FIREMAN PREVENTS A FATALITY

PUSHES YOUNG MAN OUT OF ENGINE'S PATH IN THE NICK OF TIME.

Presence of mind on the part of Anson Henry, fireman on a Dunellen local passenger train, saved the life of Michael Eganey, a railroad employe, at Dunellen, last evening. The latter started across the tracks opposite the station to get the mail from the 6:30 east-bound express just as Henry's train swung in on another track. The fireman was standing on the cow-catcher and seeing the young man's peril, leaned over and knocked him backward out of harm's way. He escaped with a few bruises about the chest and a badly sprained ankle where a projection on the engine struck him.

Eganey is the son of Mrs. Mathias Eganey, who formerly resided on West Fourth street, this city. Henry's act was witnessed by a score of people and other trainmen nearby applauded.

CO. K MAY BE IN THE INAUGURATION PARADE

MILITARY BOYS ALSO PLAN TO HOLD A FAIR.

The members of Company K received the welcome news at the first fall drill last night, that they may be chosen to attend the next Presidential inauguration at Washington. Captain Martin announced that it is his desire to take the company to the National Capitol on March 4, and if it is possible the local company will go.

Being the first drill for some time, there was much to be considered at the business meeting. Captain Martin presided, and appointed a committee of fifteen men to consider the matter of holding a fair. The chairman will be Captain Martin, the commissioned officers serving also on the committee. There is some possibility that the fair will extend over ten or twelve days, though this has not been definitely decided upon.

Ten applications for membership in the company were received and turned over to the recruiting committee. They will be acted upon in the near future. Private James Conklin was elected corporal to fill the place of Corporal Stover, who has removed from the State. Corporal Tranchand was appointed secretary in place of Corporal Harsel, who has also removed from the State.

Considering the fact that the men were entirely ignorant of the new regulations by which the company will be drilled, they took hold of the work surprisingly well, and the initial drill for the fall was encouraging. There are a number of changes in the new drill regulations recently adopted by the Regular Army, which were puzzling at first, but the difficulties will soon be overcome.

INSPECTING RURAL DELIVERY ROUTE, NO. 3

POSTMASTER BIRD AND DEPARTMENT MAN GOING OVER TERRITORY TODAY.

Arthur Nichols, route inspector for the Rural Free Delivery Postal system, together with Postmaster Elias H. Bird, are today making a tour of inspection fo the proposed new route number three, petitioned for by residents of Union Village, Smalleytown, Gallia and towns adjoining. Several months ago a petition was sent to Washington asking that the free delivery system be extended to that part of Somerset county, the present method of receiving and sending out mail being very unsatisfactory.

It took the postal authorities some time to reach the petition, but now that it has been taken up, the residents believe that the route will be adopted and an improved mail service given.

Route number three will start at Watchung and extend a total distance of twenty-two miles, including Union Village, Smalleytown, Gallia, returning over Styles' Hill to Watchung. The tour of inspection today is for the purpose of obtaining data such as the number of houses and residents in that section, so that an intelligent report can be presented to the postal authorities. There seems to be but little doubt but that Mr. Nichols will recommend the adoption of the route and that within a short time it will be in operation. It is understood that the postal officials are much pleased with the work of the other routes in this vicinity.

BOROUGH OFFICIALS WILL AGAIN BE ENTERTAINED

MAYOR AND COUNCIL TO BE GUESTS OF CHIEF WEISS.

Following the example of the fire department which sought to express its appreciation to the North Plainfield officials by tendering them a supper, the borough police department will be host Friday night for Mayor Smalley and the Borough Council. In reality it will be Chief Marshal Weiss' affair but he will be assisted by the members of his department and all the special officers. The chief has felt grateful to the "powers that be" for the new station and headquarters placed at his disposal and he hit upon the idea of a supper to formally present his compliments.

The upper main room in the new station will be utilized for the purpose and the "spread" will be complete in every detail. It will include several first-class courses and with its completion, cigars will be passed to be smoked while vocal and instrumental music and addresses come to the fore. The invitations have been issued and all the officials have promised to attend.

BRICK STORAGE.

Building Being Erected on Mountain Avenue for That Purpose.

E. L. & J. Hand, of Mountain avenue, brick manufacturers, have commenced the erection of a brick building on the above avenue, 40x150, to be used for the storage of clay during the winter and rainy weather and for drying the newly-made bricks by running them on wire belting over steam pipes in this new building.

The firm lost 150,000 bricks by being "washed" in a recent heavy rain storm. The firm proposes to run its brick-making plant about eight months in the year, instead of five as at present. The plant will have a capacity of 20,000 bricks a day when the new machinery is installed and the firm will be able to dry the daily output in about twelve hours by the steam pipe system.

MISSIONARY TALKS OF WORK IN PERSIA

MISS ANNA SCHENCK AT CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

Recently returned from the foreign fields of Persia, Miss Anna Schenck made a very interesting talk at the meeting of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. The occasion was the regular October meeting of the society, and it was attended also by members of the First Presbyterian Society.

The subject of the afternoon was "Persia," Miss Schenck's address following the devotional exercises which were led by Mrs. Noble King. Mrs. Samuel Milligan presided at the meeting. The subject of the afternoon was treated in a very interesting manner, Miss Schenck speaking at some length of the physical condition of the country, and its corresponding effects upon the religious conditions.

The speaker cited many instances where great suffering had been caused by the rulers, both among the Mohammedan and Armenian converts, and among the missionaries. In concluding her remarks, Miss Schenck stated that the field of Persia is entirely a Presbyterian field, and no other missionaries are at work there. She brought out the great need of more missionaries in that section, though her statistics showed that a great deal had been done by the few which are in Persia.

An informal tea followed the regular meeting. The affair was in charge of the Crescent Avenue society.

Maude Howe's Roma Beata.

Maude Howe, of Boston, a sister of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue, has drawn from her personal observations during several summers spent in Rome and its neighborhood, a charming picture of Italy and its people, which will be published this fall by Little, Brown & Co., under the title of "Roma Beata." The book will be illustrated by photographs and drawings by the artist, John Elliott, the husband of the writer.

EAGLES HAVE A BIG TIME

Institution of Plainfield Aerie, F. O. E., Largest Fraternal Gathering in Years.

500 MEN IN PARADE

Programme Concludes With Banquet and Speeches—New Organization Starts With 110 Members—The Various Committees.

Amid a blaze of oratory, music and red fire, Plainfield Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, became a reality last evening and started on its career with a membership of 110. The programme as announced was carried out to the latter but it was 3 o'clock this morning before the last speech was made and the birds from other climes flew back to their nests. The public side of the institution was one of the most spectacular that has yet taken place in the city and thousands of people viewed the fireworks and parade. In every way it was a decided success and it is doubtful if any local fraternal order started off more auspiciously.

Eagles began gathering in the city early in the day and at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the work of institution and installation of officers began at Eagle Hall on West Second street. State Deputy John Fury and staff, of Camden, were in charge and their duties were discharged in a commendable manner. It was after 9 o'clock before this part of the affair was concluded and it was immediately followed by the street parade.

In all 500 men were in line, the delegations present representing aeries at New York, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Bayonne, Paterson, Trenton and Camden. Patrick J. Reville, chairman of the reception committee, of Plainfield Aerie, acted as marshal and led the procession. Music was furnished by James' full band, of Elizabeth, and the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, of this city. Two automobiles were in the front division, carrying Lewis Coombs, of Garwood, and a party of friends, and Charles E. Burtis, of Westfield, with well known Westfield and Elizabeth Eagles. "Georgie" Carroll, of Elizabeth, smiled beamingly on the crowds from his seat in a small cart, hauled by his trick donkey, "Maude." He made good progress despite interference of small boys until an enthusiast set "Maude's" coat afire with a skyrocket and she laid down on Liberty street. The parade went on leaving Carroll behind but both he and "Maude" showed up at the finish. Another feature of the procession was the initiatory team of the Elizabeth aerie in full uniform, escorting their trained goat, "Nanny deHarlem," on which the new members had to ride their way to the pinnacle of Eagledom.

Owing to the lateness of the hour at which the parade was concluded, only a small number of the new aerie were initiated, the remainder taking the obligation in unison. At 1 o'clock the banquet began in Eagle Hall and while it was in progress, speeches and songs were given. Among those who spoke were Worthy President Burke, of Elizabeth aerie, Worthy Physician Burnett, of Elizabeth aerie and the new officers of the local aerie. Songs were contributed by "Georgie" Carroll, Hugo Maul and James Kermode, the latter two of Plainfield, and choruses by the entire gathering. A brief history of Eagledom was related by Edwin Galbraith, of this city, who is a member of Hoboken aerie and who is the pioneer Eagle in Union County.

John W. Fitzgerald, private secretary to State Deputy Furey, was also present and made an address.

The committees which had charge of the entire programme were subservient to the reception committee composed as follows: Patrick J. Reville, chairman; John Butler, David Angerbauer and Daniel Shea Rudolph Schempf, who is practically the father of Plainfield aerie, was active everywhere and assistance was lent by all his fellow members. The decorations throughout the business district were elaborate and many places had displays of fireworks in addition to those provided by the aerie.

RELIEF ASS'N ELECTION

Mrs. J. K. Myers Again Selected President of Organization.

A YEAR'S GOOD WORK

Receipts for Twelve Months $2,167.26—The New Officers.

Officers were elected and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Plainfield Relief Association, held at the rooms this morning. Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, who has served the association as secretary for several years, resigned, and Miss Grace Pierson, of Watchung avenue, was elected in her place. Mrs. Francis DeLacey Hyde was added to the Board of Managers. These officers were chosen for the coming year:

President, Mrs. J. K. Myers; vice president, Mrs. C. E. Ryder; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Lapsley; secretary, Miss Grace Pierson; executive committee—Miss Mary Eleanor Tweedy, Mrs. Samuel Huntington, Mrs. Leander N. Lovell, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Lindsey Best, Mrs. H. M. Maxson; advisory board—E. B. Clark, H. P. Reynolds, E. R. Ackerman, Mason W. Tyler, C. W. McCutchen, J. M. Whiton; auditors—Mason W. Tyler and D. H. Rowland. The Board of Managers, comprising twenty-five women, is the same as last year, with the addition of Mrs. Francis DeLacey Hyde.

In the reports presented it was shown that seventy-nine families received aid during the year, including the following nationalities: Americans, twenty-eight; colored, twenty-seven; Irish, nineteen; German, two; Pole, two; Italian, one. The report of the employment bureau shows that twenty-eight persons were helped gratuitously. There were 526 garments cut and eighty-four hats trimmed. Forty men were employed in the wood-yard. The sewing class met every Friday afternoon from January to April, with an average attendance of seven. The treasurer's report shows receipts of $2,167.20 and the disbursements to be $2,123.56.

An appeal is made for additional assistance in the maintenance of the wood-yard. This has been found an excellent means of keeping certain men employed and the association ask for increased patronage so that a new shed can be built.

MRS. LEE'S STEPSON DROWNED IN NEW MEXICO

SECOND COUSIN TO FAMOUS GENERAL LOSES HIS LIFE.

Mrs. Bessie Lee, of East Ninth street, daughter of Rev. William H. Neilson, received a telegram yesterday day informing her of the death by drowning of her stepson, A. N. Lee, at Carlsbad, New Mexico. Mr. Lee, who is about twenty-two years of age, had been at Carlsbad since last May and he was formulating plans for locating in that part of the country permanently. No particulars have as yet been received as to how the accident occurred or in what waters the young man drowned. In speaking of the affair today, Mr. Neilson remarked that the accident is quite a mystery to the family as Mr. Lee was an expert swimmer.

Mr. Lee was the son of Edmund J. Lee, of West Virginia, and a second cousin to Robert E. Lee, of the Confederacy. Prior to going to Carlsbad, he spent some time in this city.

HUNT CLUB ORGANIZED

George P. Mellick Presided at Meeting Last Night.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

L. E. Waring Selected as President—Encouraging Outlook for the Club.

The Watchung Hunt Club effected permanent organization at the meeting in the Casino last evening, electing officers and adopted the by-laws of the club. George P. Mellick presided and S. A. Cruikshank acted as secretary. The first business of the meeting was the adoption of by-laws presented to the club by a committee consisting of G. P. Mellick, S. A. Cruikshank, and Dr. Knott. The laws were read by the secretary and approved.

At the meeting of the stewards the following officers were elected: President, L. E. Waring; vice president, Charles M. Freeman; secretary, S. A. Cruikshank; treasurer, G. S. Ring; master of hounds, Dr. M. O'M. Knott. After a general outline of the plans for the future was drawn up, the stewards adjourned.

Following the adoption of the by-laws, a Board of seven stewards was appointed to meet at the close of the meeting, and elect the officers of the club. The following were chosen on the Board of Stewards: L. E. Waring, Charles M. Freeman, S. A. Cruikshank, George S. Ring, George P. Mellick, H. A. Bourand and Dr. Knott. A general discussion followed the appointment of the stewards at which the time and place for the various hunts was considered.

The next hunt will take place Saturday, starting from New Market. The dues set by the temporary organization were enforced by the stewards, a charge of $15 being made for yearly membership. The dues of women will be $10. After the membership has reached one hundred, an initiation fee of $15 will be charged.

There are at present forty regular members of the club, and about twenty-five applications await the consideration of the Board. There are ten women in the organization. In accordance with the custom of regularly organized hunt clubs, the Watchung Club will claim Middlesex County for their hunts. A committee of which C. E. S. Bellows is chairman was appointed to solicit the good will of the farmers, and to pay for all damage done to property. Before the regular meeting adjourned, C. E. S. Bellows and R. A. Shebbeare were appointed whips.

The list of challengers from various parts of Union county was presented at the meeting of the Republican County Committee, held in Elizabeth, last night, and the list of the various mass meetings to be held in the county before election was completed, as far as possible. It was announced that there would be a monster mass meeting in Elizabeth on Saturday, night, November 5, for the colored voters. Speakers of prominence will be present on that occasion.

Those present at the meeting from Plainfield were Frank H. Smith, William Newcorn, James Morrison and Jame F. Buckle.

Plainfield Golfers' Showing.

The Atlantic City Daily Press, of Saturday, has the following item of interest to Plainfielders: "Arthur Peterson and Roger F. Murray came in 1 up in the first 18 holes of a foursome with B. C. Tillinghart and Walter Peterson, on the Northfield Golf Club course on Friday, but the latter pair retaliated in the last 18 holes, making the match all even.

FRACTURED HIS SKULL; RELATIVES CAN'T EXPLAIN

DANIEL F. DUGAN MYSTERIOUSLY MEETS WITH SERIOUS MISHAP.

Daniel F. Dugan, the well-known real estate dealer, lies at his home on East Seventh street, with a fractured skull and other injuries received some time early this morning in a manner not yet known to his relatives. He was brought to his residence by two men, then in an unconscious condition, both of whom went away as soon as he was in the house. Dr. Boone was called and on examination the physician found that his condition was serious but it has since improved.

Mrs. Dugan said that her husband had been in New York last evening and returned on the 1:17 train. She declared that he had not been hurt while in the metropolis as he was seen to get off the train and was then all right. She denied knowing who the men were who had brought him home or in what way he met with the severe injury. Dugan recovered consciousness before noon but as yet is in no condition to relate what happened to him.

No official report of the accident was made at police headquarters, but when word of it came late in the morning Acting Chief Frederickson ordered an investigation to be made. As yet nothing definite has been learned but in the estimation of the police Dugan fell and struck a flag sidewalk or some projection.

Large Classes at Y. M. C. A.

The classes in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this year are the largest which have been on the floor for many years. This fact is gratifying to the board of directors as well as the new physical director, Mr. Henckel. The increase in membership will enable the board to make many important improvements which have been needed for some time. The business men's class is especially large, while in the boys' and intermediate departments, the enrollment is an increase on former years.

Driver Pitched Out.

Turning the corner too sharply at Sixth and Division streets, yesterday, Richard Edmondson, driver for J. O. Storm, was pitched from his seat in the wagon. He landed on his head and for the time being was rendered semi-conscious. Onlookers picked him up and he recovered in a short time. The horse was caught after going a block.

"WEE WILLIE" KEELER WILL CAPTAIN THE P. A. C.'S

THE FAVORITE PLAYER OF CRESCENT DAYS TO SHINE IN BIG GAME.

"Wee Willie" Keeler, the brilliant fielder and batter of the New York Americans, will captain the team that is to meet the New York Nationals on Crescent Oval on Saturday. His many friends here who remember his performances in 1892 when he was commencing a baseball career destined to be a remarkable one, will be glad of the opportunity to see this popular player on a local diamond again. There was never a more popular player than Keeler in the old days.

It was Manager Johnston's idea to have an American League battery in the points, and this may be accomplished yet, but the chances are that Louis Wiltse and Farmer will be on the firing line. Many argue that the Baltimorean is as strong as his brother, George, who is with the New York Nationals, and that he can hold the Nationals down. With such work as Farmer performed last Saturday, he should be able to handle the receiving end all right.

With Robertson on first, Williams on second, Elberfield at short and Conroy on third, and Keeler, Dougherty and Oregan in the field, there should be a team easily capable of doing themselves credit against the Nationals.

The contest will be called at 3:15 and those wanting good seats should arrange to be at the oval early. There will be special trolley car service, the Public Service Corporation having promised to take care of the crowd wanting to attend the game.

SUPPORTING A. B. PARKER

Independent Republicans and Independent Democrats Join Forces Here.

G. S. CLAY, PRESIDENT

Organization Meeting Takes Place at the Casino—The Officers Selected—The Club Starts With a Membership of Twenty-Five.

Influential citizens, mostly New York commuters, many of whom are life-long Republicans, met at the Casino last night and organized the Parker Independent Club. The club has a membership of twenty-five but the character of the men speak more than numbers, for they are of a type of Plainfield's best citizens. A permanent organization was formed and an energetic campaign will be waged in this city solely for the Democratic National ticket.

George S. Clay, of Watchung avenue, a New York lawyer and private secretary to Judge Dillon, called the meeting to order. He is known as a Republican. After Mr. Clay, who is a vestryman of Grace Episcopal church, had stated the object of the meeting, Judd Stewart, of Willow avenue, auditor of the American Smelting Company, of New York, was chosen temporary secretary. Mr. Clay told of the movement in New York and other large cities to organize Parker Constitutional Clubs among lawyers and Parker Independent Clubs among professional and business men generally. He declared that Mr. Parker stood upon a platform pledged to constitutional government and that the man himself represented the best type of American citizenship.

These officers were chosen: President, George S. Clay; vice presidents, Isaac L. Miller and Samuel Huntington; secretary, Deusen M. VanVleet; treasurer, John O. Stevens. Both Mr. Miller and Mr. Huntington are New York lawyers. The former is classed as an independent Republican and the latter is also an independent Republican. Mr. Stevens is secretary of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, of New York. Mr VanVleet is a retired member of the New York Produce Exchange. He is said to be an independent Republican. As members of a general committee these were appointed: R. B. Strong, Hugh F. Fox, George S. Whitlock and D. M. VanVleet. Mr. Strong is a New York lawyer and Mr. Fox a New York merchant. Mr. Strong and Judd Stewart, the temporary secretary, are Republicans, as is also W. T. Pellettier, who was among the assemblage.

Meetings will be held at the Casino every Tuesday night and the members have pledged themselves to use their influence in increasing the numerical strength of the organization. It is said that one of the plans of their campaign is to spread broadcast throughout the city political literature bearing on the present issue, which they take to be the preservation of the Constitution. The membership consists of Republicans, independent Republicans, independents and independent Democrats.

WARM WEATHER.

Thermometer Twenty-Six Degrees Higher Yesterday Than October 11 a Year Ago.

Tuesday, October 11, 1904, will pass into local history as quite a warm day. Early in the morning there was a rainbow, during the continuance of a light rain, but this had nothing to do with the warmth. The rainbow was as much of a surprise as the heat.

At noon the thermometer registered 82 degrees above zero, which is unusually high for this season. Many people who had been spending the summer at Ocean Grove or other resorts, were anxious to put on summer clothing again and make a bee line for the sea shore. Wiser counsel prevailed, however, as the local weather prophet said the warm spell would not last long, and that overcoats would be needed before many hours. A year ago the thermometer reached 56 degrees above zero.

Many a man's appetite and digestion has been ruined by dining at a place where any old thing is placed before him under the name of a lunch. Established for many years at 155 North avenue, E. H. Clevely makes a specialty of lunch, the proper sort, that makes people feel at ease with themselves and all the world. Private dining room for women.

We like to talk about cigars because it always reminds us of the fact that J. P. Kirch, at his North avenue store, handles all the best grades of fives, tens and higher. For this week he is making very special drives on the following brands: Manuel Garcia Alonso, La Carolina, La Vencedora, Cabanas, El Principe de Gales, Regensburg's American and Jules Verne.

If you have not seen the stylish clothes for men and boys at M. Weinberger's clothing store on West Front street, you have no idea what values are offered in fall and winter clothing. They are all of the latest pattern, best make and lowest prices. The custom department is in charge of an experienced man who can make clothes to suit the most particular, if you do not care to buy ready-made clothing.

See the advertisement of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in Monday's paper. They are increasing their offers in trading stamps weekly and their prices are reducing accordingly. Ten stamps are given with about twenty cents worth of goods, and at the same time you get a remarkably low price on teas, coffees, butter, baking powder, raisins, currants, dates, figs, plums, and other such groceries.

Last Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

There is no more popular resort for a Sunday than Mauch Chunk, and to reach it entails a delightful rail journey, and at Mauch Chunk there is a diversity of amusement, the chief of which is a ride over the Switchback. This journey occupies more than one hour, and leads over and around the mountains with widely changing scenes at every turn. The Switchback is a gravity road, and the speed attained is close to a mile per minute. Another feature is Flagstaff, the summit of which is reached by trolley, and from its pinnacle point there is a view extending over miles and miles of beautiful county. An interesting spot close at hand is Glen Onoko, a short distance above Mauch Chunk, and, as its name implies, is a beautiful glen, with falls, cataracts, mountain paths leading to cool and delightful places. On October 16, 1904, the New Jersey Central is to run a popular excursion to Mauch Chunk from Plainfield by special train, leaving at 9:20 a. m. Returning train will leave Mauch Chunk at 5:40 p. m., and the round trip will cost but $1.50. Frequent train service will be in effect between Mauch Chunk and Glen Onoko, and the trains on the Switchback run every few minutes. 10 11 5 c

WHAT THE PRESS HAS TO SAY OF "FARMER-ORATOR."

As indicated in our last issue and more fully reported in another place, our old friend, James E. Martine, of Plainfield, was nominated last Thursday afternoon, by the Democrats of the Fifth District, in convention assembled, at Elizabeth, as their candidate for Congressman. It is not necessary, especially in Union county, to tell the people who the candidate is, as he is known, not only hereabouts, but the country over, as a man of sterling character, honest and honorable in his convictions, loyal to the party of his choice under all circumstances, an eloquent and forcible speaker, and a man who would make an able representative in Congress. Unlike his opponent, he would not remain away from his post of duty to attend to his private speculations, seldom answering to roll call, as was the case with Mr. Fowler especially during his present term. Mr. Martine has repeatedly taken the nomination of his party for office in the past—Assemblyman, Senator, etc., and led "a forlorn hope," giving his time and talents, accepting defeat unflinchingly. But, according to the saying, "it is a long lane that has no turn," and the times seem propitious for such a turning. Let his hosts of friends rally to his support and send him to Washington, whence he will adorn the halls of Congress by his speech and bearing, and where his voice will always be raised in behalf of the people against the trusts and extravagant legislation which now oppress them.—Rahway Advocate.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Rogers Brothers ended their engagement at the New Amsterdam Theatre Saturday evening, and Monday they dedicated the new Liberty Theatre, built for them by the Klaw & Erlanger Amusement Company, ten doors west of the New Amsterdam, in West Forty-second street. "The Rogers Brothers in Paris" is the initial production in the new theatre. The Liberty Theatre was constructed especially for the Rogers Brothers, and they have a financial interest in it. All their future engagements in New York city will be played there. The new theatre has a stage 72 feet wide by 36 feet in depth, equipped with practically every modern improvement for the performance of large productions. It possesses about the seating capacity of the Knickerbocker. The auditorium is 72 feet wide by 60 feet from the footlights to the rear wall. There are only sixteen rows of seats on the lower floor, so that the last row is about forty-eight feet from the stage. In the rear of the orchestra chairs is a promenade, 12 feet wide and 72 feet long. In case of necessity the entire house can, it is announced, be emptied in less than a minute and a half.

PEACE IS FAR OFF

Delegates of Boston Conference In New York.

MAYOR M'CLELLAN WELCOMES THEM

Favors Peace, but Calls Attention to Our Admiration For Arts of War as Exemplified by the Japanese.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—A reception to the fifty delegates who have been attending the thirteenth international peace congress in Boston and who have arrived here was tendered at the Hotel Astor by the New York board of trade. Mayor McClellan was present at the reception and welcomed the delegates to the city.

Oscar Straus presided at the reception and introduced Mayor McClellan, who said:

"I trust that it is unnecessary for me to assure you that I deeply appreciate meeting you. Because of the great cause you represent I am highly honored that I should be permitted as mayor to welcome you to New York. Your movement has existed only for a comparatively short time. At its inception there was a disposition in certain quarters to decry and even to sneer at it. A few years have come and gone, and there is not a man alive who does not admire your activity and respect your motives even if he does not agree with you.

"We are in the habit of priding ourselves upon our advanced civilization. We glory in the fact that we are so much better than our forefathers, yet at the dawn of the new century we stand breathless with admiration for the advance in civilization made by an oriental power, not so much because she has progressed in the arts, in letters and in the humanities, but because she is killing her tens of thousands of human beings in accordance with the most modern, the most approved and the most scientific methods.

"I am not an idealist. I take it, Mr. Chairman, that you are not. I realize that the impossible cannot be accomplished. It may be that universal peace will never come except with the millennium; it may be that universal peace is only a dream and an ideal, but even so it is an ideal that all nations should strive for; it is an ideal that should influence all men. There are some things I grant that arbitration can never accomplish. Arbitration could never have produced a Cromwell or a Napoleon or a Washington. Arbitration could never have satisfied the aspirations of a Hungary. Arbitration could never have freed the thirteen colonies or saved our glorious Union. There are some truths as vital and so sacred that they must be upheld even with the lives of martyrs. There are some wrongs so foul that they can only be blotted out with the blood of heroes.

"I came here to sing the praises of peace, and the old Adam in me has cried out for war—but do not misunderstand me. I believe that arbitration can remove most of the preliminary causes of war, and I believe with all the earnestness that is within me that nations should exhaust every honorable effort and use every honorable means to adjust their differences before appealing to the last red arbitrament of the sword.

"I welcome you to New York on behalf of 4,000,000 of self respecting, intelligent, peace loving and free Americans. I bid you godspeed upon the work you have undertaken, and I hope for you God's help in the cause you have at heart."

Harrison and Barge Canal.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Francis Burton Harrison, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and E. M. Grout, comptroller of the city of New York, addressed a Democratic mass meeting here last night. Mr. Harrison said that his most important duty if elected would be that in connection with his position as a member of the canal board. Great extravagance, he said, appears in the present administration of the canal.

Gaitree Not Guilty.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 12.—William B. Gaitree, former superintendent of the rural free delivery for the Sixth district, who was indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of embezzling $54, has been found not guilty. Gaitree in purchasing a filing case for his Cincinnati office cashed a warrant which was received from the postoffice department and through an oversight forgot to pay for the case until later.

Schoolgirl Hurt by Maniac.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah., Oct. 12. Mary Murton, a sixteen-year-old schoolgirl, daughter of a prominent broker, is the victim of a serious assault by an unknown man, who threw his arm around her neck from behind and cut a gash four inches long in her throat. The assault occurred on Main street in the busiest part of the business district. The police incline to the belief that the man was insane.

BOSTON GIRL WON.

Miss Dod, British Golf Expert, Defeated at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—Miss Charlotte Dod, the English premier golfing expert, met with defeat yesterday at the hands of Miss Pauline Mackay, hailing from the Oakley Country club of Boston, on the first day's play at the women's national golf championship by 2 up and 1 to play.

Miss Mackay is a young golfer, and, although it was not by brilliant golf, the victory was none the less deserved. By this defeat Miss Dod is out of the championship. Miss Mackay's victory was due to her ability to take advantage of Miss Dod's mistakes. The result was in doubt up to the seventeenth hole, at which point Miss Mackay was 1 up on her distinguished opponent.

Miss Mackay's opening drive for the seventeenth hole was at least 170 yards, and the sphere rolled within two yards of the cup. Miss Dod followed, but sclaffed her tee shot. The ball landed on the far edge of the bank. She played her second short, and her approach putt landed her a yard from the hole. Miss Mackay then took the hole in two more strokes and won the match.

Bedouin at Morris Park.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Bedouin, ridden by Shaw, won the Rancho del Paso stakes over the Eclipse course at Morris park. Pasadena was second, Cairngorm third. The time was 1:09¾. Bedouin broke in front and, making the pace, won driving by a head. In the last race, a handicap at one mile and a quarter over the hill, Mabel Richardson won by a neck from Eugenia Burch. Donohue, who fell with Pagan Bey in the steeplechase, had his ankle broken.

Racing at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 12.—Long priced horses won four of the races at Elm Ridge, Buglehorn and Norel being the only winning favorites. Bombardier won the feature event, the Horse Show Handicap consolation, after an exciting struggle down the stretch with Otto Stifel, which beat Exclamation one length for the place. Clifton Forge, the odds on favorite, was last.

Tom Axworthy Got All the Money.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 12.—Tom Axworthy, a prohibitive favorite, captured the $3,000 McDowell stake for four-year-old trotters in the first heat of the three heat race and by distancing the other two horses took first, second and third money. It was a feat never before accomplished in a stake race on the Lexington track.

The Regent at Delmar.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—The Regent, second choice, easily won the feature of Delmar's card.

Geisha Girls Will Not Go.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—Seventeen Japanese geisha girls have locked themselves in their rooms at their boarding house because the United States deputy marshals attempted to remove them in order that they might be deported to their native land at the request of Commissioner General Tejima. Two large wagons were there ready to take them and their baggage away. Four policemen were on hand to preserve order. Representatives of Phil H. Sheridan, the geisha girls' counsel, and the Japanese commissioner also were present. After an unsuccessful attempt to remove the girls the United States marshal ordered the house kept under the guard of his deputies.

Herrick's Address to Young Men.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Judge Herrick made a short speech from the front steps of his residence last night to the members of the Young Men's Democratic club, who tendered him a serenade. After thanking the club for the demonstration, he said: "It is a good thing for the state when young men take an interest in public affairs. It is a good thing for them; it is a good thing for all the people. A man who does not take an interest in the affairs of the state and nation does not deserve and is not entitled to the protection of their laws. A man who does not take an interest in politics, in our public affairs, is not a good citizen."

Beaten to Death In Chain Gang.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 12.—A special from Johnson, S. C., says: "The body of Wade Hartley, who died in the county chain gang about two weeks ago and whose sudden death aroused a suspicion of foul play, was exhumed again and an inquest held by order of Solicitor Thurman. It developed that the negro had been beaten three times by guards or Foremen Corley, Prince and Sawyer. The jury rendered the following verdict, 'That Wade Hartley came to his death by a blow on the back of the head and in the eye while in charge of the chain gang guards.'"

A NEW GUNBOAT.

Paducah Launched From the Morris Heights Yards.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The gunboat Paducah has been successfully launched at Morris heights at the yards of the Charles L. Seabury company on the Harlem river.

As the vessel started on her journey toward the water Miss Anna May Yeiser, daughter of D. A. Yeiser, the mayor of Paducah, Ky., broke the traditional bottle of wine over her bow and pronounced in a clear voice the words, "I christen thee Paducah and wish thee godspeed."

Miss Yeiser evidently was determined that there should be no mistake about the naming of the Paducah. She had gripped the decorated bottle with both hands and, at the first sign of motion in the craft, smashed it with a vigorous blow against the bow of the little warship. The glass went flying in all directions, and the vessel was liberally bespattered with the wine.

Assisting Miss Yeiser was her sister Florence. A party of 500 was gathered on the christening platform.

It included Colonel Henry Yeiser, uncle of the sponsor, of Cincinnati; Miss B. Buckner, Miss H. Bogby, Mrs. Henry Blum, Urey Woodson, H. Cobb and Edward Paxton, representatives of Kentucky; Inspector of Construction F. L. Fernald, Inspector of Equipment R. H. Osborne and Inspector of Machinery R. H. Maxwell, representing the United States government.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

Divorce Laws of the Church Again Under Consideration.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—A proposed change in the canons of the Episcopal church, whereby clergymen are forbidden to remarry any person who has been divorced, was discussed for two hours by the house of deputies at the session of the Episcopal general convention.

The house of deputies was sitting as a committee of the whole, and the consideration of the subject, regarded as one of the most important to come before the present convention, will be taken up from time to time until the matter is finally disposed of.

The present canon on marriage permits the remarriage of the innocent persons in a divorce suit wherein infidelity is alleged. For some time there has been a strong sentiment in the church that the clergy should not remarry even the innocent person.

COOLIES MAROONED.

Steamer Swanley Compelled to Land Passengers on Seraya Island.

SINGAPORE, Oct. 12.—Marooned on a small island in the China sea, with provisions for only ten days, are 2,200 coolies and four Europeans.

The steamship Swanley has arrived here badly damaged and reported that she was bound from Hongkong for South Africa with 2,200 coolies and four European passengers aboard and that on Oct. 3 she grounded on Seraya island, about seventy miles south of the Natuna islands.

When the steamer floated three days later a number of holes were found in her bottom, and she was obliged to land all her passengers on Seraya island, where they were left with provisions for ten days.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The steamer Finance, from Colon, Panama, arrived at quarantine last night. Haas has been surrendered to the American authorities by the Panama government.

STEAMER CALL LOST

Captain, Crew and Passengers All Perished.

SANK IN GALE OFF NEW LONDON, N. S

Son of John Fagar, One of the Owners, Among the Nineteen Victims—Many of the Lost Fishermen.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 12.—The steamer Call, bound from Tracadie, N. B., for New London, P. E. I., sank on Saturday night in a gale near New London, and the captain and crew and passengers, numbering nineteen in all, have been drowned.

News received here from New London by John Fagar, one of the owners of the Call, confirms the report of the loss of the steamer with all on board. Mr. Fagar's son was on the steamer and is believed to be among the lost.

There were nineteen on board the Call, including fourteen passengers, all men.

The Call plied between New Brunswick ports and Prince Edward island, doing the work of a packet.

Most of the passengers were men from fishing villages at which the Call stopped along the coast, and many of them had families.

Mr. Fagar states that the steamer was comparatively new, having been built about a year ago. Mr. Fagar had an $18,000 interest in her. He has left for Prince Edward Island to investigate the disaster.

Last Saturday's storm raged with great severity in the gulf of St. Lawrence, blowing directly on the northern shore of Prince Edward Island. The harbor of New London is a difficult one to enter, and, while the reports of the wreck are exceedingly meager, it is believed that the little vessel was caught in the gulf by the storm and was either thrown on the ledges at the entrance of the harbor or foundered a short distance off the shore.

There are no telegraph lines to New London, and the first news of the disaster, filed at the nearest telegraph station, did not reach here until last night.

The Call was owned principally in Chatham, N. B., and was built within the year. She was about 300 tons burden.

Freight Train Crew to Blame.

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Oct. 12.—The evidence before the conorer's jury which is investigating the Missouri Pacific collision near here, when twenty-nine lives were lost and sixty persons injured, tends to fix the responsibility upon the freight crew, three of whom went to sleep and failed to know that the ill fated passenger train had not gone by before they started from Montserrat. The examination of W. W. McVey, night operator at Montserrat, brought out the fact that the train dispatcher at Sedalia ordered out wrecking crews, section men and doctors before the two trains came together.

City Cutting Down Overhead Wires.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 12.—Under orders from Mayor Timanus, Building Inspector Preston resumed the cutting down of overhead wires belonging to companies that have failed to place their wires in the municipal subways as required by ordinance. The representatives of the various companies followed the cutting gang in its rounds, looking on, but offering no protest. Mayor Timanus declared that no quarter would be shown and that he is determined to force the companies to bury their wires in the subways.

Child Murdered By Obi-man.

KINGSTON, St. Vincent, Oct. 12.—Barbarous superstition, which prevails among a portion of the population of the West Indian islands, is the basis of a ghastly and extraordinary crime that has come to light in the island of St. Lucia. The finding of the heart and hands of a white child in the possession of an obi-man, a negro sorcerer, led to the discovery that the child had been murdered and the body mutilated in order that superstitious natives might, through possession of portions of the body, be able to work spells.

Yacht Endymion Rammed.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Oct. 12.—While anchored off the Chamberlain hotel, Old Point Comfort, the schooner yacht Endymion, owned by George Lauder, Jr., of the New York Yacht club fleet, was rammed by the tug Sallie of Norfolk. A big hole six feet wide was stove in the port bow of the yacht, and she began leaking badly. The tug attached a line to the yacht and towed her over to the mud flats near old Fort Wool, where she was beached to prevent her from sinking.

Fuller Get Five Year Sentence.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 12.—William F. Fuller, former ledger clerk of the Second National bank, pleaded guilty in the United States court to the charge of falsifying entries on his books and was sentenced by Judge Morris to serve five years in jail. Fuller admitted having obtained $2,500 from the bank by making false entries on his books.

LOUIS, Oct. 12.—After an investigation by the police of a telegram from James Lane of New York it has been found that the correct name of the man known as Edward Leonard, who was shot and killed here by Myrtle Eberly, was Thomas Lane, and that he came here from Staten Island, N. Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 12, 1904.

William R. Hearst is president of the League of Democratic Clubs but his papers seem to be whooping it up for Watson.

The seizure of American mail by a Russian warship may be a carefully arranged scheme on the part of the Czar to draw the United States into the war in the East. If so, there may be some changes in the map of the Eastern hemisphere where the Russian flag now waves.

Joy comes to the hearts of all old time Democrats with the announcement that former President Grover Cleveland and two of his Cabinet officers, former Secretary of State Richard Olney and former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, will speak for the party's standard bearer at a mass meeting to be held in Carnegie Hall on Oct. 21. Up to the present time such men as August Belmont, Charles Murphy, Patrick McCarron and Thomas Taggart have been altogether too prominent in the Democratic campaign and it is most welcome news to hear of the better type of men being enlisted in Alton B. Parker's fight.

COMPLETING PLANS FOR THE STATE CONFERENCE

COMMITTEES ON BOYS' WORK GATHERING MEET IN LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

With State Secretary Scott, of Newark, in attendance, the first regular meeting of the committees for the State Conference on boys' work, which will be held here on October 28, 29 and 30, took place at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. The members were nearly all present, and the work of all the various committees was outlined and explained.

This is the first time the conference has been held in this city for six years, and the boys have never had to entertain the visiting associations before. It is expected that the delegation this year will be the largest yet on record, about three hundred being planned for from the various associations in the State.

There remains a great deal of work for the boys on the committees to attend to, and they will be kept busy for the next three weeks. It has been decided to hold the banquet, which will mark the opening of the conference, in the Babcock building. Tables will be provided for three hundred. The churches to be used for the meetings are the Trinity, First Presbyterian and Seventh Day Baptist. To the majority of the church meetings the public will be admitted. There are a number of private meetings however.

A Talented Artist.

Press and public have universally applauded Miss Aeolia McRae, the talented young pianist, as her work is of exceptional merit. The most difficult compositions are rendered by her in a manner that evokes wonder and delight from the audience and when once heard she is always welcomed a second time. She will give a piano recital in the Casino this evening and will be assisted by Miss Emerson, violinist. Tickets may be had at Estil's and the drug stores.

Miss Mary E. Griggs, of Griggstown, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hoagland, of West Front street.

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Superintendent MacMurray, of the Pond shop, is at St. Louis as one of the New Jersey commissioners.

Edward Shroop, of Jackson avenue, and John Thompson, of Essex street, have taken positions at the Pond shop.

Patrick Connolly, of East Third street, has taken a position with the Tidewater Oil Company at Bayonne. He is very much missed at Pond's, where he was an employe for several years.

While all of the big printing press manufacturers have exhibits at the St. Louis fair there are few of them that attract as much attention as does the one from the Scott shop, of this city. As at the Pan-American, Scott presses are very much in evidence and they always have admiring groups about them. A daily bulletin in two colors with weather conditions and useful information is printed on a Scott press and distributed.

Probably for himself, it's a good thing a well known machinist quit work in one of the local shops recently as he would have been answering unpleasant questions if he was at his place today. While the parade excitement was on last night he informed a prominent ball player that he (the baseballist) didn't always tell the truth. When the debris was removed the machinist let his friends lead him away and he will probably be around when one of his optics gets back to its normal shape.

Some idea of the extensive business being done by Walter Scott & Co., manufacturers of printing machinery, may be formed by reference to the number of employes doing work for them erecting new machines outside: George H. Bedford is now erecting a large web press and other machinery for a newspaper in Havana, Cuba. Enrico Gonzales is setting up a large high-speed lithographic press at Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, South America. James C. Sheehan is at Lima, Peru, South America, erecting a large newspaper printing and folding machine. Harry Schaeffer is in Moline, Ill., erecting a large newspaper printing and folding machine. J. A. Compton is erecting one lithographic and four book machines in Chicago, Ill. George A. Bicknell is at Knoxville, Tenn., superintending the erection on a large newspaper printing and folding machine and other machinery. Joseph A. Neill is erecting a newspaper web printing and folding machine in Philadelphia, Pa. James T. Hibbitts is erecting three book machines in one office in Cleveland, Ohio. Henry W. Walther is setting up three book machines in St. Louis, Mo. Louis L. Lomer is at Mexico City, Mexico, superintending the erection of one of several book and lithographic machines sold to the Mexican Government.

D. OF R., I. O. O. F. ASSEMBLY

Manasquan Woman Chosen President of Order.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Presentation of a Pin to Retiring President—Long Branch Next Meeting Place.

After a session hereto unequalled for attendance, the sixteenth annual assemby of the Daughters of Rebekah, I. O. O. F., closed yesterday with a business meeting which took up most of the afternoon. Though the regular assembly closed in the afternoon, there were many who remained over for the lodge meeting which took place in the evening. All the meetings of the assembly were held in the rooms of the Coward building, and they were in every way a success. The reports showed an increase in membership throughout the State, while the financial condition of the order is gratifying.

Several members of the Grand Masters were in attendance, and made speeches. The afternoon session was important for the fact that the officer were elected to serve for the coming year. They are as follows: President, Miss Eva VanDusen, of Manasquan; vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Cline, of Newark; warden, Miss Lelina Seaman, of Camden; secretary, Mrs. Mary I. Pullen, of Newark; treasurer, Miss Ida Stagg, of Paterson; conductor, Mrs. Runyon, of Newark; marshall, Mrs. VanHouston, of Paterson; inside guardian, Miss Ida Bain; outside guardian, Miss Lydia Bentecou.

Following the election of officers, a speech was made by the retiring president, Mrs. Emma Ferguson, of Newark. At the conclusion of her speech, Mrs. Ferguson had charge of the installation ceremony.

Before retiring from her office Mrs. Ferguson was presented with a handsome gold pin on the part of the assembly. Harry Pine was chosen Grand representative of the State organization. In addition to the other routine business the executive and judiciary committees were appointed for the coming year. It was decided that the meeting next year will be held at Long Branch.

Marguerite Bennett, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Her vacation was to be spent at Bensonhurst, L. I., and the day she reached there she was taken ill with typhoid fever and remained in bed four weeks. She was brought home two weeks ago Sunday and her condition then became worse, sinking gradually until the end. Pleurisy and inflammation of the heart covering was the caused of death.

The girl was the oldest child in the family and her demise has cast a gloom over her many companions. She was a pupil in the North Plainfield school and was greatly liked. The funeral services will be held from her late home tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

BATTLE IS RAGING.

Japanese, Re-enforced, Check Kuropatkin's Advance.

BENTSIAPUTZE HAS BEEN RETAKEN

Oyama, Concentrating His Outspread Army Wings, Gives Battle to the Russians at Yental Station.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—A Mukden special dispatch says:

"A bloody battle is now raging about six miles north of Yental railroad station. The Japanese on Sunday fell back along the whole front, and the Russian guards crossed the Schili river about halfway between Mukden and Liaoyang and came within three miles of Yental, but the Japanese, having received strong re-enforcements of infantry and artillery, not only held their positions, but even assumed the offensive.

"The fighting lasted the entire day and night. The Japanese directed their artillery fire with great skill and searched the Russian positions so fiercely that the Russians fell back north of the Schili river, which crosses the railroad seven miles from Yental. The Russians, having resumed their advance, once more crossed the Schili river and engaged the Japanese two miles south of the Schili. A terrific artillery engagement is proceeding along the entire front."

Tokyo reports that the troops under Kuroki have recaptured the position at Bentsiaputze, from which they had been driven. This position is east of Mukden about sixteen miles, and General Kuropatkin had announced that it had been taken by the Russians, who outgeneraled the Japanese.

Field Marshal Oyama's forces which at the beginning of the Russian advance were scattered over a front of sixty miles have been quickly concentrated. According to a high military official in Washington, it was the Japanese plan to deceive Kuropatkin, lure him south by leaving an intentional opening and then by a rapid concentration cut across his rear.

The Russians, assuming the offensive, crossed the Hun river and attacked General Kuroki's forces, capturing a position which the Japanese, being strongly re-enforced, have recaptured and reoccupied.

The Japanese thus have checked the Russian advance.

It is said that the losses on both sides are heavy.

Advices from Tokyo say that the loss of the armored gunboat Hei Yen has been officially announced, and permission was granted by the authorities to publish the details of the disaster.

The Hei Yen struck a mine off Pigeon bay on the night of Sept. 18 and foundered. Nearly 300 persons, her entire complement, were drowned. Two petty officers and two sailors managed to reach Chiaopai island, from which they were rescued.

The Hei Yen, which was engaged on guard duty off Pigeon bay, was missed by the fleet, and a search for the vessel was immediately begun.

The petty officers and sailors found on Chiaopai island reported that at dusk a storm came up, accompanied by high seas. The Hei Yen endeavored to return to her base, when she suddenly struck a floating mine, which exploded under her starboard side amidships. The vessel began to sink, and an attempt was made to lower the boats. The boats were swamped, and the crew jumped into the sea, where, owing to the heavy combers, they were quickly drowned.

The Japanese fleet carefully searched the patrolled locality, but failed to find any other survivors.

St. Petersburg advices say that General Kuropatkin's superiority in numbers is bound sooner or later to compel the Japanese to fall back upon their strong positions within the triangle formed by Yental, Liaoyang and Sykwantun. Everything points to that district as being the prospective scene of the decisive struggle of this year's campaign. Strategic reasons of the most weighty character render it imperative for the Russians as well as for the Japanese to bestow their chief attention upon the country east of the railway. The Russians are compelled to this course because their lines of communication are more vulnerable from the eastward.

The war situation will be still more complicated if the extraordinary statement sent by Bennett Burleigh from Shanghai should turn out to be correct. Mr. Burleigh says it is believed that Field Marshal Oyama and his staff will return or be recalled to Japan ostensibly because the army is going into winter quarters and that General Nodzu will take over the command.

"It is now well known among the better classes of Japanese," Mr. Burleigh adds, "that it was Nodzu who saved the situation at the battle of Liaoyang. Oyama and the headquarters had actually ordered a retreat when Nodzu vigorously protested against such a step and begged them to make another desperate effort, he more directly co-operating with Oku's right. To Nodzu, therefore, is due the sole credit of averting a disastrous retreat, which he warded off by sending in and almost sacrificing the entire Twentieth regiment of the Tenth division."

According to Mr. Burleigh, the Japanese still have no intention of proceeding much farther north than Mukden and that they will only under exceptional circumstances attack Tai pass this season. Mr. Burleigh concludes:

"General Nishi, commander of the Japanese Second division, will become governor of Manchuria."

A POWERFUL WARSHIP.

Georgia, Launched at Bath, the First Built In Maine.

BATH, Me., Oct. 12.—The battleship Georgia, launched here, is of the most powerful type of battleship afloat. She was launched from the yards of the Bath Iron company and is the first battleship built in this state.

As the battleship began to move Miss Tate broke a pint bottle of champagne across the bow, naming the craft in honor of her own southern state. As the stern parted the surface of the Kennebec the Georgia was saluted by numerous craft and manufacturing plants along the shore. She acknowledged all the salutes by her siren and whistle, as the battleship was launched with steam up.

The governors of two states, Governor Terrell of Georgia and Governor Hill of Maine, with their staffs, were invited to the launching, together with United States Senators Frye and Hale and many federal officers.

Excursionists from all sections of Maine had come to witness the launching. Judge and Mrs. Hamilton McWhorter, Miss Camelia McWhorter, Congressman F. Carter Tate, Mrs. Tate and Congressman W. C. Adamson, all of Georgia, accompanied Governor and Mrs. Terrell.

Miss Tate was escorted to the launching by Vice President John S. Hyde and instructed in her duties as sponsor. Mr. Hyde also had personal supervision of the launching.

The Georgia, the first modern fighting machine to be turned out from a shipyard of the Pine Tree state, leaves the ways nearer to completion than any warship yet launched.

The Georgia's speed will be nineteen knots, one knot more than any battleship now in the United States navy.

DAVIS ON WHIRLWIND TRIP.

Campaign Through Maryland and West Virginia.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Oct. 12.—Henry G. Davis, Democratic vice presidential candidate, has made a flying start on his whirlwind campaign through Maryland and West Virginia. Leaving Baltimore in the morning on a special train over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, he has made an even dozen speeches, arranged the details of every meeting, introduced his corps of campaigners to the audiences in all the West Virginia towns visited, has struck out vigorously on state issues, done the greater part of the talking and last night was the freshest from fatigue of any member of the party.

With Mr. Davis are Senator Daniel of Virginia, D. B. Hill of New York and ex-Governor Whyte of Maryland, besides a retinue of local candidates.

Big Ben at Worth.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12. — With 123 pounds up Big Ben at Worth beat a field made up of the best sprinters in the west. He won as he pleased, with a length to spare, over Floral King and Nannie Hodge. Don Domo was beaten off. Backed down from 60 to 1 to 50 to1, Anna Beall galloped home a winner of the first race.

THE MILLINERY OUTLOOK.

The Toreador Hat Is High In Favor. The Floral Tricorne.

A question of immediate and vital interest is millinery. "When in sartorial doubt buy a new hat" has come to be a creed with most women and one to which they are pleased to conform.

High in favor at present are the toreador hats of more or less modified shape. There are also a little Henry

HAT OF GRAY FELT.

II. hat trimmed with clusters of feathers at one side that is especially attractive and a most becoming boat shape with the brim curled up in a rather pronounced fashion. The left side of the boat shaped hat is literally swept by two handsome ostrich feathers adjusted to curl over the hair. The novelty of this hat lies in this arrangement of plumes, as the boat shape has hitherto been untrimmed.

The tricorne floral hat is a dainty little affair for evening wear through the autumn.

The smart hat pictured is of the fashionable elephant gray felt trimmed with three large black ostrich plumes. The somewhat "pottle" crown has a black silk band tightly folded about it as a completing note.

FASHION'S WHIMS.

Skirts With Embroidered Flounces. Taffeta Gowns Still the Vogue.

Taffeta silk as a dress material seems to have taken a new lease of life. Dressmakers predicted that its career in this capacity would end with the summer—another case of dressmakers proposing and patrons disposing.

The latest taffeta street frocks are in three pieces—skirt, waist and a smart little jacket. A new color in this silk is a peacock blue.

Skirts with embroidered flounces, often three in number, are to be very much worn. The embroidery is on the order of English punched work, buttonholed on the edge.

The separate waist is in the fashion field again, and for evening wear white taffeta of an exceedingly soft quality is to be employed.

White taffeta skirts to accompany the taffeta blouse waist is an economical turn of la mode, as a skirt of this description will do duty with a number of dainty waists.

A charming white gown for a young girl is of white, silky henrietta trimmed with heavy lace. The skirt has a deep gathered flounce of henrietta formed of groups of tucks and lace insertion. It gathers slightly about the waist. The bodice has a yoke of lace and a stole formed of broad stitched bands trimmed with buttons. A band of the lace insertion is applied in the sleeve near the lace cuff.

The smart figure represented in the cut wears a toilet of orchid taffeta, a shade which is much in favor. The skirt has a panel in front and a gathered emplecement about the back and hips. At the bottom are festoons of guipure lace and a ruffle of silk.

The Louis XV. corsage is draped around the body and fastened a little at the side of the pointed waist effect with butterfly bows. A folin of lace edged mull is arranged about the lace yoke. The elbow sleeves are formed of a series of graduated puffs.

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

(Copyright, 1902, by Emerson Hough.)

"You might ask my very life, Lady Catharine."

"Ah, there it is! When a man offers his life, 'tis time for a woman to ask nothing."

She turned from the open window, her attitude showing an unwonted weakness and dejection. Sir Arthur still stood near by, his own face frowning and uncertain.

"Lady Catharine," he broke out at length, "for years, as you know, I have sought your favor. I have dared think that sometime the day would come when—my faith! Lady Catharine, the day has come now when I feel it my right to demand the cause of anything which troubles you. And that you are troubled is plain enough. Ever since this man Law—"

"There," cried Lady Catharine, raising her hand. "I beg you to say no more."

"But I will say more! There must be a reason for this."

The face of the young woman flushed in spite of herself, as Pembroke strode closer and gazed at her with sternness.

"Lady Catharine," said he, slowly, "I am a friend of your family. Perhaps now I may be of aid to you. Prove me, and at the last, ask who was indeed your friend."

"We have had misfortunes, we of the family of the Knollys," said Lady Catharine. "This is, perhaps, but the fate of the house of Knollys. It is my fate."

"Your fate!" said Sir Arthur, slowly. "Your fate! Lady Catharine, I thank you. It is at least as well to know the truth."

"Pick out the truth, then, Sir Arthur, as you like it. I am not on the witness stand before you, and you are not my judge. There has been forsworn testimony enough already in this town. Were it not for that, Mr. Law would at this moment be free as you or I."

Sir Arthur struck his hands together in despair, and, turning away, strode down the room.

"Oh, I see it all well enough," cried he. "You are mad as any who have hitherto had dealings with this madman from the north."

The girl rose to her full height and stood before him.

"It may be I am mad," said she. "It may be the old Knollys madness. If so, why should I struggle against it? It may be that I am mad. But I venture to say to you that Mr. Law is not born to die in Newgate yards. My life! sir, if I love him, who should say me nay? Now, say to yourself, and to your friends—to all London, if you like, since you have touched me to this point—that Catharine Knollys is friend to Mr. Law, and believes in him, and declares that he shall be freed from his prison, and that within short space! Say that, Sir Arthur; tell them that! And if they argue somewhat from it, why, let them reason it as best they may."

The young man stood, his lips close together, his head still turned away. The girl continued with growing energy.

"I have sent for you to tell you that Mr. Law's life has a value in my eyes. And now, I say to you, Sir Arthur, that you must aid me in his escape."

"Lady Catharine," said the young man, turning toward her, "this illness, this anxiety—"

"No, I know perfectly well whereof I speak! Listen, and I'll tell you somewhat of news. Montague, chancellor of the exchequer, is my warrant for what I say to you when I tell you that Mr. Law is to be free. Montague himself has said to me, in this very room, that Mr. Law was like to be half the salvation of England in these uncertain times. I could tell you more, but may not. Only look you, Sir Arthur, John Law does not rest in Newgate more than one week from this time!"

Sir Arthur took snuff, his voice at length regaining that composure for which he had sought.

"I wish you to help him," said Lady Catharine, slowly, "only in that I ask you to help me."

"And if I did?"

"And if you did, you should dwell in a part of my heart forever! Let it be as you like."

"Then," cried the young man, flushing suddenly and hotly as he strode toward her, "do with me as you like! Let me be fool unspeakable!"

"Sir Arthur," said Lady Catharine, rising uneasily and standing before him, "I must confess to you that I bear a certain active part in private plans looking to the escape of Mr. Law. I have come to you for aid. Sir Arthur, I pray God that we may be successful."

The young man also rose and began to pace the floor.

"Even did Law escape," he began, "it would mean only his flight from England."

"True," said the Lady Catharine, "that is all planned. The ship even now awaits him in the Pool. He is to take ship at once upon leaving prison, and he sails at once from England. He goes to France."

"But, my dear Lady Catharine, this means that he must part from you."

"Of course, it means our parting."

"Oh, but you said—but I thought—"

"But I said—but you thought—Sir Arthur, do not stand there prating like a little boy!"

"You do not, then, keep your prisoner bound by other fetters after he escapes from Newgate?"

"I do nothing unwomanly, and I do nothing, I trust, ignoble. I go to meet the Knollys fate, whatever it may be."

"Lady Catharine," cried Pembroke, passionately, "I have said I loved you. Never in my life did I love you as I do now!"

"I like to hear your words," said the girl, frankly. "There shall always be your corner in my heart—"

"Yet you will do this thing?"

"I will do this thing. I shall not whimper nor repine. I am sending him away forever, but 'tis needful for his sake. I shall be ready for whatever fate hath for me."

"Tell me, then," said Pembroke, his face haggard and unhappy, "how am I to serve you in this matter."

"In this way: To-morrow night call here with your coach. My household, if they note it, may take your coach for my own, and may perhaps understand that I go to the rout of my Lady Swearingsham. We shall go, instead, to Newgate. For the night, Sir Arthur Pembroke shall serve as coachman. You must drive the carriage to Newgate jail."

"And 'tis there," said Pembroke, slowly, "that the Lady Catharine Knollys, the dearest woman of all England, would take the man who honorably loves her—to Newgate, to feloniously set free a felon? Is it there, then, Lady Catharine, you would go to meet your lover?"

The tall figure of the girl straightened up to its full height. A shade of color came to her cheeks, but her voice was firm, though tears came to fier eyes as she answered:

"Aye, sir, I would go to Newgate if there were need!"

CHAPTER XV.

THE ESCAPE.

On a certain morning a messenger rode in hot haste to the prison gate. He bore the livery of Montague. Turnkey after turnkey admitted him, until finally he stood before the cell of John Law and delivered into his hand, as he had been commanded, the message that he bore. That afternoon this same messenger paused at the gate of the house of Knollys. Here, too, he was admitted promptly. He delivered into the hands of the Lady Catharine Knollys a certain message. This was of a Wednesday. On the following Friday it was decreed that the gallows should do its work. Two more days and there would be an end of "Jessamy" Law.

That Wednesday night a covered carriage came to the door of the house of Knollys. Its driver was muffled in such fashion that he could hardly have been known. There stepped from the house the cloaked figure of a woman, who entered the carriage and herself pulled shut the door. The vehicle was soon lost among the darkling streets.

Catharine Knollys had heard the summons of her fate. She now sat trembling in the carriage.

When finally the vehicle stopped at the curb of the walk which led to the prison gate, a second carriage, as mysterious as the first, came down the street and stopped at a little distance, but close to the curb on the side nearest to the gate. The driver of the first carriage, evidently not liking the close neighborhood at the time, edged a trifle farther down the way. The second carriage thereupon drew up into the spot just vacated, and the two, not easily distinguishable at the hour and in the dark and unlighted street, stood so, each apparently watchful of the other, each seemingly without an occupant.

Lady Catharine had left her carriage before this interchange, and had passed the prison gate alone. Her steps faltered. It was hardly consciously that she finally found her way into the court, through the gate, down the evil-smelling corridors, past the sudden and leering constables, up to the last gate which separated her from him whom she had come to see.

She had been admitted without demur as far as this point, and even now her coming seemed not altogether a matter of surprise. The burly turnkey at the last door stood ready to meet her. With loud commands, he drove out of the corridor the crowd of prison attendants. He approached Lady Catharine, hat in hand and bowing deeply.

"I presume you are the man whom I would see," said she, faintly, almost unequal to the task imposed upon her.

"Aye, madam, I doubt not, with my best worship for you."

"I was to come"—said Lady Catharine. "I was to speak to you—"

"Aye," replied the turnkey. "You were to come, and you were to speak. And now, what were you to say to me? Was there no given word?"

"There was such a word," she said. "You will understand. It is in the matter of Mr. Law."

"True," said the turnkey. "But I must have the countersign. There are heads to lose in this, yours and mine, if there be mistake."

Lady Catharine raised her head proudly. "It was for Faith," said she, "for Love, and for Hope! These were the words."

Saying which, as though she had called to her aid the last atom of her strength, she staggered back and half fell against the wall near the inner gate. The rude jailer sprang forward to steady her.

"Yes, yes," he whispered, eagerly. "'Tis all proper. These be the words. Pray you, have courage, lady."

There came into the corridor a murmur of voices, and there was audible also the sound of a man's footfalls approaching along the flags. Catharine Knollys looked through the bars of the gate which the turnkey was already beginning to throw open for her. She looked, and there appeared upon her vision a sight which caused her heart to stop, which confounded all her reason. From a side door there advanced John Law, magnificently clad, walking now as though he trod the floor of some great hall or banquet room.

The woman waiting without the gate reached out her arms. She would have cried aloud. Then she fell back against the wall, whereat had she not grasped she must have sunk down to the floor.

Upon the arm of John Law, and looking up to him as she walked, there hung the clinging figure of a woman,

"BUT I MUST HAVE THE COUNTERSIGN."

half-hidden by the flickering shadows of the torches. A deep cloak fell back from her shoulders. It might have been the light fabric of the aborigine. Upon the foot of Mary Connynge, twinkling in and out as she walked, showed the crudely garnished little shoe of the Indian princess over seas, dainty, bizarre, singular, covering the smallest foot in all London town.

"By all the saints!" Law was saying, "you might be the very maker of this little slipper yourself. I have won the 40 crowns, I swear! Perforce, I'll leave them to you in my will."

The shock of the light speech made even Mary Connynge wince. For the moment she averted her eyes from the handsome face above her. She looked, and saw what gave her greater shock. Law, too, stared, as her own startled gaze grew fixed. He advanced close to the gate, only to start back in a horror of surprise which racked even his steeled composure.

"Madam!" he cried; and then, "Catharine!"

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE AVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

Several hundred disciples of Izaak Walton gathered at the lagoon at Garfield park in Chicago one afternoon recently to witness the first open contest of bait casting alone ever held in the world. The tournament was under the auspices of the Chicago Fly Casting club. Fly casting has been the principal contention of fishing clubs until quite recently when bait casting became the proper sport. No open contest of this sort had ever before been witnessed in the world's history of fishing. In 1900 an international fly and bait casting tournament was held in Long Branch and subsequent ones in San Francisco. Chicago fishermen have made bait casting the ideal fishing sport. Chicago is the pioneer of that game and has more "overhead" bait casters than any other fishing port in the world. The bait used is generally a frog. All other kinds are with a fly—and in some cases the old style angle worm. The first event was the "delicacy" contest, with a one-quarter ounce bait at a target located 60, 65, 70, 75 and 80 feet distant. Two casts at each distance were allowed each man. This proved the most exciting contest of the day, excepting alone the long-distance throw. Owing to the exceeding light weight of the bait the caster was obliged to use a very delicate touch in casting. It is considered about the finest piece of work the artist caster can possess. The target is a float with a wooden circumference of one foot of space, then one foot of water to an iron rod, which divides another foot of water for a wooden ball about six inches in diameter in the center of the float. To hit the ball or cast the bait inside of the inner rim counts perfect, or 100. If the bait hits the wooden outer ring it counts 99. For each foot or fraction from the target a demerit of ten from the perfect score is counted. Before entering the contests the pole, bait, etc. of each contestant was weighed, measured, and the make of the rod noted. This was for the purpose of filing with the international clubs in Europe and in the United States, as an open event for world's records. The winner of the first event was Joseph Hohmann, whose averaged record was 98.5. Mr. Hohmann will be remembered as the winner of the 1902 and 1903 open tournaments for all around casting. There were 38 entries for the second event, which was for "distance and accurate bait casting. This was an exciting contest and was won by A. C. Smith, who secured an average of 98.5. The third and last event was the long distance casting, which was held on the lawn. With a broken rod which had befallen him in the first event, Ernest Bartholomew, of Kalamazoo, Mich., sent the buzzing little leaden bait 169½ feet, ten feet of which were taken off as a demerit for having fallen shy that much of the center tape. There was a gusty, choppy wind blowing and under the conditions the throw of 158 feet was considered a marvel.

Remaining submerged for nearly four minutes is the remarkable performance of Thomas M. Smultzer of Denver, who has startled the swimming world. The fact that Smultzer is only 16 years old makes the feat all the more remarkable. In a recent sensational feat performed in London, England, he was able, by reason of his extraordinary lung power, to swim the distance of 112 yards five inches in the remarkable time of two minutes 3⅕ seconds, thus giving him the title of world's amateur champion. The management of baths in London, where this wonderful feat took place, considered it presumption on the part of such a youngster to aspire to break the world's professional record, held by Prof. Finney, who swam under water a distance of 113 yards and one inch, but, as he was a stranger, they agreed to allow him to test his abilities. He desired that the water should be regulated to a temperature of 75 degrees. Plunging into it he did 112 yards and five inches, to the amazement of the attendants and others who came from other parts of the building to see him. He beat Finney's records for time at this distance. It

FOOTBALL.

The High School football team has been practicing hard this week, and will be out this afternoon and tomorrow. They are hoping to square accounts with Leal's eleven in another contest, and are improving their game, where the weak points were made evident. It is thought that Taylor will be able to go into his position behind the line for the game Saturday, and his addition to the team will be a strong one.

Frank Marclay, formerly of this city, has organized a football team in the Y. M. C. A., of Summit, of which he is the physical director. The players are all members of the Y. M. C. A. and they are playing good ball. Marclay has arranged a strong schedule of games, and would like to put his team up against one of the local elevens. In all probability a game will be arranged with the Alls team if the management of the latter aggregation considers the prospect favorably.

The spirit of the Dunellen football players is by no means squelched by their defeat Saturday. In fact they say that their chances for the championship are still bright. It was in one way a good thing for them to get beaten in their game Saturday. It showed them that they need practice and need it badly. A player on the Dunellen team made the remark recently that what won for the O. F. C team was their superior team work. He gave much credit to Mc Vey, the O. F. C. quarter-back, for the way he handled his team in the game. The Dunellen interference was another point against them Saturday. Several times their backs were downed before the interference was even formed. This feature of their offensive game will undoubtedly improve with practice, however, and before the season is closed the contest between the two teams will be a close one.

DIAMOND DUST.

Pat Cotter, who caught for the Westfield team early in the season, is now catching for McGinnity in Sunday exhibition games.

Virgil Garvin will pitch for the Ridgewoods next Sunday at Ridgewood Park, Brooklyn. He will probably be opposed by Puttmann, of the New York Americans.

In order to handle the large crowd of people that will attend the baseball contest on Crescent Oval Saturday between the New York Nationals and the Plainfield A. C., the Public Service Corporation has assured the management that ample trolley service will be given.

According to the record of games played by Westfield and kept by the Westfield Standard, that team engaged in thirty-three contests, losing thirteen and winning twenty, with a percentage of 606. The team won thirteen contests played with Union county teams and lost seven, with a percentage of 650.

The individual averages of the players who have represented the Plainfield A. C. on the diamond this year, shows that "Al." Farmer leads the team in batting with a percentage of .402 and he is second in fielding with a percentage of .985. Virgil Garvin, who has played in but a few games, leads in fielding with a percentage of 1,000. Robertson, first baseman, is second in batting with a percentage of .375 and Cregan is third with .363. Farmer is considered the best all around player. He has participated in all but one contest played by the team and that was the game at Westfield, when Marshall, of the New York Nationals, was behind the rubber.

Five players, Farmer, Bradley, Lauder, Fraser and Dietrich, are each credited with a home run.

The averages given include those of the players who have taken part in two or more games.

N. J. PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD

Annual Convention to Begin at Atlantic City Tuesday.

PLAINFIELD DELEGATES

Sessions to Last Three Days—Officers to be Elected at That Time.

Presbyterian ministers and elders will gather in Atlantic City the middle of this month for the annual convention of the Synod of New Jersey. The sessions will be held in the First church, beginning Tuesday, October 18, and continuing three days.

Leander N. Lovell is the delegate from the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, and F. H. Andrews the alternate. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, the pastor, will also attend. The delegates from the First Presbyterian church is William H. Shotwell and the alternate, Robert H. Radford. The pastor, Rev. C. E. Herring, will also attend.

Rev. William V. Louderbough, of Salem, the retiring moderator, will preach the customary sermon Tuesday afternoon, the first day of the synod, and immediately afterward the new moderator will be elected. Rev. Dr. Newton W. Cadwell, pastor of the church where the meetings of the synod are to be held, will report for the committee of arrangements. It is the custom to hold a communion service the first evening, at which the retired moderator usually presides. Before the sacraments are administered the necrological report will be read by Rev. A. E. Keigwin, of the Newark Presbytery, and the narrative on the state of religion in the synod will be presented by Rev. William Allen, Jr., who recently resigned his charge at Pennington to accept one near Camden.

The officers of the synod, other than the moderator, to be elected, are: Rev. Dr. Walter A. Brooks, of Trenton, stated clerk; Rev. Julius H. Wolff, of Newark, permanent clerk; Rev. John T. Kerr, of Elizabeth, recording clerk; Dr. Eben B. Cobb, of Elizabeth, treasurer, and William P. Stevenson, of Roselle, treasurer of syndical home mission funds. Mr. Wolff was made permanent clerk last year and will enter upon his duties for the first time at the coming session. He is recognized as an authority on church polity and constitutional questions, and was recently appointed lecturer on church polity in the German Theological Seminary at Bloomfield.

A familiar and strong character in the synod who will be missed is the late Rev. Dr. Everard Kempshall, the former pastor of the Old First church at Elizabeth, who died last winter. He took a leading part in the fight to put down the racetracks in New Jersey, carrying his crusade into the halls of the State House.

One matter of unfinished business to be taken up will be that growing out of the Newark memorial on the hearing of representatives of the various boards at synod meetings.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey is proverbial for having on its roster of engineers many who have served it ever since it became one of the most important of the Eastern roads. One of these is A. F. Shedd, who by the boys and all who know him well is called "Al."

Mr. Shedd resides in Somerville and has many friends in this city. He is a man who has prestige in the railroad world and it lies in the fact that he is rated as one of the oldest engineers in active service on the Eastern roads, and the oldest doing regular duty on the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Al makes no pretences to being great, if he was born on a farm, as were many men who have won national fame. The farm on which he was born, on March 23, 1843, is still growing crops in Kennebec County, Me., not far from the home of the late James G. Blaine. He gained his first experience on the rail by selling newspapers on passenger trains of the Portland and Kennebec road, between Skowhegan and Portland, when he was but 15 years old.

After one year in journalism, Al. quit and went over to the Eastern Division of the Maine Central and became a fireman, his run being between Waterville and Danville Junction. After one year he went back to the Portland and Kennebec, where he fired for nearly two years, and was then promoted to be engineer and ran engines for about three years and then drifted to New Jersey and was employed by the Central. This was in 1865, and he has ever since remained with that road, his mission having been running passenger trains.

Mr. Shedd is now the oldest engineer in the road service and pulls trains running between Jersey City and Somerville. He is an enthusiastic brotherhood man and a charter member of Division No. 30, which was organized in 1865. For many years he was chief engineer of this division, also secretary and treasurer of the insurance branch.

In his long career on the rail he has never met with personal injury, nor has he cost the company anything for damages through any lack of judgment of his own. He is one of the largest men on the road, but that doesn't interfere in the least with his daily toil. He is very popular with the public and with the boys, and at the Jersey City room, where the boys lie off to rest, eat, sleep and amuse themselves between runs he is one of the central figures of jollity and generally brim full of fun.

This is the man who caters to the 'inner man'

READY TO PAVE STREET

Street Commissioner Prepared to Improve Watchung Ave.

AWAIT P. S. C.'S ACTION

Not to Interrupt Traffic—One Side of Thoroughfare to be Paved at a Time.

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett yesterday received four carloads of vitrified brick to be used in paving Watchung avenue, between North avenue and Second street, and the brick is being placed on the avenue. The Public Service Corporation has been notified that the brick is here and it will be expected to commence its repair work at once. Before Mr. Gavett can commence the general work of paving the avenue, the trolley company will put new tracks and ties in to replace the old ones and after this work is done, then the paving will begin.

It is Mr. Gavett's idea to pave one side of the avenue at a time, so that traffic will not be interfered with. It will require some little time for the bricks to set before the pavement can be used for regular traffic and in doing one side at a time, the necessary time will be secured.

It will probably be some little time before Mr. Gavett can start the paving, as the work of changing the tracks and ties and putting in the concrete will require at least a couple of weeks. Mr. Gavett hopes that the trolley company will start its work at once so that the paving may be completed before real cold weather arrives.

The vitrified brick is considered one of the best pavements now in use and after much discussion of the subject, the street committee as well as the Common Council as a body decided in favor of it as against the wood pavement which is now being used with much success in several large cities.

There was some opposition here to the wood pavement, owing to the experience of the city several years ago when this kind of pavement was used in Park avenue. That was not a success and everyone was glad when the present macadam was substituted for it. However, the present style of wood pavement is much different from that used years ago. A different kind of wood is used and it is prepared specially for very hard wear, while one strong advantage in the wood over other kinds of pavement is that it is noiseless, and is easy on the feet of horses.

There is much to commend the brick, however, and those who have had experience with all kinds of pavement claim that it not only wears better than wood, but is easier to repair.

There is a sentiment among the Councilmen that after this pavement is laid in Watchung avenue, an effort should be made to extend the work a little at a time and thus give, at least the business section, a permanent pavement of this kind. It is believed that while it would be expensive at the start, it would more than pay for itself in the long run, besides it would do away with the constant repair work now necessary on macadam roads. For a place the size of Plainfield the macadam is considered one of the most expensive pavements known, it requiring a considerable sum to keep it in constant repair.

SMALLEY GETS VERDICT AGAINST THE PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD MUST PAY HIM $700 FOR INJURIES RECEIVED AT A CROSSING.

For the shock and general shaking-up which he received in a grade crossing accident at Rahway two years ago, Walter G. Smalley, of the borough, was awarded $700 in his suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad, yesterday. The verdict was arrived at by the jury after it had been out but twenty minutes. The amount asked for when suit was instituted was $1,000 and the award was satisfactory to his counsel, Assemblyman Swackhamer. It is understood the railroad will let it stand.

Smalley was driving across the Pennsylvania tracks on Park avenue, Rahway, when an engine suddenly bore down upon him. The rig was partially demolished and Smalley was pitched out upon his head, the shock disabling him for several weeks. In his suit he testified that the gates were up when he drove upon the tracks and that he was given no warning of any kind. His escape from death was considered miraculous as the train which struck the rig was a fast express.

INVESTED TEN CENTS; DREW VALUABLE PIANO

DANIEL VAN WINKLE WILL HEREAFTER SWEAR ALLEGIANCE TO NUMBER 13.

Laughlingly referring to the fact that the last two figures of the number barred him from having any luck, Daniel G. VanWinkle, of North avenue, purchased chance No. 213 on a piano a few weeks ago. The incident soon slipped his memory and the ticket lay unnoticed in a drawer.

Yesterday a notice came from Somerville saying that a chance held by him had drawn a handsome piano. For a few moments he thought a mistake had been made and then he recalled the purchase. Looking up the ticket he found it had cost him ten cents while the piano was said to be worth several hundred dollars. Mr. VanWinkle went to Somerville today and will make arrangements to transport the instrument to Plainfield.

SHE SECURES DIVORCE.

Mrs. Grace M. Tomlinson, of North Plainfield, Granted Final Decree.

Mrs. Grace M. Tomlinson, of North Plainfield, has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband, Henry S. Tomlinson on the ground of desertion. Mrs. Tomlinson's case was conducted by Fred O. Hyer, Esq., of Rahway. The testimony which was very voluminous was taken before John H. VanWinkle, Esq., special master in chancery of this city, to whom the matter was referred by the Chancellor.

The Special Master advised a decree and Chancellor Magie granted the divorce prayed for in the petition.

CENTRAL'S COAL STATION.

Road Spending Big Sum at Elizabeth on Docks.

The Central Railroad Company of New Jersey has just started to reconstruct its entire docking system along the Staten Island Sound at Elizabeth. The New Jersey Dry Dock and Navigation Company, which was awarded the $200,000 contract, including the necessary dredging, which alone will cost $50,000, has but its employes to work on the job, which will not be completed in less than a year, at the expiration of which the Central's docking facilities in Elizabeth will be doubled.

It is the intention of the Central Railroad Company, when the improvements have been completed, to do all of its coal transferring in Elizabeth, and it is probable, also, that much of the unloading of general freight for American and foreign boats will be done on the docks in that city.

George Benton Smith, who has been general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Madras, India, for the last seven years, will give an illustrated address on India at the local Y. M. C. A. building on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The admission to adults will be free.

ARCANUMNITES BANQUET

Plainfield Council Gives Feast in Honor of Grand Regent.

A JOLLY GOOD TIME

One Hundred and Twenty Members of the Order Gather at Truell Inn.

James M. Washburne, of Jersey City, Grand Regent of the Royal Arcanum of New Jersey, in honor of whom the affair was arranged, and other State Council officers, were dined, wined and toasted at a banquet given by the members of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, at Truell Inn, Park avenue, last night, while the objects of the great fraternal order were spoken of in high praise.

The event served the purpose of bringing together the members of Plainfield Council, some of whom have not met in years. Socially the gathering was a fine one. It was the first one of the kind given under Mrs. J. R. Truell's management at this hostelry. Nothing but praise was heard of the elaborate menu and fine service given.

It was 9:30 when the members of Plainfield Council and their guests sat down to the tables and from that time until nearly 12 o'clock a feast of good things was enjoyed. At the conclusion of the banquet, Rev. Edward Love was introduced as the toast-master and he in turn called upon various members of the Grand Council to speak. It was regretted that Grand State Regent Washburne could not remain for this part of the affair, but illness in his family called him home at an early hour. However, his excellent work as the head of the State's Grand Council, was referred to in flattering words by his fellow-officers, the first one to speak being Grand Vice Regent Rogers, of Cranford. He congratulated the local Council for the honors given and then sounded the praises of the Royal Arcanum. He was followed by Deputy Grand Regent Charles A. Collier, of Bayonne, who also took occasion to congratulate Plainfield Council for its fine showing and he paid deserving compliment to its regent, Clarence Goss, as well as Grand Regent Washburne. Grand Secretary Robert H. Alberts, of Jersey City, was the next speaker and he told of the many advantages of being a member of the Royal Arcanum and his earnest words proved a strong incentive to the members to continue their good work.

Grand Trustee Daniel S. Horton, of Somerville, who joined Plainfield Council in 1885, afterwards transferring to Bridgewater Council, of Somerville, made a few pleasant remarks. Rev. Erskine M. Rodman concluded the speech-making, in which he made a suggestion that received cordial approbation. He spoke of the efforts of the Metuchen Council to boom the order by giving instructive lectures during the season and in other ways adopting measures to increase the membership. He suggested that such things be done here and Regent Goss in speaking for the Council, said that it would be.

After a brief social time, during which there was a general handshaking, the affair terminated.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, was instituted October 4, 1882, and has ever since been successful. It started with a charter membership of twenty-eight, W. H. Lyon, Jr., being the first regent. During its existence it has had all told a membership of 365, the present membership being 265. In the twenty-two years one hundred members have died, withdrawn and joined other Councils. The present regent, Clarence Goss, is concluding his second term. For many years the Council met in Exempt Firemen's Hall, but a year or so ago handsome new rooms were obtained in the Babcock building. To beneficiaries of deceased members, $100,000 has been paid out in twenty-two years. It is now the purpose of the Council to increase its membership to 300 by December 31.

The committee in charge of last night's affair comprised Clarence Goss, regent; Robert H. Lowry, vice regent and Fred'k J. Pope, secretary, and each one received the commendation of all for excellent work performed.

Basket Ball Dates Fixed.

The management of the North Plainfield High School has closed two dates with the team of the Hasbrouck School at Jersey City Heights. The games will be played on November 9 at the local Y. M. C. A., and on December 28, at the Jersey City gymnasium.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF SUNDAY-SCHOOLS

Large Attendance at Union County Association Meeting in First Baptist Church.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS

Marked Growth of the Organization During Twelve Months—Several Addresses—Committees Are Named.

Sunday-school workers from all parts of Union County are attending the twenty-fourth annual convention of the Union County Sunday-school Association, being held today at the First Baptist church. A large number of delegates were present at the opening session which began at 10 o'clock and by the time the afternoon session was called there was an unusually large representation.

Rev. W. B. Hamilton, of Elizabeth, the president of the association, presided, and after an opening prayer by Joseph Greaves, of Westfield, a hearty welcome was extended to the delegates by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, in which he gave expression to the fact that no matter what differences there might be along denominational lines, all were meeting and working in one common bond of love and sympathy.

The president responded to the words of welcome, remarking that the association is nearing its silver anniversary and that all are one in Sunday-school work thus fulfilling the prayer of Christ. He felt sure that all would feel the welcome extended throughout the sessions.

In the absence of J. W. Philp, of Cranford, recording secretary, Rev. G. M. Shutt presented his report. There was particular interest in the report of Richard P. Graeves, treasurer, of Westfield. This showed that there are 127 Sunday-schools in the county, reports having been received from 101. There are 2,518 officers and teachers and 19,385 pupils, making a total of 21,913, with an average attendance of 12,921. Adding the home department and cradle roll membership there is a grand total in membership of 24,540. There are 4,063 church members and during the year 735 pupils joined the church.

The balance in the hands of the treasurer at last report was $31.30, and the receipts during the year $341.33. The disbursements were $361.53, leaving a balance of $89.81, which added to $102 received since the report was completed, makes a total of $191.81. Sixty Sunday-schools in the county contribute to the association and there are twenty-five schools having members who contribute to the three-cent plan. Mr. Greaves suggested that a field committee be appointed to personally look after the work throughout the county. He stated that W. D. Porter, of Summit, a member of the executive committee, had only missed one convention in thirteen years.

"Elementary Grades in the County," was the topic of a report by Miss Edith Cairns, of this city, who is primary and junior superintendent. She stated that there are twenty-one elementary departments in the county and eighty-four schools having separate rooms, thirty-seven beginners' departments, thirty cradle roll departments and two teachers' unions, one here and one in Elizabeth.

Richard P. Greaves read W. S. Webb's report on the Home Department work. There are twenty-one departments in the county with a membership of 1,143, an increase of 178 during the year. The receipts were $713.87 and the disbursements $155.35. The department has 107 visitors.

President Hamilton then announced these committees: Nominating, George E. Hall and Miss Laura J. Runyon, of Plainfield; G. T. Budgen, of Rahway; enrollment, Wellington Morehouse, of Westfield, and A. Judson Farber, of Elizabeth; resolutions, Rev. L. R. Howard, of Plainfield; Rev. J. B. J. Rhodes, of Cranford, and O. B. Leonard, of Plainfield.

The morning session was concluded with an address on "Our Debt to the Little School," by Rev. E. Morris Fergusson, who is identified with State Sunday-school work.

After the devotional exercises, led by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First M. E. church, the convention adjourned for dinner which was served in the Sunday-school room of the church.

The main committee in charge comprised Mrs. Harold Serrell, chairman; Mrs. William Dunning, Mrs. Elvaine

ARRESTS IN POLE FIGHT

The Glasers Prefer Charges Against Two of the Men.

HEARING PUT OVER

Company's Work on Monday Undone During Tuesday Night—Both Sides Determined.

Moves and counter-moves and strategic action at Port Arthur and Mukden are being reproduced at Alton where the Northeastern Telephone Company forces and the Glaser family faction is still warring over the right of way over disputed territory. Victorious to the extent of erecting four poles and crushing Mrs. Glaser's foot while doing so, the 'phone people were resting on their laurels when the opposition got busy sometime between Tuesday afternoon and yesterday morning by felling three of the big supports. In addition two of the enemy who had been left to guard the property were surprised by Constable Gjetelson and arrested for assault on charges preferred by Mrs. Glaser. They were hustled to this city and arraigned before Justice Huff under the names of "John Doe" and "Richard Roe," the right ones not being known at the time the warrants were made out.

The two men were members of the gang which let the pole drop on Mrs. Glaser's foot and forced her to retire in the midst of Monday's engagement. Neither had anything to say yesterday and the hearing was laid over until next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, in the meantime being released on their own recognizance. The other members of the erecting gang are also to be arrested on similar charges as soon as their identities are learned.

The scene of the strife was visited by a Daily Press reporter today and from appearances the Glaser's are slightly in advance of the Northeastern contingent. Three of the big poles which were put up after a running fight lay prostrate and two others were left up only because of their proximity to New York and New Jersey Telephone Company wires. If chopped down or knocked over there is a possibility that they might fall on the local company's lines and as it is allied with the Northeastern further complications might follow.

It is understood the Northeastern officials will retaliate for yesterday's arrests by ordering some on its own account but as yet no warrants have been asked for. At any rate, each side is determined to keep up the struggle and today there is no more sign of arbitration than there was last week.

Will Represent Holidays.

A holiday social will be given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church Wednesday evening at the church parlors. The affair will be unique in nature, various members of the society being costumed to represent certain holidays of the year. There will be tableaux, and other attractive features. The committee in charge is composed of the following persons: Miss Ernestine Smith, Mrs. James Kimball and Mrs. Asa Randolph.

Change in Oracle Reporters.

There will be a change in the appointment of the staff of reporters of the Plainfield High School Oracle. Heretofore the staff has been elected from the several classes, two representatives from each class. Instead, they will be appointed by the school editor this year, and will receive their appointments according to their ability as demonstrated by articles for the paper. The appointment will be from the school at large, and will take place about the first of next week.

First Bowling Match.

The first regular bowling match of the newly organized bowling team at the Y. M. C. A. will be played next Saturday evening with the team from the Scott's Press Works. The game will take place at the local gymnasium. It is not officially known what the lineup of the team will be as the captain is intending to try all the candidates possible.

Class Officers Re-Elected.

The class of 1905 of the Plainfield High School at a recent meeting re-elected the officers who have served for the last three years. They are as follows: President, Harry G. Thompson; vice president, Edith Jarvis treasurer, Chester Briggs; secretary, Florence Derby. No further business was transacted at the meeting.

FURTHERING PLANS FOR THE LOCAL AUTO PARADE

WILL NOT BE FLORAL AFFAIR AS FIRST SUGGESTED.

Abandoning the idea of making it a floral affair, the local residents interested in the coming auto parade met last evening and furthered the arrangements. It will take place Saturday, October 22, starting from in front of the Crescent Avenue church and following a route to be designated later. Another meeting is to be held Monday evening when the entries will be received.

As licenses have been issued for ninety-two automobiles in Plainfield, the committees are confident of getting the greater part of the owners to take part. The style of machines vary from "Buckboards" to the costliest of touring cars and when placed "on parade" the sight will be novel and interesting. It is the intention of the promoters to make it an annual affair.

G. M. Kirkner, is chairman of the committee of arrangements and Frank L. C. Martin is secretary. The other members are C. Wesley Holland, Dr. P. J. Zeglio, Dorsey W. Hyde, Francis deL. Hyde, Harry McGee and F. R. Stevens. C. B. Morse has been appointed press agent for the affair.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER TO BE GOVERNOR OF R. I.

GEORGE H. UTTER NOMINATED BY REPUBLICANS OF LITTLE RHODY.

George H. Utter, a former Plainfielder, was nominated by the Republicans of Rhode Island for governor yesterday. He is now lieutenant-governor of that State, and is the editor of the Westerly Sun.

Mr. Utter's father was the proprietor of the Sabbath-Recorder. The family lived in West Second street in the building now occupied by the P. S. C., where the future governor was born. He is a cousin of Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of Plainfield schools. The two attended Alfred University and afterwards Amherst College together. Mrs. Utter is a cousin of Mrs. Maxson. Mr. Utter removed to Brooklyn and subsequently settled in Rhode Island, where he quickly rose to prominence.

Teachers' Association Meeting.

The Somerset County Teachers' Association will hold its annual meeting at Somerville, Saturday. The following papers will be read and discussed: "First Year's Number Work," Miss Minnie Brokaw; "Character Building," Miss Eleanor Compton; "Daily Programme for Ungraded Schools," O. G. Harner; "The Programme of Educational Progress With Particular Reference to Our Undivided Part in It," W. E. Chancellor, superintendent of the Paterson schools.

Herbert Smith Married.

Miss Elizabeth Langon and Herbert Smith, both of this city, were married last night at the Filmore Baptist church, Rev. E. J. Crudup officiating. The best man was Wallace Scruggs, and the bridesmaid was Miss Fanny Scruggs, both of this city. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mr. Hankinson. The groom is employed at Woodhull & Martin's, and the employes of the firm presented them with a full set of dinner ware and a chair.

Church Officers Elected.

Three elders and three deacons to serve two years, were elected at the annual congregational meeting of Trinity Reformed church, following the prayer-meeting, last night. F. E. Smith was chosen chairman and H. J. Martin, Sr., secretary of the meeting. The three retiring elders, George L. VanEmburgh, Robert Clark, Jr., and H. E. Gayle were unanimously re-elected, as were Deacons W. F. Oliver, T. R. VanZandt and A. K. Willett.

Ira Wood, the Congressional candidate, and the other Somerset County nominees will attend the meeting of the U. S. Grant Club this evening. A handshaking bee will be in progress for an hour or more and mayhap some oratory will be let loose.

PROF. GRIGGS' LECTURE

Audience Captivated by His Talk on Shakespeare.

AUTHOR'S HUMANITY

First of a Series of Six Talks to be Given in This City.

Beginning a series of six lectures on Shakespeare, Professor Edward Howard Griggs opened the course yesterday afternoon at Vincent chapel with a talk on "The Humanity of Shakespeare." It is this phase of the subject that Professor Griggs intends to bring out in the entire series, and throughout the complete course, he will show the real personality of the author as evidenced in the Shakespearian dramas.

In introducing his lecture the speaker stated that the relation between humanity and genius is often indistinct in the minds of readers, and that most of them draw a definite line between the two qualities. By several illustrations from Shakespeare's life and from his works, the lecturer showed the undeniable proofs of the dramatist's great personality and humanity.

Professor Griggs first mentioned the political condition of England, and the Elizabethan Age of English Literature as a natural stepping stone to the development of such a literary genius as Shakespeare. Comparing the Elizabethan Age of England with the Renaissance of Italy, the latter expressing itself in the perfection of painting, Professor Griggs said that the natural turn of the English people, considering their different environment, was toward the drama. That Shakespeare with his wide reaching knowedge of human nature, and his breadth of personal experience should become the center of this new literary period, the speaker said is not at all surprising.

Turning from the influence of the period which introduced Shakespeare to the world, Professor Griggs spoke of the many ways in which the author's life is shown in his writings. He referred to the noticable change in the theme of the plays, those written in the author's early life in London differing greatly from the more stern plays which marked the middle period, and the two last plays which show the effect of a real life, and one which has been varied in experience. The lecturer pointed out how the changes in the style of the plays showed clearly the different periods of humanity, through which the author must have passed to enable him to write the light comedies of the first period followed by the mystery of Hamlet, the fatal ambition of Macbeth, and still later succeeded by "The Tempest" evidently the work of one who has learned from all the lessons of life, a firm faith in the goodness of human character.

The lecture yesterday afternoon was practically an introduction to the course which will follow, the five subjects being as follows: "The Ethical Awakening: The Merchant of Venice, Facing the Mystery: Hamlet, The Tragedy of Ambition; Macbeth, World Forces and the Individual: Antony and Cleopatra and The final Attitude: The Tempest.

Women's Exchange Luncheon.

Another one of the series of luncheons under the auspices of the Woman's Exchange was held at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Tuesday, when over eighty members of the exchange and their friends assembled at the club. The luncheon was served at a number of small tables placed about the several rooms and in addition to the menu, the social features were attractive. The affair was given for the benefit of the exchange and a substantial sum was realized therefrom.

Tax Bills Ready Saturday.

Tax Collector Frank H. Smith expects to send out the tax bills on Saturday. It will be noticed that this is about fifteen days later than usual, which is due to the fact that the new law changed every date, with the exception of those for the meetings of the Commissioners of Appeal. The changes are just about one month later, it being the rule of Collector Smith to have the bills out by Oct. 1.

Missionary Meeting at Roselle.

The semi-annual meeting of the East Association of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, of New Jersey, will be held in the Baptist church at Roselle tomorrow. Sessions at 10:30 in the morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon. An interesting programme has been provided. Rev. T. C. Klein, a missionary from Japan, will address the afternoon meeting.

Last Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

There is no more popular resort for a Sunday than Mauch Chunk, and to reach it entails a delightful rail journey, and at Mauch Chunk there is a diversity of amusement, the chief of which is a ride over the Switchback. This journey occupies more than one hour, and leads over and around the mountains with widely changing scenes at every turn. The Switchback is a gravity road, and the speed attained is close to a mile per minute. Another feature is Flagstaff, the summit of which is reached by trolley, and from its pinnacle point there is a view extending over miles and miles of beautiful county. An interesting spot close at hand is Glen Onoko, a short distance above Mauch Chunk, and, as its name implies, is a beautiful glen, with falls, cataracts, mountain paths leading to cool and delightful places. On October 16, 1904, the New Jersey Central is to run a popular excursion to Mauch Chunk from Plainfield by special train, leaving at 9:20 a. m. BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader, by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

Public Library Notes.

During the past summer extensive improvements have been made at the Public Library. Trees which darkened the reading room, and made the building damp were removed, fences have been taken away, grounds put in order, much needed bicycle racks supplied, and the whole exterior of the building painted a rich red. A large sign giving the library hours has been placed on the Eighth street side, and inside the hall a handsome brass tablet has been placed. The large number of periodicals added to the subscription list have made necessary a new periodical rack. This is soon to be placed in the reading room. Little has been done to the interior beyond the much needed improvements in the librarian's office.

A complaint and suggestion book is shortly to be placed at the delivery desk. Users of the library who are willing to co-operate with the library in extending its benefits by criticism or suggestions tending toward increased usefulness, are invited to make use of this book. All criticisms are to be signed.

By the summer extension privilege plan a large number of borrowers have taken away books with them for a few weeks in the summer, among these being many teachers, who are thus enabled to read in their vacation the books that the busy school life prevents their reading at other times.

One change in the staff has been made, Miss Clara T. Hill, having been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Thayer.

Among other summer work has been the assorting of an accumulation of hundreds of miscellaneous periodicals, which have been presented from time to time; the taking of the inventory, no small task with over 2,900 volumes to be accounted for; and the preparation of a list of the Library's serial publications, which is shortly to be published. This list shows Plainfield to be among the first of public libraries in the State in the extent and value of its collection of periodical sets.

The Thursday notes have been published in The Daily Press. Library notes planned for in the near future are: List of books in the Public Library by Plainfield authors: Lord Avebury's (Sir John Lubbock) revised list of 100 of the best books; local history material and its preservation in the Public Library.

In view of last year's large increase, a re-organization of work has been effected, making provision for a similar increase for the coming year of which there are already indications.

Among new plans, is the formation of a small apprentice class, designed to meet the need for trained workers in this library. Only those applicants will be considered who have at least a high school education, or its equivalent. The class will be formed in November.

Following the example of previous years, it is probable that one popular exhibit will be given during the year, the subject of which will be announced later.

A valuable collection of pamphlets on municipal engineering, sewerage, water supply, etc., chiefly in the shape of reports, has been presented by George H. Frost, together with a number of scientific and miscellaneous books. This collection of pamphlets forms a valuable addition to the library's already generous supply of the literature of municipal engineering. In questions dealing with lighting, paving, municipal ownership, and the many other problems which the municipal officer has to solve, these results of the experiments made in other cities should be of great value.

The library was recently visited by State Library Commissioner Everett T. Tomlinson, well known among boy users of the library as the author of many interesting stories of Revolutionary and Colonial times. Mr. Tomlinson expressed himself as much pleased with the extent and with the arrangement of the library.

F. O. Smith, of 686 West Front street, contractor for painting, etc., says: "There was a distressing pain across the small of my back which clung to me all the time. When I got seated at times if I moved a sharp pain struck me in the back and loins and almost made me exclaim. Any change in the weather or if I caught the least cold always aggravated the trouble and caused me to suffer severely. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by one of my employes who had been cured of a long standing case of kidney complaint by their use. I commenced the treatment, derived benefit from it immediately and before I had finished the first box I was cured."

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Though the date for the hearing in the Thomas Wearren bankruptcy case was set for October 3, no examination was held, and a time will be determined upon later.

—Returning to their home from a call at 9:30 Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Higgins, of Codington avenue, were startled to hear someone hurry out of the front door as they passed through a side entranceway. Making an investigation they found that sneak thieves had been busy during their absence and taken a suit of clothes belonging to Mr. Higgins. Later the garments were found in the front yard where they had been dropped. That nothing else was taken was probably due to their unexpected arrival.

RHODE ISLAND REPUBLICANS.

George H. Utter Nominated For Governor By State Convention.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 13.—George H. Utter of Westerly, lieutenant governor of Rhode Island, was unanimously nominated for governor at the Republican state convention held in this city, and the remainder of the state ticket also was chosen without contest. Frederick H. Jackson of Providence was nominated for lieutenant governor, Charles F. Bennett of Providence for secretary of state, William B. Greenough of Providence for attorney general, and Walter A. Read of Gloucester was renominated for general treasurer.

The convention adopted a platform indorsing the national administration and sent a telegram to President Roosevelt extending the greetings of the delegates and assuring him of "loyal and enthusiastic support" from Rhode Island. Daniel R. Ballou of Providence acted as permanent chairman. Senator Orville H. Platt of Connecticut was a guest and addressed the convention.

At the conclusion of the state gathering the congressional district conventions were held. Judge John H. Stiness of Providence was nominated in the First district and Congressman Adin B. Capron was named to be his own successor in the Second district.

NOT LEADER FOR HIS HEALTH.

Contractor Paid Cash Down to Get Work Started.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—George J. Essig, a Brooklyn plumber, was the principal witness against Philip Weinseimer, the labor leader, who is on trial in the court of general sessions here charged with extorting $2,700 from Essig. Essig had the contract for the plumbing in the Chatsworth apartment house. He testified that Weinseimer demanded $3,000 from him under a threat that he would not permit work to be done on the building unless that amount was paid and that Weinseimer finally accepted $1,000 in cash and notes for $1,700.

"He told me that nothing in the building line could be done without his permission and that he was not a fool like Sam Parks and that no checks nor notes would be found on him. He said he wanted the cash or no building would go on," Essig said on the witness stand.

"He told me he was not a labor leader for his health and that I and every other builder would have to pay him before we could do any work."

Essig said that he paid Weinseimer $1,000 on Dec. 31 and that his men who had been on strike returned to work on the morning of that day, after the $1,000 had been paid.

THE PANAMA CANAL

Commissioners Report Progress at Washington.

STEAM SHOVELS TO DIG THE DITCH

Details Discussed With President Roosevelt—Engineers and Large Gangs of Men Kept Busy on Great Work.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Members of the Panama canal commission now in the city called by appointment on President Roosevelt. A short time afterward John Barrett, American minister to Panama, had a conference with the president.

The commission remained with the president about half an hour. As they left the executive offices they said their visit was "a purely complimentary call" on the president and was without special significance. It is known, however, that they discussed with him conditions on the isthmus of Panama which have arisen since the acquisition by this country of the American zone and the differences between the commission and the government of Panama. What, if any, conclusions were reached as to these differences was not disclosed.

In an informal way the commission presented to the president the net results of its consideration of canal questions, particularly as to proposals for supplies. Among other proposals which the commission has accepted were those for thirteen immense steam shovels and for 3,000,000 feet of lumber. If it should be determined eventually to have the canal work done by contract an arrangement will be made with the contractors for the purchase of the steam shovels and lumber as well as of other supplies now being acquired by the commission. Whether the canal work will be done by contract or directly by the commission will be determined by a comparison of figures as to the cost of the work now being done with the proposals made by contractors. No decision on that point is expected for several months.

There are now between 200 and 300 engineers and others sent from the United States engaged in the engineering and construction work and upon sewerage and water supply, with a force of from 1,000 to 1,200 laborers. This does not include the sanitary force nor the force of the governor of the zone nor the personnel of the material and supply department.

Large surveying parties are at work in the vicinity of Colon making plans and estimates for an inner harbor and also for the work to be done in the outer bay; also at Gatun surveying and boring at the various proposed dam sites in that neighborhood and for a cut-off, known as the Tiger hill line, between Gatun and Tiger hill.

Important questions of route and of plan remain to be worked out, but there is sufficient work which must be done anyway, whatever the detailed location, to keep the army of employees busy until the engineers have reached their final conclusions.

PORTRAYED IRON CHANCELLOR.

"The Dead Lion," Not a Lively Play, Was Barred at Berlin.

HAMBURG, Oct. 13.—Oscar Blumenthal's new play, "The Dead Lion," had its first production here last night. The notoriety that followed the prohibition of this play in Berlin attracted theater goers from all parts of the country. The audience and critics were not enthusiastic in their reception of the play.

Upon the ground that the plot and incidents of "The Dead Lion" pointed unmistakably to political events in Germany in 1890, and that, therefore, it might wound the sensibilities of people still living who participated in those events, the chief of police of Berlin recently forbade its being played in any theater of that city. The scene of the drama is laid in Castile in the fourteenth century, the chief characters being King Marco and his prime minister, the Duke of Olvito, and their parting has been construed as representing the severance of the relations between Emperor William II. and Prince Bismarck, "The Iron Chancellor."

Higgins Speaks In Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Lieutenant Governor Frank W. Higgins was the principal speaker at a Republican rally held in Brooklyn last night under the auspices of the Republican campaign committee of Kings county. The meeting was held in the Clermont Avenue rink, and a large and enthusiastic audience attended. Former Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff presided, and among the speakers were M. Linn Bruce, candidate for lieutenant governor; State Comptroller Otto Kelsey and Julius M. Mayer, candidate for attorney general of the state.

DESPERATE BATTLE

Oyama Reports Fight Along Entire Front.

RUSSIAN REPULSE AT SIENCHUANG

Kuropatkin Says Japanese Are Stubbornly Resisting Advances Above Yental, Where Heights Are Taken and Retaken.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A late report from Mukden says that stubborn fighting is still in progress, this being the third day of the engagement. It is impossible at this time to say what has been the result.

Hospital trains are continually arriving from the south with wounded men who are being sent further north. A dressing station has been established on the railway platform here where nurses and surgeons give prompt attention to the most urgent cases before the trains proceed.

The frontal attack on the Yental mines has developed a desperate battle, in which probably 100,000 men are engaged, but though the dispatches so far deal almost exclusively with this feature of the battle, there is a much wider field involved. A fight on the Russian left flank has not yet developed, and possibly here General Kuropatkin intends to deliver his main blow. What force is pushing forward in this direction behind the screen containing the column at Shantintaidze is unknown, but the appearance of a Russian column at Tzyanchan, thirty miles southeast of Mukden, striking at Field Marshal Oyama's communications with the Yalu, and the knowledge that another column is already across the Tiatse river gives evidence of the wide nature of the turning movement. It is possible that the attack on the Yentai mines may simply be intended to hold the main Japanese force stationary and that the outcome of the Yentai fight may have little bearing on the result of the general engagement.

Russian dragoons have captured a copy of a message from the emperor of Japan to his troops in which the mikado says he is still awaiting the decisive defeat of the Russians. It is apparent from this intelligence that the Japanese are equally preparing for important events.

Advices from Tokyo say that a battle south of Mukden has raged uninterruptedly all of Tuesday and still continues. The results have not been decisive.

The Russians have a heavy force on the Japanese right toward the Taitse river, but it is believed that the Japanese have checked the Russian turning movement.

A brigade of Russian infantry, with 2,000 cavalry and two guns, having the object of striking General Kuroki's flank, has crossed the Taitse river. The Japanese cut off the retreat of this force and possibly will capture it.

The Russians attacked Sienchuang, thirty miles northeast of Saimatsze, which is southeast of Liaoyang and almost due north of Fengwangcheng, evidently with the object of cutting off Japanese communication with the Yalu river.

Field Marshal Oyama reports that there is fighting along almost the entire front, that the Japanese were gaining ground and that the Russian attack on Sienchuang was repulsed.

Reports from St. Petersburg say that the battle below Mukden continues to rage along the entire front, and, according to General Kuropatkin's latest advices, after the fighting of the day had ended the Japanese were stubbornly holding their own, offering a desperate resistance, and had even advanced their positions.

After an all day fight above Yental, where the Russians suffered their first check, the Japanese still held that position. The infantry virtually was not engaged, the artillery bearing the brunt of the fighting. The Japanese stuck to their guns, and the Russian batteries were unable to dislodge them.

General Sacharoff, telegraphing, confirms the reports of desperate fighting north of Yental, where the heights were alternately held by the Russians and Japanese.

Field Marshal Oyama reports that he has met General Kuropatkin's advance with a general advance of the main strength of his force along a broad front.

A considerable force of Russians which was sent across the Taitse river, thirty-five miles east of Liaoyang, has apparently been isolated by the Japanese cutting its rear, and the report of its defeat or capture is expected. The following report from the headquarters of General Kuroki's right army has been received:

"A body of the enemy has crossed the Taitse river from the north at Weiningying toward Chiaotao and intrenched between Chiaotao and Benshu.

"Our right has dispatched a detachment to re-enforce the garrison at Chiaotao.

"We have been attacked at Sienchuang, and to meet the forces of the enemy that have appeared at Benshiu the garrison there has been re-enforced.

"A battle is progressing, but no particulars regarding it have been received. The center and left are still fighting.

"It is my purpose to assume the offensive before the enemy succeeds in concentrating his force on the left bank of the Hun river and to thus attack the enemy's main strength."

Tokyo advices say: "Our guardship Shirataka, off Port Arthur, has captured the steamer Fu Ping, which was attempting to run the blockade. An enormous quantity of articles of contraband destined for the port was found aboard.."

A corrected list of the men who sank with the Japanese gunboat Hei Yen in Pigeon bay shows that only 197 lives were lost instead of nearly 300, as reported.

It is reported that the Baltic fleet will sail for the far east at the end of this week. When it is off Lisbon it is to separate, the minority of the ships taking the Suez canal route and the others going by way of the Cape of Good Hope or the Horn.

A report says that the British steamer Fu Ping, belonging to the Chinese Engineering and Mining company, carrying munitions of war, has been captured by the Japanese off Port Arthur.

The steamer was purchased with seven other vessels by Russian agents for the purpose of running the blockade with contraband of war for the fortress. Two of these vessels, the Sishan and the Fu Ping, have now been captured. Another steamship, the Canton, left last week on this mission and has not since been heard of.

Did Russian Spies Wreck Boats?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—A report has reached Washington concerning the torpedo boats which were being shipped in twenty-three car loads over the Great Northern to Seattle and were partially wrecked near Towner, N. D. They were built at the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, Quincy, Mass., upon the order of agents of the Japanese government. They were to have been shipped from Seattle to Japan. Just how badly they have been damaged is not known here. It is understood the company will institute a thorough investigation regarding the wreck, which it was suggested in dispatches was the work of Russian spies.

LIONS KNEW HAGENBECK.

Nestor of Wild Animals Proved That They Can Remember.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Lions and tigers have memories at least twenty months long. If you doubt it drop in to see Director Hornaday of the Bronx Zoological park or seek out Carl Hagenbeck before he returns to Germany.

Carl Hagenbeck, as all men know, is the Nestor of all the wild animal trainers. He knows wild animals, and they know him. He arrived from Germany last Saturday. In a stroll through the Bronx Zoological gardens with Director Hornaday he recalled that twenty months ago he had sold two lions and a pair of tigers to the New York Zoological society, and of the director he inquired:

"How are my four pets? Let's go to the lion house and see the fun they kick up when they see me."

"Nonsense," said Hornaday. "They'll never remember you after a lapse of twenty months."

"Oh, they won't? Just come over with me, and we'll see."

Accordingly Hagenbeck and Hornaday went to the lion house. The place was crowded with sightseers.

The veteran trainer entered quietly, walking to the center of the building. He saw his pets, Queenie and Wilhelm, the lion and lioness, dozing in one cage and Count and Countess, the tigers, sleepily parading in another. Then Hagenbeck cleared his throat and called out in German:

"I wonder how Queenie and Wilhelm are! What has become of my Count and Countess?"

"Me-e-a-a-ow! Me-e-a-a-ow! Gr-r-r-ow! Rr-a-aow!" answered Queenie, suddenly waking up.

"Br-r-ooh!" chimed in Wilhelm, using the lion vernacular for "wie gehts." Then the tigers joined in, and the uproar sent the visitors scampering from the building.

"That's Queenie's request in Teutonic for an ear rub," explained the delighted Hagenbeck. "Now watch 'em!"

He approached the cage, and a rough and tumble fight between the lions followed to determine whose ears should be first rubbed by their old master. Wilhelm, being a man lion, reached the bar first and began to purr. Then Queenie crowded him for place, and the heads of the two beasts were laid close together at the cage's edge. Alternately they growled at each other and purred at Hagenbeck, who put both hands between the bars and patted them as one would stroke a house cat.

Davis Made It Thirteen.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Oct. 13.—The second day of the Davis campaign through Maryland and West Virginia has been more intense and satisfactory in the campaign than the first. It has also added to the reputation of Mr. Davis as a "young" old man. He repeated his record of a dozen speeches a day and added one more for good measure. Despite the rain which followed the train there was no dampening of enthusiasm nor diminishing of the crowds which greeted the candidate. At Grafton and Clarksburg the day seemed to be set apart as a holiday.

To Command the Caribbean Fleet.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Admiral Dewey has again offered to assume command of the combined fleet in the Caribbean sea and direct the winter maneuvers. If his services can be spared from the presidency of the general board at that time Secretary Morton certainly will accept the admiral's offer. It is probable the admiral will leave in the Mayflower early in the new year and assume command of the fleet at Guantanamo.

Harrison to Speak at Bath.

BATH, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The Democratic state committee has assigned Francis Burton Harrison to speak at a Democratic rally in Bath on the evening of Oct. 26.

DISASTER AVERTED.

Green Mountain Flier Derailed Near Bennington, Vt.

BENNINGTON, Vt., Oct. 13.—A fortunate combination of circumstances probably prevented an appalling disaster on the Rutland railroad near here. The Montreal express for New York, southbound, with 380 passengers, left the rails at Arlington, fourteen miles north of here, about 3 o'clock, but a wrecked locomotive and a train load of thoroughly shaken up passengers were the most serious results.

The train, commonly known as the Green Mountain flier, ordinarily passes through Arlington at a speed of nearly sixty miles an hour, but its engineer was compelled to slow down near the scene of the accident for a freight train which was taking a side track to give the express the right of way.

The freight had been passed, and the express was once more gathering headway rapidly and probably traveling thirty miles an hour when the rails suddenly spread, and the train was dropped down on to the ties and ballast.

Scudding along the ties for a short distance, the locomotive and coaches toppled over against a "dead" freight that stood on the opposite track. In the absence of the freight cars the passenger train must have plunged over a twenty foot embankment. The engineer and fireman jumped and escaped injury.

The express, comprising four day coaches, one Pullman car and one baggage car, left Montreal at 9:35 o'clock in the morning and was due in New York at 9:20 o'clock last night.

A train was made up at Bennington and took the passengers, who were transferred around the wreck, south to Troy, N. Y. The rails were torn up for a hundred feet, and it took all night to clear the wreck.

MORRIS PARK RACING.

Oiseau Won Champagne Stakes, Beating Tradition and Pasadena.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—On a muddy track, Oiseau, with Odom up, won the Champagne stakes for two-year-olds, seven furlongs, at Morris park. Tradition was second, and Pasadena, an added starter, third. Oiseau and Tradition were both quoted at 11 to 10.

At the lifting of the barrier Odom sent Oiseau to the front, followed by Burnt Hills and Tradition. Rounding into the stretch Oiseau was leading by two lengths from Tradition. In the run to the wire Tradition closed on the leader, but Oiseau won driving by half a length. Tradition was three lengths in front of Pasadena.

De Reszke, the 1 to 2 favorite, won the New Rochelle selling stake by a head from Andrew Mack.

The Two Johns Won.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 13.—The two stake races on the card attracted an unusually large crowd to the trots. John Taylor, the 2 to 5 favorite, won the unfinished trotting race in the fourth heat easily. Lisonjero, the favorite for the race, was given fourth money. The West, the $2,000 stake for 2:29 trotters, was won in three straight heats by John Caldwell, the 1 to 5 favorite.

Pennsylvania Downs Gettysburg.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—On a soggy field and with a bleak wind blowing almost a gale from the northeast, the University of Pennsylvania football eleven defeated the Gettysburg college team by the score of 21 to 0. Owing to the adverse conditions neither team played good football, many of Pennsylvania players going to pieces because of the slippery ground.

Taxer at Elm Ridge.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 13.—Taxer had little trouble in winning the sprint handicap for two-year-olds, the feature at Elm Ridge. The eastern colt took the lead after the first furlong, and, although he was challenged by La Londe, the favorite, in the stretch, he drew away and won easily. Eckersall was third. Capitanazo and Croix d'Or were the winning favorites.

Ariena's Five Victories.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13.—Ariena made it five straight victories by winning the Delmar park feature. The filly conceded from four to nineteen pounds to the best two-year-olds now at the track, and, although straight as a string at the end, beat Monaco Maid a nose. St. Florence was backed from 20 to 1 to 3 to 1 to win the sixth race, but she finished last.

Harvard Won on Slippery Field.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 13.—Harvard defeated Bates at football here 11 to 0. Harvard expected a larger score, but Bates put up a much stronger offense than was anticipated, while the slippery condition of the ball and field interfered with clean play to a considerable extent.

St. Louis Boodlers Sentenced.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13.—Charles F. Kelly, former speaker of the lower house of the municipal assembly, and Charles A. Gutke, a former member of that body, were sentenced to terms in the penitentiary for connection with the suburban bribery deal. Kelly was given two years for perjury and Gutke five years for bribery.

Quintana Inaugurated.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 13.—Manuel Quintana has been inaugurated president of the republic of Argentina. The event passed off without especial incident. The republic is calm.

Mormons Going to a Hot State.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 13.—Representatives of the Mormon church of Utah are negotiating for the purchase of a tract of 300,000 acres of land in the state of Tabasco.

SHAW ON THE TARIFF

Secretary Speaks at Watertown Meeting.

NOT BAD MEN, INCORRECT METHODS

Wrong Public Policies Must Always Bring Public Ruin—Senate Once Saved the Country, Said the Speaker.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw last night addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting which was held here in the state armory. Judge Julius M. Mayer, who was also expected to speak, was unable to be present. Secretary Shaw dwelt at length upon the tariff issue. He said in part:

"The best financial and industrial conditions that ever existed in this country at the close of a period of Democratic control was during Mr. Cleveland's last administration. I say this not to be unkind nor to charge the Democratic party with purposely ruining the county, but for the sake of historic accuracy and to impress upon you young men that Democratic policies always have and always will bring the same results, not because the policies are advised by bad men, but because they are incorrect. Do not misunderstand me. I have not said that we had financial ruin during Mr. Cleveland's first administration. During Mr. Cleveland's first administration the United States senate remained Republican. The Democratic house passed the Mills bill, but the senate refused the proffered free trade legislation. Senators Allison and Aldrich told me that they sat at their tables for three months and worked the Mills bill over into a protection measure which the senate passed and which was known as the "senate substitute." The fact that the United States senate remained Republican during Mr. Cleveland's first administration is all that saved that administration from the same kind of ruin and from the same cause as had followed every period of the Democratic control. Radically wrong public policies must always—not may always—bring public ruin.

"It would seem that Judge Parker recognized this historical fact, for he calls special and repeated attention to the fact that the senate will remain Republican at least during the next four years. A Republican senate once having saved the country from universal ruin, it is but natural that Judge Parker should assure the people that, whatever the result of the election, their interests will be similarly safeguarded during the next four years, and then he promises not to be a candidate again."

BAGGAGE THIEVES CAUGHT.

Complaints Had Come From All Over the World.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Disclosures following the arrest of two young men in Hoboken, N. J., lead the city authorities to believe that thefts of baggage from ocean steamship piers there may involve losses running up into the thousands. The youths are Emil Wacher and Harry Schmidt.

For several weeks past the steamship companies having piers in Hoboken and the local police have been receiving complaints from all over the world about losses of baggage at Hoboken. Upon being questioned by Recorder Stanton when he was arraigned Wacher said that for about a month he was a mess steward on the steamship Valencia of the Hamburg-American line, and Schmidt was a deck boy on the St. Paul of the American line. Both left their ships some weeks ago, and, according to Wacher, they conspired to steal baggage. Sometimes, he averred, they took trunks which it required their joint efforts to carry. At other times they decamped with valises and other hand baggage. The watchmen on the pier knew them and never suspected that robbery was being done. The two prisoners are held to await the action of the grand jury.

Carter Harrison Visits Parker.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Carter H. Harrison, mayor of Chicago, called on Judge Parker here and conferred with him concerning political affairs in Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana. He pledged the loyalty of all wings of the Democratic party in Illinois, declared that factionalism in his state has been eliminated and that the German vote is Democratic, concluding with the statement that this gives to the Democrats a chance to carry a state which, he said, is normally Republican. Judge Parker returns to Esopus today and will come to New York again on Monday.

Floating Wreck of the Kinshiu.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—The schooner Gotoma, which arrived here from Kurile island, reports that on Aug. 4, when forty miles south-southwest of Cape Curat, she sighted a mass of floating wreckage. Captain Macomber established the fact that it was from the Japanese troopship Kinshiu, which was sunk by the Russians last April, when 200 perished. Entangled in the wreckage were a number of headless trunks. How those who perished were beheaded is a mystery.

Stockbroker's Sudden Death.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 13.—John Manning Young, a retired wealthy stockbroker of New York city, has died suddenly at his summer home at Black Rock. He was a brother-in-law of Justice Bradley, late of the United States supreme court.

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 13, 1904.

Don't forget that Tuesday, Nov. 1, is the last day to register.

Up to the time of going to press no report of the fall of Port Arthur had been received today.

Taggart says that New Jersey will go Democratic and his opinion is every bit as valuable on that subject as would be that of Baron Munchausen.

Lambertville man dropped dead after reading the Declaration of Independence. At the same time Miss Democracy has a well developed case of nervous prostration caused by the alleged usurpation of the Constitution.

From an editorial in an exchange published in the Fifth district we learn that James E. Martine, of this city, is a narrow-minded demagogue, and that he would be a disgrace to the House of Representatives. Such nonsensical talk as this reveals sheer ignorance of the man. Before giving vent to such silly stuff, the editor had better consult any Plainfielder, who disagrees with Mr. Martine politically, as to what estimation is placed upon him among his fellow citizens here. The sincerity and ability of Mr. Martine to represent the Fifth district can not be questioned. Like Mr. Fowler his character and qualifications are too well known in Union County to need any comment.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

An unknown dead horse was found yesterday morning, lying in front of Dealaman & Fenner's store, with about fifty feet of rope tied to his neck. The skin on the under side of his body was all scraped off where he had been dragged in the road from somewhere in the vicinity of Rock avenue to the place where he lay. He had probably been starved to death, as could be seen by his body, which was terribly emaciated, and the owner not wishing it to be known had taken the body to that spot and left it. It was carted away by the dead animal wagon yesterday morning.

George Washee, an Italian, was arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct on Monday night, and on Tuesday morning he was fined $3 by Recorder Campbell. He paid $1 down and promised to pay the rest as soon as possible. On Tuesday night he was again arrested for the same offense and yesterday morning was sent to New Brunswick for fifty days.

The first meeting of the Republican Club will be held in its rooms over Dealman & Fenner's store this evening. Officers will be elected and other necessary business will be transacted. A full attendance is desired.

J. C. Young and wife, who have been boarding at the home of William N. Apgar, of Front street, for the past few months, will remove to the Fisher house on the opposite side of the street about the first of the month.

"Shorty" Alberts went hunting the other day for woodcock, and shot a box of shells at one bird but it escaped unharmed and "Shorty" returned home with nothing in his game bag but a few chestnuts.

Shortly Alberts will leave on the first of the month for Harrisburg, Pa., where he will cast his vote and spend the rest of the time hunting.

Manager Lake has two open dates yet to be filled before his schedule is complete. They are October 29 and Election Day.

Miss Irene Shugars, of Philadelphia, is spending a few days with her brother, Harry Shugars, of Front street.

Fred Kirchner, of Lincoln avenue, has taken a position as office boy in a broker's office on Wall street, New York.

Archie Doud will go to Philadelphia in a few days, where he will cast his vote for President Roosevelt.

Barney Scanlen, of the L. & G. iron works, will play guard for the locals in their game Saturday.

Harry Shugars spent Monday in Jersey City Heights with friends.

Prayer meeting was held in the local churches last night.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Fanwood borough, probably, has the distinction of having the largest Republican vote of any place in the State. With only a registry list of 100, the borough Republican Club has a membership of 70, and some of the leaders claim that a number of the 30 that are left are doubtful voters.

The Board of Education met Tuesday night in the school parlors. John H. L. Todd, of the borough, who has been a member of the board for several years, tendered his resignation. Edward L. Hand was appointed to fill the unexpired term.

The local Republicans will attend the Republican rally at Reform Hall, Plainfield, tonight, in force. A special car will leave the Park avenue crossing at 7:30. All those interested are invited to go with the club.

The P. A. C. team will play the New York National League team at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon. Manager Johnston will make several changes in his lineup.

Miss Egan, who has been detained at home for several days, the result of a fall from her wheel, returned to her duties at the school yesterday.

The Chautauqua Boys' Club held in an interesting weekly session last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

The K. O. G. Club holds the first of its series of winter dances in the Fanwood Fire House tonight.

George Adair, formerly of the village, but now of Stelton, has been visiting friends in town.

The Misses Cook, of Park avenue, have been entertaining friends from out of town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The lake presents a beautiful appearance in these days because of the changing and variagated foliage on its outskirts. A number of rowers and sail boat pleasure seekers have taken advantage of these scenes of late.

At the business meeting of the local Christian Endeavor Society last night five new members were received, one active and four associate. A social time with music and games was enjoyed after the business session.

A., of New Haven, at different times and is said to have made a deep impression on all who heard him. He is said to have had an extensive experience with unskilled laboring men, having more than once put on old clothes and sought for work until he found it and then to have taken his place among his fellow workmen. Mrs. John Manley will sing, also Master Alfred Manley. The General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of New Haven, in writing of the address on "Character" to be given at the Y. M. C. A., in this city, says: "The illustrations were pointed, and from the very first Mr. Gray was able to attract and hold the young men. The address was stirring, uplifting and inspiring." 'PHONE CO.'S STRIDES

Growth of the Local Exchange Almost Phenomenal.

HAS 1,202 SUBSCRIBERS

Many Improvements Recently Made and Others Now in Contemplation.

One can scarcely realize the growth of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company since the introduction of the telephone here twenty-two years ago, when Percy Ohl was the first manager. During the first year there were 124 subscribers in the city. Today there are 1,202 subscribers and there is only one other city of Plainfield's class that exceeds it in this respect and that is Montclair. This is due to the fact that Montclair's territory is more extensive, there being an upper and lower Montclair.

It has been a source of gratification to Manager Charles W. Runyon, and his corps of able assistants, that the growth here has been so steady. Mr. Runyon has been manager of the local exchange sixteen of the twenty-two years and it is in no small measure due to his efforts that the company has had such success.

It has been the custom of the company to change the rates every few years and effect a reduction in tolls. During the first few years of business here the cheapest telephone was what was known as the "ground instrument." This could be rented for $50 a year, but the best 'phone cost $75. Today one can rent a telephone for private use, other than business houses, for $30 a year, while direct wires can be secured for a slight additional sum. The selective system in use here permits three or four parties being on one wire and yet in many respects the subscriber has the advantage of the direct wire, especially in that one's bell only rings when that party is wanted. Previously the bell of every subscriber would ring to the annoyance of those not wanted.

Recently, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company decided to redistrict its territory in New Jersey, and in this respect Plainfield is affected. Manager Charles Root, of the Elizabeth exchange, has been made general manager of what is known as the Elizabeth, Plainfield, New Brunswick and Somerville district, and Charles W. Runyon, manager of the local exchange, is the assistant in looking after the company's business in this section.

Other changes and improvements looking toward an improvement in the company's service are in contemplation. Recently, announcement was made of a reduction in the toll rates. In this Plainfield is interested and effected. The local rate has been made five cents instead of ten, and there has been a general reduction throughout this section to subscribers. The rate to Westfield is ten cents instead of fifteen, to New York thirty instead of thirty-five to non-subscribers, and twenty-five, the same as before for subscribers; to Morristown it is twenty cents instead of forty-five to subscribers and twenty-five to non-subscribers; to Elizabeth it is the same, fifteen cents to subscribers and twenty, instead of twenty-five cents, to non-subscribers; to Somerville the rate for subscribers is fifteen cents and twenty for non-subscribers and the same rate applies to Dunellen. The changes noted are those effecting Plainfield and vicinity.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 16.

Topic.—The power of personal influence. —John i, 35-39.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

The power of personal influence has always been a great factor in the history of the world, and especially in the history of religion and of Christianity in particular. In fact, it was Christianity that brought the individual person into most active play in life, and the individual has repaid the institution that discovered and developed him.

Personal influence has played a great part in the leading of souls to Christ. Jesus Himself considered it worth while to spend a night with Nicodemus alone in conversation concerning the new birth and three years later was rewarded by the open, bold confession of the member of the sanhedrin in his favor. He also brought His personal influence to bear upon a poor degraded Samaritan woman and thus saved her and her people. When Andrew found the Christ, he led Simon Peter, his brother, to Him, and when Philip found Him he led Nathaniel to Him. The Holy Spirit during a revival in Samaria called Philip away that he might bring his influence to bear upon the Ethiopian official and bring about his conversion. This has been a method of God's during all the ages, but today it seems to be His special method of winning souls to the cross. The great mass meetings in which hundreds were converted in a night are largely a thing of the past, and the work is being done by "individual efforts for the individual." Are you doing your share of this personal work?

Personal influence upon another person may seem an insignificant work, but history does not prove it to be so. The Samaritan woman led her whole village to Christ. Simon Peter in one sermon led 3,000 to accept Christ. Philip the evangelist was a power in soul winning. All were the fruits of personal effort, yet how tremendous the accumulated results of their labors. In this respect history, with great regularity, repeats itself. The individual won by personal effort feels that he must win others, and a soul once fired with a zeal for souls never pauses when one has been led into the kingdom.

Moreover, personal work is always more effective. Apples picked one by one will be preserved much longer than those that have been shaken from the tree. Men won to Christ through earnest personal work will endure with a greater certainty than those brought into the kingdom en masse. Therefore, following the example of Christ and the apostles, let us do all the personal work we can. Let us take advantage of every opportunity to seek the Simons and the Nathaniels and to lead them to the Messiah, who is indeed the Christ.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. vi, 8-22; Matt. iii, 1-6; xxv, 14-30; xxviii, 16-20; Mark ii, 14; Luke xv, 1-10; John iii, 1-16; iv, 19-30; Acts viii, 26-40; Gal. vi, 9.

The Michigan State Seal.

On the stationery and public documents issued by the State Endeavor union of Michigan is to be found this very appropriate seal. The emblem that has been adopted by the union is an expressive Christian Endeavor one.

Campaigning In China.

Rev. F. S. Hatch, M. A., for the last three years general secretary of Christian Endeavor for India, Burma and Ceylon, recently visited some of the societies of Christian Endeavor in the southern coast ports. Mr. Hinman, the general secretary for China, met him in Hongkong, where large meetings were held in the Basel, American Board and London Mission churches. At Canton two large meetings were held, and both secretaries spoke to smaller groups in the schools. At Amoy, Fuchau and Shanghai there were also large mass meetings; at Fuchau six meetings in five of the largest assembly rooms in the city. Mr. Hatch was frequently asked to speak to the missionaries on the general condition of the mission work in India, which he has seen perhaps more widely than any other man, and his review of the elements of progress in Indian missions proved of absorbing interest to all who heard it.

Pen Points.

If we have read the spirit of it right Christian Endeavor means "constantly employed."

The Christian Endeavor society that temporarily suspends during the summer months "because it is too warm" is usually too cold during the rest of the year to do very effective work.

There is nothing selfish or self centered in the Christian Endeavor idea. The person who reads this into it has been looking through a magnifying glass.—John R. Clements.

Pointed Junior Paragraphs.

Give me the boys and the girls, and I'll give you the men and the women by and by.

It's time that we emphasized this matter of leading the boys and girls definitely into the way which God would have them go.

I thank God for a mother who was wise enough to take a boy with her to the prayer meeting.

I'd rather have a child go to sleep in a church that have it awake in some other place.

Make room for the children! That's my plea today, and that's what Christian Endeavor stands for.—William Shaw on "Junior Endeavor" in New York State Convention at Buffalo.

Oct. 16: "The Power of Personal Influence."—John i, 35-39.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES.

So much has been said on this matter of personal influence that the topic seems at first glance to be stale and whatever can be said on it to be trite and uninteresting. But that is a mistake, because each person has to discover his own place and power and develop his own individual personality. Rules which have helped others will be likely to continue to be helpful. The study of the doings of other people will suggest things to do and ways to do them and will also show some things that it were better should be left undone.

So we need to go over this lesson once more and with more care than ever before. Let us first of all emphasize the fact that each one is exerting an influence on others, direct and positive, and that it is often more harmful to them and has reflex influence on ourselves.

In the second place, others with whom we meet are shaping our opinions and influencing our actions more strongly than we usually are aware.

It is important, then, that we be alert to make the outgoing forces beneficial. It is no less imperative that we put ourselves in such position as to receive from others as little as possible that is harmful and as much as possible that is uplifting. These considerations will largely determine our choice of companions and associates. Our intimate friends are the ones who have most effect upon us and who receive most from us; therefore we must be careful in the selection of our comrades.

We need two rules in this matter—first, for intimate acquaintance select only the best; second, be such that your influence will better all it touches.

Not only should we adopt these principles of action at the very beginning, but we should occasionally stop ourselves and see if we are keeping them as closely as we ought to. It would be well to keep on the walls of memory, if we do not hang it on the walls of our rooms, the motto, "Evil communications corrupt good manners."

All this is based on unchanging principles which govern in human character. We impart what we are; we partake of what surrounds us, or, putting it in other language, "like begets like," and "environment affects constitution."

In the study of the Scripture lesson of the week it is customary to call attention to the influence of the first two disciples in leading others to Jesus. This is a valuable and interesting application of this passage, but by no means the only one nor perhaps the most helpful one we can find.

After the ordinary lessons have been properly considered it will be found of benefit to make a special study of the influence of John Baptist and the secret forces underlying that impulse which he imparted to the religion of his times. In doing this it will be helpful to read as fully as may be in Josephus and the books of Maccabees the patriotic attempts of the Jews to achieve independence and establish a nation on the principles of the Mosaic law. Account should be taken of the various uprisings which took place in John's time. The aspirations and intentions of these agitators deserve to be well weighed.

Now go back to the Old Testament and make a rapid survey of the messages of the prophets from Elijah to Jonah, giving special attention to the ethical demands made and the moral conditions prevailing among the people. Note the nature of the dominant religion; note also the mechanical and external character of all the attempts made by those in authority to reform the people religiously. Then study the teaching of John Baptist, and the truth will come to you in what Jesus said of John, "There hath not a greater one risen."

Spirituality and practical living were united by John as by no one before him.

Jesus alone ranks him. Let us abide with the Master ourselves and learn of Him and become like Him.

Stand Together.

In other ways we see the failure of the disciples to go forth together. How often we have seen men with large intellects, large powers of mind to grasp and comprehend and execute, yet so absolutely lacking in the trained and disciplined force of will as to render the great mind comparatively useless and of little force and weight where it should stand as a power! As we look at the men about us or as we examine into our own inner experiences we shall find that the expression or the consciousness of power comes only as these two forces have been trained to act together and support each the other as these two divinely appointed disciples go forth together. "In union there is strength."—Helper.
